PREFACE

THE College feel that an apology is due to the subscribers to the Biographical Register for the delay in the issue of the second volume. This delay is mainly due to the extension of the work beyond the limits originally proposed. Dr Peile had intended to bring the Register to a close at about the year 1870, but in view of the publication of the Annual List of living Members of the College, past and present, with their addresses, which appeared for the first time at the Quatercentenary Celebration in 1905, it was thought advisable to continue the work down to that year: so that the Biographical Register and the Annual Lists together might constitute a complete roll of all the known Members of the College from the foundation of "God's House" to the present day. Opportunity has been taken to correct certain inaccuracies which had occurred in Dr Peile's manuscript of the first volume, and an index has been prepared by Mr J. A. Venn to the entire work, which contains some ten thousand five hundred entries.

That the completion of the work was at all possible is due in the first place to Mr J. A. Venn, of Trinity College, who, at the request of the College, kindly undertook to complete the second volume and see it through the press: and secondly to the wide knowledge which Mr Tithecott, our college butler, possesses of the careers of old Members of the College. Mr J. A. Venn has most whole-heartedly devoted himself to this work for the last two years, and the authorities of the College feel they owe him deep thanks. Mr Tithecott's zeal for noticing and recording any news connected with the College has been of the greatest use to Mr Venn. But there have been other helpers. Dr Venn, whose Biographical Register of Gonville and Caius College was the model upon which Dr Peile based his work, has placed his great experience at the disposal of his son. Mr G. B. Routledge, the Rev. Canon Foster, F.S.A., and the Rev. J. E. Auden, M.A., have kindly supplied many facts not previously known. We also owe our thanks to Mrs Baines for communicating a pedigree of the Baines family, whose close connexion with the College dates from 1571 to the present day. Finally, we thank many Members of the College for their kindness in furnishing information about their own careers or those of their friends.

CHRIST'S COLLEGE

It will be observed that between 1 July 1665 and 8 March $166\frac{5}{6}$, there are only three entries. The cause was the plague which was prevalent in August: and on 10 Oct. the exercises in the Schools were discontinued by Grace of the Senate. On Dec. 8 the Colleges were declared by the V.C. to be free of infection: on March 15 it was announced that no one had died of plague at Cambridge for six weeks, and that all who return will be received. (Cooper, Annals, 3. 517.) But it will have been seen that many men matriculated very late. The reason was that there was no matriculation between July 1665 and 30 March 1667. In the spring of 1666 work recommenced. Commencement seems to have been held and degrees conferred. But the plague returned: and on Aug. 3 Stourbridge fair was prohibited: the Colleges apparently dispersed earlier than their wont. See note by John Covel, praelector for the year, under Sam. Fortrey (page 8).

Onely, Richard:

Matric^{d}. from Magd. Hall, Oxford, 1663, aged 17: B.A. 1667: incorporated at Cambridge and M.A. (Christ's), 1672. Son of Humphrey Onely of Yoxall, Staffs.: his brother Humphry, B.A., was at Ch. Ch. 1674. Vicar of Colton, Staffs. 15 Nov. 1706: resigned May 1708. The name at Christ's, now and in the next century, is spelt Onely: elsewhere at Cambridge, and generally at Oxford, it is Onley.

Wood, Laurence:

Matric^{d}. from Brasenose, Oxford 30 March 1666: B.A. 1669: incorporated at Cambridge and M.A. (Christ's) 1672. The third of these names in the College: one $158\frac{0}{1}$, the second B.A. $160\frac{4}{5}$: all three of Cheshire. Son of John of Landwich (?), plebeius. Ordained (as M.A. of Christ's) priest, Lichfield, 1673 Aug. Rector of St Bridget's, Chester, $168\frac{7}{8}$–1710; vicar of St John, Chester 1689–1710, when he died aged 63. Baynes, William: admitted as Baines: son of Robert: born at Merwith [? Mewith Head], Bentham, Yorks. School: Sedbergh, under Mr Fell. Admitted pensioner under Mr Stanford 9 March $166\frac{5}{6}$. Age 16.

Rayne, Edward: son of Richard: born at Gainford, Durham. School: Coniscliffe, under Mr Robinson. Admitted sizar under Dr Widdrington 3 April 1666. Age 16.

Matricd. 6 July 1667. Second son of Ri. Rayne of Snow Hall, Gainford, by his wife Isabel Stoddart. Pedigree in Surtees, 4. 15. Seems to have died childless, as the third brother John succeeded his father at Snow Hall "one of the loveliest spots in the valley of the Tees" (Surtees).

Secker, George: son of Thomas: born at Grantham. School: Grantham, under Mr Siston. Admitted sizar under Mr Eede 17 April 1666. Age 15.

Matric^{d}. 30 Mar. 1667. Perhaps B.A. 1675. One Ralph Wilson was under-usher of Newcastle School on 24 March 1674 with a stipend of £33. 6*s.* 8*d.* (Brand, Newcastle, 1. 93): if this be the same man, he was appointed before his graduation, which was for some reason long deferred.

Maurice, Henry: admitted as Morrice: son of William: born at Stortford. School: Stortford, under Mr Leigh. Admitted, "aevo multo maturior," sizar under Mr Stanford 21 April 1666. Age 16.

B.A. (Maurice) $16\frac{69}{70}$; M.A. 1673. Ordained deacon, London, 1672 Dec. Rector of Tyringham, Bucks. 22 Oct. 1675-99 (Lipscombe, 4. 380, has 1679 wrongly). Chaplain to the Earl of St Alban [sic], and as such had license 23 April 1681 to hold (with Tyringham) the rectory of Buckworth, Hunts., distant 16 miles (Lambeth Register). Buried at Tyringham 20 April 1699. Not to be confused with the contemporary Hen. Maurice, D.D. of Jesus, Oxford, Lady Margaret Professor.

Brook, Thomas: son of William: born at Hoytown [? Hoyland], Yorks. School: Hipperholme [near Halifax], under Mr Doughty. Admitted pensioner under Mr Eede 24 April 1666. Age 16.

B.A. $16\frac{69}{70}$; M.A. 1673. One of these names rector of Felsham, Suff. 2 Jan. $16\frac{79}{80}$. One was rector of South Runcton, Norf. 1690–1702, when he died (Blomefield, 4. 139).

Watson, Richard: son of Robert: born at Frendesbury [Frindsbury], Kent. School: West Malling, under Mr Rob. Whittle. Admitted pensioner under Mr Stanford 27 April 1666. Age 16.

Admitted at Gray's Inn 7 May 1668. Another Ri. Watson was admitted 21 June 1667: whom see. Each graduated: one (possibly this one) was LL.B. 1671: the other was B.A. $167\frac{0}{1}$: it is impossible to decide.

Dunning, Edward: son of Shadrach: born at Northallerton. School: Sigston [? Siggesthorne, near Hornsea], under Mr Smelt. Admitted sizar under Mr Eede 28 April 1666. Age 14.

B.A. $16\frac{69}{70}$. Ordained deacon, York, 1671 June; priest, 1672 June. Curate of Givendale (near Pocklington) 19 June 1674: also at Bishop Wilton (near Givendale) 24 June.

held Berwick through his life. Died before Jan. $169\frac{4}{5}$. (There is a pedigree of the Nowells of Capleside in Whitaker, Whalley, 2. 113: but this one does not appear.)

Young, Edward: son of William: born at Giggleswick. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Briggs. Admitted sizar to Dr Carr (surety Mr Stanford) 14 May 1666. Age 15.

B.A. $16\frac{69}{70}$. Buried (Younge B.A.) at Great St Andrew's 10 April 1670.

Myers, Josiah: born at Lakeland [Lawkland], Yorks. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Briggs. Admitted sizar under Mr Stanford 14 May 1666. Age 16.

Matric^d. 6 July 1667, as Josias. Josiah Myres, "literatus, Chr. Coll.," ordained deacon, York, Sept. 1668: priest, Lincoln, 1670 Aug. Rector of Easedon (? Easton, now combined with Stoke, North and South), Lincs. 8 Aug. 1670—at the age of 20, if the dates be right!

Poynton, John: son of Edward: born at Little Huckley [Hucklow in Hope], Derbs. School: Hope, under Mr Croasdale. Admitted sizar to Mr Burnet (surety Mr Eede) 15 May 1666. Age 17.

B.A. $16\frac{69}{70}$. Edward (the father) died 1674 and was buried at Hope. John was ordained deacon, Lichfield, 1670 May; priest, Ely, $167\frac{0}{1}$ March. Died, probably, at Hope in his father's lifetime, leaving books as a bequest to his brother Elias, admitted 1674. (Rev. F. J. Poynton of Kelston.)

Alcock, John: son of Walter: born at Gateside [Gateshead]. School: Newcastle, under Mr Oxley, "novi indefessus seminator seculi" (Covel). Admitted sizar under Mr Covel 15 May 1666. Age 15.

B.A. $16\frac{69}{70}$; M.A. 1673. Ordained deacon, York, 1670 Dec.: priest, 1672 Sept. Perhaps vicar of Billingham, Durham later than 1681–1703, when he died (Surtees, 3. 146).

Eliot, Philip: son of Philip, "nomine et praenomine insignitus patrio": born at Hunsdon, Herts. School: "Staffordiae" [Stortford], under Mr Leigh. Admitted pensioner under Mr Stanford 17 May 1666. Age 16.

B.A. (Elliot) $16\frac{69}{70}$. Philip (the father) was rector of Hunsdon 20 July 1644: and was one of the Herts. ministers who petitioned in 1646 for church government according to the Covenant (Urwick, 124). He seems to have been unconformable in 1661, and resigned Hunsdon: but returned in 1666 and held it till 1686 (?). One of the family to which belonged John Eliot, "the apostle to the Indians" and Philip his brother, one of the pilgrim-fathers (ib. 680). The young Philip is not found in any list of emigrants.

North, Oliver: son of Oliver: born at Teston, Kent. School: Tonbridge, under Mr Wase. Admitted sizar under Mr Bainbridge 18 May 1666. Age 16.

B.A. $16\frac{69}{70}$; M.A. 1673. Son of Oliver ($163\frac{2}{3}$), vicar of Teston. Vicar of West Farleigh, Kent, 1675. Rector of Iden, Sussex, 8 July 1692. Died 1726.

Saes, William: son of William: born at Bishop's Castle, Salop. School: Edgeton, under Mr Hay. Admitted sizar to Dr Pepper (surety Mr Covel) 24 May 1666. Age 16.

Probably Says: matriculation not found.

Smith, John: son of John, born at Milton, Derbs. School: Repton, under Mr Ullock. Admitted a sizar: and pupil of Mr Standish (surety Mr Stanford) 28 May 1666. Age 17.

B.A. $16\frac{69}{70}$. Ordained (John Smith, Christ's College) deacon, Lichfield, 1671 Sept.: priest, Worcester, 1676 Sept. Curate of Caulk (Worc. Reg.). One Joh. Smith B.A., vicar of Leasby (? Lowesby), Leics. 10 May 1672: vicar of Tilton (adjacent) 3 June 1673. One (B.A.) rector of Wishaw, Warwick 6 June 1695.

Heathcote, Gilbert: admitted as Hethcot: son of Michael: born at Buxton. School: Bakewell, under Mr Beardmore. Admitted pensioner under Mr Stanford 11 June 1666. Age 18.

B.A. (Heathcott) $16\frac{69}{70}$; M.A. 1673. Identified, in D.N.B., with Sir Gilbert, Sheriff and Lord Mayor of London, knighted 1702, one of the founders of the Bank of England, and (in 1694) elected one of its first Board of Directors: M.P. for Helston 1714, for New Lymington 1722, for St Germans 1727: baronet $173\frac{3}{3}$: who died in London 1733, aged 82, and was buried at Normanton, Ruts., which he had bought from the Mackworths. If his age be given rightly, he was born in 1651. The age does not exactly correspond: and there seems to be no doubt that this Sir Gilbert was eldest son of Gilbert of Chesterfield, alderman and thrice mayor.

Another Gilbert was admitted here [no facts about him given] in 1681: but he is too young.

There is another Gilbert Heathcote "M.A. of Christs" (so described in Brady's Records of Cork, 2. 115) and said there to be son of the Parliamentary Captain, Gilbert, and grandson of George of Brampton who was brother of Gilbert, the alderman of Chesterfield, from whom the knightly family descended. This Irish Gilbert was curate of Youghal 1683: Chancellor of Cloyne, 1685–93, when he was deprived. He married about 1680 Sarah, daughter of Sir Ri. Kennedy of Mount Kennedy, co. Wicklow. So far, Brady: did he take the "M.A. of Christ's" from the Graduati Cant. without further enquiry? or is he wrong about the parentage and does he assume that Gilbert the Chancellor of Cloyne was a son of the familiar Parliamentarian Gilbert? If so, the rest of his account may be correct. The Gilbert of 1681 is too young to be the husband of Sarah Kennedy.

Leake, Samuel: "sesquicubitalis": son of Edward: born at Loughborough. School: Loughborough, under Mr Somerville. Admitted sizar to Mr Halliwell (surety Mr Stanford) 13 June 1666. Age 18.

B.A. 1669 Mids. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1668 Aug. [sic]: priest, York, 1671 Sept. Licensed to lecture in Ashbourne, Derbs. 20 Oct. 1671. (The vicar of Rolleston, Notts. 12 Aug. 1682 is more probably Sam. Leake M.A. (Joh.) 1661.) He died still lecturer of Ashbourne June 1689. For the history of the lectureship (founded 1632) see Cox, Derbs. Churches, 2. 398: the "able pious learned painfull and orthodox preacher" was to give two sermons or Divinity Lectures every week.

Knolles, John: or Knowles: son of John: born at Chester. School: Chester, "renatum obstetricante parturientibus Musis magistro Liptrot." Admitted sizar to Mr Burnet (surety Mr Eede) 15 June 1666. Age, nearly 17.

B.A. (Knowles) $16\frac{69}{70}$. Ordained deacon, Glos., $16\frac{69}{70}$ Feb. On 17 Dec. 1670 he petitioned for priest's orders within six weeks, having been chosen by the inhabitants of Stony Stratford for their minister and being then above 24 [sic]. Ordained priest, Ely, $167\frac{0}{1}$ March. One John Knolles, P.C. of Bidston, Chesh. 1674–9 (Ormerod-Helsby, 2. 469). A Mr Knowles appears as vicar of Helpstone in the Bishop's visn. 1675 and in the Audit Book 1678–9: gone before 1682 when Tho. Ixem is appointed. The father (John) may have been the Socinian chaplain of the garrison at Chester who had a controversy with Sam. Eaton the orthodox Independent of Duckenfield, and chaplain before Knolles (Halley, 2. 85).

Goring, William: son of John: born at Kingston, Staffs. School: Repton. Admitted pensioner under Mr Eede 18 June 1666. Age 17.

Matricn. not found. Brother of Thomas (1664). Married Sarah, daughter and coheir of Humphry Gilbert of Frodley, and had a large family, who mostly died young or unmarried. His eldest son, Henry, bapt^{d}. 21 July 1687, married and had issue (Staffs. Vis^{n}. 1663–4, with note at end of Vis^{n}. book).

Thompson, George: son of George, armiger: born at Lee, Kent. School: Lee, under Mr Watkins. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Eede 18 June 1666. Age 17.

Matric^{d}. July 1667. Admitted at Lincoln's Inn 8 Aug. 1667 (as Geo. Tompson).

Turner, John: son of Methusaleh: born at Cheapside, London ("ibidem eundem salutavit patriarcham primo quo potuit vagitu"). School: St Paul's, under Dr Crumbleam [Crumbleholme]. Admitted pensioner under Mr Eede 18 June 1666. Age, nearly 17.

B.A. 16$\frac{69}{70}$; M.A. 1673, incorporated, Oxford, 1675. On 5 April 1670 the King recommended John Turner to be elected to the first vacancy, whatever county it be: and he got it. He was elected before Mids. 1673, succeeding Mich. Stanford. Ordained priest, London, 1673 Dec. Was praelector for the large year 1673–4, and a careless one; but he wrote good Latin. His last payment was in Mich^{s}. 1681, and he left the College considerably in debt, probably not (as was sometimes the case) for pupils, of whom he had none after 1675: there is an entry in the Order-book 20 Feb. 168$\frac{1}{2}$. "Agreed then by the Master and Fellows that Mr Turner have a year more allowed toward the payment of his £51 [or ? £50] bond which if he does not pay in that time, then we whose names are here subscribed doe promise and engage ourselves joyntly and severally to pay it within 2 months after the time expired, counting from the date hereof": this is signed by Tho. Lynford, Tho. Fairmedow, Edw. Finch and John Isham: and in 168$\frac{2}{3}$ Mr Lynford paid £40 to the College. From the preface to some of his books, it would seem that he was settled in London: in 1684 he describes himself as Hospitaller of St Thomas, Southwark, and in 1698 as lecturer of Christ Church, London: possibly he was rector of Postling, Kent 2 Feb. 168$\frac{6}{7}$, presented by the Archbishop: possibly vicar of Navestock, Essex 3 June 1689–1700 and later: possibly rector of Benington (? Benenden near Cranbrook), Kent 30 Oct. 1701; presented by John Turner, gent.

Author: A discourse concerning the Messias with a large preface on the Trinity, 1675. Animadversions on the doctrine of Transubstantiation, preached before the Lord Mayor 19 Oct. 1679: another (9 Sept.) Thanksgiving for the discovery of the Popish plot: The Middle way between Necessity and Freedom, at St Mary's, 1683. Two discourses demonstrating the unlawfulness of the marriage of cousins-german, 1682. The Soldiers Catechism, 1684 with a preface to Sir Geo. Jefferies, Lord Chief Justice. The true time of our Saviour's passover, 1684. A resolution of 3 matrimonial cases, 1684: and also An argument in defence of the marriage of an Uncle with the daughter of his half-brother by the father's side. Two sermons (1) on the "occasion of Her Majestie's happy conception" 29 Jan. 1687, and (2) on the birth of a Prince 17 June 1688. A vindication of infant baptism, 1695: A discourse of Fornication with an Appendix concerning concubinage 1698 (see Cole MSS.): and others which as Wood candidly says (Fasti, 2. 350) "being too many to be here set down shall for brevity's sake be omitted."

Crisp, Henry: son of Henry, of London: born at Hamburg. School: St Paul's. Admitted pensioner under Mr Eede 18 June 1666. Age 16.

Matric^{d}. from Magdalene 30 March 1667. Admitted at the Inner Temple 21 Nov. 1666. Possibly grandson of Sir Nicholas Crispe of Hammersmith who built the house afterwards called La Trappe. A family of this name (with more than one Henry) was seated at Birchington: but I cannot identify this one.

Monoux, Lewis: son of Humphry (dominus): born at Kimbley [Kimberley], Norfolk. School: Stickson [Strixton] "10 miles E. of Northampton." Admitted fellow-commoner under Dr Widdrington 20 June 1666. Age 16.

Matric^d. 6 July 1667. Admitted at Gray's Inn 7 Feb. 166$\frac{7}{8}$. Third son of Sir Humphry (matric^d. 1617) of Wotton, Beds. and of Mary Wodehouse, daughter of Sir Thomas, of Kimberley: brother of George (1663). Lewis Monoux Esq., of Sandy, Beds. Married his first cousin Lucy, daughter of Sir Philip Wodehouse of Kimberley: father of Louis, adm^d. 1720. See pedigree under Sir Humphry (1617).

Ellison, Robert: son of Robert: born at Newcastle. School: Berwick. Admitted pensioner under Dr Widdrington 23 June 1666 "mediis dirae pestis incendiis." Age not given.

Matric^n. not found. Son of Rob. Ellison (Sheriff of Newcastle 1644 and M.P. who died 1677: see Brand, Newcastle, 1. 298) and of Elizabeth, daughter of Cuthbert Gray of Newcastle and of Backworth (Hodgson, II. iii. 347).

Lynford, Thomas: admitted as Linford: son of Samuel: born in Cambridge. School: (1) Newark, under Mr Leeds: (2) Bury [Mr Leeds]. Admitted sizar "optimae spei tyro" under Dr Widdrington 16 July 1666. Age, nearly 16.

B.A. (Lynford) 167$\frac{0}{1}$; M.A. 1674, incorporated, Oxford, 1676; D.D. 1689. Ordained deacon, London, 167$\frac{3}{4}$ March: curate at Fen Drayton 1674. Vicar of Great Ellingham, Norfolk, 167$\frac{4}{5}$, patron, Tho. Cockayne of Sunning: resigned it, 1676. Elected Fellow before Mids. 1675, in place of Dr Carr, King Edw. Fellow: see under Tho. Montagu (1668). Took a large number of pupils from 1676—he received Dr Widdrington's in 1675, and took up his connexion with the North—down to Mich. 1685; Tho. Lovett, and (later) Tho. Waterhouse, being his chief competitors. Rector of St Edmund the King, Lombard Street, 18 Dec. 1685–1724, patron, King James II, whose expectations he must have disappointed: he vacated his Fellowship Xmas 1686. On 25 Nov. 1689 he had license as "clerk of St Benet Gracechurch St." and as "lately the ingenious praevaricator of Cambridge," to marry Eliz. Dillingham of St Giles in the Fields. Prebendary of Westminster 6 May 1700, and Sub-dean 1723: he had been Chaplain in ordinary to the King and Queen: he "was inveterate against Popery and a believer in the Plot by the Papists: no wonder to see him Chaplain to King William III" (Cole). Archdeacon of Barnstaple, 9 Sept. 1709. In 1714 he bore the cost of casing with stone the front of the Great Gateway: and in 1715–17 he also paid for the casing of the front between the gateway and Hobson Street: this portion remains untouched to the present day: it dates the introduction of sash-windows into the College. He died 11 August 1724, aged about 74. A good portrait in oils was given by a Mr Larner (? Joh. 1685) to the Master "to be hanged at the Lodge": it has subsequently been placed in the combination-room. (Letter from Anna Maria Jenen to the Master 8 Feb. 174$\frac{4}{5}$.)

Chamberlain of London (Morant, 2. 594).

Here comes a note by John Covel, the Praelector: who says that in August 1665 the University went into exile. The cold winter, or God's mercy, repressed the plague. But in the spring of 1666 the alarm again began: the University again fled: among the rest Mr Covel "uno vel altero pupillorum manipulo stipatus." In consequence the two pupils (presumably one "manipulus") who follow are entered in a wrong place.

B.A. $167\frac{0}{1}$. Will., the father, was probably second son of Sir John Delaval of Distington by his second wife, Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Geo. Selby: he married Mary, daughter of Hen. Widdrington of Blackheddon. Great-nephew of his tutor and distant cousin of John Delaval (of Seaton Delaval) admitted 1672 (Kimber, 3. 177).

However he had a "vegetus animus": and eventually came to Cambridge where "nectar bibit academicum, cibosque philosophiae robustiores et vere masculo exhibendos stomacho carpit." He was third son

If Sir Richard of Hawksworth (died 1657) had a son Richard, as well as the Walter who carried on the main line, such Richard might be the father of our Walter: who would then be first cousin of the Walter created a baronet 1678. Matric^d. pen. 6 July 1667. Probably, John Harvey of Thurleigh, Beds., son of John (adm. 1626) by his wife Elizabeth; baptised 27 Jan. $16\frac{49}{50}$; a major in the army, who died and was buried at Thurleigh 1715, the last heir male of the elder branch of the Hervey family. John Hervey of Ickworth, first Earl of Bristol, records in his diary for 1699 how he went to Thurleigh in that year to see his cousin "Major John Hervey, a very honest ingenious gentleman" to arrange for the purchase of the home of their common ancestors. Further negotiations were carried on for this purpose till 1707: but they came to nothing. (See W. M. Harvey, Hundred of Willey, Beds. 510.) This John Harvey left by his will, dated 5 May 1713, a messuage in the parish of St Mary, Bedford, "being a corner house in Cawdell Street, near the Church," to his wife, and after her death to trustees "for the maintenance of some poor scholar of Christ's College, to be born in Thurleigh" or, in default of such, in Bedfordshire: see under the father (vol. I. p. 375), who left £5 a year to the University of Cambridge: this was limited by the son to what was probably his own College. No settlement having been made by the father's executors, Major Harvey had paid £5 annually till 1706: in his will seven years later he declared his grant to be in satisfaction of his father's intention. His executors in 1715 refused to make a settlement or to pay the arrears from 1706: but the heirs-at-law seem to have been complaisant, and a decree was made in Chancery that £150 (£50 for arrears) should be paid to a Master in Chancery and by him invested in land. Nine acres of land at Stanningfield, Suffolk were purchased, the income to be employed by the College according to Major Harvey's will.

One John Symm (or Symmes), clerk, was rector of Goxhill in Holderness 11 Feb. $166\frac{1}{2}$–1689: and being chaplain to Christopher, Duke of Albemarle had license from Lambeth 21 March $16\frac{69}{70}$ ("having given testimonials of conformity and of good life, and been examined by Mr Tho. Leaves, John: son of John: born at Pinchbeck, Lincs. School: Lincoln, under Mr Johnson. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lovett 10 March $167\frac{0}{1}$. Age 16.

LL.B. 1676. Probably akin to William (also son of John and born at Pinchbeck) admitted 1650. One Mr Leaves was Head-master of Crewkerne school, before $168\frac{4}{5}$ (see under Tho. Slade) and there in $170\frac{6}{7}$ (see St John's Admn. book, 2. 183).

Brother of Will. Nowell admitted 1666. I suspect that he had the Grace of the House for B.A. $167\frac{2}{3}$, though he does not occur in the Registry list. In the College B.A. Commencement-book there are two Mr Nowells B.A. one $167\frac{2}{3}$ one $167\frac{3}{4}$, the second is Robert, who does not appear in the Admission-book, but is in the Univ. Registry as B.A.: the fact that the Commencement-book has two names proves that there is not in this case (as often) a confusion of Christian names. In the pedigree of Nowells of Capelside (Whitaker, Whalley, 2. 113) an earlier Will. Nowell occurs as son of Chris. of Capelside who died 1627. A brother Charles was drowned on the day of his marriage.

B.A. $167\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1677. Like William (his brother ?) he was beneficed in Sussex: though ordained deacon, York, 1674 Sept. Vicar of Bishopstone, Sussex 8 July 1679: vicar of Seaford 1682–90.

Matric^d. 13 April 1671. Admitted at the Inner Temple 26 Jan. $167\frac{4}{5}$. "Aged 8 in 1664 when he is entered in Dugdale's Visitation of Lancs. as son of Alex. of Leigh. Raines (MSS. xii. 413) says he died young. The father died 1700: and his younger son Thomas succeeded to the Leigh estate" (Ernest Axon, Esq.).

Croston, Richard: son of Henry: of Lancs. School: Manchester, under Mr Wickens. Admitted sizar 29 March 1671. Age 22.

Matric^d 13 April 1671. Probably migrated, and was B.A. (Emm.) $167\frac{4}{5}$. Probably one of the Crostons of Heath Charnock, Lancs. (see Croston-Baines, 4. 122): Henry was perhaps son of John Croston, of Heath Charnock and Bury, who married Sarah, daughter of Jeremy Waterhouse of Crosshill, Halifax (Croston-Baines). Head-master of Preston grammar-school 6 Dec. 1680 at a salary of £30 and the profits of a close adjoining the school. A year later though he had taken Orders he was allowed to retain his office, and (with the consent of the mayor) to preach sermons. A non-juror in 1689: and ceased to be master (Fishwick, Preston, 209). Therefore, he was not collated to Woodhorn (as Hodgson says, II. ii. 91) nor did he die in 1766 aged 97: the vicar of Woodhorn was another Simcoe—perhaps the man admitted 1713. (Information from J. Ross Robertson of Toronto.)

Leigh, John: son of Thomas: born at Stortford. School: Stortford, under Mr [Nic.] Cudworth. Admitted pensioner under his brother Mr James Leigh 6 April 1672. Age 15.

B.A. $167\frac{5}{6}$; M.A. 1679. Fourth and last of the sons of the Head-master of Stortford (adm^d. 1614) who came to this College. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1679 June; licensed to cure of Gilston, Herts.: priest, London, 1679 Dec. Vicar of Stanstead Mountfichet, Essex, 16 Oct. 1682—till his death. Prebendary of Lincoln (Welton Beckhall) 3 July 1683: died before May 1691 (Le Neve, 2. 227). Apparently he succeeded another John Leigh as rector of Willoughby near Alford, Lincs. 25 Nov. 1682. The brothers were all short-lived.

Cookson, Timothy: son of Bryan: born at Sattle [Settle], Yorks. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Briggs. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 12 April 1672. Age 18.

B.A. $167\frac{5}{6}$; M.A. 1683. Ordained deacon, York, 1677 Sept.: priest, 1678 Sept. Born 1654, younger son of Bryan of Settle (1610–$168\frac{5}{6}$). Pedigree in Thoresby-Whitaker, Leeds, p. 136.

Fowler, Thomas: son of Thomas: born at Faringdon, Berks. Educated by his father. Admitted pensioner under Mr Smithson 12 April 1672. Age 17.

B.A. $167\frac{5}{6}$. One of these names, and B.A., ordained priest, Lincoln, $167\frac{8}{9}$ March, as rector of Sheepy, Leics. (near Atherstone). His successor, if Nichols (4. 930) be right, was appointed 1710.

Wheeldon, John: [no facts given]. Admitted sizar under Mr Smithson 12 April 1672.

Matricn. not found. One Joh. Wheledon "lit[eratus] coll. Christi" was ordained deacon, London, 1680 June: and is probably entered by error as "John Wheel [sic] lit. Coll. Christi," priest, 1682 June. He never appears in Study-rents: but his account of himself seems to imply some residence: perhaps he paid nothing as being Mr Smithson's personal servant.

Dalton, Marmaduke: eldest son of William, eques auratus: born at Hauxwell, [Haukswell], Yorks. School: Bury St Edmunds, under Mr Leedes. Admitted fellow-commoner under Dr Widdrington 16 April 1672. Age not given.

Born 19 Aug. 1655. Matriculated 13 Dec. 1672: resided till Lady Day 1673. Son of Sir Will. B.A. 1676 Mids. Ordained (as a student of Divinity), deacon, Norwich, 167$\frac{3}{4}$ March; licensed to Trunch: priest, 167$\frac{4}{5}$ Feb.; licensed to Beeston St Lawrence. Vicar of Ludham 7 Aug. 1675. Vicar of Hickling 2 Sept. 1681–1706 (Blomefield, 5. 860). Rector of Potter-Heigham 1699 (ib. p. 865): these places are all near together.

Reynardson, Joseph: admitted as Rhenolson: son of Abraham, eques auratus. Born at Totnam [Tottenham], Midds. School: Felstead, under Mr Glascock. Admitted pensioner under Mr Andrewes 24 April 1672. Age 16.

Matricn. not found. The father was a Sir Abraham Reynardson of London (Le Neve's Knights) knighted 5 July 1660: unless this were the grandfather. Other members of the family were London merchants (Foster, Marriage Licenses).

Russell, Edward: son of Francis, baronet: born at Chipnam [Chippenham], Cambs. School: Perse, under Mr Griffith. Admitted pensioner under Mr Fairmedow 25 April 1672. Age not given.

Matricd. 4 July 1672. Baptised 12 Oct. 1654 at Chippenham, sixth son of Sir Francis Russell, one of Cromwell's creations, who died 1664. His mother was Catharine, daughter of John Wheatley of Catsfield, Sussex. Resided till Michs. 1674, for the last year as "Russell senior" in the Study-rents: but Russell junior (presumably the one admitted 1673) never appears. See — Russell (1671).

Rawdon, Edward: son of George, baronet: born at Lisbon [Lisburn], co. Antrim. School: Kilkenny, under Mr Jones. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Lovett 25 April 1672. Age 16.

Matricd. 4 July 1672. Resided till Lady Day 1675. Admitted at the Middle Temple 2 Feb. 167$\frac{4}{5}$. Eldest son of Sir George Rawdon by his second wife Dorothy, eldest daughter of the second Lord Conway, whom he married in 1654: the connexion with Christ's is doubtless through the mother or, rather, her sister Anne, Lady Conway, More's friend. Sir George served with distinction during the Irish Rebellion, and after the Restoration; when he built and settled down at Moira and was very influential in Ulster till his death in 1684. Edward, the son, and his brother John both died before their father (1684), who was succeeded by his third son, Arthur, educated at Dublin (D.N.B. under his father).

Rawdon, John: [birth, education &c., the same as Edward]. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Lovett 25 April 1672. Age 15.

Matric^d. 13 Dec. 1672. Resided till Mich. 1674. Second son of Sir George. See under Edward. Died before 1684.

Fish, Henry: son of Humphry: born at Northill, Beds. School: Sutton [? Sutton All Saints, near Potton], under Mr Spalding. Admitted pensioner under Mr Leigh 25 April 1672. Age 16.

Matric^u. not found. Resided till Mich^s. 1674. Son of Humphry Fish (1645) of Ickwell, Beds.: last of the Beds. family of this name: which I cannot connect with the Yorkshire branch, also largely represented here. Admitted at Gray's Inn 25 March 1674.

Dalton, Samuel: son of John: born at Nottingham. School: private, at Mackworth, Derbs., under Mr Ogdell [Ogden], (vol. I. p. 519). Admitted pensioner under Mr Lovett 1 May 1672. Age 17.

Not found in Study-rents. Probably Samuel Dalton of Derby, admitted at the Inner Temple 19 May 1674: Mackworth, where the "silenced" Mr Ogden had his school, is close to Derby. John may have been a cadet of the Hauksswell family, many of whom were here.

Jenison, Matthew: son of Matthew: born at Newark. School: Repton. Admitted pensioner under Mr Leigh 13 May 1672. Age not given.

Resided till Mich. 1674. Admitted at Lincoln's Inn 18 Nov. 1674. Probably the Matt. Jenison who in 1717 gave six roods of land in the manor of Southwell for the use of the poor in the township of Upton (Bailey, Annals of Notts. 3. 1121).

Jenison, John: son of Matthew: born at Newark. School: Repton. Admitted pensioner under Mr Leigh 13 May 1672. Age not given.

B.A. 167$\frac{5}{6}$; M.A. 1679. Brother of Matthew. Ordained priest, Lincoln, 1688 Aug. 4: and rector of Sedgebrook, Lincs. 6 Aug. Died at Sedgebrook 29 Dec. 1714 aged 59. M.I. in the church: "Memoria iusti est benedicta."

B.A. 1675. Was he nephew of the Ant. Procter (son of Anthony) of Newcastle, admitted 1654? It is impossible to distinguish the history of this man from that of Ant. Proctor, admitted next year: and there was a third (of St John's) B.A. 1668. Perhaps curate of All Saints, Newcastle 1697–1703, at latest (Brand, 1. 392). Probably one of the three was a member of Frankland's Academy at Rathmell, admitted 7 April 1670: dead before 1698. One was ordained priest, York, 16$\frac{89}{90}$ March. One was master of Kirkby Stephen school before 1684 and up to 1693 at least (see St John's Admission book). One was rector of Dean, Cumberland, 1688–1705 (Whellan, 352).

Roos, John: son of Henry: born at Sne[i]nton, Notts. School: Nottingham, under Mr Birch. Admitted sizar under Mr Fairmedow 29 May 1672. Age 16.

B.A. 167$\frac{5}{6}$. The father was, probably, an elder of the Nottingham (voluntary) Association (see Shaw, 2. 453) after 1656. The son was ordained deacon, York, 1677 Sept.: priest, 1679 June. Rector of Widmerpool, Notts. 18 Nov. 1680: and died before Sept. 1704. The John Roos (M.A.) who became rector of Brant Broughton, Lincs. 29 April 1689, can hardly be the same: but I cannot find another with whom to identify him.

Lee, Thomas: matric^{d}. John, but ? by a copyist's error: son of Henry: born at Burton on Trent. School: Ashby-de-la-Zouch, under Mr Shaw. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 6 June 1672. Age 15.

B.A. 167$\frac{5}{6}$. Probably rector of Brereton near Sandbach, Cheshire, 1683: if so, he exchanged it soon for Thurstaston, in Wirral, Feb. 168$\frac{3}{4}$. Died 1689 (Ormerod-Helsby, 2. 510; 3. 94).

B.A. 167$\frac{5}{6}$. Probably son of Rob. Seddon (1646) the "silenced minister" of Langley: who wandered for some years in Lancashire, finally settling at Bolton. Thomas, the son, settled in the South: he was rector of East Wittering, near Chichester 10 Oct. 1679: and also vicar of Sidlesham, a neighbouring parish, 7 May 1680. Died 1688. Not to be confounded with Tho. Seddon, an Oxonian, Canon of Hertford about the same time.

Rolle, Amos: son of John: born at Yettington [? Yelverton], Devon. School: Tiverton, under Mr Hume. Admitted pensioner under Dr Widdrington 22 June 1672. Age 18. Become fellow-commoner, 26 June 1675.

Buried in the chancel of Harrold church with his wife Judith: he died 8 Jan. 1690 (? 169$\frac{0}{1}$) in the 36th year of his age: she died 4 May 1712. Near them lie a son James (aged 27) and a daughter (aged 30): they were a short-lived race: Oliver (the father) was 33 when he died. (Harvey, Hundred of Willey, 337: pedigree at p. 10.)

Matric^{d}. (Layton) 13 Dec. 1672. A Rob. Layton born 1625, was son of Robert of West Layton, Yorks. (Dugdale, Vis^{n}. 1665). Appears (without charge) for three half-years: perhaps only in residence one term. Tho. Laton, son of Sir Robert, was buried at Hutton Rudby, 7 Oct. 1678 (Ord, Cleveland, 473).

Married Elizabeth, daughter of Henry Marsden of Winnington by whom he had five sons (the second an Ambrose who succeeded him) and three daughters. He was one of the "Gentlemen Justices" who made answer to the interrogations respecting the election to Parliament in 1688. His answer at Skipton 14 Aug. was "I shall give my vote for such persons as are of untainted loyalty. I always lookt upon those laws which punished men for meer conscience to be severe, and am desirous to live friendly with all men." To this answer the King could take no exception. Buried at Bolton 7 May 1716 (Genealogist N.S. 20. 20).

Ordained deacon and priest, Lincoln, (at Buckden) 15 July 1684. Was Greek lecturer 1687 and 1688, and was at least occasionally resident: he had one pupil in 1680 and one in 1692: but he probably sat lightly on the College. Senior Dean 1690. His father left him copyhold lands in Suffolk which he enjoyed from 1688. His fellowship was declared void 27 Jan. $169\frac{7}{8}$ "by reason of his having an estate," i.e. freehold lands at Southwold, Bedingfield, Reddington and Allington, I presume after his mother's death. He resided at Southwold, where he spent his time bemoaning his lot and complaining of his relatives—other Cudworths. He died 9 Sept. 1726, leaving to his nephew Francis Cudworth Masham, an estate of £500 a year. From information received from J. Cudworth Whitebrook, Esq., I gather that toward the end of his life he was of doubtful sanity.

B.A. (Mawde) $167\frac{6}{7}$; M.A. 1680. Ordained deacon, York, 1680 Sept. He probably belonged to the Halifax family. A Jonathan Maude died at Halifax 1 Aug. 1686. Also a Doctor Jonathan Maude of Halifax died in 1684 (Hunter, F.M.G. 625): he had a son John who entered Oxford 1670: and he may have sent another (this Jonathan) to Cambridge.

Power, Henry: son of John: born at Halifax. School: Pontefract, under Mr Swift. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 9 April 1673. Age 17.

The father was a Puritan, who accepted the Parliamentary conditions and was appointed vicar of Broadwinsor: he was ejected in 1661. A son, Azariah, joined the Monmouth rebellion, was ransomed from personal servitude, went to Nevis and became a successful sugar planter there. John Pinney (the father) died at Bettiscombe in 1705. His son, our man, died 1679. M.I. to the two in Bettiscombe Church. (Information from the Rev. Frank Penny.)

One of these I take to be the Ri. Wynn who was Serjeant-at-law 1710, and M.P. for Boston 1708–22: possibly he was also eldest son of Ri. Wynne, of Guisborough, Yorks. who died 1653 and left to his eldest son Richard £700 either at the age of 25, or when he shall have served his apprenticeship and be made a freeman of the City of London: his third son John to have £100 on like conditions (Yorksh. Wills, 9. 66). He gave £21. 10*s.* to the beautifying of the Chapel in 1702.

Nichols, John: [no facts given]. Admitted 26 April 1673. [Status and tutor omitted.]

B.A. 167$\frac{6}{7}$; M.A. 1681. One John Nichols was vicar of "Dichalling" [Ditchling], Sussex 20 July 1692. One, perhaps the same, was vicar of Sheldwick, near Faversham, Kent, 1703–14: rector of Fordwich, Canterbury, 1714 (Arch. Cant. 18. 300).

B.A. 167$\frac{6}{7}$; M.A. 1681. The father, I presume, was the Ben. Brunning, Fellow of Jesus, who was rector of Great Waldingfield, Suffolk (Norw. Regr.), and ejected from Ipswich in 1662 (Calamy-Palmer, 2. 428). Benjamin, the son, was ordained deacon, Norwich, 1679 Dec.: priest, $167\frac{9}{80}$ March. Presented by Dean Honywood to the vicarage of Edwinstowe, Notts. 5 April 1680: resigned $168\frac{0}{1}$. Vicar of St Mary-le-Wigford, Lincoln, 2 May 1681: which he ceded before 6 March 1685. After this he does not reappear in the Lincoln diocese. I suppose that it was the father who was buried in Ipswich parish church, with his wife and daughter, in 1688 (Clarke, Ipswich, 305).

Peach, John: son of William: born at "oppidum Cestrense" [Chichester], Sussex. School: not given. Admitted, after keeping four terms at New Inn Hall (Novi Hospitii Aula), Oxford, pensioner under Mr Andrewes 4 May 1673. Age not given.

Cudworth, Charles:

First found in the Lambeth Register 30 July 1681 where he describes himself as M.A. of Christ's College, [aged] over 24 years, and as being "by the locall statutes of the College obliged to be in full Orders, petitions his Grace for his licence or faculty whereby he may be enabled to receive the Holy Orders of Deacon and Priest at one and the same time from any Bishop." The petition was granted. There is no record of any Cha. Cudworth as M.A., or of Christ's, still less as a Fellow, who alone could be bound in this matter by the statutes. The simplest explanation is that this Cha. Cudworth made a false representation. He may be a son of the Master and admitted between Mich. 1677 and Mich. 1678 for which time the Adm. Book is blank: but he never graduated. If he was not ordained, he cannot be the son of Dr Cudworth, of immoral life, who applied (as recorded by Bishop Sherlock) for a prebend of Westminster, and was refused. But he is probably the Cha. Cudworth who appears in India in 1683. This is his record. "Factory Records, Kasinbazar III. Diary for Aug. 1683: Sunday, 19th: Mr Cha. Cudworth arrived from Maulda, who is ordered to reside. Diary for Feb. 168$^{3}_{4}$: Mr Cha. Cudworth was married to the widow Mrs Mary Prickman, daughter of Mr Cole deceased, and formerly wife to Mr Jonathan Prickman, second of Maulda: the marriage was solemnised by Mr Joh. Hayes after the manner of the Church of England. (Undated, but probably 12 Feb.) Diary for March 168$^{3}_{4}$: Wednesday 19: Mr Cha. Cudworth, 3rd of Council, departed this life last night about midnight, having been a long time sick of a flux." A Mr John Haynes (?) married his widow (J. C. W.). Presumably this Charles is the brother of Damaris, Lady Masham, Ralph's daughter, of whom

John Locke heard at Oates, while living there with Lady Masham and to whom he wrote 27 April 1683 (see King's Life and Correspondence of Locke, 2. 17), beginning "Tho' you are got quite to the other side of the world, yet you cease not to make new acquaintance here: and the character you have left behind you makes your acquaintance to be sought after to the remotest parts of the earth." Locke continues that he has observed Lady Masham to speak of her brother "with more tenderness and concern than all the rest of the world": and as she is so good a judge he feels that her brother's friendship is not the least favour she has done him. It should be noted, however, that the name of the brother is not given by Locke: Mr Fox Bourne (Life of Locke, 1. 474) says it was written to Thomas Cudworth, "a son of the Master," I do not know on what evidence. He adds "Young Cudworth was a Fellow of Christ's College, who at the close of 1679 had obtained a seven years dispensation, extended in 1686 for another seven years in order that he might visit and reside in India." Now a Thomas Cudworth was Fellow but only from 1685 to 1687: he was son, not of Ralph, but of John, the girdler, of London, Ralph's brother; therefore cousin, not brother, to Damaris Masham: therefore Locke's letter is certainly not to him. It is possible that Ralph also had a son Thomas: he may have been the Thomas M.A. 1682 (whom see, page 70): there is evidence from the Study-rents that there were two Cudworths in residence at the same time: see under Tho. Cudworth, page 64. I have been unable to find the dispensations in the Cal. Dom. State Papers to which Mr Fox Bourne alludes: but whatever they be, they cannot alter the facts given above. I think there can be little doubt that Locke wrote to Charles Cudworth: Lady Masham may have had insight into the real character of a brother, who on other evidence seems to have been quite unsatisfactory. A Rob. Cudworth, son of Charles, was admitted in 1699: it is natural to guess that he was a posthumous son of this Charles: if so he was barely 15 at admission: whereas the age given is 17: but that proves little.

Atkinson, —: [no Christian name or facts given]. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 12 Feb. $167\frac{3}{4}$.

B.A. (Peter Atkinson) $167\frac{8}{9}$. Ordained deacon, York, 1678 Dec.: priest, $16\frac{79}{80}$ March. Perhaps the Peter Atkinson B.A. licensed to preach at Dunsby near Bourne, Lincs. 6 May 1684.

Crompton, John: admitted as Crumpton: [father not given]: born in London. School: St Paul's, under (1) Mr Crumbleholme "ὁ μακαρίτης, ὁ πάνυ" [he died 1672], (2) Mr Gale. Admitted sizar under Mr Turner 28 March 1674. Age not given.

B.A. (Crompton) $167\frac{7}{8}$. Probably the John Crompton, of Christ's, of 20 years' practice in physic, said to be of 12 years' standing, who received the degree of Dr in Physic (Lambeth) 26 Nov. 1701 (Lamb. Regr.).

Browne, Edward: son of John: born at Milton, Leics. School: Milton, under Mr Daffey. Admitted sizar under Mr Andrewes 1 April 1674. Age 18.

B.A. 167$\frac{7}{8}$. Perhaps son of John Ixem, admitted 1636 (who was beneficed for a short time in Northants.), and brother of John (1670). Tho. Ixem (described as M.A., probably by error) was ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1679 June, and licensed to cure of Clavering, Essex: priest, 1681 Dec., licensed to Great Munden. Vicar of Helpston 1682–1702. Rector of Folkingham, Lincs. (patron Ri. Wynn, armiger, perhaps the man admitted 1673) 10 Nov. 1702: buried there 3 March 172$\frac{9}{1}$.

Naylour, Charles: son of Charles: born at Wakefield. School: Wakefield, under Mr Baskerville. Admitted pensioner [tutor not given] 1 May 1674. Age 15.

Selby who was buried Jan. 168$\frac{4}{5}$: presented by Dr Henry More 168$\frac{4}{5}$: died rector before March 172$\frac{3}{4}$: but seems not to have resided later than 1707. He was also rector of Belton, six miles distant, 14 Dec. 1710–1724 (Turnor's Grantham, p. 98) by dispensation from Lambeth, on the presentation of Dame Alice Brownlow. Author: Life of Henry More: but the life contains nothing which bears on the life of the writer.

Will dated 19 June 1721: apparently unmarried, as he mentions only three sisters. Desired to be buried at the N.W. side of the church "in the out-bounds of the rock, with as little company and charge as possible." Died 30 July 1721, age 66. M.I. outside west door of the church: but in the parish register he is given as buried Oct. 2 (probably by error for Aug. 2). (Inform^{n}. from Rev. F. C. Norton, vicar.) Whether he was ordained late in life, or only deferred his priest's orders to the age of 53 cannot be decided.

Legard, Zachary: son of Robert: born at Scarborough. Educated at Helmsley by his brother Charles [of Sidney]. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 9 May 1674. Age 16.

B.A. 1680. Ordained deacon, York, 1680 Sept.: priest, 1682 June. I cannot connect him with the Legards of Ganton, Yorks., E.R. (pedigree in Genealogist, N.S. 22): but two sons of Sir John of Ganton, Thomas and William, were admitted here April 1677.

Lancaster, Timothy: "Colonus Trinitoniensis qui plura desiderat" [no more facts]. Admitted sizar [tutor not given] 20 May 1674.

Matric^{n}. not found, here or elsewhere. B.A. 1674 Mids., having kept his terms before admission here. "Trinitoniensis" seems formed on the analogy of Oxoniensis: so perhaps he was of Trin. Coll. Dublin: the last words, and the absence of further data (which it would be natural to give, if of Trin. Coll. Cambridge) point the same way. Possibly he was vicar of "Aykesgarth" [Aysgarth, Yorks.], March 168$\frac{2}{3}$ on the presentation of Trinity College, Cambridge.

Willey, Edward: son of Edward: born at Hulme [?], Yorks. School: Danby [Wiske], under Mr Smelt. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 22 May 1674. Age 18.

Bernard, Daniel: admitted as Barnard: son of Daniel: born at Burntwood [Brentwood], Essex. School: Brentwood, under Mr Bernard, his father. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 26 May 1674. Age 17.

Matric^{d}. (Bernard) 9 July 1674. Seems to have resided till Lady Day 1675, and his name is in Study-rents, without charge, for a year longer. Daniel, the father, was licensed to teach grammar at South Weal(d), Essex in 1661.

Golty, rector of St Clement's, Ipswich, and of Dennington till his death in 1683, was of St Catharine's and possibly uncle of our Samuel: who was ordained deacon, London, 1679 Dec.

Park, Laurence: son of John: born at Waberthwaite, Cumberland. School: Kendal, under Mr Jackson. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 28 May 1674. Age 21.

B.A. 1678 Mids. One of these names was rector of Barton St Andrew, Norfolk, 1689–1716: and also vicar of Wiggenhall St Mary, till his death in 1716. (Blomefield, 4. 52, 767.) The praelector (John Turner) gives the following incoherent account of Mr Park's entrance at (and, apparently, his first exit from) Cambridge. "Academiam pauper adiit, sed tempore quo diuit(is), (at end of line) haereditatem (? verb omitted) eodem animo quo theatrum ille qui ideo venerat tantum ut exiret, nam natus annos 21 et quod excurrit, quod erat opinor temporis non plane nihil, saltem si anni tam longi sunt in Borea degentibus quam sunt miliaria, quum sizatoribus dedisset nomen sponsore magistro Lovett, eosdem calceos itineris utriusque comites mira celeritate domum repertavit." He finally declared for life in the south!

He was buried 15 Nov. 1733, and Ann, presumably his wife, on 26 December of the same year. Baptisms of one daughter (Anna) and four sons, John, George, William and Thomas, occur between 1694 and 1705 (Rev. W. M. Scott, vicar).

Ordained priest, Lincoln, 168$\frac{9}{1}$ Feb. According to Davy Ra. Grey was curate of All Saints, Newcastle, 1686: but Brand does not give him. Ralph the elder was son of John (himself third son of Sir Ralph of Chillingham) who bought Bradford of Thomas Bradford, a Colonel in the Parliamentarian army, killed in Ireland.

Danby rector of Shawell, Leics. 8 July 1692, but removed 1696, it is supposed through some defect in his title (Nichols, 4. 340). He was presented by one Thomas Pryor, patron for this turn only. One of these names was vicar of Preston, Northants. 29 April 1720.

Parkes, Christopher: son of Christopher: born at Bolton on Swale. School: Thornton, under Mr Parkes. Admitted sizar under Mr Leigh 23 Sept. 1674. Age 16.

Southwell of Kinsale;—a man (says R. Widdrington) "tam literis quam in litteratos amore celeberrimus": Sir John was sent over to Ireland in 1653 to arrange for the transportation of Roman Catholics into Connaught: afterwards he was sworn of Charles II's privy council. Robert (born 8 Feb. 1657) was murdered by an unknown hand in the Strand 5 June 1677 and buried at Lincoln's Inn. Resided till Mich. 1676. Presumably the Ja. Bugg son of Ja. Bugg of Lakenheath by his wife Frances Rowley: "of the city of Ely aged 25 unmarried" in 1684 (Cambs. Visitation given in Genealogist, 3. 240). He had a brother Francis younger by one year. In the College Acc^{ts}., Mich^{s}. 1698 there is a charge "to Bug for his book against the Quakers, as other Colleges, 10/0": and a year later "Fra. Bugg the reformed Quaker" gets 17/0: perhaps he was the author of the book, but in Lowndes Francis' earliest work is given as of 1700, The Pilgrim's Progress from Quakerism to Christianity and in 1705 he is credited with The Mystery of the little Whore unfolded.

Brown, Walter: son of William: of Yorks. Admitted 20 April 1675: with the following sarcasm by Ra. Widdrington: "horam unam vel alteram Cantabrigiae, si pote, sine fructu collocaturus ideo tantum Christi Collegium ingressus est ut exiret, aetatis suae 20: solvit tamen Collegio 10*s.* 0*d.*"

I have nowhere else met with Walter Brown.

Nicholas, the father, was perhaps vicar of Assington, Suff. up to 1683, and vicar of Earl's Colne, 1683–90.

Isham, John: third son of Justinian, baronet, "vir ab omnibus ingenii doctrinaeque praesidiis instructissimus." Of Northants. [Lamport]. Admitted pensioner (afterwards fellow-commoner) under Dr More 29 May 1675. Age 15.

Ch., Oxford to be followed by later generations: John and his sixth brother Henry (168$\frac{4}{5}$) came to Cambridge. John was elected Fellow (succeeding John Turner) before Xmas 1681: his last payment was at Mich^{s}. 1685: in the Study-rents he appears till 1686: Adam Wall mentions that he continued Fellow without being in Holy Orders: that the question of his position was raised at the time appears from a memorandum in the Order Book, signed by himself: "If Mr Isham do not preach a Hawford Preacher's course by Midsummer next, or give notice to the College, he will forfeit the place and another may be nominated": 19 Oct. 1683. On 20 Nov. 1685 he was admitted at the Inner Temple. He was Under Secretary of State when Lord Nottingham was in office: many of his letters are preserved at Lamport: he had to do as Commissioner with the settlement of estates in Ireland. He married Frances, daughter of Sir Ri. Ashfield, and had two sons and one daughter. In 1702 he gave £50 to the Chapel fund. Died 1746, aged 86.

Fyge, Thomas: son of Thomas, pharmacopola: born in London. School: Stafford, under Mr Taylor. Admitted [no tutor given] a pensioner 3 June 1675. Age 15.

Matric^{d}. 8 July 1675: resided as a pupil of Mr Lovett till Lady Day 1676. Valentine Figge (or Fyge) also an apothecary [? grandfather] of Christ Church, London was married 10 Oct. 1626 to Marg. Blake, spinster.

Armitstead, James: admitted as Armstead: son of William: born in London. School: Giggleswick. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 15 June 1675. Age 16.

B.A. (Armitstead) $167\frac{8}{9}$. There were Armitsteads at Stainforth, at Langcliff, at Clapham, and at Long Preston—all near Settle. William, the father, was probably a member of one of these families who had gone up to London.

Sandeforth, Miles: (Milo Sandforth): son of George: born at Wakefield. School: Giggleswick. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 15 June 1675. Age 16.

B.A. (Sandeforth) $167\frac{8}{9}$; M.A. 1682. Probably vicar of Hooton Pagnell, near Doncaster 1691, where he rebuilt the parsonage-house. Died there 1696. (Hunter, S. Yorks. 2. 146.)

Nicholls, Nathaniel: son of Edward: born in Beds., but "Hybernus si genus reputamus." School: Kimbolton. Admitted pensioner under Mr Fairmedow 16 June 1675. Age 17.

B.A. $167\frac{8}{9}$; M.A. 1682: one of these names (Nichols) but no College, B.D. (com. reg.) 1728—but probably of Pembroke, Oxford; and son of Nathaniel of Kidderminster.

Choyce, John: son of Richard: of Derbs. School "Ripponi" [probably Repton]. Admitted sizar under Mr Turner 17 June 1675. Age 17.

B.A. $167\frac{8}{9}$. Perhaps the John Choyce rector of Manby, Lincs. 11 Oct. 1704, presented by John Goodrick, armiger: resided there and died: was buried 22 Feb. $172\frac{0}{1}$: his wife and a daughter were buried within six months of his death. Landen, Benet (Benedictus): [no facts given]. Admitted pensioner 17 June 1675.

Matric^n. not found. A pupil of Mr Lynford, but probably for one term only. There is a pedigree of Landens of Dalby, Lincs. (Maddison, 602) to which this Benet may have belonged: but it does not come far enough: there was a Benet of Dalby admitted at the Middle Temple in 1604—apparently the same who died before 1653 (Maddison) leaving a son Edward—possibly the father of our man.

Birch, Samuel: son of Samuel, of Lancashire. Educated at Markham, Notts. by his father, the vicar. Admitted sizar under Dr Widdrington 17 June 1675. Age not given.

B.A. $167\frac{8}{9}$; M.A. 1682. Perhaps of the Birch family of Ardwick, Manchester, in which Samuel is a common name: one Samuel was living in Manchester 1683 (given by Hunter, F.M.G. 1140, but no sons given). One was vicar of Basford near Nottingham 12 May 1682: resigned before May 1707: the same probably rector of Adbolton 26 March 1691. One Samuel was "of Nottingham town," clerk; his son Sam. was matric^d. at Merton, Oxford 1711. Aged 17.

Matric^d. 15 Dec. 1675: resided till Mich. 1677. Son of Sir Richard (165$\frac{2}{3}$)—created a baronet by Charles II in 1662—by his wife Eliz., daughter of Col. Chichester Fortescue: "egregiae indolis adolescens." Died in the lifetime of his father: who was succeeded by his third son Reginald (Kimber, 2. 270).

Morehouse, Nehemiah:

Matric^d. sizar Dec. 1675: B.A. 16$\frac{79}{80}$; M.A. 1683. Born at Castleford, W.R., Yorks., about 1657 (Norwich Register): his father, the rector, was silenced in 1662 but afterwards conformed. (Calamy-Palmer, 2. 599.) Ordained deacon and priest, Norwich, 1680 June.

At this point—the last entry of the academical year 1674–5, the first Admission book abruptly closes, though only half full. It contains nothing more, except at a few pages from the end a memorandum dated 12 May 1671 concerning James Everard the manciple.

For some reason, Thomas Lynford, praelector for the year 1676–7, copied out into the new book the entries already made by Dr Widdrington in the old one from 15 Oct. 1674 (beginning with Rob. Percevale) down to 27 Sept. 1675 (Will. Luck). Except in one case no new facts are added (but there are some more exquisite terms in the phraseology).

This second book contains the entries from 15 Oct. 1674 to 21 June 1859. It is less well kept than the first: and has numerous blank spaces for one or even two years, where the praelector had wholly neglected his duty. The first of these is the year 1675–6. The list of members admitted in it can be recovered from the University matriculation and graduation lists; but imperfectly: the whole number is but fifteen, which is far below the average of the admissions at this date. It is not creditable to Lynford that he did not take the trouble to insert the entries for the missing year 1675–6, which he could with ease have recovered, and that he passes from Mich. 1675 to Mich. 1676 without any indication of a blank.

Farrer, Henry:

Matric^d^. pensioner 1676 July: a pupil of Mr Waterhouse: B.A. $16\frac{79}{80}$, incorp^d^. Oxford, 13 Dec. 1682; M.A. (Christ's) 1683. Son of William of Eawood, Yorks. (*Al. One of the same names (possibly the same man) was rector of Vange All Saints, under the Langdon Hills, Essex 6 April 1685: resigned before December 1704.

Reeve, Ralph:

Matric^d^. sizar 1676 July: resided till Lady Day 1680 but took no degree. A pupil of Mr Lovett. One Ralph Reeve was chaplain of Kirkby in the parish of Walton on the Hill, near Liverpool 1689–1722 (Croston-Baines, 5. 111).

Lloyd, John:
B.A. $16\frac{79}{80}$; M.A. 1683. Son of Tho. B.A. $168\frac{0}{1}$; M.A. 1685. Second son of John Cudworth, girdler, a very wealthy man (died 1675), and of Mary (?) Bushell: nephew of Ralph, the Master. Admitted at the Inner Temple 23 April 1683. Elected Fellow, in succession to Edw. Finch, probably early in 1685: first payment Mich. 1685: last, Mich. 1687. He seems to have lived in London, possibly practising law. He made his will 31 March 1726 as Tho. Cudworth of London, gent., "being in good health of body and of sound and disposing mind." His health soon gave way for the will was proved 2 May in the same year. (Information from J. Cudworth Whitebrook, Esq.) He left his property to Wyan Cudworth, son of his brother Samuel. In the Mich. Audit 1688 there appears "From Mr Cudworth, Mr Tho. Cudworth's gift, £9. 13*s.* 4*d.*": but whether the gift be from this Thomas, or from his cousin, Ralph's son (whom see) I cannot determine: probably this one.

Finch, Edward: fifth son of Heneage, Baron Finch. Admitted nobleman ("nobilis accessit hospes") under Mr Lovett 8 June 1677. Age 14.
Matric^d. 1677 July; M.A. 1679. Admitted at the Inner Temple 23 April 1683. He contributed 23 Oct. 1677 as a freshman to the verses on the marriage of the Princess Mary of York with the Prince of Orange. He was elected a Fellow, succeeding John Perkins, before Mids. 1680: his last payment was at Mich. 1684: but he appears in the Study-rents later. M.P. for the University 1689: but changing his course of life, he was ordained deacon, York, 8 Sept. 1695; priest, 15 Sept. I cannot find that he held any living on his ordination: but he became Prebendary of York (Wetwang) 26 April 1704 and was rector of Kirkby in Cleveland 15 Feb. $170\frac{4}{5}$. On 1 March $170\frac{6}{7}$ he became rector of Wigan. Prebendary of Canterbury 8 Feb. $17\frac{09}{10}$. At Wigan he showed want of tact by displacing the Mayor and Corporation from a gallery in the church, built for them 20 years before, in order to put an organ there. The Corporation went to law with the rector: but a decision was given against them 10 June 1712 (Croston-Baines, 4. 280). Finch resigned the living in $171\frac{3}{4}$, and removed to York, retaining his canonry there (as well as that of Canterbury) till his death. Resided in the Close and interested himself in musical matters: he was a composer of some merit. Married Mary, third daughter of Dr Nicholas Stanley. He had estates at Knapton, Yorks., at Belton, Ruts., and at Owston, Leics. Died 14 Feb. $173\frac{7}{8}$ aged 75: buried in the south choir aisle of York Cathedral. M.I. and medallion. Rector of Ringstead St Andrew, presented by the College, 3 Feb. $168\frac{6}{7}$–1719, when he died Oct. 3 and was buried in the chancel of the church. Cotton, William: son of William: born at Broughton [Astley], Leics. Educated by Mr Seagrave. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lynford 20 June 1677. Age not given.

B.A. $168\frac{9}{1}$; M.A. 1684. Perhaps re-admitted 24 June 1681. The father, William, admitted 1639, was rector of Broughton Astley, till his death in 1682. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1684 May: licensed to Broughton Astley: vicar of Great Ashby, Leics. 6 June 1684 apparently till 1714. Probably also rector of Broughton Astley 25 Jan. $169\frac{1}{2}$ on the presentation of Sir Will. Halford: his sister Mary married Sir Richard Halford of Wistow: he died at Broughton 1714. (Nichols, Leics. 4, 51 and 724).

Had a steadily increasing number of pupils from 1685 to 1693, when he had 55. Appointed 6 March $169\frac{9}{1}$, steward under new conditions, viz. of giving a bond of £500 to the College, for the due performance of his duties. A pedigree of the family in which Faircloughs and Featleys exchange perplexingly, given by Maddison (Lincs. pedigrees, 340). Vicar (Costyn) of Haddenham, Bucks. 8 June 1689. Buried there 2 Nov. 1731 (Lipscombe, 2. 213). There is a curious memorandum by him in a new parish register, printed by Lipscombe (with so many typographical errors as to be in places unintelligible) addressed to his successor as "planctus gemitusque incumbentis": in which he asks pardon for damage suffered by the living in his incumbency. The people of Cuddington (an adjacent village) would not pay their tithe, "et in hac re se contra me unanimiter iunxerunt." He ends "vale, vir erudite, molestus enim esse nolo, verbum enim sat sapienti."

Died 2 June 1704 aged 74.

The entries of another year, Oct. 1677–Oct. 1678 are omitted in the Admission book. Eleven leaves (nos. 6–16) are left blank—an unnecessary number. Possibly there was some intention of inserting the missing entries for Oct. 1675–Oct. 1676 in this place. As before I give the names as far as recoverable from the lists of matriculations and degrees, and from the book of Study-rents. The number for the year is only 20, viz. six matriculations in July, nine in December, and five admissions between October and December. Doubtless several are missing.

He was ordained deacon, Lincoln, 168$\frac{4}{5}$ March: priest, 1685 Sept.: licensed to cure of St Michael, Stamford.

Not the Sir George Strode of Etchingham, Kent, admitted f.-c. at Caius 12 April 1678, and given by Venn (1. 459) as B.A. (Christ's) 168$\frac{1}{2}$.

Ordained deacon, York, 168$\frac{1}{2}$ March: priest, Lincoln, 168$\frac{4}{5}$ March: licensed to Corringham, Lincs. Vicar of Upton, Lincs. 17 April 1690.

(Kimber, 3. 198.)

Matric^{d}. sizar 1678 Dec. Pupil of Mr Lovett. B.A. (Forster) 168$\frac{1}{2}$. Resided till Mich^{s}. 1683. Probably one of Mr Austin's three poor scholars (order of 7 Feb. 168$\frac{1}{2}$) and chosen by Dr More. The money (£15) for this short-lived charity was paid annually from the Exchequer for two years (I think) only. (History of Christ's, 201.)

Backler, Samuel:

Matric^{d}. sizar 1678 Dec. A pupil of Mr Lynford: in residence in 1676. B.A. 167$\frac{9}{80}$; M.A. 1683. Not son (but possibly nephew) of Sam. Backler the ejected minister of Whatfield, Suffolk: he had a son Samuel born 1661 who died an infant. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1683 June: licensed to Newnham, Herts. Vicar of Newnham (near Ashwell) 1684–1713. Vicar of Ashwell 26 June 1713: patron, the Bishop of London: gone before Nov. 1720. His son Sam. was admitted 17$\frac{09}{10}$: born at Ashwell. Woodhouse, John:

Matric^{d}. sizar 1678 Dec. A pupil of Mr Waterhouse. Resided from Mich^{s}. 1678 to Lady Day 1680. Was he the John Woodhouse, son of Chris. of Berkhamsted, matric^{d}. at Lincoln, Oxford 1676 but took no degree? If he was, and if he migrated from Christ's to Queens', Cambridge, he would be of sufficient standing to be the M.B. (Queens') 1681, M.D. (com. reg.) 1705, who practised at Nottingham, where his son John was buried 1708. (Godfrey, Bingham, 39.)

Here the Admission book begins again with the year 1678–9.

Short, Samuel: son of John: born "apud aedes Cranburienses" [Cranbury] in the parish of Islington, Midds. School: Islington, under Mr Singleton. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lynford, [—] Oct. 1678. Age 16. Afterwards fellow-commoner 28 June 1681.

Matric^d. 1679...and seems not to have resided till after Mich^s. of that year. M.A. (per lit. reg.) 1683. Admitted at the Inner Temple 22 Sept. 1681, third son of John Short of Cranbury.

Knowsley, John: son of John: born at Scarborough. School: Thornton [? Thornton Dale, Pickering], Yorks., under Mr Parkes. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lynford [—] Oct. 1678. Age 16.

B.A. $168\frac{2}{3}$.

B.A. $168\frac{2}{3}$. Ordained deacon, York, 1684 Sept. One Rob. Jackson, B.A., vicar of Beighton, Derbs. 19 June 1690. Perhaps the same was rector of Adel, Yorks. 27 Aug. 1702: described as M.A. (but there was no Rob. Jackson M.A. at either Cambridge or Oxford at this time). Died there 1730. Grandfather of Dean Cyril Jackson.

Cudworth, Thomas:

M.A. (per lit. reg.) 1682. The only trace of him (apart from this record at the University Registry) is that Tho. Cudworth son of John, the M.A. and Fellow of 1685, is called Mr Tho. Cudworth junior. Thomas (senior) may have been a son of Ralph the Master. The registers of Great St Andrew's 1641–1661 are missing: and there is a blank in the Admission Book from Mich. 1677 to Mich. 1678: this Thomas may have been admitted during that time, and not matriculated; and then have obtained his degree of M.A. by mandate before the proper time. See under Charles Cudworth, page 49. A "Mr Cudworth" appears in the Study-rents in a perplexing way, among Lynford's pupils. He first is "Cudworth" only (Lady Day 1679) about the middle of the list: at Mich^s. he is "Mr Cudworth" in the same place and rises by degrees to the top of the list. He occurs till Lady Day 1685. He cannot be either of the Fellows, John, Ralph's son, or Thomas, John's son: nor can he be the Charles Cudworth who was in India 1683 and died there 1684. I conclude that he is this Thomas, possibly admitted 1677–8, fellow-commoner in 1679 and (Hon.) M.A. 1682: but the history is strange: Thomas, Ralph's son, seems to have no claim to any special privilege.

Maye, Joseph:

Admitted at Exeter College, Oxford, 7 Dec. 1666, son of Joseph of St Austell, Cornwall: B.A. $167\frac{0}{1}$; M.A. (Christ's) 1680. Ordained deacon, Exeter, 1671 June; priest, 1673 May. Rector of St Ewe, Cornwall 1679; of St Grade 1680. His son, Joseph, reverted to Exeter, Oxford in 1696.

Matric^{d}. 3 July 1679. Resident till Lady Day 1682. Probably John, son of Will. Covel of Horringer [Horningsheath], probably nephew of John Covel, the future Master: baptised March 166$\frac{2}{3}$. Admitted at the Inner Temple 13 Feb. 168$\frac{1}{2}$. He appears in the list of Mr Lynford's pupils Mich. 1679; with no charge against him: not later. Was he the M.A. of Clare 1683? His full name was Tho. Fox Willis. Succeeded his father, and according to Burke (Extinct Baronetage) he died unmarried, 1701, aged 89 (misprint for 39).

One of these names vicar of Owston, W.R., Yorks. 7 Aug. 1686, patron, Joh. Adams, Esq.: died 1687: described (M.I.) as "fidelis vicarius"; but no age given. (Hunter S. Yorks. 2. 479.)

Blythe, Edward:

Matricd. fellow-commoner, 1679 July. See under [—] Blythe 1677. Appears in the list of Mr Lynford's pupils for the half-year ending Lady Day 1678 to Mich. 1679 inclusive: but no charge against him: perhaps he never resided. One Edward Blythe of "Strancson alias Stroxton," Lincs. (Stroxton, near Grantham) was admitted at Gray's Inn 1 April 1678: his grandmother was Mary, daughter of Anthony Eyre of Rampton (see Ant. Eyre, adm. 1650).

Plumpton, Henry:

Matricd. sizar 1679 July. Pupil of Mr Waterhouse. B.A. $168\frac{1}{2}$. Ordained deacon, York, 1682 June: priest, 1683 June. A pedigree of Plumpton of Plumpton in Genealogist N.S. 22. 42: but he is not found there.

Backwell, Richard: son of Edward, armiger: born at Parson's Green, Middlesex. Educated by Mr Maurice. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Lovett 3 Jan. $167\frac{79}{80}$. Age 16.

Resided till Lady Day 1683. First son (by his second wife, Mary, daughter of Ri. Leigh of Warwick) of Edw. Backwell (d. 1683) "alderman, a celebrated London goldsmith, and the principal founder of the banking system in England" (D.N.B.) to whom, when Charles II "closed the exchequer" in 1672, £295,995 was owing from the King.

Ri. Backwell was admitted at the Inner Temple 17 April 1676 as "of the City of London"—unless that be a kinsman: Lipscombe (Bucks. 4. 376) makes him of Gray's Inn. He married but had no children: died 26 April 1731.

The "Mr Maurice" (above) was doubtless Henry Maurice, rector of Tyringham, Bucks. 1675-9. Tyringham was acquired by John Backwell (son of Edward by his first marriage to Alice Brett) who married Elizabeth, only daughter of Sir Will. Tyringham. Edward Backwell was buried there.

Lane, Edward: [no facts given]. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lovett 3 Jan. $16\frac{79}{80}$.

B.A. $168\frac{3}{4}$. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1685 Sept.: licensed to Ruskington. Probably related, but not very nearly, to the Newark family of Standish, to which Thomas (the Fellow 1653–1714) belonged: not in Maddison's pedigree (Lincs. pedigrees, 919).

Christmas, John: son of John: born at Sudbury, Suffolk. Educated by Mr Chapman [perhaps Edmund or Ambrose, each of whom was ordained to a Suffolk curacy and beneficed in this year]. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett [date not given]. Age not given.

Matric^d^. sizar 8 July 1680: probably migrated, and graduated at Peterhouse, B.A. $168\frac{2}{3}$; M.A. 1686. A Mr Battell was Master of Hertford School in 1690 and not before 1685. Perhaps minor canon of St Paul's $169\frac{1}{2}$–$169\frac{7}{8}$, when he resigned.

Every, Simon: son of Henry, baronet: born at Eggington, Derbs. School: Repton, under Mr Litherland. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lynford 26 April 1680. Age 17.

B.A. 168$\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1687. Third son of Sir Henry Every (1646) by his wife Vere Herbert: called after his grandfather the first baronet. Grandfather and father were strong Royalists. Elected Fellow Sept. (? 7) 1687 succeeding Henry More. A letter (which has been preserved) from his father on 1 Nov. 1687 bids him "remember with what reputation Dr More lived in the College and make it your endeavour that as you succeed in his place so in his repute." Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1688 June; priest, August. Resided in College as Fellow for 16 years, but seemingly not of much mark: was junior Dean and catechist in 1689: he had one pupil, called Walker: but Waterhouse, and then Duckfield, swept the field. Junior Proctor 1699. He was presented to Navenby 23 March 170$\frac{2}{3}$—having passed it two years earlier when Rob. Bevin, a young man, was appointed. Resigned his fellowship before April 1704. By the death of his two elder brothers, Henry and John, without issue, he succeeded to the Baronetcy 1 July 1729: but he did not resign Navenby: after 1730 the register is always signed by curates, of whom his sons John and Simon were two. Married Mary, daughter of Joshua Clarke, rector of Somerby: had five sons, Henry (admitted 1726), John (1726), Simon (1730) and two others. Died 12 Jan. 1753 after holding Navenby for fifty years, aged 90. His wife died at Navenby 12 Aug. 1725, apparently after child-birth.

I have been shewn by Miss E. M. Every a curious MS. commonplace book, which belonged to John Every of Chardstock (? adm. 1648, uncle of this Simon); it contains also entries by Simon to whom it passed. There is a curious page dealing with his meals in College in Nov. 1693 of which I give part "Friday 3rd Nov. dine in the Hall: at night noe supper....Sunday 5 of Nov. my exceed(ings) in my Chamber. Monday 6 Nov. not anything at noone: at night half a raw chicken. Tuesday ye 7 nothing at noone, at night nothing.... Friday 10th. din: in the Hall, at night noe supper. Saturday din. in the Hall: at night with Mr Waterhs: on Stinking Mutton. Sunday 12: di: in Hall, at night pig's head with Smith."

Matric^d. as Edward 19 July 1681: B.A. (Tho. Merrye) 168$\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1687: no Thomas matric^d. Probably Edward is due to miscopying: but there may have been two men.

Mackworth, Humphry (Onufrius): son of Thomas, baronet. Born at Normanton, Ruts. School: not given. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Lynford 11 May 1680. Age not given.

Matricn. not found. Resided till Michs. 1682. Son of Sir Thomas of Normanton, third baronet, by his wife Anne, daughter of Humphry Mackworth of Betton, Salop. Nephew of Gustavus (admitted 1650). Died unmarried (Kimber, 1. 156). For his cousin, another Humphry, "a noted projector," see D.N.B. The connexion between the College and the Mackworths was perhaps due to the marriage of the widow of Alex. More of Grantham with Sir Thomas (the first baronet, 1619) of Normanton.

Hayton, William: [father not given]: of Derbs. Admitted sizar under Mr Lynford 11 May 1680. Age not given.

Backwell, Leigh: son of Edward, armiger: born at Parson's Green, Midds. Educated by Mr Maurice. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Lovett 24 May 1680. Age not given [but not more than 14].

Matricn. not found: resided till Mich. 1681. Third brother, see Richard and Barnaby, above; called after his maternal grandfather Ri. Leigh. He is not given in the pedigree (Lipscombe, Bucks. 4. 376): perhaps he died young.

Matricn. not found. Resided till Michs. 1682. Possibly the "Ri. Farrer, gent." matricd. at Univ. Coll., Oxford 8 July 1684: B.A. 1688; M.A. $169\frac{0}{1}$: no further facts given.

Another was vicar of Newport, Essex, 24 Feb. 170$\frac{2}{3}$: and of Quendon 29 Mar. 1707: held both till 1735, when he died: perhaps of St John's, M.A. 1700. If there was also a Will. Tatham admitted here, perhaps he was a son of John Tatham of Pontefract, deceased, admitted at Lincoln's Inn 23 April 1678. One—and only one—appears in Study-rents, till Michs. 1681: after that date he probably became a sizar.

Carter, Thomas: [no facts given]. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lynford 18 June 1680.

Stonard of Knowles Hill where a younger brother Francis Waldron (admitted 1681) was born. According to Morant (1. 178) their son George (not John) was at Christ's, died 15 May 1681, aged 17 years and 2 months; and has M.I. in Stapleford Abbotts church. It seems likely that George is a mistake for John.

Wightman, Robert: nothing recorded except that he was admitted pensioner: it must have been at some time between July and September 1680.

Appears for Study-rents first at Mich. 1681 as a pupil of Mr Cudworth: afterwards he was transferred to Mr Lovett. Buried at Great St Andrew's 11 June 1683. A family of this name at Hinckley, Leics.—with a branch at Peckleton—pedigree in Nichols, 4. 876.

Carter, Martin: son of Martin: born at Shalford, Essex. School: Felstead, under Mr Glascock. Admitted pensioner under Mr Waterhouse 11 Sept. 1680. Age 16.

Matric^n. not found: resided till Mich. 1682. Admitted, as of Great Saling, son of Martin of Shalford, at Lincoln's Inn 22 Jan. 1681. Martin Carter, the grandfather, came from Lincs. to Shalford. His son Martin, of Queens' College and of Gray's Inn, bought Saling Hall: married Elizabeth, daughter of Ant. Wolmer of Lincs. Martin the third, our man, married "Mary Westwood or Butler" (Morant, 2. 411). "An accomplished gentleman, of singular learning...greatly improved the house and gardens at Saling Hall in 1699." But he sold it in 1717 to Hugh Raymond.

Nathaniel became a pupil of Mr Frankland (at Natland) 4 April 1684. According to Urwick (Cheshire, 233) he was a pastor at Newton, then at Macclesfield where he died 10 Oct. 1702, aged 37. Matthew Henry writes of him (Tong's Life of M. Henry, 279) that he was "a very ingenious man, a florid preacher, and very serious and affectionate in all his performances. He met with affliction in his marriage, which occasioned some unevenness in his temper: but he was a man of true piety and integrity. He died of a palsy in complication with other distempers. His afflictions had broken his spirit very much." (Urwick, as above.)

Collins, William: admitted as Collin: of Herts. Admitted sizar under Mr Lynford 17 Sept. 1680. Age not given.

B.A. (Collins) $168\frac{1}{5}$. Probably the Collins who was one of Mr Austin's three poor scholars to be paid out of the Exchequer: appointed 7 Feb. $168\frac{1}{2}$ "for the Master," together with Oxley "for Dr Widdrington" and Sir Foster for Dr More (?): these three alone sign the order. See under Rob. Foster (1678).

Wykes, Aquila: admitted as Wyke [the praelector, Tho. Waterhouse, writes Aquilas, with hesitation: the s is a later addition]: son of Aquila: born in London. Educated at Harding [in Herts.]. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lynford 25 Oct. 1680. Age not given.

B.A. (Wykes) $168\frac{4}{5}$.

Rob. Powell, the father (adm. 1644) oscillated between Cambridge and Oxford; but was never at Christ's. The son was admitted at Lincoln's Inn 30 Nov. 1680. Resided here till Lady Day 1682. One of these names was B.A. (Queens') $168\frac{4}{5}$, M.A. 1688: he matric^d. from there 15 Dec. 1683, having probably migrated from Christ's.

Resided till the summer of 1682. Probably the man mentioned by Oliver Heywood in his Diary, "Mr Saml ffurnesse and Jane Breatcliffe, Sept. 26 [1682] unknown to Relations tho' for main consenting" (Northowram Register, p. 45). Also somewhat later "Sam. ffourness of Ovendon, bur. 23 Feb. $168\frac{7}{8}$, a young man dispatcht with Intemperance" (ib. p. 72).

Driffield, barrister of Ripon, married at York Minster 10 Jan. $169\frac{6}{7}$ to Mary, daughter of Tho. Fairfax, Esq., of York and Sledmere. Married again in 1702, on Nov. 4 to Anne Carpenter of Beverley. Will dated 21 May 1721, proved 3 July 1724 by his widow Anne (Yorks. Arch. Journal, 2. 115).

Massam, John: [no facts]. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lovett 30 March 1681. Probably never resided here. Perhaps B.A. (Peterhouse) $168\frac{4}{5}$; M.A. 1688.

Yates, Francis: son of William: born at Dunnington [Donington], Salop. [School, not given.] Admitted pensioner under Mr Waterhouse 5 April 1681. Age 15.

Apparently kept the Mich. Term 1682 or the Lent Term 1683, but no more. One "Yeates, literatus," of Christ's College, was ordained deacon, Glos., 1686: priest, 1687. A Francis Yates was incumbent of St Nicholas, Whitehaven, 1693, and rector of Moresby 1711–20. Another, of the same name, was at Moresby 1728–35 (Jefferson, Cumberland, 2. 68, 381).

Lambert, Josias: son of Thomas: born at Hubberholme, Yorks. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Briggs. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 9 April 1681. Age not given.

Pye, Charles: son of John: born at Morpeth. School not given. Admitted sizar under Mr Lynford 18 April 1681. Age not given.

B.A. $168\frac{4}{5}$. Perhaps son of John Pye (1633) rector of Morpeth; and younger brother of John (1668). Ordained deacon, Durham, 1685 Sept. Rector of Meldon (about seven miles from Morpeth) 1695–1726. Collected many papers concerning the living of Meldon, which came into the hands of the Rev. James Raine, a succeeding rector. Heathcote, Gilbert: [no facts given]. Admitted pensioner under Mr Waterhouse 22 April 1681.

Only one Heathcote is found in the Study-rents, and he is doubtless Ralph (admitted 8 July). See under Gilbert, admitted 1666. If dates be right, neither can be the banker and Lord Mayor of London, Sir Gilbert, "the grave Sir Gilbert" who "holds it for a rule that every man in want is knave or fool" (Pope). But probably each belonged to one of the Derbyshire families: among whom Gilberts and Ralphs are plentiful.

Forster, James: youngest son of George: born at Bolam, Westmoreland [?]. School not given. Admitted sizar under Mr Lynford 25 April 1681. Age not given. Became a pensioner under Mr Lovett 30 June 1682.

B.A. 168$\frac{4}{5}$. Ordained deacon, London, 168$\frac{5}{6}$ Feb. A pedigree of the family of Hoo of Paul's Warden is in Berry's Herts. Genealogies, 148.

Lowther, William: son and heir of William, armiger: born at Swillington, Yorks. School: Berwick, under Mr Atkinson. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lynford 17 May 1681. Age not given. Became fellow-commoner 13 Oct. 1682.

Admitted at Gray's Inn 14 Dec. 1682, having probably kept the term at Cambridge. Eldest son of Sir Will. Lowther of Garforth, and eventually of Swillington, High Sheriff for Yorks., and M.P. for Pontefract, by his wife Catherine Harrison of Dancer's Hill, Herts. Candidate for Parliament in 1688 (see under Welbury Norton, vol. I. p. 529): elected for Pontefract in room of his father. High Sheriff 1697. Created a baronet 5 March 1715. Married in 1691 Annabella, daughter of Banister, Lord Maynard, sister of Banister, admitted 1694. Died 6 March 1729, leaving a son Sir William, second baronet.

Brooksbank, Abraham: son of William: born at Thornton, Yorks. School not given. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 23 May 1681. Age not given.

Not found in the Study-rents. Perhaps nephew of Abraham Brooksbank, the Fellow, and vicar of Bradford. If so, his birthplace may be the Thornton near Bradford.

Charleton, John: son of James: born at Holton, Lancs. School: Manchester, under Mr Barrow. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 3 June 1681. Age not given.

Not found in Study-rents.

Ordained deacon, London, 1687 May: licensed to Billesdon, Leics. Perhaps rector of Wistow, Leics. 21 Aug. 1695–1714: rector of Norton by Galby 10 Aug. 1714: buried there 11 Jan. 1725, aged 62. He seems to have signed as vicar of Kilby, Leics. in 1694 and 1696 (Nichols, II. 2. 878): but no institution or cession appears.

Walker, John: son of William: born at Kirkum [Kirkham], Lancs. Educated by Mr Kawcroft [?]. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lovett 29 May 1682. Age not given.

B.A. $168\frac{5}{6}$; M.A. 1689. Brother of Richard ($167\frac{8}{9}$). Ordained deacon, Salisbury, 1689 Sept.: priest, 1690 Sept. Vicar of Inglesham (presented by the Bishop of Salisbury), Wilts. 1704–18, when he died. Subscriber to Ford's Articuli [J.E.B.M.]. The father was probably of Corpus, Oxford, and vicar of Watford 1675 (Al. Ox.). Capell, son of John, born at Watford, and admitted 1700, may be a third son.

But another John Sharpe, of Christ's, was licensed to practise medicine, 1689. Either might be the John Sharpe M.A., of Christ's, given by Cole, as chaplain of the forces at New York: probably the same who emigrated as minister to the Leeward Islands 27 Feb. $170\frac{0}{1}$ (Fothergill, Emigrant Ministers to America, p. 54). Preached at Trinity church, New York, 13 Aug. 1706 a sermon from Job xiv. 14 on the death of Lady Catherine Cornbury, wife of the Governor of New York.

The letter is No. 37 in a collection (MS.) of letters written to Dr More, belonging to the Dean of Westminster.

Meriton, John: son of George: born at Kirby Wiske, Yorks. School: [Kirby], under Mr Smelt. Admitted sizar under Mr Lynford 30 June 1682. Age not given.

B.A. $168\frac{5}{6}$. George, the father, was a "legal and miscellaneous writer," 1634–1711 (D.N.B.), an attorney at Northallerton, who married Mary Palliser of Kirby Wiske: he wrote an Abridgment of the Irish Statutes and several dialect-books, including a poem The Praise of Yorkshire Ale. "Removed into Ireland where he was said to be made a Judge" (Ra. Thoresby, 1703). George, elder brother of John, was admitted at St John's 1678 and died at Cambridge 1680. John is not mentioned in his father's will 26 Sept. 1701, and proved by a younger brother, Luke, in 1711. (Genealogist, N.S. 23. 165.) Another John Meriton (of Caius, B.A. $168\frac{2}{3}$)—perhaps a cousin—was rector of Boughton, Norfolk, succeeding his father, Henry.

Halles, William: son of John: born at Glaston, Ruts. School: Peterborough, under Mr Smith. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 4 July 1682. Age 15.

Carter, John: son of Ralph: born at Redmire, Richmond. School: Bedale, under Mr Rob. Nicholson (Pemb. Hall). Admitted at Pembroke 3 July 1680: at Christ's sizar under Mr Holdsworth 13 Oct. 1682. Age not given.

B.A. $168\frac{4}{5}$; M.A. 1694. Ordained deacon, York, $168\frac{4}{5}$ March: curate of Bedale, March 16.

Bagl(e)y, George: son of Samuel, incumbent of Haselbeech, Northants. School: Gilsborough, under Mr Chapman. Admitted sizar under Mr Lynford 27 Oct. 1682. Age 18.

B.A. (Bagley) $168\frac{6}{7}$. One Geo. Bagley occurs as vicar of Desborough, Northants. in 1695 (Bridges, 2. 27): also rector of Isham, where he occurs 1719 (ib. 110).

Waterhouse, Jeremiah: [father not given]: of Yorks. School: Sheffield, under Mr Balg[u]y. Admitted at St John's under Mr Billers "vir clarissimus" 9 May 1681: at Christ's sizar under Mr Waterhouse 3 Nov. 1682. Age not given.

Marshall, William: son of Thomas: born at Lynn. School: Lynn, under Mr Horne. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 23 Nov. 1682. Age 15.

B.A. $168\frac{6}{7}$. One Will. Marshall, B.A., ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1687 May, and licensed to Stamford: he may be of St John's, B.A. 1683: a second, B.A., ordained 1688 Sept.—described as curate of Gt Harborough, dio. Lichfield, licensed to Kirkby Mallory, Leics.: a third, ordained 1 Sept. 1689, licensed to Roughton, Lincs.; priest 1691 Sept.; licensed to Marston. One of these may be of St Alban Hall, Oxford, B.A. 1686. But any one of the three might be our man: as to age, the last seems most natural. One had license to serve the cure of Hougham with Marston, Lincs. 14 June 1693. Finally, one Will. Marshall was ordained priest, Norwich, 29 May 1697, and described in the register as born at Lynn, and aged 24: he was probably vicar of East Reedham, Norfolk, 1697–1701 (Blomefield, 3. 835): but if the age be right, he cannot be our man.

Ridley, — :

In Great St Andrew's register occurs "Ridley a scholar of Christe College, buried July the 10th, 1682." He appears as a pupil of Mr Waterhouse in the Study-rents for Lady Day and Mich. 1682—in each case with no charge against him.

Wells, William:

Matric^d. pensioner 1682 July: but never appears in Study-rents. Possibly son of Will. Wells admitted $16\frac{49}{50}$.

Hall, Henry:

Matric^d. sizar 1682 Dec. It would seem likely that this was Hen. Hall admitted 1679 and only now matriculated: but two men graduated as B.A. one in $168\frac{2}{3}$ and one in $168\frac{3}{4}$. Strangely, neither can be found in the Study-rents. One Henry Hall, son of Henry of Poplar, Midds., gentleman, deceased, was admitted at the Middle Temple, 19 Nov. 1680.

Littleford, Thomas:

M.A. 1688. Son of John of Baninghall [?], Salop: matric^d. at Magdalen Hall, Oxford, $16\frac{69}{70}$, aged 16: B.A. 1673; M.A. (from Christ's) 1688. Appointed Rhetorick Lecturer Oct. 1688, but he does not appear in the Study-rents, and probably did not reside in College: so it is impossible to say how long he remained. He signs, immediately after the Fellows in the first set of entries in the "Scholars' Book" 21 June 1689. According to Foster, Al. Ox. 918, he was rector of Hughley, Salop, in 1686, i.e. before he came to Cambridge: and of Quatt in 1695. Perhaps he was connected with the Wolrych family of Dudmaston and Quatt.

From this point there is definite evidence who were scholars of the College, supplied by the so-called "Scholars' Book": which contains the declaration required from all beneficiaries of the College of assent to the Declaration against Transubstantiation, drawn up by Act of Parliament Charles II, 30: beginning

I, A. B., do solemnly and sincerely in the presence of God, profess, testifye, and declare, that I doe believe that in the sacrament of the Lord's Supper there is not any Transubstantiation of Bread and Wine into the Body and Bloud of Christ, at or after the Consecration thereof by any person whatsoever: And that the Invocation or Adoration of the Virgin Mary, or any other Saint, and the Sacrifice of the Mass, as they are now used in the Church of Rome, are Superstitious and Idolatrous.....

The book dates from Covel's time—the first signatures being affixed on 21 June 1689 by nine existing Fellows, by Tho. Littleford (above) and by 29 scholars, and by the remaining Fellows and scholars, then existing, at various dates down to November 1689. Each Fellow and scholar signed from December 1689 on his admission. From this time therefore we have the names of all scholars in their own handwriting. From 18 Nov. 1690 it is further stated that the scholars "did take the Oathes [required from a scholar] and subscribe the Declaration before written," and the book may properly be called a "Scholars' Book."

The first undergraduate (according to admission at the College) who signed is Thomas Oliver, below.

Oliver, Thomas: son of Thomas: born in London. School: Christ's Hospital ("orphanotrophis Eccl. Xti"), under Mr Munford. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 5 Jan. 168$\frac{2}{3}$. Age near 15.

Oliver, B.A., was vicar of Wolfhamcote, Warw. 23 May 1703: vicar of Penn, Staffs. 1709: and of Dudley, Worcs. 1721: but he may be an Oxonian.

B.A. 168$\frac{6}{7}$. Son of Thomas Moore of Stubton (S.E. of Newark) by his wife Susanna, daughter of Tho. Williamson of Allington. Library keeper 30 Sept. 1684. He had a testimonial 13 Sept. 1688 from Dr Covel and eight Fellows. Curate at Fulbeck, Lincs. to Tho. Williamson, rector of the same, who attested the fact 17 Sept. (Canon C. W. Foster.) Afterwards rector of Carlton Scroop, but described as of Stubton in 1710. Married Jane — of Grantham, and had two sons, Edward (of Sleaford) and Richard. Died 1724. (Lincs. pedigrees, 689.)

Matric^{d}. 1686 April: B.A. 168$\frac{6}{7}$. A pedigree of Slaneys of Hatton Grange, Salop, in Burke, Hist. Commoners, 4. 503, contains neither of these.

Russell, —: [no facts given]. Admitted sizar 8 May 1683.

No one of this name in Study-rents.

Pierrepont, Evelyn: admitted as Pierpoint: son of Robert: brother of William, Earl of Kingston: born at Dean, Wilts. School: Winchester (Ventae Belgarum), under Mr Harris. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Cudworth 19 May 1683. Age not given.

Seems to have resided till Mich. 1684. Third son of Robert of Thoresby, Notts., and of Eliz. Evelyn of West Dean, Wilts. M.P. for Retford (East) 1689 and again in 1690: but succeeded in 1690 his brother William as fifth Earl of Kingston-upon-Hull. One of the Commissioners for the union with

Scotland 1706. Created Marquis of Dorchester, 23 Dec. 1706: and Duke of Kingston 1715. Keeper of the Privy Seal 1716–18. President of the Council 1719–20, when he became again Lord Keeper. Married (1) Lady Mary Fielding by whom he was the father of Lady Mary Wortley Montagu: (2) Lady Isabella Bentinck. Died at Arlington Street 5 March 1726 and buried at Holme Pierrepont, Notts. A staunch Whig, and member of the Kitcat Club. Thus described by Macky in 1705: "He hath a very good estate, is a very fine gentleman, of good sense, well-bred and a lover of the ladies; intirely in the interest of his country [!]: makes a good figure, is of a black complexion, well made, not forty years old." A catalogue of his library published 1727. Portrait by Sir Godfrey Kneller (D.N.B.). First cousin (once removed) of Robert (admitted 1653). The pedigree is as follows:

Duckfield, Daniel: son of John: born at Buntingford. School: Stortford, under Mr Leigh [? Thomas, admd. 1650]. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lovett 22 May 1683. Age 16.

B.A. 168⅚; M.A. 1690. Son of John, rector of Aspeden, near Buntingford (? son of Daniel B.A. 1604, and vicar of Childerditch) by his wife Joyce, daughter of Dr John Lightfoot, of Christ's and Master of Cath. Hall. Elected Fellow, in the place of Dr Widdrington, who died 10 June 1688, very speedily, for he signs an order 23 June, three days before Cudworth's death. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1689 May. He began to take pupils in 1691—and in 1694 he had 69, while the other fellows had 22 among them. In 1701 (probably earlier) he was vicar of Newton, Cambs. In his last year 1702 (when the whole number of undergraduates had fallen considerably) he had nearly the whole College. He died, it would seem suddenly, between 25 March and 1 May 1702, aged only 35—a heavy loss to the College. His dividend for Lady Day 1702 was paid at Mich. to his administrator Mr John Baines, the College cook. His pupils passed over chiefly to Mr Withers, but Mr Burton and Mr Sherwill also profited.

There are six letters of Duckfield to J. Strype among the Baumgartner Papers: see Catalogue of MSS., Univ. Lib., Cambridge, v. 147. John Lightfoot left many of his papers, including a Concordance and sermons, also a journal to his son-in-law John, Daniel's father: these papers John Duckfield passed over to Strype before 1 Oct. 1679 (ib. 13). On 12 Oct. 1693 Daniel asks Strype for a sight of some of these:—he refers also to a Targum on the Chronicles, translated by Mr (? Sam) Clark, and asks whether it be recoverable —or any letters between Lightfoot and Clark (ib. 47). On 10 Jan. 169⅝ he writes that everything but money is ready for the publication of the Targum (ib. 17). In later letters he explains the cause of delay in returning the journal to Strype—also certain papers which Strype desired, which on 12 June 1697 he had just recovered and forwarded by carrier: he leaves the question of recompense to Strype (ib. 20). Lastly on 4 Mar. $169\frac{8}{9}$ he thanks Strype for the Latin edition (? that of Lensden, published at Utrecht) of his grandfather's works (ib. 68).

Raper, Philip: son of Philip: born at Bedale, Yorks. School: Bedale, under Mr Nicholson. Admitted sizar under Mr Holdsworth 2 June 1683. Age 17.
B.A. (Rapier) $168\frac{6}{7}$.

Arderne, Ralph: [no facts given]. Admitted a pensioner [June 1683].
He resided as Arden till Mich. 1685 as a pupil of Mr Lynford: then he was transferred to Mr Holdsworth, on whose list his name appears for a year, but without charge: probably he had gone out of residence. Perhaps son or nephew of James Ardern (1653), D.D., and Dean of Chester, whose father was a Ralph.

Trotter, Thomas: son of Gilbert: born at Helmeden [?], Durham. School: Kirkby Ravensworth, under Mr Coates. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 9 June 1683. Age 16.
B.A. $168\frac{6}{7}$; M.A. 1693. Ordained deacon, London, 1692 May.

Coker, Thomas: son of William: born at "Worth inter Durotriges" [probably Worth-Matravers, Dorset]. School: Frampton [Dorset], under Mr Slade. Admitted pensioner under Mr Waterhouse 13 June 1683. Age not given.
Seems to have resided till Mich. 1687: perhaps B.A. (St John's) $168\frac{6}{7}$; he does not appear in the Johnian admission-book. Two pedigrees of Cokers in Hutchin's Dorset: but these two are not in either.

Dunning, John: son of John: born at Netherbury, Dorset. School: Frampton, under Mr Slade. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse [probably 13 June] 1683. Age 17.
M.B. 1688.

Robinson, John: son of William: born at Winnington [Wymington], Beds. School: Knotting, Beds., under Mr Scriven. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse [—] 1683. Age 17.
B.A. $168\frac{9}{7}$. One John Robinson, B.A., ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1687 May: licensed to Little Houghton, Hunts.: priest, Sept.: no other likely at either University. One (B.A.) under-master at Appleby School, Leics. 1707–8.

Sober, Henry: son of Thomas: born at Richmond. School: Richmond, under Mr Parvin[g]. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett [—] 1683. Age 22.
Resided till Mich. 1686.

Son of Richard, clerk: born at Brixworth, Northants. Admitted at Trinity College, Oxford $168\frac{9}{9}$. Age 16 (Al. Ox. 1253). Not found at Christ's in the Study-rents: but B.A. $168\frac{4}{5}$; M.A. 1688. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1687 May: licensed to Lockington, Leics.: priest, London, $168\frac{8}{9}$ Feb. Resided till Mich. 1684. Born 13 Feb. 1667, second son of Sir Rob. Markham of Sedgebrook (whose father was created a baronet by Charles I in 1642) and of Mary, daughter of Sir Tho. Widdrington (matd. 1617). Admitted at the Middle Temple 16 May 1685. Died on board the Kempthorne Indiaman in the Bay of Bengal 25 Aug. 1690 (Genealogist, 4. 253).

Shute, Samuel: [no facts given]. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Waterhouse, 12 Dec. 1683. Age not given.

Not found in Study-rents. Son of Benjamin, of Cornhill, London. See pedigree in vol. I. p. 32. Admitted at the Middle Temple 23 Nov. 1683. Joined the army, and rose to the rank of Lieut.-Colonel: serving under Marlborough. Governor of Massachusetts 1716–27, where he was involved in continuous disputes with the assembly: these are fully discussed in the article in D.N.B. Shute seems to have been generally in the right, but unable to carry out his view. He returned to England in 1723 and on the death of George I he was not reappointed. Lived quietly in England till his death in 1742.

Bateson, Peter: son of Peter: born at Knaresborough. School: Knaresborough, under Mr Blanchard. Admitted sizar under Mr Lynford 22 Jan. 168$\frac{3}{4}$. Age not given.

B.A. 168$\frac{7}{8}$. According to the Norwich Register he was born about 1668 at "Bunowbigg" [Boroughbridge], Yorks., W.R. Had a testimonial from Dr Cudworth and the Fellows 7 June 1688 (three weeks before the Master's death). Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1688 June: licensed to Stroxton near Grantham under Will. Parkins, rector: priest, Norwich, 1693 June. Vicar of St Mary Magdalene, Wiggenhall, 1697 to 1720 (Blomefield, 4. 760): rector of North Lynn, later than 1711, perhaps 1720, till 1729 (ib. 624).

Ewens, Christopher: son of Christopher: born at Broadwindsor, Dorset. School: Ilminster, under Mr Hunt. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 13 Feb. 168$\frac{3}{4}$. Age 18.

B.A. 168$\frac{7}{8}$. Ordained deacon, Oxford, 16$\frac{89}{90}$ March.

Fountaine, Brigge: eldest son of James: born at Sall, Norfolk. School: St Paul's, under Dr Gale. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lovett 22 March 168$\frac{3}{4}$. Age not given.

Perhaps resided till Mich. 1685. Son of James of the Inner Temple, and admitted there 7 July 1685. The pedigrees of Fountaine and of Brigge (Blomefield, 3. 522, and 4. 422) are not very clear or (perhaps) quite correct. Apparently, a James Brigge (temp. Edw. VI) married a Mary Stuteville: they had a daughter and heiress Mary Brigge of Sall who married John Fountaine (1601–71) Serjeant-at-law: they had a son Brigge Fountaine who married Joanna Henley and died 1661 leaving James and Andrew. James of the Inner Temple, married Anne Slany of London (possibly akin to Griffith Slany p. 91) and had Brigge, our man: Andrew served in three Parliaments of

Charles II and had also a son Brigge, who died 1746 and was buried at Narford. Brigge Fountaine of Christ's seems to have lived at Sall: it does not appear that he was married: according to Blomefield, he "died without issue at the Poppinjay in Norwich in Apr. 1729, and left his estate to his sister Dorothy, widow of John Repps, Esq., of Mateshall."

Powell, Richard: son of Richard: born at Bramham, Leeds. School: Leeds, under Mr Gilbert. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 12 April 1684. Age not given.

B.A. 168$\frac{7}{8}$. There was another Ri. Powell B.A. (Jesus) 1686: he must be the Ri. Powell ordained at Lincoln May 1687 and afterwards rector of Grainsby, Lincs. Perhaps our man was vicar of Stillingfleet, Yorks. 12 June 1696, and died rector before June 1705.

Spencer, William: [father not given]: born in Virginia. School: Nor[t]hill, Beds. Admitted pensioner under Dr Luke 16 April 1684. Age not given. Fellow-commoner 23 July 1686.

He seems to have transferred himself, first to Mr Lynford, then on Mr Lynford's departure, to Mr Holdsworth, under whom he resided till Mich. 1687. The first of the trans-atlantic members of the College, of whom there were several in the next century.

Carr, Thomas: son of William: born in Sussex. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 22 April 1684.

B.A. 168$\frac{8}{9}$. Possibly the father was rector of Jevington, Sussex; who may be the William Carr (born at Stackhouse, near Settle) admitted 1657.

Hemingway, Joseph: [but probably Joshua]: son of Samuel: of Yorks. School: Halifax, under Mr Doughty. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 23 April 1684. Age not given.

B.A. (Joshua) 168$\frac{7}{8}$. Probably cousin of Joshua, son of Henry, born at Halifax, and admitted 1671. Ordained priest, London, 168$\frac{8}{9}$ Feb. Joshua Hemingway, B.A. (the cousin was M.A. 1678) was vicar of Egmanton, Notts. 19 Feb. 169$\frac{4}{5}$–1706. Vicar of Orston, Notts. (presented by Dean and Chapter of Lincoln) 15 March 170$\frac{5}{6}$. He was constantly at feud about money matters with his brother Samuel, a solicitor, of Idle and Boldshay. Each took mortgages. (See letters in Bradford Antiquary, 1. 252.) Married Mary Maltby of Orston 3 March 171$\frac{8}{9}$. Died before Nov. 1736 when Fra. Stevenson was instituted.

Tatham, Thomas: son of Christopher: born at Ranthmell [Rathmell near Settle], Yorks. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Briggs. Admitted sizar under Mr Holdsworth 28 April 1684. Age not given.

Resided till Mich. 1685, perhaps a little longer. One Thomas Tatham, born at Otterburn (some six miles east of Rathmell) was incumbent of Colne, Lancs. 1694–170$\frac{8}{9}$: and vicar of Almondbury, near Huddersfield, 26 March 1706, where he died before June 1716 (see Whitaker, Whalley, 2. 248).

Carr, Richard: [father not given]: born at Stackhouse, Yorks. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Briggs. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 2 May 1684. Age not given.

Perhaps son of Thomas of Stackhouse near Settle by his first marriage (1660) to Jane Taylor: and half-brother of John (1707) and James 171$\frac{1}{2}$. He survived his admission only five months: his death is recorded in the register of Great St Andrew's, but according to Ely Ep. Records, 263, he was actually buried ("Carr a schollar of Xt. Coll.") at St Benet, 30 Oct. 1684.

Armitstead, Daniel: [father not given]: born at Stainforth [near Settle], Yorks. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Briggs. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 2 May 1684. Age not given.

There is no evidence that he resided. His father was alderman 1681. Admitted at Gray's Inn 3 July 1684. Active in business at Bury, and prospered. Bought Horsecroft of the Lucas family 1706. Alderman 1709, 1723. Died Nov. 1734 aged 67: M.I. in St Mary's church. Succeeded at Horsecroft by his son Henry (S.H.A.H.).

Dunn, Henry: admitted as Dun: [father not given]: born at Richmond. School: [North] Allerton, under Mr Smelt. Admitted sizar under Mr Lynford 9 May 1684. Age 18.

B.A. (Dunn) 168$\frac{7}{8}$. Ordained priest, York, 169$\frac{2}{3}$ March.

Transferred to Mr Holdsworth. Resided till Mich. 1687.

Smith, Laurence: eldest son of Kenelm [no more facts]. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lynford 14 May 1684. Age 16.

Transferred to Mr Holdsworth: resided under him till Lady Day 1687. Admitted at the Inner Temple 25 March 1686, as son of Kenelm Smith, citizen and leatherseller. Perhaps one of the Smiths of Hatherton, Staffs. (Burke, Ext. Bar. 492).

Newton, —: [no facts at all]. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 23 May 1684. Age not given.

B.A. (Will. Newton) 168$\frac{7}{8}$. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1690 Dec. One of these names was rector of Taxall, Cheshire, 8 June 1708–1726, when he died (Ormerod-Helsby, 3. 783): but this might be (as a matter of time) Will. Newton M.A. (Magd.) 1677, or M.A. (Jesus) 1705.

Peartree, William: son of Edward: born at Hindergham [Hindringham, near Walsingham], Norfolk. School not given. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 24 May 1684. Age 17.

B.A. 168$\frac{7}{8}$. Son of Edward (admitted 1649) vicar of Hindringham. Probably curate of Toftrees, Norfolk, 1706 (Blomefield, 3. 869): rector of Wissingset (Whissonsett) in 1714 (ib. 5. 1090).

1689 May. Elected fellow 23 Oct. 1688, succeeding Dr Luke, his tutor. He was Junior Dean and Catechist in 1691: praelector in 1693, and kept the Admission book carefully: Senior Dean in 1700. On 30 April 1701 he was presented to Navenby (which Every and Duckfield seem to have declined) and he was instituted on July 2: but he was still in residence at Cambridge in Feb. $170\frac{1}{2}$, enjoying his year of grace. He had less than a year at Navenby: he died before 16 Feb. 1703.

In 1695 he disputed a ruling of the Master that Sir Ward a northern candidate was inadmissible for a Fellowship because the statutable number of northern Fellows was complete and there could be no more than that number. Covel asked him to make good his protest or to withdraw it. Bevin accordingly appealed to Eachard, V.-C. There is a large bundle of papers thereon in the "Visitors' Box."

Hodder, George: son of George: of Dorset. School: not given. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 5 June 1684. Age not given.

B.A. $168\frac{7}{8}$.

Cheek, Robert: [father not given]: of Dorset. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 5 June 1684. Age not given.

He is charged for rooms till Lady Day 1688: but took no degree at Christ's. One Rob. Cheek was B.A. (St John's) $168\frac{7}{8}$: if the same, why was he still resident here? The name is not found in the Johnian Admission-book.

He does not appear in the Study-rents.

Drake, Joshua: son of John: born at Pethworth [perhaps Pickworth, near Folkingham], Lincs. School: not given. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 10 Sept. 1684. Age 18.

B.A. $168\frac{8}{9}$. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 6 Jan. $169\frac{0}{1}$: licensed to curacy of Malden, [?] Beds.: ordained priest at the same time; with the comment "necessitate exigente"—which admits of many explanations. He was instituted to the vicarage of Swinderby on the presentation of Daniel Disney, armiger, 30 Aug. 1692.

Hale, Charles: son of Thomas: born in London. School: St Albans, under Dr James. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lovett 16 Oct. 1684. Age 15.

Probably rector of Heanor, Derbs. 16 Sept. 1698–1735, when he died. Another of these names was rector of Southery, Norfolk, 1705: buried there 24 Jan. 1737: see Blomefield, 4. 166. B.A. $168\frac{8}{9}$; M.A. 1693. From the Norwich Register it appears that he was born at North Cove near Beccles, about 1668. He was ordained deacon at Lincoln (probably for Norwich) 1691 June: for he was licensed to North Cove, perhaps as curate to his father: priest, Norwich, 1695 Sept. Rector of Kirkley, near Lowestoft, 1697–1748 (Suckling, 1. 269)—when, I suppose, he died.

Lardner, John: son of Thomas: born in London. Educated there. Admitted sizar under Mr Lynford 9 July 1685. Age not given.

M.B. (com. reg.) 1690. Resided as a pupil of Mr Holdsworth till Mich. 1688: his name (with no charge against it) remains on the list till Mich. 1691. Probably brother of James Lardner admitted 1688—if he be the "James Lardner of St Bennet, Gracechurch, clerk" who "alleged the consent of the mother (a widow) of 'Hannah Moore of the town of Leicester, spinster, above 21' to her marriage with John Lardner of St Bennet Gracechurch, London, bachelor, 25" on 9 Feb. $169\frac{3}{4}$—and if so John was son of Thomas an apothecary.

There is extant a letter from Tho. Harper, rector of St Katherine Coleman, London, undertaking to retain him as reader in that parish, provided he were ordained deacon—dated 7 March $169\frac{2}{3}$: this is certainly the B.A. of Christ's. He resigned Aunsby 2 Oct. 1694. It is not quite easy to identify this rector and reader with Rob. Fish, B.A. of Christ's, ordained priest, Lincoln, 1698, June, and licensed to Mulsoe, Bucks. There was yet another who was instituted on the presentation of Sir Thomas Barnardiston to the rectory of Great Coates near Grimsby, 18 July 1696, on the resignation of his father, also a Robert: he died there, as rector in 1706 or 1707 (Rev. F. Quirk, rector): but this man was curate to his father in 1687: so cannot be our man: possibly he was a Rob. Fish, B.A. (of Sidney) in $168\frac{6}{7}$.

Chaplain to Lord Wharton: and (as such) licensed to hold also the vicarage of Astwood, distant two miles, patron, the Crown, 23 Dec. 1706. Succeeded in 1728 (perhaps on his death) by William Warburton.

Mead of Lofts, Essex, and died 1698 in the lifetime of his father, Sir John Holland of Quiddenham: John succeeded his grandfather in 1700. Gave £20 in 1702 to the Chapel fund. School: Westminster. Admitted at the Middle Temple 7 May 1687: called to the Bar and went on the home circuit: charged on little evidence with the murder of Sarah Stout at Hertford at the spring assizes of 1699: tried 16 July and acquitted. Miss Stout who was a quaker, took her own life: the prosecution was said to be instituted, because the tories of Hertford wished to hang an eminent whig, and the quakers wished to clear their body of the reproach of suicide. M.P. for Beer Alston 1705 and 1708, for Truro 1711. Attorney General of the Duchy of Lancaster. Judge of Common Pleas 1727. Died 10 Dec. 1727: buried at Hertingfordbury. B.A. (Sidney) $16\frac{89}{90}$; M.A. 1693. Perhaps son of William, admitted 1652, rector of Askham Richard, Yorks.

Collier, Peter: [no facts given]. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett, 10 May 1686. Age not given.

B.A. $16\frac{89}{90}$. Subscribed in the Scholars' Book 21 June 1689. Perhaps the Peter Collier admitted at Richard Frankland's Academy—when at Calton—on 6 Feb. $168\frac{4}{5}$. Several of Frankland's scholars went on to Cambridge, though the earlier ones had been at Cambridge first. Collier's name does not occur in any of the usual nonconformist sources (E. Axon, Esq., of Manchester).

Becket, Peter: son of George: born at Eastham, Cheshire. School: Crosby, Lancs., under Mr Waring. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 14 June 1686. Age 16.

Sewel[l], Richard: son of Richard: born at Buntingford. School: Buntingford, under Mr England. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 1 July 1685. Age 16.

Randall, John: son of Francis: born at Eton. School: Eton. Admitted sizar under Dr Widdrington 27 Aug. 1686. Age 20.

B.A. $169\frac{0}{1}$; M.A. 1694. Subscribed in the Scholars' Book 2 Nov. 1689. One of the witnesses to Dr Widdrington's will 20 March $168\frac{7}{8}$: the executors (probably unjustly) charged him and John Baines the cook, with embezzling Dr Widdrington's effects after his death: hence a suit in Chancery 1689: see Covel's MS. account of the proceedings on Widdrington's will. Ordained deacon, London, 1708 May; priest, 1710 June. Assistant Master of Bury School Nov. 1690: and Head-master, Dec. 1707–15 (Carlisle, 2. 516): perhaps Master of Guildford, 171–, to 172–; (ib. 573): but this may be his son. One John Randall was rector of Thelveton [Thelton], Norfolk, and ceased to be such in 1728, when he was succeeded by his son of the same name (Blomefield, 1. 101).

Ballydon, —: [no facts given]. Admitted sizar under Mr Holdsworth 1686.

Probably Paul, son of Paul Ballydon, of Derby, admitted at Lincoln's Inn 14 May 1684. I doubt whether he ever resided here.

Withers, William: son of John: born at "Aram" [?], Lancs. School: Lancaster, under Mr Lodge. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lovett 8 Nov. 1686. Age 17.

Young 30 Sept. 1707: instituted 30 Nov.: resigned before July 1716: he had previously vacated his fellowship by marriage in Nov. 1709. I cannot trace him further with certainty: one of these names was vicar of Tunstall All Saints, Yorks., N.R. 19 May 1718–Sept. 1719.

Machin, Edmund:

B.A. $168\frac{8}{9}$. One Edward Machin, M.A. (probably error for B.A.) ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1689 May: licensed to Gunwardby [? Gunby], Lincs.: priest 1689 Dec. No other of the name was at this time at Cambridge or Oxford.

Brown, Robert:

M.A. 1691. Admitted (as son of R. Browne of Audlem, Cheshire) at Brasenose, Oxford, 28 March $168\frac{0}{1}$, aged 20: B.A. 1685; M.A. (Christ's) 1691 (Al. Ox. 196).

Shafto, Leonard: son of Leonard: born at Dedham, Essex. School: Durham, under Mr Battersby. Admitted pensioner under Mr Waterhouse 14 Jan. $168\frac{6}{7}$. Age not given.

B.A. (first in the list) $169\frac{0}{1}$; M.A. 1694. He resided in College till 1697, at least, "in the Master's" when Mr Finch had vacated the chamber. Son of Leonard Shafto of Exeter, Oxford (incorpd. Cambridge 1668) and vicar of Dedham 1665–71, when he became morning lecturer at All Sts., Newcastle (Brand, 1. 338): he was probably one of the Shaftos of Whitworth, Durham: and in $168\frac{6}{7}$ the Master and Fellows agreed that young Leonard, though born in Essex, should have the benefit of the Durham Scholarship till the next election. He was appointed (as his father had been) lecturer at All Saints, 14 July 1698. Rector of Gateshead on Tyne 1705: died rector 27 Aug. 1731, and buried in the chancel of St Mary's (ib. 504).

M.A. 1693. Nominated Finch and Baines Fellow 8 Dec. 1692 on the resignation of his brother Henry, and on the same day he took the oaths and subscribed the Declaration in the Scholars' Book. On 30 May 1694 he signed the order for the presentation of Mr Fairmedow to Anstey, though not (as Adam Wall notes) on the number of the Foundation Fellows. He appears regularly (together with Ambrose Launder) in the list of Lovett's pupils, neither being charged: but the note in one place "Mr Finch and Launder to the Master, £1. 15*s.* 0*d.*" shews that they had rooms in the Master's Lodge; Cudworth and Covel during part at least of their tenure used to live in the "Little Lodge" and let the rooms in the "Master's Lodging." A similar "to the Master," but without names, appears in earlier years. Robert Finch died in College 1696, and was buried at Great St Andrew's 16 July. He left to the College the income of his rooms—not at the Lodge, where he had ceased to reside, when he became a Fellow, and Mr Lovett (after some time) succeeded him. The income was valued at £48. 10*s.* 0*d.*

Launder, Ambrose: [no facts given]. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 8 March 168$\frac{6}{7}$.

B.A. 169$\frac{0}{1}$. See under Robert Finch above: it would seem that Mr Finch brought Launder up with him as his personal servant, and both lived together in the Lodge. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1691 Sept.: licensed to Ravenstone, Bucks.

Sandford, John: son of Thomas: born at High Ongar, Essex. School: Stortford, under Mr Cooper. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Lovett 8 April 1687. Age 16.

B.A. 169$\frac{0}{1}$; M.A. 1694. Perhaps belonged to a Norfolk family, many of whom were at Caius College. Ordained deacon, Ely, 169$\frac{1}{2}$ Feb.: priest, York, 1698 June. Rector of Sneaton in Cleveland 1 June 1699–1701. Vicar of Otley, near Leeds 3 Oct. 1701: died before March 1709.

Atkinson, Robert: son of Robert: born at Newark. School: Newark, under Mr Twells. Admitted pensioner under Mr Holdsworth, — 1687. Age not given.

Resided till Lady Day 1689. Probably son of Robert, of Newark, admitted 1652. The eldest daughter of Robert and Mary Atkinson of Newark died 1702: I have not found the date of Robert's death, but his widow, Mary, died 1723 (Shilton, Newark, 227).

B.A. (11th on the list) $169\frac{0}{1}$; M.A. 1694. Subscribed in the Scholars' Book 6 July 1689. Ordained deacon and priest, Lincoln, 1691 Sept. Elected Fellow (in place of John Bolton) 18 April 1691: had his last payment Mich. 1692. Rector of Morpeth 1691–1745, when he died non compos sui, while his living was under trustees. Claimed to be the chief of the Fenwick clan. Sold his estate for an annuity, having ruined himself by being surety for a sister's son, one Johnson of Woodhorn (Hodgson II. ii. 393). Perhaps this man gave a book to the library of Bury St Edmunds school (it does not appear why) in 1694: but he is described as "rector ecclesiae Corstopitensis," i.e. Corbridge (S. H. A. Hervey, Bury Grammar School, 132).

In 1738–40 he bore the cost of casing with freestone the front of the College from the great gate southwards, thus completing the modernised façade begun by Archdeacon Lynford. Both he and his father Henry, a presbyterian divine, appear often in Henry Newcome's Autobiography. The second Henry had a son Henry who became a baronet and built Waterstock, Oxon. (D.N.B.): possibly our man.

Eachard, Laurence: son of Thomas: born at Barsham, Suffolk. Educated at home. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 26 May 1688. Age 17.

B.A. $169\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. (Echard) 1695. Eldest of three sons, admitted here, of Thomas Echard, incumbent of one of the Barshams. By his own statement he was "nearly related" to Dr John Eachard, Master of St Catharine's 1675–97. Subscribed in the Scholars' Book 21 June 1689 ("Eachard," as the elder members of the family spelt it; Laurence and his brother Chris. wrote "Echard" when taking the M.A. degree). He resided at Christ's till 1696 and doubtless compiled there the material for his future literary work. Ordained, Norwich, probably before May 1692 (when a gap in the Norwich book ends). Beneficed in Lincoln, at Welton, near Louth, and Elkington (5 Aug. 1696), he obtained preferment early: he was prebendary of Lincoln (Louth) 24 Apr. 1697–1730 and Archdeacon of Stowe 1712–30. He lived at Louth, where he wrote the first of a series of books, which had extraordinary vitality. His circumstances were very bad, according to Archbishop Wake, who exerted himself to obtain a grant for him from the King: and George I presented him to Sudborne and Rendlesham in Suffolk—the last by dispensation 14 Sept. 1722. His health was bad but this did not affect his work. In 1730 he was on his way to Scarborough, but got no further than Lincoln, where he died August 16, and was buried in the church of St Mary Magdalen on the 29th. He married (1) Jane Potter, (2) Justin Wooley of Well, Lincs. but had no children. His portrait is in the College Library.

Author: Description of Ireland, 1691: of Flanders, 1691: Compendium of Geography, 1691, which went into the eighth edition in 1713: all these when he was only 20. His History of England appeared in 1707, with its continuation in 1718, and appendix in 1720. His other best known books were the Roman History, 1698, and Ecclesiastical History, 1702: all these went through numerous editions and were standard text-books. Less known, but really good, is a translation of three plays of Plautus (Amphitryo, Epidicus, and Pudens) published in 1694, while he was still at Cambridge.

A satirical contrast of the work of Gilbert Burnet and Laurence Eachard (given in Kippis, Biog. Brit. 5. 534) is amusing:

Gil's history appears to me
Political anatomy,
A case of skeletons well done,
And malefactors everyone.

Laurence proceeds another way,
And well-dressed figures does display:
His characters are all in flesh:

* * * *

He wax-work make to please the sons
Whose fathers were Gil's skeletons.

Morgan, —: [no facts given]. Admitted pensioner under Mr Waterhouse — June 1688.

M.B. 1690 (John Morgan). He must have kept sufficient terms elsewhere: perhaps he was the John Morgan, son of Thomas, of Melbury Abbey, Dorset, matriculated at St Mary Hall, Oxford 2 March 168$\frac{4}{5}$, aged 18 (Al. Ox. 1030). He did not reside at Christ's after his admission, though he took the medical degree, doubtless after the usual five years' study.

Rector of Quatt, near Bridgnorth 1695. Buried at Quatt 12 March 170$\frac{8}{9}$. His name appears (I understand, as Littlefold) on one of the bells, which was recast in 1700 (Rev. J. S. Roper, rector).

Vicar of Wetwang, near York, 1699–1755: of Driffield 1708–55. Curate of Sledmere 1704–55. (Surtees Soc^{y} 65. 465.) Bentley said of him that "from a vow or vision in the flower of his age he wore a beard to his girdle sufficient for a Greek patriarch": this eccentricity was noted as an indication that John Colbatch's wits were not of the best: Bentley allows that George was a "harmless quiet clergyman and much the better of the two." According to Monk (Life of Bentley, 2. 136) he was vicar of Abington, Cambs.

Lardner, James: son of Thomas: born in London. School: Merchant Taylors', under Mr Bonwick. Admitted sizar under Mr Holdsworth 27 June 1688. Age 18.

M.A. (com. reg.) 1690. Born 1670, youngest son of John, the wealthy brother of Ralph the Master, who died shortly before his nephew's admission. Brother of Thomas (adm^{d}. 1676). He had verses in the University collection on the accession of William and Mary: hence perhaps his M.A. degree. He had 10*s.* 0*d.* left him for a mourning ring by Mrs Cudworth, Ralph's widow. He acquired, perhaps by wedding settlement, West Burton Farm in Dorset, a property of 110 acres: it was conveyed to him in 1698 by Mary and Thomas Thornhurst. He made his will in 1700 and left his property to his cousin John Cudworth (see page 46) including his "leasehold property lying at or on or near new fish street hill in London." The will was proved by John Cudworth 7 June 1726.

Received, 29 June 1709, a grant of arms together with Robert Midgley of Leeds and with Samuel (brother of Rob. adm. 1671—not the Robert just mentioned) "whose ancestors had long lived as gentlemen." (Genealogist, N.S. 21. 271.) They were second cousins, but Jonathan belonged to the elder branch, while Robert was probably the most prosperous.

Vicar of Croxton Kerrial, Leics. 18 Feb. 1703, patron John, Earl of Rutland, whose chaplain he was. Also rector of Harby, Leics. 6 July 1703, same patron. Had dispensation 7 May 1729 to hold together with Harby the rectory of Tollerton, Notts. (patron, John Neale), distant 7 miles: this last he resigned before Nov. 1738. Died 4 June 1739.

Bordley, Stephen: son of Stephen: born at South Sheeres [Shields], Northumberland [sic]. School: Sedbergh, under Mr Wharton. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 12 Nov. 1690. Age 17.

B.A. $169\frac{4}{5}$. Admitted scholar 18 Nov. 1690. Son of Stephen Bordley, vicar of South Shields, admitted 1654. Ordained deacon, London, 1695 Sept.: priest, 1696 Sept. Was he the Mr Bordley who was head-master of Lancaster school before 1701 and in 1709? or was this Will. Bordley, M.A. (St John's) 1692?

Casborn, John: son of William: born at Fordham, Cambs. School: Fordham, under Mr Taylor. Admitted pensioner under Mr Waterhouse 15 Nov. 1690. Age 15.

M.B. 1697. Admitted scholar 18 Nov. 1690.

Twells, John: son of John: born at Pitesly [Pytchley], Northants. School: Newark, under his father. Admitted sizar under Mr Holdsworth 16 Nov. 1690. Age 18.

B.A. $169\frac{4}{5}$. Not the John Twells, rector of Broughton Astley, who was M.A. and probably of Clare. John Twells, the father, who sent many pupils to the College, was master of Newark School 39 years and died there 29 Dec. 1712 (or 1713) aged 61.

Boldero, John: son of Simon: born at Ixworth, Suffolk. School: Bury, under Mr Leeds. Admitted sizar under Mr Holdsworth 24 Aug. 1691. Age 17.

B.A. $169\frac{5}{6}$; M.A. 1699. Seems to have deferred residence for a year: he first appears in the list of Holdsworth's pupils, Mich. 1692, without any charge; not again: perhaps he kept in the Master's lodging. Admitted scholar 6 Apr. 1693. Simon Boldero of Ixworth, gent. 1636–1704, married Frances Godbold: he had two sons—the elder son Simon of Jesus College (of which his kinsman Dr Edm. Boldero was Master 1663–79), afterwards rector of Woolpit, and father of John, admitted here 1715: and John, who was born 1674. Elected Fellow 27 Jan. $169\frac{6}{7}$ in the place of John Cudworth. The election caused some dissatisfaction, as appears from a MS. book of Simon Every: his note for the day is "then the Hon. Ma[ster] of Xst's Coll. chooses Bold. Fellow against both the Coll. St. and y^e Law of y^e realm": the names of five Fellows, and Matt. Baines (the cook's son, subsequently Fellow), follow this note. Ordained deacon, Ely, 1697 May: priest, 1698 June. Junior Dean and Catechist 1699. Bunting Preacher 1700. Praelector 1701. Steward 1704. Senior Dean 1706, 1711. At the election of College Officers 30 Sept. 1713 Covel makes the note: "The M^r nominated Mr Boldero president at the same time." Began to take pupils about 1702 and from 1709 to 1713 he was the most important tutor having between $\frac{1}{2}$ and $\frac{3}{4}$ of the whole number. Presented to Fen Drayton 26 July 1707: this did not interfere with his residence in College. Senior Proctor 1713. On 22 April 1713 he was presented to Clipston, vacant by the death of Alex. Young: which should have vacated his Fellowship April 1714 in the middle of his Proctorship. He availed himself of his nomination to be "president"—though the Statutes recognised no such office—to retain his Fellowship for three years. The Master supported him on the strength of the Elizabethan Statute about "praesides": every College must have a "praeses": who shall be "vicarius" in the Master's absence. In Oct. 1714 three of the Fellows (Moor, Husband and Cockshutt) appealed to the V.C. who gave notice that he would hear the appeal on Oct. 29. Perhaps it was withdrawn: in any case, there is no decision on the point in the "Visitor's Box," and Boldero retained his fellowship till 15 Oct. 1716, when he wrote in the Order Book his formal resignation, and Covel wrote his acceptance of it. In 1721 Aug. 26 he had a dispensation to hold with Clipston the rectory of Dingley, distant five miles. He married Abigail Dickens, of Bosworth, widow, by whom he had no children. Died 22 May 1751, aged 77: M.I. in Ixworth church. His nephew, John, was admitted 1715 and his grand-nephew, also John, 1748. Author: a sermon on Deut. xxxiii. 29, published 1716. Probably his qualifying sermon under the Elizabethan Statute! However he cared for some books, for on leaving Cambridge he purchased from the Library, under College order of 7 Dec. 1717, "Mr Medes Works, Fuller's Church History, Plutarch's Works, Epictetus' Enchiridion, Plautus (var.), Vergil, Catullus, Horace, Terence (Cambr. Edit. 4to)"—all for £5.

owned lands at Ryton near Newcastle. Nephew of Will. (1668). Alive in 1704 when he was executor of his father's will (Surtees, 3. 322). Perhaps the Ra. Jenison of Wolsington Hall, not far from Newcastle, who was Sheriff in 1717 (Brand, 2. 512).

Married Jane, daughter and heiress of Ambrose Pudsey of Bolton Hall: father of Ambrose Dawson, M.D. Friend of Sir Isaac Newton who visited him at Langcliff. Perhaps he is the author (Will. Clement, Francis: son of James: born in London. School: Durham, under Mr Battersby. Admitted sizar under Mr Holdsworth 5 Feb. 169$\frac{1}{2}$. Age 19.

B.A. 169$\frac{5}{8}$; M.A. 1699. Admitted scholar 6 April 1693. Perhaps the vicar of Hollingbourne, Kent who resigned it 1770: but in that case he lived to a very great age: the vicar of that place edited in 1663 a work by the Rev. David Waterhouse (admitted here 1698 as son of John Waterhouse of Wakefield)—apparently his brother.

Tailor, William: son of William: born at "Barrel-Sikes," Yorks. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Armitstead. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 15 Feb. 169$\frac{1}{2}$. Age 17.

The matriculation which seems to correspond is of Ri. (not Will.) Tailor: Richard is also B.A. $169\frac{5}{6}$: there may have been two men, Will. and Richard: but this is not supported by the Study-rents.

Proctor, John: [no facts given]. Admitted sizar under Mr Lovett 15 Feb. $169\frac{1}{2}$. No residence of any Proctor at this time. May be the same as Joh. Proctor admitted 29 Nov. 1694: whom see.

B.A. $169\frac{6}{7}$. Admitted scholar 6 Apr. 1693. His father Thomas was vicar of Thorverton apparently before 1677 till 1716, when he died. There is no trace of him, but the family lingered on: a parish clerk, Martin Sanford, was alive within the memory of man. (Information from Rev. F. L. Bazeley, vicar.)

Admitted at the Middle Temple 17 Aug. 1689 as eldest son of Thomas of "Netherhall in Peckingham, Suffolk." That Thomas was son of Thomas of Netherhall Manor by his wife Eliz., daughter of Clement Heigham of Barrow, Suffolk. Married in 1712 Mary, daughter of Will. Grigson of Forncett St Peter's, and had a son Thomas (the fourth in succession of Netherhall) who died unmarried in 1736, aged 23, the last of his line. But Thomas (no. 3) is said to have been born in 1660 (see pedigree in J. B. Bright's History of the Brights of Suffolk). Possibly that Thomas died in infancy and was followed by another brother called Thomas, born ca. 1675 (S.H.A.H.). Died 27 Apr. 1727 and buried in Thurston church, the burial place of the family; Netherhall is on the boundaries of Pakenham and Thurston, and called sometimes the one, sometimes the other (ib.).

he was (or became) curate of Edale. Vicar of Glossop, Derbs. 3 Aug. 1703; where the well known "Apostle of the Peak," of the same names, had died 8 Apr. 1702, aged 74: I have not discovered any relationship between them.

A "Mr Scaife" who sent boys from Histon, Cambs. to the University between 1700 and 1710, was probably Tho. Scaife B.A. (St John's) 1684 and vicar of Histon 1695–1723.

Le Strange, Hamon: son of Hamon: born at Pakenham, Suff. School: Bury, under Mr Leeds. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Holdsworth 20 June 1692. Age 16.

King, John: [no facts given]. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Cudworth 13 Sept. 1692.

I do not find him in the Study-rents. The date seems inconsistent with the supposition that he was the son of John, first Baron Kingston (in 1660) and of Catharine Fenton: third Baron Kingston having succeeded in 1693 his brother Robert, second Baron: donor of £50 to the restoration of the Chapel in 1702. See Lodge-Archdall, Peerage of Ireland, 3. 232, note. Possibly third son of Francis King of Knocklough, grandson of John, the elder brother of Edward King, admitted here 1623 (ib. 223).

Hobart, Thomas:

Not found before 27 March 1699 when he was admitted as Finch and Baines Fellow on the nomination of the Earl of Nottingham, in place of Mr Lovett. M.D. 1700. Though not in Orders he was Junior Dean and Catechist 1700. Praelector 1702: but had a deputy. I cannot trace him till 23 Apr. 1709 when he had leave to travel abroad for six months (probably as a private tutor) "he paying 10*s.* each time for reading his course [in Chapel] and 10*s.* for reading on the Festivals." He must have travelled already, perhaps for three years; otherwise he would not have needed leave for a first journey: such travel was a wise provision to encourage medical research. Dr Hobart seems to have signally abused the liberty given thereby. On 3 May 1710 he had leave for another three months without conditions. On 24 July 1712 he had leave to travel out of England for three years "to go along with the Duke of Leeds grandson Mr Cook": on 6 May 1715 this charge was prolonged for another three years at the request of the Earl of Nottingham. On 26 Mar. 1719 he had three years more. His last leave was on 1 Nov. 1723 for three years. Before 27 April 1728 his earthly travel had ended. I have met with no similar history.

Instituted 30 Mar. 1708 to the united rectories of St Mildred All Saints, and St Mary de Castro, Canterbury: and (as Chaplain) licensed to hold also the rectory of Knowlton, Kent—distant three miles—vacant by the death of Peter Pury. In 1712 he and the usher (Mather) brought a bill in Chancery against the bailiff and burgesses of Morpeth on the ground that a lease of school-lands at Nether Witton had been granted fraudulently in 1698 to one Nich. Thornton. The suit was settled in 1719 by his successor Mordecai Carey, afterwards Bishop of Clonfert. No boys were sent to Christ's from Morpeth during Meggison's Mastership: and the supply from the south of Northumberland which had been very considerable during the 17th century passed away. It was perhaps due to the influence of Ralph Widdrington.

Ordained deacon, Ely, 170$\frac{2}{3}$ Feb.: priest, Lincoln, 170$\frac{2}{3}$ March. Junior Dean, Catechist and Bunting Preacher, 1704. Praelector 1705. From the beginning of 1709 to Oct. 1710, he attended no meeting and was perhaps non-resident: for the next three years he appears, but was elected to no office. Senior Dean 1713: again Jan. 171$\frac{4}{5}$ in place of Mr Moor: again in 1721. Taxor 1708. Senior Proctor 1718. His fellowship was declared vacant by the Master in Oct. 1714, because he had inherited from his father an estate at Gaywood near Lynn. He declared that his father's debts exceeded the value of the inheritance: and refused to answer further questions. Covel ejected him: but the V.C., John Green of Corpus "a man of liberal sentiments beyond the age in which he lived" (Masters, 249), reinstated him on appeal. Feeling in the College (as in the University) was divided by politics both public and domestic. Towers was a zealous Whig: also a supporter of Dr Bentley, while the Master was of Gooch's side. Towers, as Proctor in October 1718 on the day when Bentley was suspended from his degrees, challenged Dr Gooch to point out the law or statute on which the proposed grace was founded: and in his address to the Senate he publicly criticised the Heads for the degradation. On Covel's death, Towers, who was Senior Fellow, was elected in Jan. 172$\frac{2}{3}$, not without opposition: four of the Fellows (headed by Ra. Aynsley) waited on the V.C. (as Visitor) and asked him to interfere as the election was made not according to Statute: but nothing followed: an opinion of one Ja. Johnson that the vote of a Fellow for himself as Master (if such vote completes a statutable majority) is valid, is in our Muniment-room and seemingly in Towers' handwriting: I infer that he had voted for himself and then strengthened himself with a legal opinion. Political feeling kept him long out of the Vice-Chancellorship: in 1733 he was defeated: in 1734 he was nominated, and thanks to Bentley, who as Regius Professor struck out his most formidable opponent, was elected. (See Gunning, Ceremonies, 46, note.) Nothing memorable occurred during his tenure of office. In College there was much disputation during his Mastership, chiefly concerning Fellowships: it is noteworthy that he declared vacant the Fellowship of Hen. Finch in 1736 on grounds similar to those on which Covel had declared his own—and with equal lack of success: see under Finch (1712). Cole charges him with "love of squabbles and Law" and "wrong-headedness" but admits that he was "esteemed to be an honest and well-meaning man"—which is much for Cole when speaking of a Whig. He had the rare virtue for that time of not being a self-seeker: Cole says that he lost the office of King's Chaplain by a "peculiar unaccountableness of manner" in taking no notice of the offer: and adds that he also gave away his chance of a Bishopric, to which his services entitled him ("he having always behaved himself steadily in the Hanover interest, and that at a juncture when it was most wanted"), by "his morose, sour and rough manner." Perhaps "unsociable" might be substituted for Cole's epithets: it suits his further account: "those best acquainted with him, which were but few, he living much by himself, gave him the character of a very facetious and pleasant companion, that he was a good historian, and that there was hardly a gentleman's family in England he did not know the private history of, and hardly a village in the kingdom which he could not describe; making it his constant practice to travel privately about in the summer, and was never better pleased than when unknown and unobserved." He commenced a full and very good account of the College properties: but did not get on far with it. He followed Dr Covel in one point: he appointed "a President" during his absence, under seal. He died 1 March 1745 at four in the morning of a violent fever (Cole). Buried in the Chapel 6 March, near Covel, without any memorial.

B.A. $170\frac{0}{1}$; M.A. 1704. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. At a Fellowship election (at which he had the support of Dean Ullock and others) in 1702 the votes were evenly divided between him and Will. Burrell (see below): Matt. Baines who seems to have been at Tonbridge came up to give his vote, which he had promised some time before, for Burvill: this would have given him the necessary majority. But Baines was induced to absent himself from the meeting —according to Burvill and five of his supporters, including John Boldero— because Withers threatened him that his father the cook should be ruined and all his kindred. Covel's name—he voted for Burrell—is not mentioned by the five. There being no election, the matter went to the V.C. Dr Richardson, who nominated Burrell: and Burrell was duly elected. Burvill was ordained deacon, Rochester, 1703 Sept. Vicar of West Peckham, Kent 1709. Vicar of Ryarsh, 5 June 1730–42 (Memorials of Malling, 169).

Brome, James: son of James: born at Nevingtons [Newington], Kent. School: Canterbury, under Mr Atkins. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 29 June 1697. Age 18.

B.A. $170\frac{0}{1}$; M.A. 1704. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Son of James (1666) rector of Cheriton and vicar of Newington, Kent, and traveller: father of James (1739). Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1701 Dec. Chaplain to the Bishop of Chester. Rector of Great Henny, Essex 8 Mar. $170\frac{7}{8}$: had dispensation 28 Nov. 1712 to hold the contiguous rectory of Pebmarsh, which he resigned 1716. Rector of Colne Wakes, Essex 24 July 1729. He seems to have been there in 1768 (the date of Morant's Essex).

Burrell, William: son of William: born at Bright-Lyn [Brightling], Sussex. School: Saffron Walden, under Mr Kilborne. Admitted pensioner under Mr Duckfield 12 July 1697. Age 15.

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. 1705; D.D. (com. reg.) 1728, admitted 1729. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Elected Fellow (in place of Rob. Bevin) 27 Oct. 1702: for the circumstances, see under Hen. Burvill, above: admitted (according to a note by the Master "upon a devolution in our election upon the Vice-Chancellor and 2 Senior Doctors, by their Nomination and Assumption, and in virtue of their Mandate to me directed bearing date Oct. 17, 1702. John Covel." Ordained deacon, Chichester, 1702 Dec.: priest, Peterborough, 1706 May. Junior Dean, Catechist and Bunting Preacher 1705. Praelector 1706. Steward 1707. Succeeded his father as rector of Brightling in 1708. Resigned his fellowship before Nov. 1709. Chaplain to the King, 10 Jan. $172\frac{9}{1}$. Had dispensation 17 Oct. 1722 to hold with Brightling the vicarage of Icklesham, distant 15 miles. Died, and buried at Brightling 12 May 1737.

Smith, Thomas: son of Ralph: born at Pipe-wood-houses, Staffs. Educated [? at Lichfield] by Mr Shaw. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 10 Oct. 1697. Age 17.

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Ordained deacon as B.A. of Christ's, Lincoln, $170\frac{2}{3}$ May, "sufficienter intitulatus"—whatever that may imply: priest, Peterborough, 1707. Probably the Tho. Smith presented by the College to Helpston, and vicar 1706–26: buried at Helpston (Sweeting, Peterborough Churches, 93).

Michell (Mitchell), Robert: [father not given]: born at Upwood, Hunts. School: Eton, under Mr Newborough. Admitted pensioner under Mr Duckfield — Oct. 1697. Age 17.

B.A. (Michell) $170\frac{1}{2}$. Admitted scholar (Michell) 5 Jan. $169\frac{7}{8}$.

Lewis, Bernard:

Admitted at Jesus College June 1697. Migrated to St John's where he was admitted sizar under Mr Orchard 2 Oct. 1697, as son of Geo. Lewis, clerk, born and educated at Abergwilly, Carmarthenshire. B.A. (St John's) $170\frac{9}{1}$; M.A. 1704. First appears as of Christ's in York Register, "Bernard Lewis M.A. of Christ's College," ordained priest, York, 1706 Sept. Rector of Thorpe Bassett 2 Sept. 1706: patron, the Earl of Carlisle.

Bysshe (Bylshe), Thomas:

Son of Christopher, of Cuckfield, Sussex, pleb. Matric^d. at St John's, Oxford 9 July 1677, aged 17. B.A. from Oriel College 1681. Incorporated at Cambridge: M.A. (Christ's) 1704. Rector of Tarring, Sussex 1698 (Al. Ox. 227) and of South Heighton: also vicar of Eastbourne 1704, distant eight miles, by dispensation from Lambeth: he was chaplain to the Dowager Countess of Anglesey: the vicarage was forfeited by reason of his not taking the oath of abjuration: but his license was renewed 9 Oct. 1708 (Lambeth Register).

Heton, Thomas:

Son of James of Bolton, Lancs., pleb. Matric^d. at Brasenose, Oxford 19 Jan. $169\frac{9}{1}$, aged 20. B.A. 1694. Incorporated at Cambridge: M.A. (Christ's) 1704. Rector of Hol[y]well, Beds. 1701. Rector of Wyddial, Herts. 1718. (Al. Ox. 699.)

Pountney, Thomas:

Son of —, clerk. Matric^d. at St Mary Hall, Oxford 3 Jan. $169\frac{4}{5}$. B.A., but date not found. Incorporated at Cambridge: M.A. (Christ's) 1704; incorporated at Oxford 8 July 1704.

Birch (Burch), Joseph: son of Samuel: born in London. School: Westminster, under Mr Nipe [Dr Knipe]. Admitted pensioner under Mr Duckfield 21 Jan. $169\frac{7}{8}$. Age 15.

M.B. (Birch) 1703. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Possibly son of Samuel (1675).

Johnson, Benjamin: son of Oliver: born at Capell, Suffolk. Educated (? at home) by Mr Coleman. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 25 Jan. $169\frac{7}{8}$. Age 17.

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$.

Kifford, John [but by mistake for Henry]: son of Thomas: born in Cambridge, near Christ's "cuius accola prius fuisset." School: King's College School, under Mr Rosewell, Fellow of King's. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 2 Feb. $169\frac{7}{8}$. Age 17.

B.A. (Henry) $170\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. 1705. Admitted scholar (Henry) 21 Feb. $170\frac{0}{1}$. Ordained deacon (Hen. Kifford), Norwich, 1703 Sept.: priest, 1704 Sept. Rector of Dennington, Suffolk 1741. Died 1752 and buried at Halesworth (Davy).

Paley, John: son of John: born at Long-[Lang-]cliffe, Yorks. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Armitstead. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 28 March 1698. Age 17.

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. 1709; incorporated Oxford 1709. Ordained deacon, York, 1704 Sept.: priest, 1706 June. Vicar of Hunslet, Leeds, 1718–$173\frac{1}{2}$ 13 Jan., when he died, aged 49. Perhaps also vicar of Kirkleatham in Cleveland 18 April 1723: allowed leave of absence 25 Oct. 1726: gone in 1732. Buried at Hunslet: M.I. in old church (now demolished). Often referred to in Thoresby's Diary: Thoresby, though a nonconformist, often went to hear him preach 1720–3, and thought highly of him. Author of The whole duty of Prayer, from the evidence of Reason and Revelation, with prayers for Evening and Morning, 1730, Leeds. (W. B. Paley, Esq.) The connexion of this man with the John Paley, supposed to be the first of Langcliffe, who had sons Thomas b. 1675 and William b. 1680 (admitted here 16 June of this same year) is not clear. Possibly John (the father) and the original William were brothers.

Shaw, Thomas: son of John: born at Colchester. School: Brentwood. Admitted pensioner under Mr Waterhouse 30 Mar. 1698. Age 16.

LL.B. 1703. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. A John Shaw of St Ann's, Colchester married about 1677 Anne, daughter of Tho. Broom, Serjeant-at-law, and had sons John (who died without issue 1715) and Thomas, perhaps our man: on John's death the family estate was sold (Morant, 1. 118). One Tho. Shaw was vicar of Wyberton, Lincs. 17 Oct. 1712, patron, John Shaw (for this turn).

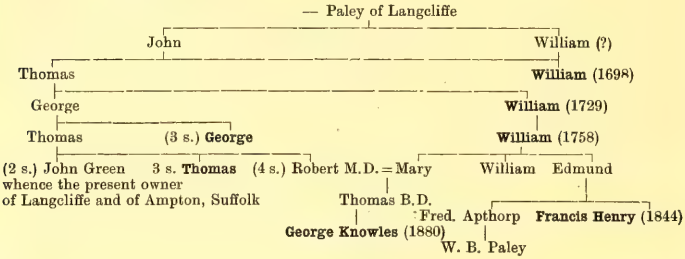
Aynsley, Ralph: son of Mark: born at Gallowshill [in parish of Bolam], Northumbd. School: Durham, under Mr Rudd. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 7 May 1698. Age 18.

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. 1705. Signed first Aynsley: then regularly Anesley. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Ordained deacon, London, 1702 May. Elected Fellow 27 June 1704, succeeding Hen. Cook. Junior Dean, Catechist and Bunting Preacher 1708. Praelector 1708. Steward 1709. Senior Dean 1715, 1722. Scrutator for the University 1715. Had a very few pupils—the last in 1711. Presented to Hapton 4 July 1717: to Gately 9 Apr. 1718 (succeeding Rob. Withers who died there): resigned it before 29 April 1724: the value being small he retained his Fellowship with it (it was afterwards augmented by a beneficial lease of the rectory): probably he did not reside. On 25 Jan. $172\frac{2}{3}$ he was nominated together with Tho. Husband for Lord Berkeley's usual selection for the rectory of Kegworth: but Lord Berkeley chose Mr Husband. On 27 Mar. 1724 he was presented to Ingoldsby, vacant by the death of Ri. Ward—the first presentation made by the College: his fellowship was declared vacant 17 Jan. $172\frac{4}{5}$. Died at Ingoldsby and buried there 3 Jan. $17\frac{39}{40}$.

Aynsley was doubtless a Tory and politically, perhaps personally, hostile to Towers. It was he and Boldero who induced Covel to declare Towers' fellowship vacant in 1714, and probably he was the Fellow who ran Towers hard for the Mastership in $172\frac{2}{3}$. He was one of the four Fellows who desired the V.C. to enquire into the circumstances of that election. Probably he was not unwilling to get away from the College after 20 years of residence in 1724. He seems not to have remained for his "year of grace."

Paley, William: son of William: born at Long-[Lang-]cliffe, Yorks. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Armitstead. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 16 June 1698. Age 17.

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. 1705. Ordained deacon, Worcester, $170\frac{1}{2}$. One of these names was vicar of Elsham, Lincs. 13 June 1704, patron, Will. Thompson, armiger. Son of William, who was perhaps the man who acquired the Langcliffe estate: see under Robert Paley (1616). The following pedigree shows the connexion of the various members of the College of this name, so far as known: I am indebted for it to Mr W. B. Paley, the present representative of the younger branch.



Waterhouse, David: son of John: born at Wakefield. School: Wakefield, under Mr Armitage. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 9 May 1698. Age 18.

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. 1705. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Brother of Benjamin ($169\frac{1}{2}$). Ordained deacon, London, 1703 May: priest, Rochester, 1705; licensed to Tunbridge Wells. Rector of Langley, Kent $171\frac{0}{1}$–1758 Nov. 4, when he died (Al. Ox. 1506). He had three sons, all educated at Oxford: Ben. at Univ. 1735; David at Ch. Ch. (afterwards rector of Langley 1759–80); and Thomas at Univ. $173\frac{8}{9}$. (Al. Ox. ib.) Author: Epistolae sex ad amicum de divinitate Christi, edited 1763 by his brother, Ben., vicar of Hollingbourne.

Littlewood, Peter: son of Peter: born at Stabley [? Staveley], Derbs. School: Staveley, under Mr Edmonds. Admitted sizar under Mr Waterhouse 9 June 1698. Age not given.

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Ordained deacon, Lichfield, (probably) Sept. 1702; licensed to Holmesfield chapel in Dronfield parish 20 Sept.: priest, 1704 June: licensed to Brampton, Derbs.

Flasby, John: son of Edward: born at Overtown, Lancs. School: Kirkby Lonsdale. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 9 June 1698. Age 16.

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. 1706, incorporated at Oxford 1712. Ordained deacon, Worcester, $170\frac{1}{2}$: priest, Lincoln, $170\frac{2}{3}$ March; licensed to Westmill, Herts. Vicar of Groton, Suffolk 1704–36, when he died. Also vicar of Edwardstone 1706. (Al. Ox. 504.) Buried at Groton 7 Dec. 1736. His only son, Joseph, admitted at St John's 1727, was buried at Groton, June 1731.

England, Thomas: son of Richard: born at Buntingford. School: Buntingford, under his father. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 20 June 1698. Age 16.

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. 1705. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. His father, Richard, admitted 1667. Ordained deacon, London, $170\frac{3}{4}$ March: priest, Norwich, 1706 December. Vicar of Westwell, Kent 20 Dec. 1711. Chaplain to Dowager Countess of Salisbury. On 4 June 1729 had dispensation to hold also the vicarage of Wennington, distant two miles. A Tho. England (but probably another, though no other is a graduate of either University), died rector of Crich, Derbs. 7 Feb. 1730 (? $173\frac{0}{1}$). (Cox, Derbs. Churches, 4. 52.)

Keate, William: son of James: born at Char(d)stock, Dorset. School: Chard. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 25 June 1698. Age 18: but (as the praelector, John Broughton, implies) more; "non Tyro, sed (si Barbae fides) emeritus; annum agens (prout ipse modeste satis testatur) undevigesimum."

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. James Keate was of Wadham and Exeter and vicar of Chardstock 1669. The praelector's suspicion as to William's age makes it unlikely that he was the Rev. Sir Will. Keate, Bart., who died at Digswell, near Welwyn 6 Feb. 1757 aged 72 (Gent. Mag. p. 142)—who would have been only 13 in 1698.

Lynsey, George: born in Northumberland: M.A. of the University of Edinburgh ("e collegio prope Edenburgam"). Admitted (surety, Mr Duckfield) to the Bachelors' Table "pro gradus dignitate."

Did not reside, so far as I find. One Geo. Lindsay was vicar of Alnham St Michael, Northumberland: died vicar 1746.

Cooper, John [probably by error for William]: B.A. of Peterhouse: admitted in order to proceed to M.A. Surety, Mr Duckfield.

B.A. (Will. Cooper) $169\frac{4}{5}$ (Pet.); M.A. (Christ's) 1698. One Will. Cooper rector of Bolingbroke, Lincs. 15 Dec. 1698: one vicar of Friskney 3 Nov. 1703: one rector of Fishtoft 14 July 1705.

Greggs, Switchcoat (Whichcott): "ignoto sibi vel nomine tenus Patre suo, natus vero, uti probe meminerit, apud Lyncolniam." School: Lincoln, under Mr Gramston [?Garmston]. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckworth 30 June 1698. Age 18.

B.A. (Whichcott Greggs) at Pembroke, 1705. The perversion of his own name is as strange as his ignorance of his father's.

Mason, Edward: B.A. of Oxford four years before at "Balial." Admitted 1 July to take M.A. at Cambridge. Surety, Mr Broughton. Son of T. Mason, pleb.: born at Monmouth, matric^d. at Balliol 15 Dec. 1690, aged 17.

B.A. 1694; M.A. (Christ's) 1698. Rector of Hampton Bishop, co. Hereford 1698, and of Bromyard (third portion) 1700. (Al. Ox. 982.)

Meadow, Edmund: son of Edmund: born at Bury St Edmunds. School: Bury, under Mr Edw. Leeds. Admitted pensioner under Mr Duckfield 8 July 1698. Age 15.

Admitted scholar (Medow) 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Resided (Meadows) till Mich^s. 1701.

Baines, John: son of John "e nobis alter": born in Cambridge. School: Perse, Cambridge ("schola publica"), under Mr Sparks. Admitted pensioner under Mr Lovett 8 July 1698. Age 14.

B.A. $170\frac{2}{3}$; M.A. 1706. Admitted (Baynes) scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Younger son of John the ἀρχιμάγειρος (see under Matthew, 1694): he signs his own name Baynes, by a freak, as his kindred were all Baines. The last (and at the time the only) pupil of Mr Lovett, to whom the cook remained faithful: Baines kept in the Master's lodging, with his tutor (who also had rooms there) till at least Mich^s. 1706: the usual entry in the list of Fellows and their pupils being "Mr Baines (the cook) for his son." Ordained deacon, London, 1706 Sept.: priest, 1708 Sept.: licensed to Lynn Regis. In 1718 he became rector of Cockley Cley, Norfolk: on 8 Feb. $17\frac{19}{20}$ he had a dispensation to hold also Ringstead St Andrew's (in the gift of the College) distant 20 miles. He was chaplain to the Earl of Denbigh. He held Ringstead till 1735 (?1753).

Bulkley, Richard: only son and heir of Richard, Baron Bulkeley, Viscount Cashel: born at Baron Hill ("sedes avita") "prope Bellomariscum," Anglesey. Educated at home, finally by Mr Trigg. Admitted as nobleman ("pro ordinis sui dignitate"), under Mr Duckfield 16 Aug. 1698. Age 16.

M.A. 1700. Resided at the Master's "above the ante-chapel" till Lady Day 1701. Son of the third Viscount by Mary, daughter of Sir Phil. Egerton of Egerton, Cheshire. Fourth Viscount Bulkeley of Cashel, 1704. M.P. for Anglesey 1705–24. Gave in 1702 to the restoration of the Chapel £21. 12*s*. 0*d*. Constable of Beaumaris Castle; and of Carnarvon 1713. Married Lady Bridget Bertie, daughter of James, Earl of Abingdon; had two sons, the fifth and sixth Viscounts. Died at Bath, 1724, aged 41. (Collins, 8. 16.)

Butler, Jacob: son of John, LL.D.: born at Wallington, Herts. School: Bishop Stortford, under Mr Tooke. Admitted pensioner under Mr Duckfield 16 Aug. 1698. Age 16.

B.A. $170\frac{2}{3}$; M.A. 1706. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. John, the father, who married Susanna Bodendick, was rector of Wallington. Barrister at law: proprietor of an estate at Barnwell, Cambs. where he lived and died. Six feet four inches in height and very eccentric. Married Rose, daughter of — Clerk, rector of Somerby. He erected in Barnwell Church three tablets to his ancestors and three more autobiographical, leaving the dates of the death of himself and his wife to be filled in. These three are printed at length in Cooper's Annals, 4. 336–9, and are curious, but too long to give here. They describe his "invariable steadiness in the cause of Liberty, which would have entitled him to rewards in any age or country where Virtue was not a crime and Corruption the safest path to Honour." His virtue was chiefly shewn in fighting with the Corporation. Once (in 1754) he offered himself as a candidate for Parliament, but without success: but entitled himself justly to the name of the Old Briton. His labours in the cause of freedom were many. He fought a Mr Sindrey an alderman of the town who (like Ahab king of Israel) wanted his neighbour's property on which to erect a dog-kennel; here Mr Butler was successful in his action. Edward Gillam, a farmer of Cambridge, would plough 30 acres of the Lammas land south of Cambridge: whereby "all the sheep were damaged in their feed much more in their winter layer": hence another successful action. He ended his life 28 May 1765 aged 84, and Rose Butler 5 May 1778 aged 87: they were both buried in the same grave made by him on the south side of the chancel.

Robinson, Brian: son of Christopher: born at Clapham, Yorks. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Armitstead. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 30 Jan. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Age 19.

B.A. $170\frac{2}{3}$. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $170\frac{0}{1}$. Author: A Treatise on Animal Economy (Cooper and Le Keux, where he is called M.D.—but not of Cambridge). An Essay on Coin, London, 1758. Also A Dissertation on the Aether of Sir Isaac Newton, 1743.

Weatherhead, Anthony: son of Anthony: born at Giggleswick. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Armitstead. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 30 Jan. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Age 16.

B.A. $170\frac{2}{3}$. Ordained deacon, York, 1704 Sept.: priest, 1706 June. Usher at Giggleswick 12 Mar. $170\frac{4}{5}$. Licensed to Normanton grammar school 1730. Vicar of Holme (near Burnley, Lancs.) 1742–60, when he died, aged 80

(Whitaker, Whalley, 2. 207—but the age does not quite agree). According to Gent. Mag. 1749, 477 b, he was vicar of Winterton, Lincs. I can find only one of these names.

Moss(e) Charles: son of Robert, of Norfolk. School: Norwich, under Mr Burton. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 7 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Age 15.

B.A. $170\frac{2}{3}$; M.A. 1706; M.D. 1713. Admitted (Mosse) scholar 21 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Practised medicine at Kingston-on-Hull. Died 1731, aged 46. (Poulson, 758.)

Barker, William: son of James: born at Winwick, Lancs. School: Warrington, under Mr Shaw. Admitted sizar under Mr Withers 9 Feb. $169\frac{8}{9}$. Age 16.

B.A. $170\frac{2}{3}$. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $170\frac{0}{1}$.

Hodson (or Hodgson), John: son of John: born at Ringste[a]d, Norfolk. School: Brancaster, under his father. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 11 Apr. 1699. Age 15.

B.A. $170\frac{2}{3}$. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $170\frac{0}{1}$. Son of John (1669): brother of Henry ($169\frac{9}{0}$). Ordained deacon, Lincoln, by letters dimissory from Norwich, 1703 May. One of these names was rector of Thurstaston, Cheshire 1705–52. (Ormerod-Helsby, 2. 510.)

Moor (or More), John: son of John [husbandman]: born at Middleton, Westmoreland. School: Sedber[gh] [for four years], under Mr Wharton. Admitted (after residing one year at St John's) pensioner under Mr Withers 27 June 1699. Age 19.

B.A. $170\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. 1705. Admitted scholar (More) 21 Feb. $170\frac{0}{1}$—later he always signs Moor: Covel always writes him More. Elected Fellow in place of Simon Every, 19 Apr. 1704. Ordained deacon, York, 1704 Sept.: priest, Ely, 1705 Sept. Junior Dean, Catechist and Bunting Preacher 1706. Praelector 1707. Steward 1708. Senior Dean 1714. Took a few pupils—averaging about ten in all, between 1709 and 1714. One of the Fellows who appealed to the V.C. against the Master's action in appointing Boldero President in 1714. He seems to have died suddenly: he was buried in the ante-chapel 22 Dec. 1714, aged 34: but no memorial of him is there now.

Swann, Richard: son of Robert: born in London. School: Cambridge (Perse), under Mr Sparkes. Admitted pensioner under Mr Duckfield 28 Apr. 1699. Age 17.

B.A. $170\frac{2}{3}$; M.A. 1707. Admitted scholar 21 Feb. $170\frac{0}{1}$. Ordained deacon, Peterborough, 1705 June. Perhaps rector of Freckenham, Suffolk (Davy).

Wilson, Benjamin: son of Louis: born in London. School: Eton, under Mr Newburgh. Admitted pensioner under Mr Duckfield 3 July 1699. Age 18.

Resided till Michs. 1700.

Foster (Forster), Richard: son of Richard: born in Cambridge. School: Cambridge [King's College School], under Mr Rosewell. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 7 July 1699. Age 15.

B.A. (Foster) $170\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1716. Admitted scholar (Foster) 19 Feb. $170\frac{2}{3}$. Ordained deacon, Norwich, 1706 Sept.

Hampson, John: son of John: born in Cambridge. School: Cambridge [King's College School], under Mr Rosewell. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 7 July 1699. Age 14.

B.A. $170\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1709. Admitted scholar 19 Feb. $170\frac{2}{3}$. There is a Latin letter from him to Covel (10. Kal. Apr. $170\frac{4}{5}$) written from Cambridge while still B.A., describing how he joined a crowd to go to an execution; how moved by the last words of one of the criminals he expressed a belief in his possible salvation; for which he was fiercely attacked by "fanaticus quidam." (Add. MSS. 22911, p. 95.) Ordained deacon, Norwich, 1706 Sept.: priest, Ely, 1708 Sept.: curate of East Church, Isle of Sheppey. Probably curate of Kegworth (of which Covel remained rector): his wife, Mary, to whom he had been married two months, died there in 1714: and he followed her 18 Aug. 1716, aged 33: "humanis functus miseriis, hic in Christo obdormivit" are the words (probably his own) which end his epitaph (Nichols, Topographica, 8. 1444).

Rutter (afterwards Rutterforth), George: son of Thomas: born at Tadlow, Cambs. School: Wrestlingworth, under Mr Bristow. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 7 July 1699. Age 17.

B.A. (Rutterforth) $170\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1719. Admitted scholar (Rutterforth) 19 Feb. $170\frac{3}{4}$. Brother of Tho. Rutter (1695). The family seems to have changed its name about 1700, after Thomas had graduated. Geo. Rutterforth was ordained deacon, Ely, 1705 Sept.: priest, Peterborough, 1707 Sept. Chaplain to the Earl of Bradford. Vicar of Bulmer, Essex 9 June 1708 (patron, John Brown, gent.). Had dispensation to hold also Otton Belchamp, distant two miles, 24 Nov. 1720. He also held Belchamp-Walter. Died 1751.

Cudworth, Robert: son of Charles: born at Hornsey, Midds. School: Oxford [? King Edward's], under Mr Badgworth. Admitted sizar under Mr Duckfield 22 July 1699. Age 17.

Probably never resided. Probably a grandson of Dr Cudworth, and son of Charles who married in India: see page 49: any son of that marriage could not have been more than $15\frac{1}{2}$ at this time—but the age here given may be wrong.

Coldham, James: son of James: born in Norfolk. Admitted fellow-commoner, under Mr Duckfield 20 Sept. 1699. Age not given.

Resided as pensioner under (1) Mr Burton, (2) Mr Burrell till Michs. 1707; at Xmas he appears as "Mr" Pickering (i.e. a fellow-commoner, for he took no degree) and remains till Lady Day 1710! His father, Sidney, a London merchant, was third son of Sir Gilbert Pickering of Titmarsh, Northants. (1613–68) by his first wife Eliz., daughter of Sir Sidney Montagu of Hinchinbrook (1588): he married Honor, daughter of Sir Henry Pickering of Whaddon, Cambs.: a younger brother, Theophilus was at Sidney, and D.D. 1705. Atherton, Thomas: son of Henry, M.D.: born at Newcastle. School: Newcastle, under Mr Rud. Admitted sizar under Mr Cooke 29 June 1702. Age 17.

B.A. $170\frac{5}{6}$; M.A. 1709. Admitted scholar 19 Feb. $170\frac{2}{3}$. His father was admitted 1674. Ordained deacon, London, $170\frac{7}{8}$ Feb.: priest, Lincoln, 1709 Sept.; curate of Southoe with Hailweston, Hunts. Elected King Edwd. Fellow 19 Oct. 1710, in place of Sam. Bourne. Junior Dean, Catechist and Bunting Preacher 1713. Praelector and Steward 1714. Senior Dean 1718, 1723, 1730. Scrutator in the Univy. 1729. Took pupils from 1714 onwards, and soon had more than Boldero, the leading tutor: after Boldero left in 1716 he had six times as many as any one else: he retained the first place easily till 1728 when Cartwright drew up to him: but for five years more he had a diminishing number. He seems to have relieved Covel of the College business for some years before his death: in Sept. 1722 the accounts were "put off till Mr Atherton comes to College." Probably he was not on good terms with Dr Towers, against whose election he protested but he still remained in College, though presented 15 Sept. 1723 to Hapton, and on 24 April 1724 to Gately which he held till 1732. On 11 May 1732 he was the first College nominee to Little Canfield, Essex: and he vacated his Fellowship 4 June 1733. He did not occupy the rectory house at Canfield, which was tenanted by a farmer. He died there 14 June 1749 aged 64: his tombstone in the nave, just west of the chancel, calls him "a learned and pious divine": but I have not found that he published even an assize sermon. His knowledge of the College history as well as of the accounts is attested by his "statute book" to which he suffixed a good deal of interesting matter. In 1720, two years before Covel's death, a real balance in the College accounts, with the surplus from the last Audit carried over, appears for the first time: and the credit must be assigned to Atherton. He was a subscriber to Ford's Articuli 1720 (J.E.B.M.) and to Sanderson's Algebra 1740.

Palmer, Henry: son of Herbert: born at Wingham, Kent. Educated privately by the Rev. Mr Foster. Admitted pensioner under Mr Burton 4 July 1702. Age 17.

Henry Palmer died unmarried in 1710, aged 25 (Kimber, 1. 209). James, his uncle, was a Fellow of Trinity.

Kingsbury, Robert: son of Robert: born at Middleton, Essex. School: Yeldham, under Mr Brooks. Admitted sizar under Mr Burton 6 July 1702. Age 19.

The rector of Middleton 1670–1700 was Roger Middleton: possibly the admission-book gives the father's name wrongly. The son, Robert, resided till Lady Day $170\frac{3}{4}$, and his name occurs without charge for two quarters more: he was ordained deacon, Norwich, 1707 June, as B.A.: but not so in Cat. Grad.

B.A. $170\frac{6}{7}$. Admitted scholar 6 Mar. $170\frac{4}{5}$. Admitted Fellow (succeeding A. Young) 2 Nov. 1708. Despite his youth he had three pupils before Mids. 1709: and at Mich^s. 1709, he had 25, having taken over Mr Bourne's. After Mich^s. he disappears from the list of tutors, and before 12 Jan. $17\frac{29}{10}$, he was dead.

Charleton, Thomas: [father not given]: born in London. Admitted sizar under Mr Burton 29 Aug. 1702. Age not given.

Appears in the list of Mr Burton's pupils Mich. 1703—but with no charge against him. Perhaps never resided. It is not unlikely that he was a son of Tho. Charleton of Chilwell, Notts., and grandson of Tho. Charleton, admitted 1636, afterwards Sheriff of Notts. If so, he died in 1703.

Ingram, Edward Machell, Viscount Irwin: son of Arthur, Viscount Irwin "quae est apud Scotos satrapia" (says J. Boldero): born at Temple Newsam, Yorks. School: Eton, under Mr Newburgh. Admitted fellow-commoner (? nobleman) under Mr Burton 10 Sept. 1702. Age 16.

Darsham, Suffolk. The son succeeded his father as third baronet in 1708: (1701 in the St John pedigree, Harvey, Hundred of Willey, 484): married Anne, daughter of Sir Will. James, and left a posthumous son, afterwards Sir Paulet, who became eventually the Baron Bletsoe.

King (? M.A. (Joh.) 1706) was appointed in his place: Metcalfe however was in College Oct. 2. Presented to Toft 31 March 1715, on promising to resign his Fellowship, if presented: though as one of the senior Preachers he had a statutable right to hold a living within 20 miles, without resigning: he resigned 13 April 1716. (Towers who was senior to Metcalfe desired to have Toft while keeping his fellowship: but the College declined to present him on those terms.) Metcalfe's action was stigmatised 57 years later as simoniacal, when an appeal (never decided) was made by Joshua Wigley, who was treated by the College as Towers had been. Gilman, John: son of William: born at Norwich. School: Norwich, under Mr Hoadley. Admitted sizar under Mr Withers 12 May 1704. Age 16.

Admitted scholar 6 Mar. $170\frac{4}{5}$. Buried at Great St Andrew's Church 16 June 1707.

Gibson, John: son of John: born at Lancaster. School: Lancaster, under Mr Bordley. Admitted sizar under Mr Withers 27 May 1704, "summae spei iuvenis." Age 16.

B.A. $170\frac{7}{8}$; M.A. 1711. Admitted scholar 6 Mar. $170\frac{4}{5}$. Elected Fellow, in place of Mr Withers 17 Nov. 1709. I have not found his ordination, but he was Junior Dean, Junior Greek lecturer, Catechist and Bunting Preacher 1710. Praelector 1711. He appears last on 14 October 1712, and he died before 25 May 1713.

Ayscough, James: son of William: born at Grantham. School: Walcot, Lincs., under Mr "Boheme." Admitted sizar under Mr Boldero 6 June 1704. Age 19.

B.A. $170\frac{7}{8}$. Admitted scholar 6 Mar. $170\frac{4}{5}$. Ordained deacon, Salisbury, 1709 Sept.; licensed to cure of Stanford, Berks.: priest, London, $17\frac{09}{10}$ March. Vicar of Highworth, Wilts., 26 Mar. 1720–1745. He was apparently a near kinsman to Hannah Ayscough, mother of Sir Isaac Newton: his daughter had a mourning ring for Sir Isaac: she married into the Venn family, and the ring has been handed down. (Information from Dr Venn.) Married Cath., daughter of Henry Reyner of Shepperton (J. Venn): and had a daughter Elizabeth born 1722, and sons Thomas (1727), Brent (1728) and John (1730). Buried at Highworth 6 Nov. 1745. (Information from the Rev. F. C. Master, of Highworth.)

Fenwick, [William]: born in Barbados. Admitted pensioner under Mr Withers 4 July 1704. Age not given.

Admitted scholar 6 Mar. $170\frac{4}{5}$, as Will. Fenwick. Resided till Lady Day 1705: his name is down in the next quarterly list, without charge.

Barley, East: son of East: born at Ashwell, Herts. School: Buntingford, under Mr England. Admitted sizar under Mr Withers 1 July 1704. Age 15.

B.A. $170\frac{8}{9}$; M.A. 1712. Admitted scholar 5 Mar. $170\frac{6}{7}$. Elected Fellow, succeeding Tho. Sherwill, 9 Oct. 1712. Ordained priest, London, $171\frac{2}{3}$ March. Junior Dean, Catechist and Bunting Preacher 1714. Steward and praelector 1715. Senior Dean 1719. He took a few pupils from 1715 onwards. Signs last 28 Apr. 1720 and died 20 August of the same year, being in his 31st year, and was buried in the nave of Ashwell Church. He left books and £20 to the Library.

Pulleyn, Robert: son of Robert: born at St Neots. School: Eton, under Mr Newburgh. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Sherwill 5 Aug. 1704 "candidi ingenii adolescens, nec ineleganter studiis initiatus." Age 17.

Resided till Midsr. 1708. Admitted at the Middle Temple 6 May 1706 as son of Robert Pulleyn, a Master of the Utter Bar.

Dayrell, Francis: son of Marmaduke, eques auratus: born at Shudy Camps, Cambs. School not given. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Withers 14 Oct. 1704. Age not given.

Resided till Lady Day 1707. Admitted at Gray's Inn 1 Feb. $170\frac{4}{5}$. Grandson of Sir Thomas of Shudy Camps (admitted 1622) and son of Sir Marmaduke by his second wife, Mary Glascock of Farnham, Essex. Sir Marmaduke's first wife was Mary, elder daughter of Sir Justinian Isham (admd. 1627) —"Mary and Vere, young ladies learned beyond their sex and years, the first in the Latin tongue, the second in Mathematicks and Algebra" (Kimber, 1. 279). Married Eliz., daughter of Peter Witchcombe of Braxted Lodge, Essex, coheir of Brownlow Sherard of Lopthorp, Lincs.: by whom he had two sons, Brownlow (admd. 1736) and Marmaduke (1740).

Daniell, Edward: A — Daniell appears in the list of Mr Sherwill's pupils, Xmas 1706, Lady Day and Michs. (not Mids. or Xmas) 1707, in each case, without charge.

B.A. $170\frac{7}{8}$. Possibly the Edw. Daniell, 1687–1746, son of John Daniell of Daresbury: died at Chester 1746 and was buried at Daresbury. (Ormerod-Helsby, 1. 734.)

Sitwell, Thomas:

B.A. (Corpus) $17\frac{09}{10}$; M.A. 1713. Probably son of Geo. Sitwell of Renishaw, Yorks. (1657–1723) and of Anne, daughter and heiress of Tho. Kent of Povey, Dronfield: see Hunter, Hallamshire, 373 (where he is given wrongly as a Fellow of Corpus): he inherited Povey by his grandfather's will. Admitted at Corpus 1705. Elected Fellow of Christ's—succeeding Cha. Smithson—30 Nov. 1714. Held no office (though he resided regularly) till Oct. 1719 when he was Praelector, Junior Dean, Catechist, Bunting Preacher, and Steward. Held nothing more till 1726 when he was Senior Dean: Mildmay Preacher 1727. He was Junior Proctor 1727–8. From 1715 he had one or two pupils—at no time more than three. On 12 Sept. 1725 he had a lease of the tithes of Hapton: but continued to reside: resigned early in 1727. There were "exceedings" in Hall 12 May 1727 "when Mr Sitwell dined there": the reason is not obvious as he attended several meetings in that year: perhaps it was known that he intended to be a benefactor. On 13 Nov. 1731 he was presented to Caldecot, succeeding Tho. Wilkinson. After the end of 1733 he was rarely present at a meeting, and perhaps resided at Caldecot. He died early in 1737 and was buried in the ante-chapel (Adam Wall). He left £20 for the poor of Caldecot; and to the College he left the income of his chamber and £600 for the augmentation of the Mastership and Fellowships: the interest was divided annually as "Mr Sitwell's benefaction." It was invested in South Sea Annuities. In 1854 the capital was sold out, and £660 2 % Consols were bought. In 1856 these were in turn sold—and the proceeds invested in the purchase of the Harvey Charity estate at Meldreth.

Sharpe, Abraham: [father not given]: born at Bradford. School not given. Admitted sizar under Mr Withers 22 Feb. $170\frac{4}{5}$. Age not given.

B.A. $170\frac{8}{9}$; M.A. 1713. Admitted scholar 5 March $170\frac{6}{7}$; and again 5 April, I do not know why. Master of Skipton School 7 Mar. $170\frac{8}{9}$. Ordained deacon, London, 1711 May: priest 1712 June. Chaplain to the Earl of Burlington, who presented him to Londesborough, Yorks. 11 May 1715. Had dispensation from Lambeth to hold also the vicarage of Market Weighton, Yorks. 17 Apr. 1719: for this he had license of non-residence 31 Dec. 1726. Possibly his father was Abraham Sharpe, the well known mathematician of Bradford, who died 1742, aged 91, to whom Jonas Waterhouse of Bradford left by will (1715) all his books and MSS.

Claphamson, Hugh: son of Hugh: born at Giggleswick. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Armitstead. Admitted sizar under Mr Withers 1 March $170\frac{4}{5}$. Age 18.

B.A. $170\frac{8}{9}$. Admitted scholar 5 March $170\frac{6}{7}$. Ordained deacon, York, 1709 June: priest 1711 May.

At this point there are no more entries till Oct. 1705, and a gap of one and a half leaves in the Admission Book, which was never filled up. The praelector for the year was Thomas Thomson. But the Study-rent book does not show any names of men who came into residence before Oct. 1705, which are not found in the University Matriculations.

Burchall, Josiah:

Matric^{d}. sizar 1705. Admitted a pupil of Mr Withers before Dec. 1704: resided till Lady Day 1708.

King, William:

Admitted a pupil of Mr Baynes before June 1705; came into residence the next quarter. Matric^{d}. pensioner $170\frac{5}{6}$. Admitted scholar 5 Mar. $170\frac{6}{7}$. B.A. $170\frac{8}{9}$; M.A. 1712. Ordained deacon, London, 1711 May. One of these names vicar of Wroxham, Norfolk 1711–19. (Blomefield, 5. 1387.) According to Davy one was vicar of Mildenhall, Suffolk: died in 1714, aged 27; and buried there: the date and age suit.

Sherson (Shierson), William:

Admitted a pupil of Mr Withers and resided before Mich^{s}. 1705. Matric^{d}. sizar $170\frac{5}{6}$.

B.A. $170\frac{8}{9}$. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1710 Dec.: licensed to Ickleford with Pirton, Herts. Probably Master of Buntingford School as early as 1728 (after England who was still there in 1721) and as late as 1740: I find his successor instituted in 1764. Will. Sherson, his son, admitted 1739.

Turner, John:

In residence, Mids^{r}. 1705, as a pupil of Mr Withers. B.A. $170\frac{8}{9}$. Probably born 9 Sept. 1687 at Caton near Lancaster (Hunter, S. Yorks. 1. 134–5). Ordained priest, York, 1712 June. Perhaps the John Turner, B.A., deacon, licensed to the cure of Ravensfield Chapel near Mexborough 7 Nov. 1709. Vicar of Braithwell, near Rotherham 2 July 1716–66, when he died, aged 79. (Hunter, ib.)

Husband, Thomas:

Came into residence as a pupil of Mr Baynes Oct. 1705. Matriculated sizar $170\frac{5}{6}$. Scholar 5 Mar. $170\frac{6}{7}$. B.A. $170\frac{8}{9}$; M.A. 1712. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1710 Sept.: elected Fellow in the place of Will. Burrell 17 Nov. 1709. Junior Dean, Catechist and Bunting Preacher 1711. Steward 1712, also Praelector (and omitted the entries of the whole year). Senior Dean 1716. Mildmay Preacher 1718. Nominated as Scrutator 29 Aug. 1720. On 9 April 1718 he took the lease of Hapton which Aynsley resigned: he may possibly have resided there, to perform the duties of the cure, for he signs the orders afterwards very intermittently: in any case he must have returned to Cambridge for the post of Scrutator 1720–1, and on 17 April 1721 he became rector of Hardwick. On Covel's death Aynsley and Husband were nominated to the Earl of Berkeley for the rectory of Kegworth, and the Earl selected Husband; and he was presented 15 March $172\frac{2}{3}$. He died rector before May 1725. In college he seems to have joined Towers in opposition to Dr Covel: and supported him in the struggle for Toft between Towers and Metcalfe, when the latter was taken: on the curious ground that the Senior Fellow ought to have it in order to be able to cope with the Master.

In residence as a pupil of Mr Baynes from Mich^{s}. 1705. Matric^{d}. sizar $170\frac{5}{6}$. Admitted scholar 5 Mar. $170\frac{6}{7}$. Perhaps a son of Wormly Martin, rector of Colveston, Norf. 1676–85. Ordained deacon, Norwich, 1709 Oct.: licensed to South Repps as curate to his father, Wormley (B.A. (Jesus) 1667). The father waged a long battle with Corpus and Pemb. Hall for a fellowship—varying from one to the other—backed up by a mandamus from the King. The evidence (from Cal. Dom. Papers) is summarised in Cooper, (Annals, 5. 451–5) and is entertaining. Martin failed at both Colleges. Wormley, junior, had dispensation from Lambeth 11 July 1716 to succeed his father (deprived) as rector of South Repps: held it till 1756 (Blomefield, 4. 340). On the other hand his gravestone in South Repps chancel makes him rector for 45 years, i.e. till his death: if so he held it with Beeston. According to Rye (Cromer, 136) he was also curate of Cromer 1723–9, and again 1743. Rector of Beeston 1756–62 (Blomefield, 4. 293). Another Wormly Martin (? his son) (B.A. (Corpus) 1758) was also rector of South Repps, probably also vicar of Shipden (Cromer) 1763–8, patron, the Bishop: he died 20 May 1768 (Rye, ib.). A fourth (his son) (B.A. (Caius) 1790) was buried there 1804, aged 38.

Robson, Thomas: son of John: born at West Ockling, Durham. School: Lowther, Westmoreland, under Mr Lodge. Admitted pensioner under Mr Withers 23 Oct. 1705. Age 17.

Admitted scholar 5 Mar. $170\frac{6}{7}$. Admitted at Gray's Inn 9 Dec. 1706 as "of the bishopric of Durham, gent." Resided till Lady Day 1707.

Hadwen, John: son of Robert: born at Silverdale, Lancs. School: Lowther, Westmoreland, under Mr Lodge. Admitted sizar under Mr Withers 29 Oct. 1705. Age 20.

B.A. $17\frac{09}{10}$. One of these names incumbent of Tockholes Chapel near Blackburn, 1736–66. (Abrams, Blackburn, 696.)

Fawkener, Henry: son of Edward, armiger: born at Uppingham. School: Eton, under Mr Newborough. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Withers 19 Jan. $170\frac{5}{6}$. Age not given.

Admitted at the Middle Temple (as son of Edw. of the Middle Temple, deceased) 17 June 1707. Probably akin to Will. Fawkener (adm. f.c. 1704).

Robartes, John: son of the Hon. Francis: born in London. School: Eton, under Mr Newborough. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Burrell $170\frac{5}{6}$ (no further date). Age not given.

Resided till Michs. 1711. Born 1686, son of Francis (admd. 1663). Fourth, and last, Earl of Radnor (succeeding Sir Henry) 1741–1757 July 15, when he died unmarried (1764 in Burke, Ext. Bar.). Either he, or his father, built Radnor House on the Thames, next door to Pope's house: and he is said to be the "heavy lord," satirised in the fourth Dunciad as the type of hanger-on to wits; and also as the subject of Pope's epigram beginning "My lord complains that Pope, stark mad with gardens | Has lopped three trees, the value of three-farthings." The house is now the property of the parish; and the Twickenham Literary Society meets there. [F. C. Hodgson.]

Cockshutt, Josiah: son of George: born at Harwood, Lancs. School: Clitheroe, under Mr Escholme (perhaps Escolm). Admitted sizar under Mr Withers 22 Apr. 1706. Age 16.

B.A. $17\frac{09}{10}$; M.A. 1713. Brother of Thomas (1696). Scholar 7 Mar. $170\frac{8}{9}$. Ordained deacon, Ely, 1711 Sept.: priest 1712 Feb. Elected Fellow, in place of John Gibson 25 May 1713. Junior Dean, Catechist and Bunting Preacher 1715. Steward and Praelector 1716. Senior Dean 1720, 1724. He generally had one or two pupils, never more than three. Had a lease of Hapton (on Atherton's resigning it) 29 Apr. 1724. Presented to Caldecot in place of the Master, resigning the Hapton lease, 12 Nov. 1724. Presented to Kegworth 1 July 1725—the Lord Berkeley "recommending" (Coll. Order) him instead of Tho. Atherton. Married Mary, daughter of Tho. Twisleton, rector of Weddington [? Wennington], Essex, son of Philip Twisleton of Drax Abbey, whose brother John of Horstman Place was admitted 1632. Died 1762, aged 72. He had three sons, John, who died 1731 and was buried at Kegworth: Thomas (admitted 1749 and afterwards Fellow), who took his mother's name of Twisleton; and Josias (admitted 1758).

Garneys, Charles: son of Nathaniel: born at Kenton, Suffolk. School: Ipswich, under Mr Coningsby. Admitted pensioner under Mr Burrell 23 April 1706. Age 17.

Brother of Wentworth (1702). Admitted scholar 5 Mar. 170$\frac{6}{7}$. Resided, first under Mr Burrell, then under Mr Moore till Michs. 1709. Died 1711: so Muskett (1. 192), according to whom he was born 1687.

Blanshard, William: son of Richard: born at Akam [? Acomb, Yorks.]. School: "Akam," under Mr Tomlinson. Admitted sizar under Mr Withers 27 May 1706. Age 17.

B.A. 17$\frac{09}{10}$. Admitted scholar 7 Mar. 170$\frac{8}{9}$. Son of Richard (1674) of the Inner Temple. Ordained deacon, York, 1710 Sept.: priest 1711 Dec. Lecturer in the parish church Leeds 14 July 1716.

Fenwick, George: son of George: born at Morpeth. School: Morpeth, under Mr Meggison (1693). Admitted sizar under Mr Aynsley 6 June 1706. Age 16.

B.A. 17$\frac{09}{10}$. Admitted scholar 5 Mar. 170$\frac{6}{7}$. Ordained priest, London, 1715 Sept. Vicar of Bolam, Northumbd. 1722–70. There are "curious memoranda: medical and historical" written by him in the parish register. (Hodgson, II. i. 341.) Died 27 April 1770, aged 82.

Dunn, John: [father not given]. Of Yorks. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Sherwill 4 June 1706. Age not given.

His name appears in the list of Mr Sherwill's pupils each quarter till Lady Day 1708. But each time there is either no charge against him or the charge is put in and then struck out. Another [?] Mr Dunn (i.e. fellow-commoner) also in Sherwill's list, appears at Midsr. 1709 till Lady Day 1710: for the first two quarters there is no charge against him: in the last quarters the name itself is struck out. There is no corresponding entry in the Admission book for 1709—which seems complete. It is certain that there was a Joshua Dunn, fellow-commoner at Christ's about this time (1707, according to the Memoir of Sanderson), who brought with him as his friend Nicholas Sanderson, the mathematician and future Lucasian Professor (see Life of Sanderson in D.N.B.: and Hunter, F.M.G. 1. 250). If the date of Sanderson's coming to Cambridge be rightly given (1707) it seems to follow that the name in the very imperfect entry of 4 June 1706 is given wrongly as John, and that it should be Joshua, and that all the entries in the Study-rents refer to one man. Joshua Dunn, according to Hunter, was son of Joshua, mercer, of Halifax and Attercliffe, born 28 Sept. 1684 at Stannery, near Halifax: died 13 Sept. 1709—this suits the entries in the Study-rents—and buried in the chancel of Halifax Church: M.I. His father was buried at Attercliffe 1718: his mother was Mary Clarke (Hunter, 4. 1274).

French, Robert: son of John: born at Chilton, Suffolk. School: Sudbury, under Mr Maybourn. Admitted sizar under Mr Burrell, — June 1706. Age 20.

No degree given in Cat. Grad.: but ordained (as B.A.—born in Suffolk 1687) deacon, Ely, 1712 June.

Sorrel(l), Henry: son of Henry: born at Cavenham, Suffolk. School: St Paul's, under Mr Postlethwaite. Admitted pensioner under the Master 24 June 1706. Age 16.

M.B. 1711; M.D. (com. reg.) 1717. Kept "in the Master's by the Parlour." Admitted scholar (Sorrell) 5 Mar. 170$\frac{6}{7}$. Practised at Bury St Edmunds. Married at Nowton church 1 Dec. 1730 to Cath. Gage, also of Bury.

Beaver, Thomas: son of Timothy: born at Barnby Furnewk in the parish of Cawthorne, Yorks. School: Cawthorne, under Mr Cockshutt. Admitted sizar under Mr Burrell 24 June 1706. Age 17.

B.A. 171$\frac{0}{1}$. Ordained deacon, York, 1711 May: priest, 1712 June. Licensed to preach in the church of Bolton on Dearne 1728.

Say, Francis: son of Francis: born at East Hatley, Cambs. School: Ruslingworth [?], Beds. Admitted sizar [tutor not given] 4 July 1706. Age 17.

B.A. 171$\frac{0}{1}$. He kept from Michs. 1708 "in the Masters"—therefore his name is not given in the Study-rents—in "the next chamber" to that which is called "by the Parlour"—presumably the present passage room next to the Chapel: and resided till Michs. 1712. Born 9 June 1690, eldest son of Francis Say (B.A. (Jesus) 166$\frac{8}{9}$) and of Eliz. his wife—elder brother of Will. Cray Say (171$\frac{3}{4}$). Another brother, John, was godson of Dr Covel, the Master. Admitted scholar 5 Mar. 170$\frac{6}{7}$. Ordained deacon, London, 1713 May: priest, Norwich, 1719 July: licensed to Guiest (Guist, St Andrew), Norfolk. Vicar of Berney (Barney), Norfolk 1720–40 (Blomefield, 5. 790): also of Hindolveston 1721–40 (ib. 4. 401), when he died. According to family tradition he was rector of East Hatley before going to Hindolveston: which seems hardly probable. Not the Fra. Say, Librarian to Queen Caroline, Secretary to five Bishops of Ely, who died 1748 (Gent. Mag. p. 427): probably he was of Trinity (B.A. 171$\frac{1}{2}$).

Gregory, Thomas: son of Love-is-God: born at Stivichall, Warw. School: Coventry, under Mr Greenway. Admitted pensioner [no tutor given] 4 July 1706. Age 19.

Admitted scholar 5 Mar. 170$\frac{6}{7}$. A pupil of Mr Burrell: resided till Michs. 1708. His mother was Cath. Turvile of Higham, Leics. The Gregorys were long settled at Stivichall (or Stichall) near Coventry, where the College owned land: they are said to have boasted that they came in with the Saxons and settled at "Stickhill"; a branch removed to Yorks. and settled at Barnby Don (Hunter, S. Yorks. 1. 211). One Tho. Gregory was vicar of Hindolveston, Norfolk 1740–1; patron, the Dean of Norwich: vicar of Elmham 1741. (Blomefield, 4. 401; 5. 1000.)

Spencer, William: son of John: born at Corthorn [Cawthorne], Yorks. School: Wakefield, under Mr Clarke. Admitted pensioner [no tutor given] 5 July 1706. Age 17.

Admitted scholar 5 Mar. 170$\frac{6}{7}$. A pupil of Mr Sherwill: resided till Michs. 1707: son of Joh. Spencer of Cannon Hall, Cawthorne, by his wife Ann, daughter of John Wilson of Wortley: succeeded his father and married Christiana, daughter of Ben. Ashton of Hathersage and had three sons, John, Benjamin and William, who all died without issue. Died 30 Jan. 1756 aged 65, and buried at Cawthorne. (Hunter, S. Yorks. 2. 232: the dates are wrong by two years, but the identity seems clear.) One of these names a confrater of Brown's Hospital, Stamford. (*Merch*t. Taylors' Register, 2. 192.)

Daniel, Robert: migrated from Corpus Christi. Admitted pensioner under Mr Sherwill 1 Oct. 1706. Age not given.

In the list of Sherwill's pupils till Michs. 1707—but never any charge.

Will. Burrell, the praelector Oct. 1706–Oct. 1707, makes this one (incomplete) entry and makes no more. Fifteen men are recoverable from the matriculation list.

Thomson, Henry:

B.A. 171$\frac{0}{1}$; M.A. 1718. Admitted under Mr Sherwill Michs. 1706: matric^{d}.

pensioner 1706. Admitted scholar 5 Mar. $170\frac{6}{7}$. Ordained deacon, York, 1712 June: curate of Coxwold 25 July 1713. Rector of Holy Trinity, Holtby, near York 31 May 1716: patron, Tho. Thomson, gent., of York.

Hathornthwaite, Richard:

B.A. $171\frac{0}{1}$. Admitted under Mr Bourne before Lady Day 1707: and resided in the Easter Term. Matriculated pensioner 1707 April. Admitted scholar 11 Mar. $170\frac{8}{9}$.

Bagot, Alexander:

B.A. $171\frac{0}{1}$. Admitted under Mr Burrell: and came into residence before Lady Day 1707. Matric^d^. pensioner 1707 April. Curate of Stalmine St James, near Fleetwood in 1725. Vicar of Gressingham, Lancs. Died there 5 Feb. 1758, aged 75: and buried there. (Letter from T. Cann Hughes, Esq. Lancaster.)

Whitton, Robert:

B.A. $171\frac{2}{3}$. Admitted under Mr Burrell: came into residence before Lady Day 1707. Matric^d^. sizar 1707 April. Admitted scholar 5 Mar. $170\frac{6}{7}$. Resided under Mr Burrell, Mr Bourne and Mr Boldero successively till Mids^r^. 1712.

Carr, John:

B.A. $171\frac{0}{1}$. Admitted under Mr Bourne before Lady Day 1707: kept the Easter term. Matric^d^. sizar 1707 April. Admitted scholar 11 Mar. $170\frac{8}{9}$. Ordained deacon, York, 1713 Sept.: priest $172\frac{0}{1}$ March. Master of Giggleswick school 1712–45, where he was probably educated. Married Anne Dawson. Buried at Giggleswick 2 Apr. 1745, aged 56 (Morant-Whitaker, 162). Probably son of Thomas Carr of Stackhouse, and brother of James ($171\frac{1}{2}$). His son John was admitted three weeks after his father's death in 1745. The number of boys sent up from Giggleswick fell off considerably in his time, I do not know why: the proportion however to the whole number admitted remains much the same.

Jackson, Robert:

B.A. $171\frac{0}{1}$. Admitted under Mr Burrell before Lady Day 1707: kept the Easter term. Matric^d^. sizar 1707. Resided under Mr Burrell, Mr Bourne and Mr Boldero successively till Mich^s^. 1710. Ordained deacon, York, 1712 Dec. One of these names succeeded Leonard Jackson (adm. 1668) as rector of Tatham, Lancs. 7 Dec. 1726 and died there 1733 (Croston-Baines, 5. 555).

Topham, William:

B.A. $171\frac{2}{3}$. Admitted under Mr Burrell before Mids^r^. 1707. Matric^d^. sizar 1707 July. After Xmas 1707 he keeps "at the Masters over the Parlour," perhaps as sizar to Cha. Maynard, and resides there till Mids^r^. 1712.

Fenwick, Ambrose:

Kept "in the Master's over the parlour" paying therefore £1. 10*s*. each quarter, up to Mids^r^. 1716: but the room remains assigned to him (without charge) up to Lady Day 1721. He succeeded in the title two elder brothers, Henry (third son of the third Baron) and Grey (seventh son), as sixth Baron Maynard in 1745. In 1766 he was created Viscount Maynard: and he died 1775, unmarried, aged 85. By his will dated 13 February 1775 he left £500 "for or toward the cost of erecting or beautifying any publick building for the University of Cambridge that shall not be begun at the time of my decease, or for the use of the Public Physick Garden there." He gave earlier £100 to the Botanic Gardens. This sum with the accumulated interest amounted in 1788 to £745. 18*s*. 4*d*.: which was paid by the trustees of the will to the Vice-Chancellor to be used toward the erection of the proposed University Offices in Senate House Yard. That scheme having been abandoned, the money was returned to the trustees and reinvested. In 1807, when the amount was £2163. 9*s*. 6*d*. it was assigned by Grace to the Botanic Garden, so as to carry out the second alternative object of the testator. Cawson, John:

M.B. 1712. First appears at Christ's as pupil of Mr Moor at Xmas, 1708, and as "M^{r}" Cawson at Mids^{r}. 1712.

Sanderson, Nicholas:

M.A. (per lit. reg.) 1712; LL.D. (com. reg.) 1728; F.R.S. Born Jan. 1682 (bapt. 20 Jan.) at Thurlston near Penistone, Yorks., son of John Sanderson, exciseman. Lost his eyes by smallpox when one year old. Educated at Penistone by Mr Staniforth in Latin and Greek: afterwards by his father and by himself in mathematics: in later life he could repeat all Horace's Odes and much other Latin poetry: his father and friends supported him till he was 25. Came to Cambridge in 1707 as friend of Joshua Dunn then fellow-commoner at Christ's: see Dunn, John (? Joshua), 1706. Not admitted at the College, but allowed rooms there: perhaps Dunn's, who seems to have resided irregularly. Made friends through his keenness for mathematics—especially as expounded by Newton—and through his blindness. Will. Whiston, Lucasian Professor, allowed him to lecture in his own subjects: his lectures seem to have been very popular. In the dedication (1740) of his Algebra to John Robartes (170$\frac{5}{6}$) afterwards Earl of Radnor, it is said "Your Lordship was his first acquaintance in the University and his first scholar, and...his most generous benefactor: a great part of the work was drawn up originally for your Lordships use, and was for many years in your sole possession." When Whiston was removed from his Professorship (30 Oct. 1710) for his Arian proclivities, Sanderson seems to have been regarded as his obvious successor: but he lacked the M.A. degree. The Heads of Colleges, and the Hon. Francis Robartes (1663) father of John Robartes are said in the Memoir (p. vi) to have applied to the Chancellor for a mandate-degree for him: which was issued by the Queen: he became M.A. 19 Nov. 1711, and Lucasian Professor the next day! His inaugural lecture was in "truly Ciceronian" Latin. His position as an early "Newtonian" is attested by Dr Heberden, writing of what he remembered about 1730, "Newton Euclid and Algebra were only known to those who chose to attend the lectures of Prof. Sanderson, for the College lecturers were silent on them." (Schol. Acad. 66.) He lived in College till 1723 devoting his whole time to his lectures and his pupils. In that year he took a house in Cambridge and married Abigail, daughter of Will. Dickons, rector of Boxworth: by whom he had children, John (1742) and Anne. He continued his teaching to the detriment of his health: "being too sedentary and constantly confining himself to the house, he became a valetudinarian of a very scorbutic habit" and died 19 Apr. 1739 "of a mortification in his foot." Buried at Boxworth: M.I. Portrait by Vanderbanck (painted 1718) in the University Library. He had prepared his Algebra for the Press before his death: and it was published in 1740 by his widow and children. The Method of Fluxions appeared in 1751. It is said (see Ball, History of Mathematics, 87) that owing to his outspokenness he was "better qualified to inspire admiration than to make or retain friends." Among the friends who contributed to the Memoir prefixed to his Algebra, were John Boldero and Gervase Wheler of Christ's. Many other members of the College were among the subscribers to the book; also the libraries of almost every college in Cambridge, except (oddly) Christ's. (D.N.B.) His son John (1742) was B.A. at Christ's, afterwards Fellow of Peterhouse.

He was elected Fellow as a Westmoreland man at the end of 1714 or early in 1715. On this ground Dr Tho. Sherlock, V.C. (with one assessor) pronounced the election invalid [see under Will. Mr Boldero was right in his prophecy: neither seems ever to have resided: but the history of their admission rests unexplained: the praelector records that each paid his admission fee.

B.A. (Jesus) 171$\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1717; D.D. (Christ's) 1728. Born 5 Jan. 169$\frac{2}{3}$, son of John Hutton of Marske (1659–1731) and of Dorothy Dyke of Trant, [so D.N.B. ? Frant], Sussex. Ordained deacon, Ely, 1718 Sept.: signs, as minister, at Whittlesey St Mary 1718: priest 1719 May. Praelector, Junior Dean, Catechist, Bunting Preacher and Steward 1721: but in Dec. 1721 he formally resigns the last office, and I find his signature only once more (in 1724): he was private chaplain to the Duke of Somerset—and, as such, was probably subject to the "detentio violenta" which according to an interpretation of the Statute prevented residence: his pupils—he had a few—cease at the same date. In 1726 the Duke presented him to the rectory of Trowbridge, Wilts. and his fellowship was vacant before June 1727. Rector of Spofforth, Yorks. (same patron) 1 April 1730; Prebendary of York 18 May 1734. Accompanied George II to Hanover 1736. Canon of Windsor 27 Mar. 1737: of Westminster 18 May 1739. In his subsequent preferments he followed step by step Tho. Herring: becoming Bishop of Bangor 13 Nov. 1743: Archbishop of York 28 Nov. 1747: Archbishop of Canterbury 13 Apr. 1757. He died in Duke Street, Westminster 18 March 1758 having held his final preferment less than one year: buried in Lambeth church. He seems hardly to have been a great man, though so highly placed: he is said to have been "cheerful and amiable" and he "never let himself down below the dignity of an archbishop."

In opinions he was supposed to be latitudinarian (D.N.B.). He married in $173\frac{1}{2}$ Mary Lutman of Petworth: by whom he had two daughters (Hasted says, sons). Two nephews (sons of his elder brother John of Marske) were at Christ's, viz. John (1747) and James (1756): and two grandnephews, sons of John the third, John (1791) and Timothy (1796) benefactors to the Library. He left at his death £50,000 "amassed in 12 years out of the Church"—according to E. Pyle (Memoirs of a Royal Chaplain, p. 76)—"and not one penny to any good use." In 1754 he gave £100 to the University Library Fund. Hutton subscribed to Sanderson's Algebra, published 1740.

Admitted at Gray's Inn 5 April 1712. Admitted scholar (Molyneux) 26 Mar. 1713. Resided till Mich. 1715; his name is on the list in Study-rents for two quarters more, but without charge. Son of Sir Francis (1672) of Teversall (fourth baronet) and of Diana Howe: brother of John (1703) who died in his father's lifetime. Succeeded his father in 1742 as fifth baronet. High Sheriff of Notts. Died unmarried 28 July 1764 (Kimber, I. 65).

Finch, Henry: fourth son of Daniel, Earl of Nottingham: born at Exton, Ruts. School: Eton, under Mr Newborough. Admitted fellow-commoner "omnibus felicissimi ingenii dotibus instructissimus," under Mr Boldero 19 Aug. 1712. Age 17.

M.A. 1714. Elder brother of Edward Finch (Hatton), Fellow 1728–46. Nominated by his father a Fellow on the Finch and Baines foundation 30 Sept. 1713—before he had taken his degree. He was a candidate for the representation of the University in Parliament in December 1720, when he was defeated by the Hon. Tho. Willoughby. He succeeded elsewhere before 1736 when (on June 7) the Master, Dr Towers, declared his Fellowship vacant. Finch appealed and on 19 June 1736 the Master had to report that Dr Adams, V.C., with his assessors Dr Colbatch and Dr Gooch had reinstated Mr Finch. The ground as stated in the V.C.'s sentence was that the Master had "amoved him from his Fellowship without any summons or notice, without his being first heard and without assigning any cause" (Master's Book of Statutes). From an account in Adam Wall's MSS. (Univ. Lib. Mm v. 48, p. 64) it appears that Towers ejected him (1) because he was non-resident—he was actually H.M. Receiver General at Minorca and resided there regularly: (2) because he was M.P. which implied property more than was permissible to a Fellow. There was a curious dispute as to the action of the V.C. In Finch's appeal it was stated that he had been ejected "without consent of the Fellows." In Atherton's copy of the Statutes there is a note to the sentence "these or the like words were after some debate inserted in the place [after the words "without assigning any cause"] as they stood in Mr Finch's appeal, and very solemnly agreed to by the V.C. and both his assessors in Sidney Lodge, but afterwards were in a fraudulent and clandestine manner struck out by the V.C. alone [probably on the instigation of Dr Towers] and the sentence signed inadvertently by the senior Doctor as above." They do not appear in the sentence in the Master's copy of the Statutes, where it was required to be entered. Mr Finch despite his non-residence held his Fellowship for 36 years and resigned it by letter to the Master, Dr Rooke, 7 Oct. 1749.

Hunt, Daniel: son of Thomas: born at Exton, Ruts. School: Oakham, under Mr Wright. Admitted sizar under Mr Boldero 19 Aug. 1712. Age 17.

B.A. $171\frac{6}{7}$; M.A. 1720. Admitted scholar, 3 Nov. 1712. It may be inferred that he was brought up by Henry Finch. Elected Fellow, succeeding John Chester 2 Feb. 1719. Ordained deacon, Peterborough, 1719 Sept.: priest, Ely, 1719. In 1720 there came a mandate that Dan. Hunt should enjoy his Fellowship while acting as chaplain to Mr Finch, envoy to Sweden in 1720 (Misc. drawer, Ak). I do not know what Mr Finch this is. Whether in Sweden or after return to England, Mr Hunt died before Oct. 1723.

At this point there is a gap in the Admissions from Aug. 1712 to Sept. 1714. Five leaves in the book are left blank. The Praelectors were for the first year, Thomas Husband, for the second Ben. Dowse. Each was in residence and acted as Steward for the year. The register of matriculations gives the names of all who were admitted except two, Bellasis and Conder, who were not matriculated, but appear in the Study-rents only.

Tyrrill, Jonas:

Son of Adam Haughton of Corpus, rector of Hockliffe, Beds. 1687–1713: his son-in-law, Walter Foot, held the living 1713–19. Ordained priest, Lincoln, 1719 May: and instituted at the same time to the rectory of Hockliffe: inducted 4 June (parish register). He seems to have died suddenly and was buried at Hockliffe (M.I.) 10 May 1743. His mother Rebecca (daughter of Hezekiah Slingsby a former rector, and granddaughter of Rob. Gilpin, also rector) died one year after her son, 1 Sept. 1744, aged 80. Her daughter Mary, widow of Walter Foot, died 24 July 1760, aged 70. (Information from Rev. T. B. Tatham.)

Bagge, Samuel:
B.A. 171$\frac{6}{7}$; M.A. 1720. Admitted pensioner under Mr Towers before Easter 1713: and kept the Easter term. Matric^{d}. 1713. Admitted scholar 26 Mar. 1713. Born in Norfolk 1695: perhaps son of John Bagge of King's Lynn, who married in 1692 Sarah Thacker, of Lynn and had two sons Samuel and John. (Burke, Family Records, 27.) Ordained deacon, Ely, 1718 Dec.: priest, Norwich, 1719 Dec.; and licensed to Bircham Newton, Norfolk. One Simon Bagge was rector of Bircham Newton 1719 (Blomefield, 5. 1249); and also of Bircham Tofts 1721 (ib. 1246): is Simon an error for Samuel? There was a Simon Bagge M.A. (Caius) 1681.

Married a cousin of Charles, Duke of Somerset, who presented him to the vicarage of Tadcaster 3 Sept. 1725: died and buried there 24 Nov. 1734. Possibly also vicar of Woodhorn 1724 (Hodgson, Northumber^{d}. II. ii. 91 makes Will. Simcoe (above) the vicar, but wrongly: Will. died 1714). Married (1) Anne, daughter of Nat. Ellison, Prebendary of Durham, (2) Jane, widow of Ra. Watson (1707), who died 1721. (Information from J. Ross Robertson of Toronto.)

Willis, Robert: son of Henry Willis of Bury St Edmunds, and educated there. In Dec. 1715 the governors decided to pay £6 towards his maintenance (S.H.A.H.).

Livesay, Robert:

Matric^{d}. pensioner 1714 July. A Will. Livesay was admitted scholar 31 Mar. 1715. One Livesay was admitted under Mr Atherton before Mids^{r}. 1713, and appears each quarter but with no charge against him (probably not resident) till Mids. 1714 when he kept "in the Master's by the Parlour" (i.e. in the Library at the Lodge); there he remained till Mich. 1715. Probably there was but one—Will., wrongly matric^{d}. as Robert.

Marshall, Thomas:

B.A. 171$\frac{6}{7}$; M.A. 1721. Admitted pensioner under Mr Moor, coming into residence Mich. 1713: but admitted scholar 26 Mar. 1713. Say, William: born at East Hatley 5 Dec. 1696, youngest son of Francis, the rector: brother of Fra. (1706): a brother, John, was the Master's godson. He was exceptionally poor for on 13 Jan. 171$\frac{7}{8}$ there was a College order that he should have his B.A. degree without paying the usual 50*s*. to the College.

B.A. 171$\frac{7}{8}$; M.A. (as Will. Cray Say) 1724. Resided in the Mich. term 1713 "in the Masters in the sizars chamber." Perhaps the present passage-room at the Lodge: someone lived "over the sizars chamber": it was therefore not an attic, nor the small room over the ante-chapel. Matric^{d}. sizar 171$\frac{3}{4}$. Admitted scholar 31 Mar. 1715. Ordained deacon, London, 1719 Sept.: priest, Rochester, 1720 Dec. Chaplain to the Countess of Rockingham. Rector of East Hatley, Cambs. 1722. Had dispensation from Lambeth to hold also the rectory of Hatley St George, distant one mile 2 June 1746. Died, unmarried, Nov. 1751. The following is part of a letter of commendation of Will. Cray Say, written 13 Sept. 1719 to the Bishop of London by Dr Covel (then 79 years of age): "This gentleman Mr Will. Say, comes to wait on you for Deacons Orders. As for his morals, he hath been my sizar and domestick these 4 yeares: and I will vouch him for a sober and civil person; as for his learning he is of age and I doubt not but he will be able to answer for himself; yet I must confess he may want a month of 23 yeares of age. But give me leave thus humbly to apologize for him; some men grow Men very early: some men never will be men: Mr Say, I verily believe, will appear to your Lordship a Man: and one of sense and discretion." (Letter preserved in the family: and communicated by C. F. Booty, M.A.)

On 14 June 1732 he was presented to Gateley, succeeding Tho. Atherton who had just been presented to Little Canfield: but (unlike Atherton) he soon left Cambridge (probably in May 1732), transferring his pupils to Will. Trant. Vicar of Stockbury, Kent: which he resigned 10 July 1750. Vicar of Wateringbury, 27 Aug. 1750 (or 1751). Buried in Rochester Cathedral 26 May 1769. Probably a kinsman of Tho. Husband, the Fellow (1705).

Hewett, John:

M.A. 1724. Admitted at Magdalen Hall, Oxford, as son of J. Hewitt, clerk, of Wallingford, Berks., 22 Oct. 1709, aged 19. B.A. $171\frac{2}{3}$. Incorporated, and M.A. (Christ's) 1724. Rector of Harthill, Yorks. 1717, succeeding his father John, who became rector 1695. Died 1757, aged 68: buried at Harthill (M.I.). Succeeded by his son, also John, and third rector of these names who died 1811 (Hunter, S. Yorks. 1. 145). Said by Foster (Al. Ox. 700) to have been vicar of Broughton, Yorks. 1727: but according to Morant-Whitaker (Craven, 110) a John Hewitt was vicar from 1732–41, when he died.

Here comes another gap in the Admission books for the years 1717–18 (praelector Henry Finch, the very juvenile Finch and Baines Fellow) and 1718–19 (praelector, John Chester, who married Feb. 171$\frac{8}{9}$). The numbers in both years recoverable from the matriculation-register are very small: but the Study-rents do not add more than one or two.

Evans, Thomas:

Pupil of Mr Atherton. Admitted before Mids^{r}. 1718. Matric^{d}. pensioner 1718 July. Scholar 14 May 1719. Resided till Lady Day 1721.

Leeke, Baron of the Exchequer: this Thomas was first cousin of Rowland of Oldbury, admitted 1714: belonged to Trinity College, Oxford and the Middle Temple. Leeke Okeover was admitted at the Middle Temple 16 Feb. 171$\frac{8}{9}$. He lived at Okeover, where he repaired and beautified the parish church—presumably in the taste of the time. He married Mary, daughter of John Nichols, Esq. Died without issue 31 Jan. 1765, aged 63. His brother William (1718) having died before him, the estate of Okeover passed to his distant cousin Haughton Farmer Okeover, of the Oldbury branch. (Glover, Derbs. 2. 64, Hunter, F.M.G. 1035.)

Okeover, William:

Second son of Thomas of Okeover and Catherine Leeke: brother of Leeke (above). Pupil of Mr Towers from Mids^{r}. 1718 to Mich. 1719. Matric^{d}. pensioner 1718. Admitted at the Middle Temple with his brother 16 Feb. 171$\frac{8}{9}$. Barrister at law. Died 1748 without issue. (Glover, 2. 64.)

One of these names was rector of Halton in Lonsdale 6 Aug. 1747–49 (Croston-Baines, 5. 528). A Rev. Mr Wetherherd subscribed to Sanderson's Algebra, 1740 (perhaps John of 1716).

Robinson, Henry:

B.A. 172$\frac{2}{3}$. Pupil of Mr Atherton. Admitted before Mids^{r}. 1718. Matric^{d}. sizar 1718 July. Admitted scholar (as of Yorks.) 1 June 1720. Ordained deacon, York, 1723 June: priest 1725 Sept.: curate of West Dalton 19 Sept. with stipend of £25 a year.

Windham, — :

Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Towers. Resided between Mich. 1718 and Lady Day 1719. Did not matriculate. Possibly a son of Will. Windham of Felbrigg (1663).

Wragg, Charles :

B.A. $172\frac{2}{3}$; M.A. 1726. Pupil of Mr Atherton. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1735 and 1736. Senior Dean 1737. Succeeded Cartwright as Tutor (having more than two-thirds of the students) 1732–1740—in the later years the students were more evenly divided. Senior Proctor 1735. Had a lease of the tithes of Hapton 1733. Vicar of Foxton 19 July 1734. Vicar of Caldecot (succeeding T. Sitwell) 9 June 1737. Rector of Anstye 25 Nov. 1740 (succeeding T. Sherwill). Vacated his fellowship 5 Dec. 1741. Married Catherine, daughter of George and Dorothy Smith: his son Edmund (1767) was Fellow 1773: his daughter Emma was mother of Will. Spry (Fellow 1804). Died at Anstye, after 44 years' tenure, 3 Jan. 1784, aged 82.

Stokoe, Alexander :

Pupil of Mr Atherton. Admitted before Mids^r. 1719. Matric^d. sizar 1719 July.

Scholar (as of Northumberland), 1 June 1720. Seems to have resided continuously (without taking any degree) till Mids^r. 1726. One of these names, of Haydon Bridge, was master of Hexham School 1723–$17\frac{29}{30}$. Curate of St John, Lee, near Hexham 1734. Died 1766. (Bateson, Northumb^d., 3. 224, 4. 131.)

Walmesley, Richard :

B.A. $172\frac{2}{3}$. Pupil of Mr Cockshutt. Admitted before Mich. 1719. Matric^d. sizar 1720 April. Admitted scholar 14 May 1719. Probably fifth son of Ri. Walmesley of Sholey [or Showley], Lancs. and of Jane Houghton of Park Hill (Hall, so Abrams), Lancaster. In Holy Orders. Died at Ormskirk 1735. (Abrams' Blackburn, 459 : Whitaker, 2. 404.) Another of the same names, son of Ri. Walmesley, of Bashall, Coldcotes and Eaves Hall ; died 1767, aged 60 (ib. 405).

Jenison, Ralph :

Pupil of Mr Hutton. Matric^d. fellow-commoner 171$\frac{8}{9}$ Mar. Resided between Mich. 1719 and Mich. 1720. Probably born 1696 : son of Rob. Jenison (or Jennison) of Elswick, Newcastle and of Mary Savile of Lupset, Yorks. Of Elswick and of Walworth, Durham. Married Susan Allen of the Flatts, Chester-le-Street. M.P. for Newport, Isle of Wight : and for Northumberland 1722, 1727, and 1734. Master of the Buckhounds to George III. Died 1759.

Heywood, Wilmot :

B.A. 172$\frac{2}{3}$; M.A. 1726. Pupil of Mr Atherton : began to reside at Mich. 1719 : probably admitted earlier. Admitted scholar 28 Jan. 17$\frac{19}{20}$. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1724 Sept. : priest 1726 Dec. : curate of Godmanchester. One of these names held the cure of Ladbrooke, Warw. 18 Feb. 173$\frac{3}{4}$: if the same, he returned to the Lincoln diocese and was instituted to Paxton, Hunts. 4 June 1745.

Hunt, Brian :

Admitted at Corpus 1704 (of Kent). B.A. (Corpus) 1722. Perhaps he is the Brian Hunt who went out as a minister to Barbados 16 Mar. 17$\frac{99}{10}$ (Fothergill, p. 35) : why he transferred himself to Christ's is not clear : on 8 May 1722 he received £20 bounty as an emigrant minister to Virginia (ib.)

Here the Admissions recommence, with the year 1719–20 : praelector, Tho. Sitwell.

Torkington, Laurence : son of James, armiger : born at Stukeley, Hunts. School not given. Admitted at St John's, then at Christ's as fellow-commoner under Mr Dowse 17 Oct. 1719. Age not given.

Admitted pensioner at St John's under Mr Foulkes 6 Oct. 1711, aged 17. School, Lavenham, Suffolk under Mr Drift. He had the undivided care of Mr Dowse from Mich. 1719 to Mich. 1723. Possibly he returned to St John's and was the LL.B. of 1725 : there is no admission which corresponds as to date with that degree. He can hardly be the Laur. Torkington who was rector of Shottesbrook, Berks., and was buried 172$\frac{7}{8}$ (Genealogist, 7. 14).

North, Richard [should be Robert] : father not given : born at Scarborough. School not given. Admitted pensioner under Mr Hutton (date not given) 1719. Age not given.

Rob. North was matric^d. 1720 April : and admitted scholar 1 June 1720. He kept over the ante-chapel, as pupil (1) of Mr Hutton, (2) of Mr Cartwright, till Mich. 1722, possibly longer—his name is in the list till Mich. 1724 (no charge) when he disappears.

Wills, Edward : eldest son of Edward, eques auratus : born in Middlesex. School not given. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Sitwell 9 Feb. 17$\frac{19}{20}$. Age not given.

Resided from Easter 1720 to Easter 1723. Admitted at the Middle Temple 27 June 1717. Probably son of Sir Edw. Wills of Ongar St Martin, who in 1699 married Ann, daughter of Sir Tho. Cuddon of St Lawrence, Jewry—he being 50 and she 18: he died before 1717.

Wills, Thomas: son of Edward, eques auratus: born in London. School not given. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Sitwell 13 Feb. $17\frac{19}{20}$. Age not given.

Brother of Edward. Resided from Easter 1720 to Easter 1723. Admitted at the Middle Temple 7 Oct. 1719.

Davis, Stapleton: son of John: born at Montserrat ["apud Americanos"]. School: Westminster, under Dr Friend. Admitted first at Clare Hall: then at Christ's pensioner under Mr Atherton 29 Feb. $17\frac{19}{20}$. Age 22.

B.A. $172\frac{1}{2}$. Became fellow-commoner after Mich. 1720, and resided till Mich. 1722. Incorporated at Oxford 1723. Ordained priest at Lincoln (Buckden) $172\frac{7}{8}$ March. Had £20 bounty on going out 12 Nov. 1729 to the Leeward Islands as "emigrant minister" (Fothergill, 23). Patrick Blake, Esq. of St Christopher's in his will dated 5 Mar. $174\frac{3}{4}$ left £30 a year for life to his nephew, the Rev. Mr Stapleton Davis, of St Christopher's (Oliver, Antigua, 1. 52).

Ellershaw, John: son of Richard: born at Giggleswick. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Carr. Admitted sizar under Mr Atherton 26 March 1720. Age 19.

B.A. 1724 Mids. Admitted scholar 8 May 1721. Ri. Ellershaw, the father, was vicar of Giggleswick. John was vicar of Ubbeston St Peter, Suffolk, 1748. Died 1760 (Davy).

Ashurst, Edward: grandson of Sir William, of Middlesex. School not given. Admitted at Corpus: then at Christ's as fellow-commoner under Mr Cockshutt sometime in 1720. Age not given.

His name on the list of Mr Cockshutt's pupils till Lady Day 1721: but without charge. Probably he did not reside.

Wilkinson, William: son of John: born at Newcastle. School: Newcastle, under Mr Lodge. Admitted sizar under Mr Atherton 11 April 1720. Age 18.

B.A. $172\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1727. Admitted scholar 8 May 1721. Ordained deacon (as scholar of Christ's) Rochester (at request of Bp. of Durham) 1723 Dec. Curate of St Andrew, Newcastle 1724–39: of St Nicholas 1739–56. Chaplain of Newcastle Gaol 1756–63. A bedesman of St Thomas's Hospital 1763 [?]–1780, when he died. (Brand, 1. 318.)

Adam (Adams), Thomas: [father not given]: of Yorkshire. School: Wakefield, under Mr Clark. Admitted sizar under Mr Hutton 14 April 1720. Age "about" 17 [he was really 19—born 25 Feb. $170\frac{0}{1}$].

Admitted scholar (Adam) 8 May 1721. Resided till Lady Day 1722. Admitted at Hart Hall, Oxford 2 July 1722. B.A. there $172\frac{3}{4}$. Son of Henry Adam, town clerk of Leeds, and Eliz. Blythman. Educated first at Leeds under Tho. Barnard. Presented to Winteringham, Lincs. 1724, and instituted as soon as he was of sufficient age. Held the living for 58 years, dying there 31 Mar. 1784, aged 83. One of the earliest leaders of the "Evangelical revival" (see Overton, p. 83). Author: Practical lessons on the Church Catechism, Evangelical Sermons, Paraphrase and Annotations on the Epistle to the Romans. From his Posthumous Works (1786) a selection called Private thoughts on Religion has been printed separately: and by this he is best known. (D.N.B.)

Monoux, Lewis: son of Lewis, armiger: born at Sandy, Beds. School: Stortford, under Dr Tooke. Admitted pensioner under Mr Atherton 27 Apr. 1720. Age 16.

B.A. 172$\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1727. Admitted scholar 1 June 1720. Son of Lewis (1666) of Sandy (son of Sir Humphry (1617) first Baronet, of Wotton) by his wife Lucy, daughter of Sir Philip Wodehouse. Elected Fellow (in place of Granville Wheler) 22 Jan. 172$\frac{4}{5}$. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1728 June: priest, September. Praelector (and a most careless one—he left out half the entries), Junior Dean, Catechist, Bunting Preacher and Steward 1728. Fellowship declared vacant 31 Dec. 1730. Rector of Sandy, Beds. Chaplain to the Bishop of Llandaff. Had dispensation from Lambeth 21 June 1743 to hold also the rectory of Tempsford, distant two miles. Prebendary of Lincoln (Clifton) 21 Oct. 1755. Married a Miss Edwards of Bedford, by whom he had a son Philip (1752), who by a curious history became seventh (and last) baronet.

Anesley, Mark: son of William, armiger: born at Gallowhill, Northumbd. School: Morpeth, under Mr Carey. Admitted pensioner under his uncle Mr Anesley 9 May 1720. Age not given.

Admitted scholar (Ansley) 8 May 1721. Perhaps he shared his uncle's room: as he does not appear in the Study-rents till Mich. 1722 when he is found as a fellow-commoner "in the Star Chamber"—till Midsr. 1723. He ran through his patrimony: in 1750 "High and Low Gallowhill, Foumertlaw, and the colliery and limestone quarry on the estate were sold to Mr Cook of Thockerington under a decree of the Court of Chancery for the payment of the debts of Mark Aynsley Esq., deceased." (Hodgson, Northumberland II. 1. 343.)

Mabell, William: son of John: born at Newcastle. School: Newcastle, under Mr Lodge. Admitted sizar under Mr Atherton 11 May 1720. Age 17.

B.A. 172$\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1727. Ordained deacon, Rochester (for Durham), 1725 Dec. Admitted scholar 8 May 1721. Resided till Mich. 1728: although on 20 Jan. 172$\frac{6}{7}$ he received a lease of the tithes of Hapton for seven years with "additional covenants" (he not being a Fellow) viz. "that he resides upon the Place and serves the Cure in Person, or that he shall appoint a Curate who shall be approved by the Ordinary and the College, and that during this term he shall not accept of any Preferment or Cure beyond the distance of 5 miles." Apparently he had a curate. On 17 Oct. 1727 he was appointed Rhetorick Lecturer: but there is no evidence that he resided. In 1733 Atherton's Northumberland fellowship was vacant and on 8 June 1733 Mabell was elected Fellow, but not admitted till August 9—an indication that he was not in residence. He signs only thrice as a Fellow. On 8 May 1735 "the Master declared Mr Mabell's Fellowship void—he not being a Priest as the Statutes prescribe." Against this sentence Mr Mabell appealed on May 22 to Dr Andrew Snape, Provost of King's and Visitor, the Master being Vice-Chancellor for the year. On 12 Sept. in the same year "Mr Thomas acquainted the Master that he had received a letter from Mr Mabell's brother informing them that he was dead."

Dalton, D'Arcy: son of D'Arcy, rector of Cold Aston, Yorks. School: Beighton, Derbs., under Mr Drake. Admitted pensioner under Mr Hutton 7 June 1720. Age not given.

B.A. 1724. Admitted scholar 8 May 1721, as of Lincs.; probably he was born at Binbrooke of which his father (admd. 1688) was vicar from 1699 to about 1704. He resided till Lady Day 1726. His younger brother, Charles, admitted 1730.

Ellyson, Thomas: son of Thomas (rector of Ashton, Cheshire): born at Pulfordram [? Pulford], Cheshire. School not given. Admitted sizar under Mr Atherton 10 June 1720. Age, about 19.

LL.B. 1725. Admitted scholar (Ellison) 8 May 1721.

Neville (Nevile), William: son of Robert, clerk: born at Newton, Bucks. School: Northampton, under Mr Styles. Admitted sizar under Mr Atherton 14 June 1720. Age 19.

B.A. 172$\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1727; incorporated Oxford 1728. Admitted scholar 8 May 1721. Elected Fellow, succeeding Tho. Husband 27 Apr. 1724. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1725 March; also priest. Praelector, Junior Dean, Walkhampton Preacher, and Steward, 1726. Bunting Preacher 1727. Knapwell Preacher 1728. Senior Dean 1732. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1733, 1734. Senior Dean 1736. Taxor in the University 1728. Scrutator 1737. Had a few pupils from 1737. Presented by the Crown to the vicarage of Astwood, Bucks., on the decease of his father Robert, by dispensation from Lambeth 8 Aug. 1726: his successor was not appointed till 1752 (Lipscombe, 4. 6): but it is quite clear that he resided at Cambridge till 12 March 1742 when he resigned his Fellowship. He was appointed curate of Fen Drayton 2 July 1733, and held the curacy till he left Cambridge for Astwood. Cole mentions him as "a large, raw-boned jolly man who loved good eating and drinking: I think had the living of Astwood in Bucks. and died a young man, of no very good character": as Cole is wide of the mark as to his age when he died (if he died in 1752), we may hope he was also as to his character.

Byam, William: son of William: born at Antegoa [Antigua]. School: Westminster, under Dr Friend. Admitted pensioner under Mr Atherton 21 June 1720. Age 17.

B.A. 172$\frac{3}{4}$. Admitted scholar (as of Middlesex) 8 May 1721. Admitted at Gray's Inn 20 Aug. 1722 as from "Christ Church," Cambridge. He returned to Antigua and died there childless. According to Oliver's History of Antigua which gives very careful pedigrees there was a second Will. Byam at Christ's at this time: the son of Edward Byam and Lydia Martin, brother of Francis (1726) and half-brother of Edward (1708). He may have been admitted in one of the missing years, 1717–19, and never matriculated: but I do not find him in the Study-rents and I suspect that for once the History is wrong. This Will. was of Byams, Antigua and of Westborne House, Paddington, Midds.: a Colonel in the army and a Member of the Council of Antigua. He married Anne, daughter of Col. John Gunthorpe of Antigua: died at Barbuda 26 Sept. 1755 and was buried at Antigua (Hist. 1. 98). A son Samuel was fellow-commoner of Sidney 1760.

Carter, Samuel: [father not given]: born at Naseby, Northants. School: Monkwearmouth, under Mr Simcoe. Admitted sizar under Mr Atherton 22 June 1720. Age not given.

Admitted scholar 8 May 1721. Resided till Mich. 1723, when he migrated (I suppose) to Trinity and was there B.A. 172$\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1730. One Sam. Carter, "late of Christ's," was ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1734 Dec. and licensed to Winnington, Beds.: priest 1736 Sept.

Umfreville, Charles: son of Dr William, clerk: born in London. School: Newcastle, under Mr Lodge. Admitted sizar under Mr Atherton 2 July 1720. Age 20.

LL.B. 1726. Admitted scholar (Middlesex) 8 May 1721. Son of Will. Umfreville, D.D. ($16\frac{69}{70}$) whom see. Ordained deacon while still an undergraduate, London, 1723 Sept.: priest 1724 Sept. Licensed to officiate as curate of Charleton (or elsewhere in the diocese of Rochester) 10 Oct. 1724: with stipend of £30. Vicar of Bradfield, Essex. Had dispensation 14 April 1729 to hold also the vicarage of Acton, Suffolk, distant 18 miles. Held it till 1774, when, I suppose, he died.

Hutchinson, Edward: [father not given]: born at Clipston, Northants. School not given. Admitted sizar under Mr Atherton 7 July 1720. Age not given.

Admitted scholar 8 May 1721. Resided till Mich. 1723. Probably father of Thomas (1755) who was born at Clipston.

Games, William Langhorne: no facts. Admitted 19 July 1720.

He was a fellow-commoner, pupil of Mr Atherton: and resided till Lady Day 1722. One of these names was lord of the manor of Hampstead, and died 1732 (Gent. Mag.).

Clennell, Thomas: [father not given]: of Clennell, Northumberland. School: Alnwick, under Mr Walton. Admitted pensioner under Mr Atherton 12 Sept. 1720. Age 19.

Resided till Mids. 1722. Clennel is near Harbottle, which the family seem to have owned. Perhaps the Tho. Clennell who died at Lilburn, Northumberland 1763 (Gent. Mag.).

Preston, John: [father not given]: of Yorks. School: Giggleswick. Admitted sizar under Mr Atherton 29 Oct. 1720. Age not given.

B.A. $172\frac{4}{5}$. Admitted scholar 8 May 1721. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1725 Sept.: licensed to Drayton Parslow, Bucks.: priest 1730 May. Presented to Bow Brickhill, Bucks. 7 June 1742 in trust for the nephew of the patron: resigned Oct. 1744.

Barlow, Thomas: son of John, clerk: born at Marwood, Lancs. School not given. Admitted sizar under Mr Cockshutt 31 Oct. 1720. Age not given.

B.A. $172\frac{4}{5}$. Admitted scholar 8 May 1721. I think that Marwood is a miscopying by a careless Praelector of Harwood. John Barlow, born at Harwood near Blackburn and educated at Glasgow was incumbent of Colne, Lancs. 1709–1727, when he died on April 9: and his son Thomas was presented to the living, but survived his father only three weeks: he was buried at Colne 5 May 1727. (Whitaker, Whalley, 2. 249.) Perhaps he is the Tho. Barlow who was curate of Radcliffe, Manchester on 25 Nov. 1726. (Lives of Fellows and of the College of Manchester, II. 224.)

Walton, John: [father not given]: of Northumberland. School: Alnwick. Admitted sizar under Mr Atherton 1720. Age not given.

Admitted scholar (as of Westmoreland) 8 May 1721. Resided till Mich. 1722.

Law, Edmund:

Son of Edm. Law, clerk and curate of Staveley for 49 years: born at Cartmell in Furness: educated there by Mr Roskell and at Kendall by Mr Towers. Admitted sizar at St John's under Dr Edmundson 6 Apr. 1720: aged about 17.

B.A. (St John's) $172\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. (Christ's) 1727; D.D. (Christ's) 1749. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1726 June; licensed to St Mary, Retford: priest, 1727 Sept. Elected Fellow, in place of Mr Edwards, 14 Jan. 172$\frac{6}{7}$. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting and Walkhampton Preacher, and Steward 1730. Senior Dean 1734. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1737. Was appointed Hebrew Lecturer (not an annual appointment) 14 Nov. 1727. Ceased to sign after May 1730. Presented by the University to Greystoke, Cumberland 1737—but owing to a dispute as to the title, not instituted till 1 June 1739: in 1739 he left Cambridge. While resident he took pupils 1729–39, but Cartwright (and afterwards Trant) had many more: also he was one of the four editors of Stephens' Thesaurus. Resigned his Fellowship 14 June 1740 and on June 24 married Mary Christian of Unerigg. Rector of Salkeld and Archdeacon of Carlisle 21 Apr. 1743–56. Master of Peterhouse (by the support of Bp. Keene, later Master) 1756–1787. In 1756, E. Pyle wrote (Memoirs of a Royal Chaplain, page 280) that Law had "quite won the heart of the Duke of Newcastle by the last Cambridge Address...and the Duke has assured him of his Majesty's favour in a very handsome letter which I have seen....So Dr Law will be L. Marg. Professor." Such were the ways of the time. But Prof. Dr Newcome had nine years more of it. Knightbridge Professor 1764–9. Prebendary of Lichfield (Sandiacre) and Archdeacon of Stafford 1763–69 (collated by Bp. Cornwallis, his old pupil): of Lincoln 1764 and of Durham 1767. Bishop of Carlisle 24 Feb. 176$\frac{8}{9}$, retaining the Mastership (he resided at Cambridge in term time and at Rose Castle in the Long Vacation)—also the rectory of Greystoke but he resigned everything else. Died at Rose Castle 14 Aug. 1787: buried in Carlisle Cathedral (M.I.). Of his four sons, John was admitted 1762, afterwards Fellow, and Bishop of Clonfert and of Elphin. The appreciation of him by Paley, which is well known, is printed in the Johnian Admn. Book, p. 332, by R. F. Scott. It dwells on his cheerfulness, gentleness (to a fault when found in a Bishop), candour and love of liberty. "He was zealously attached to religious liberty, because he thought that it leads to truth; but from his heart he loved peace." He valued his Bishopric chiefly as a proof that in England "decent freedom of enquiry was not discouraged." A full list of his works is given by R. F. Scott (supra). His book Considerations of the State of the World with regard to the Theory of Religion, published 1745, works out the view that revelation is progressive—so much being given at each time as men are able to receive. When a Bishop in 1774 he boldly supported the attempt to abolish, or relax subscription to the formularies of the church: first started by Archdeacon Blackburne, two years earlier: Law both preached at St Mary's "a noble sermon," and also published a pamphlet Considerations on the Propriety of requiring subscription to Articles of Faith, which gave rise to some controversy. His last publication was his edition of John Locke's works in three volumes. (Baker-Mayor, Hist. of St John's: D.N.B.: St John's Admission Book (ut supra).)

Senior Dean 1739. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay

Preacher 1740. Licensed to Great Eversden 18 Sept. 1732. Vicar of Little Abington 6 Apr. 1736: but resigned before June 1737. Vicar of Foxton 7 Mar. 173$\frac{7}{8}$. Had a lease of Hapton tithes for three years, Mich. 1739. Rector of Hadstock, Essex, 1740. Proctor 1741–2. From 1742 to 1744 he signs rarely and perhaps resided at Hadstock. On 1 March 174$\frac{4}{5}$ Dr Towers the Master died, and Rooke was elected his successor: each was a Whig; but the first was quite free from self-seeking: the College was prevailingly Whig in the first half of the century: the election of Dr Thomas in 1754 marks the turn of the tide. Dr Rooke was V.C. 1745–6. As such he presented the address to the King on the suppression of the Jacobite rebellion, including "the admirable conduct and heroick bravery" of the Duke of Cumberland. He was "one of the most managing persons among the Heads" (Cole). He had supported the Duke of Newcastle in the contest for the High Stewardship in 1737: and supported him again when he succeeded the Duke of Somerset in 1748 as Chancellor of the University. He wrote one of the official poems on the death of George I and accession of George II. On 30 April 1747 he had a dispensation from Lambeth to hold the rectory of Great Horkesley (near Colchester) as well as Hadstock, distant 25 miles. On 1 June 1749 he became Prebendary of Lincoln: and on 23 Nov. 1751 Prebendary of Bristol, on the presentation of Lord Chancellor Hardwick "to whose brother he had offered an Honorary Fellowship" (? but so Cole). He spent much money on the Lodge, into which lodgers were no longer received, as in the days of Cudworth and Covel, and (to a less degree) of Towers. Even Cole allowed that "he fitted up the Lodge in elegant and good taste": he persuaded the Fellows to let him have the old "Parlour" to be (as it has ever since been) the Master's dining room. He never married. He died, suddenly, in College 7 Feb. 1754, aged 51: and was buried at Hadstock. He incurred the special hatred of Cole, whose description of him as "universally disesteemed by all sorts of people and all sorts of parties" is vigorous: "he had the usual concomitants of hautiness, meanness and servility to an expressible degree, being the most abject slave and fawning sycophant that I ever saw," "from his first admission an abject and servile flatter of young noblemen and fellow commoners." Cole's account probably needs to be discounted: the last part may mean little more than that his pupils were drawn from this class. But it is probable that he was "unamiable and of rough manners" (Welch, Al. Westmonasterienses). He was certainly unpopular in the University: for the numerous attacks on him in the Capitade and in other pamphlets, see my History of Christ's College, and Wordsworth, Univ. Life in the 18th Century. When V.C. he proposed to the Senate to employ the surplus of money raised to suppress the rebellion of 1745 for some purpose which the Senate rejected, and (according to Cole) rejected all other graces during his term of office. For the Orders and Regulations for the government of the University sent down by the Chancellor in 1750, at the instigation as was supposed of Dr Rooke, Dr Keene of Peterhouse, and Dr Chapman (admitted here 1734, afterwards Master of Magdalene), and for the tumult caused by them see Wordsworth, ib. 64–77. Though unwisely conceived they must be regarded as an attempt at reform which was really needed. Rooke should also be credited with the introduction of "examinations"—probably slight enough, and soon becoming a dead letter—which occur first in the orders made in his Mastership: probably he brought the idea from Trinity where Bentley had introduced them. According to E. Pyle (Memoirs of a Royal Chaplain, p. 158)—a well-informed man—Dr Rooke made so much interest for the Divinity Professorship, vacant 1748 that Green of St John's who was actually elected could not promise enough without "making interest above to get a promise made to Rook that pleased him as well as the Professorship, for which he is not fit."

*Thomas, Hugh: [father not given]: born at Landshipping, Pembroke. School: Pembroke, under Mr Rice Evans. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright 2 July 1724. Age 17.

B.A. 172$\frac{7}{8}$; M.A. 1731; D.D. 1753. Perhaps akin to our Will. Thomas who collected the College tithes at Manorbier, near Pembroke. Admitted scholar 2 July 1725. Elected Fellow in place of Mr Monoux 4 Jan. 173$\frac{9}{1}$. Ordained deacon, Ely, 1730 Aug.: priest, Lincoln, 1731 June. Praelector, Junior Dean, Catechist, Bunting and Walkhampton Preacher, and Steward 1733. Knapwell preacher 1735. Senior Dean 1740. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1741 and 1742. University Taxor 1736–7. Scrutator 1743–4. Took pupils from 1738–45, together with Mr Makin: but the whole number was not great. In 1740 had a lease of the Manor and rectory of Gateley, which he held till 1750. During 1745 and 1746 he signs irregularly: in October 1747 for the last time: in that year he was presented by the Chapter of Southwell to the vicarage of Rolleston, Notts. but not instituted till 20 Sept. 1749: by College Order 28 July 1749 he was to hold Gateley as well as Rolleston if the Bishop consented: apparently the Bishop did not: Thomas resigned Gateley the next year. On 30 Sept. 1748 he became Archdeacon of Nottingham, and Prebendary of Southwell 29 June 1749. On 30 Oct. 1749 he resigned his Fellowship having had "a full year's possession of the Archdeaconry." He held a Prebend at York from Dec. 1749 to July 1750. In 1750 he became Chancellor of York, and rector of Wheldrake, Yorks. (worth £140): he was chaplain to the Archbishop, and had dispensation 23 Nov. 1751 to hold also the rectory of Etton, distant 16 miles, worth £130. When Dr Rooke died suddenly Thomas was recalled to Cambridge to be Master of the College: and held the Mastership from 18 Feb. 175$\frac{3}{4}$ for 26 years. In 1754 he was Vice-Chancellor: and was again elected in 1777 when he was more than 70 years old: he declined to serve on the ground of health, and was excused by grace from payment of a mulct of £100. On 2 Dec. his successor was appointed. He became Dean of Ely 15 July 1758, and is generally referred to for the next 22 years as "Dean Thomas." I think that he held all these preferments, but one, till his death in 1780: even Cole, who liked both the man and his politics (opposed to the Whiggery of his two predecessors) thought it remarkable: "he lives snugly and handsomely and has provided money for a growing family." Cole says that he declined the Bishopric of Carlisle in 1769 when Edm. Law of Christ's was appointed—Gray, writing to Mason 29 Dec. 1768, says that he had been appointed: a further story that Law persuaded Thomas to refuse it, in order that he might have it himself, seems to rest on the constant statement of Mrs Thomas: Cole (who did not love Law) does not seem to have believed it: and says that the Archbishop Cornwallis (also of Christ's) recommended both. He married (1) Miss Metcalfe, daughter of the rector of Toft: she was buried there 17 June 1754—and two children in 1756 and 1758; (2) Miss Grigson of Pembrokeshire. He died at the Lodge, rather suddenly, 11 July 1780—and was buried privately in the centre of the ante-chapel, in the evening, six Fellows bearing the pall (Cole). In Cole's words, he was "always esteemed a very worthy man": and he clearly was popular with all men. He certainly did not encourage reform in the College: but acquiesced in it when urged by the young Fellows, Will. Paley and John Law.

Alderson, Thomas: [father not given]: born at Bainbrige [?], Yorks. School: Sedbergh, under Dr Sanders. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright 26 Feb. $172\frac{4}{5}$. Age 20.

M.A. (com. reg.) 1728: why, I cannot understand: unless interest was made in his favour in view of the following matter. Early in 1729 Mr Simpson's fellowship was declared vacant, the Master and five Fellows wished to elect Alderson: there being no majority the appointment went to the Visitor, who on 8 Feb. 172$\frac{8}{9}$ appointed John Jebb formerly of St John's (whom see). On 5 Feb. Alderson petitioned the Visitor, while his decision was still pending, on the ground that Jebb had no "natural claim." (He had migrated as a B.A. from St John's before the end of 1728, doubtless on the motion of some of the Fellows in order to keep Alderson out of a Fellowship.) He complained that he had been injured in the estimation of the Society by divers slanderous reports. His petition was supported by the Master, by Cartwright (his tutor) and by Wilkinson, Harwell, Neville and Trant: the opponents must have been Atherton, Raye, Sitwell, Chamberlayne, Monoux, Edm. Law and G. H. Rooke. As above mentioned Jebb was appointed by the Visitor, Frankland, V.C., with Bentley and Ashton as assessors. It is odd that Neville, under whom Jebb had been entered, supported Alderson. Still more odd is the fact that Alderson never took the ordinary B.A. degree but was admitted M.A. in 1728 (as mentioned above), half a year before the election, though neither by birth nor by merit could he have any claim to it. In the Study-rents he appears as late as Sept. 1731 as a pupil of Cartwright. Alderson purged his character to the Society, for in 1731 when Wilkinson died, he was elected Fellow 17 Nov. 1731 and was admitted 26 Nov., a fact which implies that he was not in residence. In 1732 he resided. In 173$\frac{3}{4}$ (10 July) he was instituted vicar of Burgh Wallis, near Doncaster: which he held till his death, 1754: he was buried there, Dec. 20. (Hunter, S. Yorks. 2. 486.)

Resided till Lady Day 1731, when he was ordained and licensed to Rochdale, and then to Todmorden, where he remained till 1742, married and lost his wife, and went through a spiritual conversion, out of which he came a pronounced Evangelical. On 16 May 1742 he became perpetual curate of Haworth, and worked there in a most earnest and eccentric way for twenty years. His activity was endless: like Wesley he preached outside his own parish in Lancashire, Yorkshire, Cheshire and Derbyshire: at home he got the Haworth races abolished, drove his parishioners to church (with a horse-whip, according to legend) and emptied the public houses on Sundays. Yet he lived at peace with all, and though called to account for supposed irregularity in preaching by the Archbishop, was suffered to go his own way. Intimate with the Wesleys, Whitefield and Henry Venn. Died 7 Apr. 1763, of a putrid fever caught in visiting a parishioner: buried at Luddenden, near Haworth. (D.N.B.: Overton, *Evang. Every, Henry: son of Simon: born at Navenby, Lincs. School: Repton, under Mr Fletcher. Admitted pensioner under Mr Atherton 30 June 1726. Age 18.

Admitted scholar 4 May 1727. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 173$\frac{2}{3}$, and licensed to assist his father at Navenby: priest 1733 Dec. Vicar of Bracebridge, Lincoln 1737. Rector of Waddington, Lincs. of which his father purchased the advowson, in 1741. Succeeded to the title on the death of his brother Sir Henry in 1755. In or before 1756 he sold the advowson of Waddington to Lincoln College. Died without issue 1779, when (all his brothers being dead) the title passed to his distant cousin, Edward. He wrote a curious letter in 1753 to announce the death of his father, Sir Simon, the rector of Navenby. Apparently he regarded Dr Rooke (then Master) as specially hostile to his election. He concludes his letter to "its present Head, whose inimitable Behaviour in all its circumstances, as it cannot easily be forgotten so is most heartily forgiven by their once unworthy member, John Every." A copy (still preserved) of the letter is endorsed "sent to Dr Rooke, Master of Christ Coll. a fawning hipocritical Rascal"!

Wortley), distant 25 miles. On 27 Nov. 1760 he had dispensation to hold with Ordsall the rectory of Beelsby, distant 26 miles. Probably Prebendary of Southwell 31 Jan. 1753–1774. Rector of Barnborough, Yorks. (presented by the Chapter of Southwell) 18 Nov. 1767, as well as Ordsall, distant 25 miles (Hunter, S. Yorks. 1. 379; 2. 340). Died before June 1774. He was first cousin of Thomas (1749) and Josias (1758).

Resided till Midsr. 1731. Ordained priest, Lincoln, 1728 June: curate of Stickney, Lincs.

Thompson, Thomas: son of William: born at Gilling, Richmondshire. School: Richmond, under Mr Close. Admitted pensioner under Mr Cartwright 29 Feb. 172$\frac{7}{8}$. Age 19.

B.A. 173$\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. 1735. Admitted scholar 29 June 1728. Ordained deacon, Norwich, 1735 July; priest, Rochester, 1757. Elected Fellow (Richmond), succeeding Fra. Wanley 5 June 1738. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting and Walkhampton Preacher, and Steward 1741. Knapwell Preacher 1742. Senior Dean 1744. Took no pupils. On 5 May 1744 he was appointed curate of Fen Drayton succeeding Jon. Wigley. But early in 1745 he volunteered for work in America. On 2 April 1745 he received the £20 bounty as an "emigrant minister" in connexion with the S.P.G. to take charge of the churches in New Jersey: possibly he revisited England and returned to America, as one Tho. Thompson has bounty 20 July 1748 (Fothergill, 58, 59). His Fellowship was declared vacant 21 Apr. 1746. He applied from America to the S.P.G. to be appointed by them the (apparently first) missionary to Africa. "Somebody must be the first one," he said, and "God only knows how long it may be before any other person will take the same resolution." He was appointed 15 Feb. 1751, and sailing from New York reached James Fort on the river Gambia 9 Jan. 1752, thence to Cape Coast Castle on the Gold Coast, where he worked for five years among Europeans and natives. His Account of two missionary voyages was published in 1758. He sent home three native boys to be trained by the S.P.G.: two were baptised 7 Jan. 1759 at St Mary's Islington: one of these, Philip Quague, son of a native chief, returned 1766 and worked for 50 years among the natives and as chaplain to the English residents. In 1756 his health gave way and he returned to England: apparently he was poor, for he received "by consent of the Fellows" £10. 10*s.* 0*d.* On 26 Aug. 1757 he became vicar of Reculver, Kent. A year later the Dean and Chapter of Rochester presented him to the vicarage of Darenth: which he resigned 5 July 1759 on his appointment by the same patrons to the vicarage of Hoo St Werburgh, 19 July. In November 1761 he became vicar of Elsham, or Elham, and held it till his death 5 June 1773. He was also near the close of his life the author of The African Trade for Negro Slaves shewn to be consistent with the Principles of Humanity and with the Laws of Revealed Religion, 1772: in which "without considering the subject very deeply, he draws his arguments from Aristotle and his illustrations from the Pentateuch." (D.N.B.)

Wanley, Francis: son of William: born at Marske, Richmondshire. School: Kirkleatham, under Mr Clark. Admitted pensioner under Mr Cartwright 9 Mar. 172$\frac{7}{8}$. Age 19.

B.A. 173$\frac{1}{2}$; M.A. 1735; D.D. 1748. Baptised at Marske 25 Apr. 1709, son of Will. Wanley and Anne Fowle (Arch. Æliana, 5. 17). Admitted scholar 5 June 1730. Elected Fellow (Richmond) in place of Tho. Alderson, 24 July 1734. He held no College office, except that of Custos cistae (the tenure of which I have frequently omitted); and he took no pupils: apparently he ceased to reside after Jan. 173$\frac{6}{7}$: on 3 May 1738 he resigned his Fellowship. He married a daughter of Sir Hen. Goodrick of Ribstone—but I have not found the date. In 1744 became vicar of Aldborough, Yorks., which he resigned on his appointment to the rectory of Stokesley in Cleveland 1750–91.

Preferment came thick upon him. He was Chaplain to Archbishop Hutton; and on 21 June 1745 he became prebendary of Hereford; on 1 Dec. 1749 prebendary of York (and Chancellor for one year when he made way for Hugh Thomas): on 13 Aug. 1750, dean of the Collegiate Church of Ripon—all which appointments he held till his death. Despite of these he fell into money difficulties, and retired for a time to the Continent. On his return he found the deanery occupied by a residentiary Canon, who declined to make way for him. Accordingly he took a house in Kirkgate, Ripon, and lived there assisted with money by friends: and there he died 9 July 1791, his life having not been shortened by his troubles. (See Canon Raine, "Marske" in Yorks. Arch. Journal, 6. 200, also Arch. Æliana, 5. 17.)

Descended from John Bridgman, Bishop of Chester 1618–52: whose son Sir Orlando was active under Charles I and held the Great Seal under Charles II: his son Sir John was father of Orlando, the father of William by Catherine, daughter of Will. Bridgman of Combes. Will. Bridgman died at Paris unmarried 17 Aug. 1737. (Foster, Lancs. Ped.: Collins and Kimber both say that there was no son of the marriage.)

Bache, Henry: son of — Bache, clerk. Migrated from Trinity, and admitted pensioner under Mr Cartwright 29 Mar. 1728. Age not given.

Resided till Lady Day 1730. Admitted at Lincoln's Inn 3 Feb. 172$\frac{9}{1}$, son of Will. Bache, rector of Driffield, Yorks.

Admitted scholar 29 June 1728. Resided till June 1732: when he seems to have migrated to Magdalene, where he was B.A. 173$\frac{2}{3}$.

Birkit (Burket), Richard: son of James: born at Giggleswick. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Carr. Admitted sizar under Mr Wilkinson 8 Apr. 1728. Age 18.

B.A. 173$\frac{1}{2}$. Admitted scholar 5 June 1730. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 173$\frac{2}{3}$ Feb.; licensed to Gayton in the Marsh, Lincs.: priest 1734 Sept.; curate of All Saints, Saltfleetby, Lincs. where his signatures appear in the parish register from 1734–1771. Rector of Withcall, Lincs. 22 Aug. 1745: but the only trace of him in the register of that place is in 1765–6, when he baptised two infants and was present at one marriage and one funeral. He was presented by the Crown: and his successor Stephen Fytche was instituted 15 July 1780. He was also curate of Burwell, Lincs. 1751–3. (Information from Rev. F. Freshney rector of Withcall.)

Johnson, Francis: son of Francis: born at Newcastle. School: Newcastle. Admitted pensioner under Mr Cartwright 2 May 1728. Age 17.

M.B. 1733. Admitted scholar 29 June 1728. Probably the Fra. Johnson, called M.D., who married Jean Huet of Whickham, Durham: and died at Newcastle 1760. (Gent. Mag. p. 46.)

Resided till Mich. 1728, when he migrated to Trinity; B.A. there 173$\frac{1}{2}$. Admitted at the Inner Temple 22 Mar. 172$\frac{8}{9}$. Probably son of Edw. Cook (1677), barrister and Recorder of Berwick. Barrister and antiquary: made numerous extracts from the Chapel of the Rolls, respecting Northumberland. Died an elderly man, without issue (Hodgson, II. ii. 209).

Hope [William]: "iussu regio in Medicina doctor." Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Cartwright 2 May 1728. Age not given.

Educated at St John's, and M.B. there 1724: M.D. (Christ's) (com. reg.) 1728: born 23 Oct. 1701, son of John Hope 1665–1710 (M.D. of St John's) and of Dorothy, daughter of Will. Bainbridge of Lockington. It does not appear why he forsook his old College on this occasion: he sent his son Charles there (1750). Practised at Derby. Married Jane, daughter of Edw. Perry of Bilston, Staffs. by whom he had seven sons and two daughters. Died 1 Feb. 1776, aged 75: buried at St Alkmund's, Derby. (Glover, Derbs. 2. 483 and 564: Scott, Joh. Admn. Book, 322.)

Yeoman, Peter: son of Peter: born at Horse House [near Coverham, Yorks., N.R.] in the county of Richmond. School: Sedbergh, under Dr Saunders. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright 25 May 1728. Age 21.

B.A. 173½. Admitted scholar 28 May 1729. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1731 Dec.; licensed to All Saints, Hertford.

Smalley, James: son of Robert: born at Kirkham, Lancs. School: Kirkham, under Mr Taylor. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright 31 May 1728. Age 17.

B.A. 173½. Admitted scholar 19 June 1731. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1733 May; licensed to Clifton, Beds.

Hankinson, Robert: son of Henry: born at Kirkham, Lancs. School: Kirkham, under Mr Taylor. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright 27 June 1728. Age 16.

B.A. 173½; M.A. 1735. Admitted scholar 28 May 1729. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1732 Dec.; licensed to Everton with Felworth, Beds.: but resided continuously save for the one quarter ending Mich. 1732: priest 1736 July. Appointed Rhetorick Lecturer 7 Nov. 1735—after which time he is apparently not charged for Study-rent till Mich. 1736. Elected Fellow, in place of Edm. Law 18 June 1740. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting and Walkhampton Preacher, and Steward 1743. Knapwell Preacher 1744. Senior Dean 1746. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1748 and 1749. Hebrew Lecturer for two years 11 Feb. 174⅝. From 1744–49 he had a few pupils, the last being John Hutton of Marske (1747). On 21 Apr. 1746 he was appointed to the cure of Fen Drayton. On 28 July 1749 he had a lease of the tithes of Hapton, where he may have resided as henceforward he signs irregularly. On 12 July 1751, on the death of John Boldero, he succeeded to the rectory of Clipston: and his Fellowship was declared vacant, as he had been instituted "more than a year," 14 Nov. 1752—certainly he had no ground for complaint. I infer that while a Fellow he had not congenial company in the Society (which was prevailingly Whig) while he was probably a Tory, if he be the "Robin" whose sufferings are described in the Capitade (1750) under the rule over the College by "Gobrias" (Dr Rooke).

> In whose dark Realms nor Wit nor Learning spread
> Nor Merit sprouts, nor Honour rears her Head:
> Where midst a general Pravity of Spirit
> Poor Robin only suffers—for his Merit.

(See Wordsworth, University Life in the 18th Century, 627.) Hankinson may have been happier at Clipston where he lived 20 years—dying before Nov. 1771.

Haworth, Thomas: son of Richard: born at Kirkham, Lancs. School: Kirkham, under Mr Taylor. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright 27 June 1728. Age 18.

B.A. 173½. Admitted scholar 28 May 1729. Presented by the College in 1735 to the rectory of Ringstead St Andrew's, near Hunstanton, where he remained till 1761: this was the last presentation made by the Society, as in 1762 the advowson of Ringstead was exchanged for that of Brisley, because of the contiguity of the latter to Gateley which could be conveniently held with it. The golf and other attractions of Hunstanton (150 years later) could not be foreseen.

Sherratt, John: son of Simeon: born at Park-lane, Staffs. School: Cheddleton, under Mr Slade [(1721), perhaps privately]. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright 3 July 1728. Age 18.

B.A. 173½. Admitted scholar (Sherratt) 28 May 1729. Ordained deacon, Chester, 1732 Dec.: priest (as B.A. of Christ's) 1733 Sept. Vicar of Biddulph, Staffs. 24 Sept. 1733: which John Slade his tutor had held for him—as a convenience—from October 1732. [Foster Al. Ox. confuses him with John Skerratt of Brasenose, afterwards in 1727 M.A. at Christ's.] He began entries in the register in 1734. Buried at Endon 16 Feb. 17$\frac{39}{40}$. (Information from Rev. D. Brodie, vicar.)

Craske, Joseph:

B.A. 173$\frac{0}{1}$. Pupil of Mr Atherton. Matric^d^. pensioner 1728 April. Began to reside Easter 1727. Admitted scholar (Norfolk) 29 June 1728. One Jos. Craske M.A. (1694) of Jesus was instituted rector of Barton St Mary (? Barton Bendish), Norf. 1698: possibly father of this Joseph.

Lawson, Peter:

B.A. 173$\frac{2}{3}$; M.A. 1738. Pupil of Mr Cartwright. Began to reside Mich. 1728. Matric^d^. sizar 1729 July. Admitted scholar (Lancs.) 14 June 1732. Possibly rector of Ingoldsthorpe, Norfolk, on the presentation of Rob. Lawson, Esq. 13 July 1742–45. (Blomefield, 5. 1286.)

Milman, Francis:

M.A. 1735. Son of Francis, clerk, of Paignton, Devon. Matric^d^. at Exeter, Oxford, 3 April 1718, aged 14. B.A. (Oxf.) 1722. Incorporated here and M.A. (Christ's) 1735. Chaplain to the Bishop of Oxford. Rector of East Ogwell, near Newton Abbot, Devon; had dispensation to hold also the vicarage of Abbots Kerswell, distant four miles, on 30 May 1740. Died 1773. (Al. Ox. 960.) Grandfather of H. H. Milman, Dean of St Paul's.

Partridge, John:

M.A. 1735. Probably son of James of Wormington, Glos., clerk. Matric^d^. at Magd. Hall, Oxford 22 Oct. 1718, aged 18: B.A. there 1722. Incorporated and M.A. (Christ's) 1735. (Al. Ox. 1076.) Ordained deacon, Glos., 1723 June: priest 1725 Sept. Chaplain to the Dowager Duchess of Cleveland.

Rector of Condicote St Nicholas, near Stow on the Wold, Glos. Had dispensation to hold also the rectory of Little Wormington, distant six miles, on 30 Dec. 1734: instituted the same day by the Archbishop, the bishopric of Gloucester being vacant.

Turner, George:

M.A. 1735. Probably George son of George, of Buckland Brewer, Devon, who was matric^d. at Exeter College, Oxford 8 Apr. 1712, aged 18. B.A. 1715. Ordained deacon, Exeter, 1715 Dec.: priest 1719 June (Lambeth Register): M.A. (Christ's) 1735. George Turner, M.A. of Christ's, was chaplain to Lord Forrester. Vicar of Milour (Mylor near Falmouth), Cornwall, his predecessor being buried 6 May 1740: a curate had charge till 1742. Had dispensation from Lambeth 19 Aug. 1741 to hold also the vicarage of St Eval, distant 21 miles. Buried at Mylor 3 Nov. 1761. (Information from Rev. R. G. Parker, rector.)

On 13 June 1737 he formally resigned his Buntingford scholarship, which he held (I suppose) in addition to a Foundation scholarship. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting and Walkhampton Preacher, and Steward 1737. Knapwell Preacher 1739. Senior Dean 1742. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1744 and 1745. Senior Dean 1748. Had a lease of the tithes of Hapton for ten years, 6 April 1745: and henceforward signs rarely: but his election to the post of Senior Dean in 1748 seems incompatible with permanent non-residence. Presented to Little Canfield, on the death of Tho. Atherton 29 June 174$\frac{8}{9}$: and vacated his Fellowship 12 Nov. 1750. He was already vicar of Amwell, Herts., distant 17 miles: as he received dispensation to hold both when he accepted Canfield. He was chaplain to Lord Willoughby de Broke. Wrote the registers at Canfield 1749–1774, when he died 13 March, and was buried there.

Readmitted July 1730: see there.

Skegg, Ralph: son of John: [birthplace not given]. School: Buntingford, under Mr Sherson. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright — Sept. 1729. Age not given.

B.A. 173$\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1744. Admitted scholar (Hertford) 5 June 1730. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1734 June; licensed to Olney, Beds.: priest, 1738 May. Chaplain to the Earl of Marchmont. Presented by Jos. Cranmer to the rectory of Chickney, Essex 18 Apr. 1744: also by the same patron, with dispensation from Lambeth to the rectory of Quendon, distant five miles, 23 July 1744. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1734 June; licensed to Stapleford, Leics.: priest 173$\frac{5}{6}$ March. Elected Fellow in place of Tho. Sitwell 16 Feb. 173$\frac{9}{?}$. Presented to St Martin's, Leicester, which he resigned before May 1740: and till Oct. 1739 he signs rarely: yet he was Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting and Walkhampton Preacher, and Steward, Oct. 1738. Knapwell Preacher 1740. Senior Dean 1743. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1746 and 1747. Senior Dean 1749, 1756, [?] 1758. He took pupils from 1739–54: having much the largest number from 1746 to 1752. After 1753 he took no new pupils. He was University Scrutator 1752–3. Hebrew Lecturer in the College 1752–4. On 29 April 1742 he was appointed to the cure of Fen Drayton, on 10 Jan. 174$\frac{3}{4}$ to Caldecot on the death of Mr Makin. On 15 Jan. 1761, when Mr Cockshutt was dead at Kegworth, it was agreed to present in the usual way Mr Wigley and Mr Willey to the Earl of Berkeley that he might select one in the usual way. But it appears from a memorandum in the Order Book, that this presentation was not made, as "an instrument found in the Treasury" declared that the College might present absolutely in case the heir of Sir Maurice Berkeley was then absent from England or was a minor. Accordingly on 27 Jan 1761 Mr Wigley was presented by the College to Kegworth. But during his year of Grace (between 7 July and 1 Sept.) he died before his Fellowship was yet vacant (Hunter, F.M.G. 379). He collected MSS. of the New Testament: see Life of John Jackson of Leicester, 265, 273.

Bentley, Thomas: son of Daniel: born at Great Harwood, Lancs. School: Kirkleatham, under Mr Clarke. Admitted pensioner under Mr Cartwright 18 Oct. 1729. Age 23.

Dawson, Josias: son of Josias: born at Houghton Gill, near Settle [Halton Gill, above Arncliffe]. School: Giggleswick, under Mr Carr. Admitted pensioner under Mr Cartwright 10 Nov. 1729. Age not given.

Resided till December 1731 "by the Parler" till Mich. 1730. Josias, the father, apparently not a graduate of either University, was perhaps vicar of Giggleswick 1719–30 (Morant-Whitaker, 166).

Nash, William: "iussu Regio in Artibus Magister." Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Trant 13 Nov. 1729. Age not given.

B.A. (Pet.) 1725; M.A. (com. reg.) 1728. I find no trace of any residence: Mr Trant had no pupils till 1732 (when he took over Mr Cartwright's) except Mr Nash and Mr Dodgson—a similar case. Rector of Great Bradley, Suffolk 1728–83, presented by Stamps Brooksbank, Esq. Rector of Gedding, Suffolk 1738–83.

He was rector of Croxton, Cambs. from 1743 (at least), also vicar of Renhold, Beds. (patron, Will. On the 28th John Peverell, one of the "nominati" appeared and was examined. "Whereupon the Master and Fellows preceded to an election." They elected however not John Peverell but Fre. Cornwallis, the future Archbishop. P.C. of Ramsey, Hunts. 1737–42.

Died about 1777, leaving three daughters. (Hunter, F.M.G. 653.)

Hardy, Richard: son of John: born at Nottingham. School: Nottingham, under Mr Brickhill. Admitted pensioner under Mr Law 12 June 1731. Age 21.

Richard Hardy succeeded at Kinoulton in 1735 and resided there till 1745, after which the register is signed by curates: instituted as LL.B. to Langar (a few miles away) 11 July 1753 (patron, Viscount Howe), and held it till his death 6 Aug. 1775, aged 64; buried in the chancel (M.I.): his wife Anne died 1782. Podmore, Richard: son of Edward: born in Salop. School: Shrewsbury, under Dr Phillips. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright 29 June 1731. Age not given.

B.A. $173\frac{4}{5}$. Admitted scholar 8 June 1733. From about 1739 to the end of his life he was curate of Condover near Shrewsbury: for the greater part of the time under Roger Barnston. Rector of Coppenhall near Crewe, Cheshire 17 Dec. 1750–1783, perhaps through his connexion with the Barnstons whose family house was near Coppenhall. He died on 30 April and was buried at Condover 5 May 1783. His eldest son Richard (1763) was born there 17 Apr. 1744—and his wife, Hannah, was buried 12 Nov. 1778: to whom her husband wrote indifferent Latin verses in the parish register. He was a humorist:

"he always entered in the register the name of the father of an illegitimate child: apparently this had led to difficulties, for after 1757 he leaves a blank space for the name or fills it up with initials: in one case he has drawn a fox in the margin: as Fox is a common name in this neighbourhood, his meaning is plain" (Rev. T. Auden, vicar of Condover).

Bullivant, Daniel: son of John: born in Leicestershire. School: Oakham, under Mr Adcock. Admitted pensioner under Mr Philpot 19 Jan. $173\frac{0}{1}$. Age 18. [The admission comes last in the year Oct. 1730–Oct. 1731: and would seem to belong more naturally to the year $173\frac{1}{2}$: but the Study-rents show that he began to reside in Jan. $173\frac{0}{1}$.]

B.A. $173\frac{3}{4}$. Admitted scholar 19 June 1731. Resided till Xmas 1734. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1734 June: licensed to Coston St Andrew, Leics.: priest 1736 June. Rector of Saxby and Stapleford, Leics. 6 June 1745. Died 1763, aged 52 (Nichols, Leics. 2. 145, 321, 340).

Procter, John: son of Stephen: born in Yorkshire. School: Giggleswick. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright 27 Oct. 1731. Age 19.

B.A. $173\frac{5}{6}$. Admitted scholar 8 June 1733. Resided till Mich. 1737. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, $173\frac{5}{6}$ March: licensed to Astwood, Bucks.

Welchman, John:

M.A. 1738. Son of Will., clerk, of Banbury, Oxon. Matric^d. at Trinity, Oxford 5 Apr. 1731, aged 18. B.A. 1734: incorporated and M.A. (Christ's) 1738. (Al. Ox. 1521.) Ordained deacon, Oxford, 1735 Sept.: priest, Lincoln, (lit. dim. from Peterborough) 1738 May. Rector of Dodford, Northants. 20 June 1739. Died there 1800.

Cornwallis, Frederick: seventh son of Charles, Baron Cornwallis: born in London. School: Eton, under Dr George. Admitted pensioner under Mr Law 9 Feb. $173\frac{1}{2}$. Age 19.

B.A. $173\frac{6}{7}$; D.D. 1748. Kept "in the Master's over the parler." In Dec. 1735 he appears as "Mr Cornwallis." Had a stroke of palsy before he took the B.A. degree, and wrote ever after with his left hand. Elected Fellow 28 Jan. $173\frac{7}{8}$: by all the eleven Fellows present though he had not been present and examined: see Joh. Peverell (1731). Dr Towers refused to admit him on the ground that being a peer's son he was not eligible under the statute on the quality of Fellows. Cornwallis appealed to the V.C., Dr Richardson, who on 24 April 1738, with Dr Hacket and Dr Conyers Middleton as assessors, required the Master to admit him—which he did in a form of words concocted for the occasion, on 25 April. Cole considered that Dr Towers behaved very badly because Cornwallis was "one of the most amiable men I have ever known" (see the Master's Book of Statutes, p. 95): the pleadings are in the "Visitor's Drawer" in the Treasury. He must have been ordained deacon in 1739 at latest, for in that year he was Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting and Walkhampton Preacher, and Steward. He became rector of Chelmondiston, Suff., while still deacon, in 1740. In 1742 Oct. he was ordained priest, Norwich, and was instituted (Oct. 4) to Tivetshall, Norfolk. He held no office after Oct. 1740 and seems to have resided irregularly. On 4 Nov. 1743 the Master declared his Fellowship vacant: and so at last got rid of the peer's son. Cornwallis had rapid preferment: in 1746 he became Canon of Windsor: Prebendary of Lincoln 14 Jan. $174\frac{6}{7}$: on 18 Jan. $17\frac{49}{50}$ the King in Council nominated him to the Bishopric of Lichfield (consecrated 19 Feb.): Dean of St Paul's 1766: elected Archbishop of Canterbury 23 Aug. 1768, enthroned 6 October. In 1759 he married Caro ine, daughter of the Hon. Will. Townsend:

and had a son Will. who was M.P. for Eye (Gent. Mag. 1804, p. 1167): Ri. Watson (Anecdotes, p. 70) said of him that he "was so wife-ridden, I have no opinion of his politics." The chief thing recorded of his tenure of office (except the repression of the liberal schemes of Porteus, Bishop of London) is his abolition of the custom that the chaplains should dine at a separate table. This suits the description given of him in Hasted's Canterbury, 2. 513, that "he was not deeply learned [he published a few sermons between 1751 and 1762]: had a purity and benevolence of heart which joined to the affability and courtesy of his manners gained him the respect and love of everyone." He died 19 Mar. 1783 after a few days' illness and was buried in Lambeth Church: M.I. (D.N.B.) He gave to the College a handsome gilt cup and cover. In 1754 he gave £100 to the University Library Fund. An engraving of his portrait by Dance is in the Combination Room.

Parkinson, Richard: son of John: born at Whittingham, Lancs. School: Kirkham, under Mr Taylor. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright 24 Mar. 173½. Age 17.

B.A. 173⅚; M.A. 1739. Admitted scholar 8 June 1733. Appointed Rhetorick Lecturer 12 June 1740, in succession to Rob. Hankinson. "Chosen Fellow" (Finch and Baines) in place of Edw. Finch who had at last resigned 16 Sept. 1746: admitted 24 Sept. Tutor at Gunton in the house of Sir Will. Harbord, before 1752. Elected Lady Margt. Fellow succeeding Laur. Bailey 17 June 1769. He had a lease of the tithes of Hapton 1 Oct. 1769, succeeding Mr Willey. On 16 Apr. 1773 his Fellowship was declared vacant, and he was succeeded by Tho. Parkinson, probably a kinsman. Probably became rector of Aldborough, Norfolk 1747 (Blomefield, 4. 281). He was certainly rector of Gunton, a neighbouring parish 1774 on the presentation of Sir Charles Sanders: and there he died 1800 in his 85th year. (Gent. Mag. p. 699.)

Benison, Thomas: son of John: born at Bolton [Lancs.]. School: Lancaster. Admitted sizar under Mr Trant 27 May 1732. Age 19.

B.A. 173⅚. Admitted scholar (Lancs.) 29 June 1734. Probably headmaster of Bentham School (between Settle and Lancaster): there in 1740: and still there in 1774 when his son, George, was admitted.

Meetkerke (Meetkirke), Robert: son of Adolphus: born at Rushden. School: Buntingford. Admitted pensioner under Mr Trant 30 May 1732. Age 18.

B.A. 173⅚; M.A. 1739. Born 31 May 1714. Admitted scholar (Meetkerke) Herts. 29 June 1734. His great grandfather Dr Edw. Meetkerke was Professor of Hebrew and Canon of Ch. Ch., Oxford, and rector of Easton, Hants.: a brother, Adolphus, was matricd. at New College, Oxford, 1721, and lived and died at Rushden. See Berry's Herts. Genealogies, 190. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1736 Sept.: licensed to Ickleford, Herts.: priest 1738 Sept. He resided till Dec. 1740. Chaplain to Visct. Faulkland. Instituted to Ickleford and Pirton 24 Nov. 1748, which he held till his death: but I think that he was also headmaster of Darlington School 1750–5 (Carlisle, 1. 400): though he sent no boys thence to Christ's. Had dispensation from Lambeth 5 Oct. 1754 to hold the vicarage of Rickmansworth, distant 25 miles from Ickleford: this seems to have brought him southward again. He died 8 Jan. 1758. On 12 April 1758 an order was made to pay his widow ten guineas: no reason is given.

Simpson, John: son of William: born at Kimbolton, Hunts. School: Chesterfield. Admitted sizar under Mr Trant 28 June 1732. Age 18.

B.A. 173⅚; M.A. 1739. Admitted scholar 22 June 1733. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1736 June; licensed to Covington, Hunts.: priest 1737 Sept. Instituted to vicarage of Upton, Lincs. 28 May 1740. He was still in residence at Mich. 1741.

Mason, Richard: son of Richard: born at Gargrave, Lancs. School: Skipton. Admitted sizar under Mr Cartwright 17 Apr. 1732. Age not given.

LL.B. 1738. Baptised at Gargrave May 1714. Mr Cartwright's last pupil; transferred with almost the whole body to Mr Trant at the end of the quarter.

Lightfoot, John: son of Henry: born at Crediton, Devon. School: Exeter. Admitted pensioner under Mr Trant 27 May 1732. Age not given.

Resided "in the Master's by the Parler" from Mids. 1732–Dec. 1733.

Withers, William: [no facts given]. Admitted 1 Dec. 1732.

B.A. 173$\frac{6}{7}$; M.A. 1740. Admitted scholar (Finch and Baines) 29 June 1734: he was also Hawford and Mildmay exhibitioner. Perhaps a son of Will. Withers (1692), rector of Thrybergh, Yorks. 1723–49. Elected Fellow (Yorks.) 12 Sept. 1738, succeeding Will. Staniforth. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1738 Sept. Priest 1739 June. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting and Walkhampton Preacher, and Steward 1740. Knapwell Preacher 1743. Senior Dean 1745: but he attended only one of the numerous meetings before 21 Apr. 1746, when his Fellowship was declared vacant. He had two or three pupils. On 1 June 1745 he was appointed to Fen Drayton, when Tho. Thompson resigned it: but this he resigned before April 1746. He was vicar of Bodley, Beds. possibly when he left Cambridge and also rector of Tankersley, Yorks., W.R. 1752–1771 (Hunter, S. Yorks. 2. 304). Died 1771, aged 56. Married Jane, daughter of Samuel Buck of Rotherham. I have seen letters written from the College by Mr Withers to Miss Buck during their engagement.

Carr, John: son of Robert: born at Settle, Yorks. School: Giggleswick, under Mr [John] Carr. Admitted sizar under Mr Trant 1732: no month given. Age 20.

B.A. 173$\frac{6}{7}$; M.A. 1740. Admitted scholar 29 June 1734. He came into residence Jan. 173$\frac{2}{3}$. Resided till Mich. 1741 (at least).

Warren, Langhorn:

M.A. 1739. Son of Robert (1697), D.D. and rector of Charlton. Matric^{d}. at Brasenose, Oxford 11 Apr. 1728, aged 17. B.A. (Oxford) 1735: incorporated and M.A. (Christ's) 1739. (Al. Ox. 1504.) Succeeded his father, who resigned in 1736, as rector of Charlton. Vicar of Hampstead 1740–62. Vicar of Dedham, Essex 21 Dec. 1759–61, when he resigned. Probably rector of West Bergholt 1752–56. (Morant, 2. 231—but called LL.B.—a degree which is not found.) Rector of Roding Morell, Essex 17 Dec. 1760–62. Died 26 June 1762, after enjoying an undue share of preferment. (Gent. Mag. 1736, 685. 6: 1740, 430. 6.)

Franks, William:

M.A. 1739. Son of John of Loughborough, "pleb.": matric^{d}. at Lincoln College, Oxford 27 Mar. 1723, aged 17. B.A. (Oxford) 1726. Incorporated and M.A. (Christ's) 1739. Rector of Great Oxendon near Market Harborough for 13 years: died 30 Dec. 1752: so took M.A. at his appointment. Age given as 41—which does not suit the figures above (Gent. Mag. 1793, II. p. 1197).

Hutton, Matthew: son of Matthew, armiger: born in London. School: Buntingford. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Rooke 4 Jan. 173$\frac{2}{3}$. Age 16.

Probably the Matt. Hutton son of Matthew, late of Newnham, Herts. who was admitted at Lincoln's Inn 25 Oct. 1732. Resided till Mich. 1736.

Strode, William: son of George: born at Dyttisham, Devon. School: Totnes. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Rooke 4 April 1733. Age 22.

His name is down for two quarters, till Mich. 1733 but without any charge: so it is doubtful whether he ever resided: the College has a silver coffee-pot either given by him, or purchased out of his "Plate-Caution." Probably a member of the family of Strode of Newnham Park, Devon: but I cannot trace him. One Lieut.-Gen. William Strode, Colonel of 62nd battalion of foot, died at Gerrard Street, Soho 1776 (Gent. Mag. p. 47).

Verney, Ralph: second son of [Ralph] Viscount Fermanagh. [No more facts.] Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Law 20 April 1733. Age not given: and no payment mentioned. M.A. 1736. Resided first under Mr Law, then under Mr Wigley: he is charged for rooms during eight years till Mids^{r}. 1741: but after Dec. 1737 the charge sinks from £1 to 3*s.* a quarter: and perhaps meant only chance residence. Admitted at the Middle Temple 16 June 1729. Son of Ralph, second Viscount Fermanagh and first Earl Verney: whom he succeeded as second Earl Verney: his elder brother died while he was still at Cambridge, and he succeeded his father in 1752. M.P. for Wendover 1754—the seat for which by his influence Edmund Burke was first returned to Parliament: for Carmarthen 1761: for Bucks. 1768, 1775, 1780, and (after a defeat with ruinous expense in 1784) again in 1790 nine months before his death. His expenditure on elections was equalled by his expenditure on his house at Claydon where in a simpler but most magnificent style he proposed to rival the splendour of the Temples' house at Stowe. Burke thought that his services to the Whig party were insufficiently rewarded, and gives him the character of an exceptionally "indulgent, humane and moderate landlord," and a "protector to all the poor within his reach." But his extravagance ruined his large fortune: and during the latter years of his life he lived much at Calais. Soon after his final return to Parliament in 1790, the bailiffs were in possession of Claydon, and the furniture was seized and sold. His countess (Mary Herring, to whom he was married for 50 years) died suddenly 20 Jan. 1791—and two months later, on March 31, he died at his house in Curzon Street, aged about 78. (D.N.B.: Lipscombe, Bucks. 1. 179.)

Presented by John, Earl of Buckingham 12 July 1745 to the rectory of Hardmead, Bucks. (which he resigned in 1750). He signs last in the Order Book 25 Oct. 1746 and early in Jan. 174$\frac{6}{7}$ he was appointed Master of Magdalene—though only 31 and therefore ineligible by Statute—by the management of Dr Rooke, says Cole, to whom he also attributes Chapman's "marriage to a fortune" and King's chaplainship: his Fellowship was declared vacant 6 Feb. 174$\frac{7}{8}$ "his year of grace after having accepted the Mastership having expired the 9th of last month." Vice-Chancellor 1748–9: and as such took part together with Dr Edm. Keene, V.C. 1749–51, in the preparation of the very drastic regulations (passed June 1750) for the revival of discipline in the University, for which the wits of the day held Dr Rooke of Christ's ("George Crow" or "Dr Rock"), Chapman ("Tom Forward"), Keene ("Mun" and "Acutus") responsible together with the new Chancellor, Thomas Pelham, Duke of Newcastle, installed 1 July 1749 ("Tom Standish, a sprightly volative fellow"): for a list of the sufficiently amusing publications on the subject see Cooper, Annals, 4. 280, and Wordsworth, Univ. Life, 617–32: the University is described as a sick old lady, and the Heads as her sons, of whom Tom and Mun are specially active in befooling her: Dr Rock is charged with having given her very injurious pills (the regulations). Like Rooke and Keene Chapman came in for much hard hitting in these pamphlets, e.g. "Tom Forward has to a grain the same quantity of truth and honour as his brother, Sharp [Keene]: but in other respects he differs much from him. Tom is very pert and positive, and sometimes very rude and boisterous. 'Tis for this reason, I believe, that the inhabitants of Bridgetown have nicknamed him Bounce." (See Cole.) Chapman became by the patronage of the Crown rector of Kirkby-over-Blow, Yorks. 8 Dec. 1749. He was collated to the third stall of Durham 12 Dec. 1750. On Dec. 24, an order was made to present Dix, signed by the Master and 12 Fellows: at the side of their signatures there is written by the Master: "Mem: Mʳ Dix was agreed to be presented though not the Senior on his promising to quitt his Fellowship at the expiration of a year of Grace." Also vicar of Lakenheath 1 Jan. 1780–84. Died before 6 July 1784 when Edw. Wilson was presented. Murhall was instituted to Moulton by the Archbishop 6 July 1772 it being "in the peculiar and immediate jurisdiction of the Cathedral of Canterbury." Cole has a note that Murhall's "presentation to a better living after having served the Church living at Caldecot has occasioned some disputes between the Master and Fellows." The dispute (see my History of Christ's, p. 256) was on the old question whether a Fellow should be presented (as he legally might under certain circumstances) to a living without vacating his Fellowship. See under Joshua Wigley (p. 245) who desired both. Murhall was content with Moulton.

It is remarkable that out of a year of only eight men, five should be elected to Fellowships: viz. Willey, Dix, Meachem, Swainson and Murhall.

Wray, Thomas: son of Thomas: born at Bentham, Yorks. School: Bentham, under Mr Bennison [1732]. Admitted sizar under Messrs Thomas (sponsor) and Makin 29 Mar. 1740. Age 17.

B.A. 174$\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. 1747; D.D. 1762. Born 1 May 1723, son of Tho. Wray, farmer, who died in early life. Admitted scholar 3 July 1742. Elected Fellow succeeding Tho. Thomson 25 Apr. 1746. Presented to Croxton 4 July 1755; but on 30 Dec. 1755 presented to Bourn, on the death of Mr Swainson, whom he also succeeded ten days earlier as Senior Dean: the two posts were compatible. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1756–8. He took pupils from 1754 with Tho. Swainson, and during 1756 with Ant. Shepherd: never as sole tutor. He ceded Bourn before Mar. 1758: and his Fellowship was declared vacant 18 Dec. 1758. He was chaplain to the Archbishop of Canterbury, Matt. Hutton of Christ's, who presented him to the rectory of Great Chart, Kent, probably at the end of 1757. In 1762, by a sudden move, he became vicar of Rochdale: where he died 22 Feb. 1778 and was buried within the altar rails. (Whitaker, Whalley, 2. 430.) A pious, abstemious, mortified man, never married (Nichol, Anec. 9. 698). "In 1763 he almost ruined himself by obtaining at the urgent request of the parishioners [of Rochdale] an Act of Parliament to enable him to lease the glebe-lands which abutted upon the town and were required for building purposes." (Whitaker, ib.) This was to the benefit of his successors. "Of weak constitution, of most amiable deportment yet a zealous reprover of vice both in public and in private...

While modest Wray, with silent grace

A squib on "the Rochdale vicar," 5 Aug. 1820, sums him up in one line.

"The Arch-cook at Lambeth four dishes has sent To feast us at Rochdale—how kind!
The first was plain Wray, with a sauce of content."

(Croston-Baines, 3. 34.) The remaining three receive less favourable comment.

Hayes, Richard: son of James: born at Cluer [Clewer], Berks. School: Eton, under Dr George. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Thomas (sponsor) and Makin 4 June 1740. Age 19.

Shepherd, Anthony:

Elder son of Arthur Shepherd: born at Kendal. School: Kendal, under Mr Towers. Admitted sizar at St John's, 25 June 1740, age 19. B.A. (St John's) 174$\frac{3}{4}$; M.A. (Christ's) 1747; B.D. 1761; D.D. 1766. Ordained deacon, Worcester, 174$\frac{3}{4}$ Feb.: priest, London, 174$\frac{5}{6}$ Feb. Elected Fellow of Christ's 9 Jan. 174$\frac{6}{7}$, succeeding Humph. Christian. Custos cistae 1751. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting, Walkhampton and Knapwell Preacher 1753. Steward 1753, 1764. Senior Greek Lecturer, Hebrew Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1758–60. Senior Dean 1760, 1762, 1765, 1769, 1771. He was a tutor in the College 1752–77, and from 1756 he had almost all the students under him, either alone, or with colleagues—viz. Backhouse from 1758–68, Paley and Law 1772–4, Paley and Parkinson, 1774–6. Pupils came to him largely from Eton, Harrow, Westminster, Charterhouse &c.: he was a lax tutor, and the rise in the standard of learning was not due to him. He was Plumian Professor 1760–96: he gave some lectures, for he published Heads of a course, delivered at Christ's, and Experiments to illustrate a course read in the Observatory at Trinity: these, with tables to correct the apparent distance between the moon and a star, are the sole output of 36 years' tenure. Presented to Croxton (succeeding Mr Wray) 21 Jan. 1756: to Bourn (ditto) 30 Mar. 1758–63: rector of Barton Mills 26 May 1763–82. Whatever livings he held, he remained at Cambridge. Rector of Eastling, Kent (patron, Geo. Finch Hatton of Eastwell Park and a pupil) 6 Nov. 1782: also of Hartley Wespall, Hants. 12 May 1792: both these he held till his death. On 14 Dec. 1765 he had from the College a lease of the tithes of Burnham Westgate: whence arose a memorable law-suit. See my History of Christ's, 262–4. In 1777 he became Canon of Windsor, July 27: the College held that he should resign his Fellowship: he declined: and appeals were made without success to every Visitor from 1777–81. One of John Barker's first acts as Master 27 July 1780 was to declare Shepherd's fellowship vacant. But on 29 July an inhibition from the Visitor followed. The history of this (and of all) appeals to the Visitor will be found in a pamphlet by John Fisher, LL.D., Fellow, addressed to Dr Beadon, V.C. and Visitor 1781–3. At last on 22 Nov. 1783—the V.C. (Torkington) being presumably favourable—or because of Shepherd taking Eastling, Barker again (and finally) declared the vacancy. Shepherd never signs later than July 1778. He died in London 15 June 1796. He had a taste for wine and musical instruments—but the goodness of each taste was questioned: see Scott, Johnian Adm^{n}. Book, 507. Fanny Burney found him "dulness itself" (Early Diary, 282) and happily tells us that he was "prodigiously tall and stout." Captain Cook in 1774 named after him a group of islands in the New Hebrides.

Presented to Clipston (succeeding Mr Murhall, who went to Moulton instead) 14 Dec. 1772: Fellowship declared vacant 28 Jan. 1774. Also rector of Clifton near Guildsborough. Married Mary Bateman of Guildsborough by whom he had two daughters. Died 1790. He was a considerable Biblical scholar. His appeal, 22 May 1772, on the ground that his "preference" to the living of Moulton had been disregarded, and the pleadings in his favour by Barker, Wall, and Haighton, and against him by eight Fellows, including Murhall, Paley and Joh. Law, have been mentioned under Murhall (1737). No decree was given: the vacancy of Clipston made a compromise possible.

Woodgate, Thomas: son of James: born at Higham, Suffolk. School: Dedham, under Mr Grimwood. Admitted sizar under Messrs Thomas and Makin 17 Nov. 1743. Age 19.

B.A. 174$\frac{7}{8}$. Admitted scholar 22 June 1744—and again 4 Mar. 174$\frac{5}{6}$. Candidate for a Fellowship in 1749 when Alex. James of Clare Hall was elected. Passed over as deficient in learning, also as having an estate too large to be held with a Fellowship: said that he had settled it on his mother: answer, that this was an evasion. He (and Cha. Hingeston) petitioned, but unsuccessfully. The Vice-Chancellor, Dr Keene, and his two assessors held that the scholars had no absolute right to election as against an outsider.

Previously admitted at Clare.

B.A. (Clare) 174$\frac{6}{7}$; M.A. (Christ's) 1750. In Aug. 1748 Lecturer at Gravesend (Pocock, Gravesend, 90). Elected Fellow of Christ's 3 Nov. 1749. Against this election (made by Dr Rooke and seven Fellows) an appeal was made by Rob. Hankinson and Ri. Hayes, Fellows, and Tho. Woodgate and Cha. Hingeston, scholars and candidates (whom see): the ground being that the rights of the scholars were prejudiced thereby. The Master and seven Fellows protested against the appeal being heard at all. But Dr Keene (though Rooke's ally in Cambridge politics) did hear it, and with his assessors, Conyers Middleton and Rob. Walker, decided that the scholars had no absolute rights. Rooke blustered foolishly and entered a protest in the Master's Book of Statutes—which Dr Keene obliged him to withdraw, and made an entry to that effect 92 (1), 49 in the Univ. Registry. James was Custos cistae 1754. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting, Walkhampton and Knapwell Preacher, and Steward 1756. After this time he held no College office, and very rarely signs a College Order: I think he did not reside: possibly his position in the College was not easy. He was presented to Fen Drayton (succeeding John Barker) 17 June 1763, and held it till 14 Dec. 1772: but he signs the register in 1755 only, and from 1760 to 1768 Will. Craven was curate. Vicar of St Margaret at Cliffe, Kent 13 Oct. 1773, and P.C. of Buckland at the same time: he held this till his death. On 1 Aug. 1774 he was presented by the College to Little Canfield, succeeding Mr Wilding; and his Fellowship was vacant 24 Oct. 1775. He lived till 1813: but the record of his doings at Little Canfield is the publication of banns 10 and 17 June 1787, a marriage by license June 1792 (or 1793) and another June 1794.

Wardale, Robert:

Resided till at least Lady Day 1748: and his name, with a charge of 3*s.* 0*d.* a quarter appears in Study-rents till Decr. 1750: but he took no degree. His mother was Eliz. Broadbent of Wortley (Hunter, F.M.G. 1275). He lived at Dodworth, near Barnsley and is called M.D. by Hunter. Married twice, but died at Dodworth without issue 20 Jan. 1759, aged 35.

Gore, Charles: [father not given]: born at Barrow, Somerset. School: Fulham, under Mr Crofts. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Chapman, 30 Mar. 1744. Age not given.

Resided till Lady Day 1745. Admitted at the Inner Temple 12 Aug. 1742: as son of Thomas, late of Barrow Minchin. A pedigree of the Gore (afterwards Gore-Langton) family, in Burke (L.G. 756), does not contain these two.

*Barker, John: son of George: born at Sighill [Seghill], Northumbd. School: Newcastle, under Mr Dawes. Admitted sizar under Mr Wigley 1 June 1745. Age 18.

B.A. (10th wrangler) 174$\frac{8}{9}$; M.A. 1752; D.D. (lit. reg.) 1781. Admitted scholar 17 July 1745, again 4 Mar. 174$\frac{5}{6}$. Eldest son of Geo. Barker of Weteslade by his wife Mary Lawson of Longhirst. Elected Fellow, Finch and Baines (succeeding Hen. Finch) 3 Nov. 1749: K. Edward VI (succeeding R. French) 6 May 1752: L. Marg. (succeeding Tho. Swainson) 14 Jan. 1756. Ordained deacon, Ely, 1752 May: priest, Sept. Custos cistae 1753. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting, Walkhampton and Knapwell Preacher, and Steward 1755. Steward again 1765, 1778. Senior Greek Lecturer, Hebrew Lecturer, and Mildmay Preacher 1762–4. Senior Dean, 1764, 1767, 1770 (also held the three Preacherships) 1773, 1778. Scrutator 1780, but did not serve. From 1761 to 1764 he signs the register as curate of Fen Drayton. Presented to Bourn (succeeding Mr Shepherd) 6 June 1763: to Caldecot (succeeding Mr Murhall) 14 Dec. 1772–85: to Brisley (succeeding Mr Weatherhead) 6 Apr. 1786, resigned 1788. Rector of Wadingham, Lincs., patron, the Crown, according to Dr Doncaster, by the influence of Mr Pitt. Was a candidate for the office of Registrary in 1778, when Geo. Borlase of Peterhouse was elected: he had 102 votes, against 118 for Borlase: according to Cole he "stood on the Interest of the warm Whigs and Americans: I speak thus, because I heard him defending their rebellious practices in 1777": it shows at least that he had some credit in the University: and in 1806 he subscribed to Pitt's statue for the Senate House. Elected Master 22 July 1780 on the death of Dean Thomas: he was opposed by Shepherd and Parkinson; but Shepherd (between whom and Barker there was much animosity) was unpopular because of the Canonry of Windsor, and could get only three votes: Parkinson as many: and both retired on the day of election. Cole comments "Dr Shepherd may probably have settled matters so as not to be molested in his Fellowship": however Dr Barker immediately declared his Fellowship vacant. Barker was created D.D. 21 Oct. by Royal mandate: "so that patriots and republicans, who clamour at the Royal Prerogative, are willing enough to receive benefit of it themselves: which shows their clamour is interest" (Cole). (It must be remembered that Cole was a high Tory, and specially hostile to the Whig Masters of Christ's; Towers, Rooke, and Barker.) Dr Barker married Hannah, daughter of Rob. Ellison of Otterburn, widow of Tho. Dockwray D.D., vicar of Stamfordham. He was Vice-Chancellor 1780–1: his year of office was not remarkable, save for a grace to check the employment of private tutors, carried easily in both houses. His Mastership as a whole save for the great Burnham Westgate suit (Hist. of Christ's, 262–4) was uneventful. The Society was not distinguished in any way. Toward the end of his life the management of the College property was chiefly in the hands of his successor, Tho. Browne, who had at least ideas on finance, if not much morality. He gave £200 in 1798 "for the defence of the Country," in addition to £200 given by the College. He died 18 Feb. 1808, aged 81, and was buried on the same day as his wife Hannah (who died Feb. 20) in the ante-chapel. Portrait (miniature) in the Combination room shows a hale, high-coloured man, with a very Roman nose.

Bill, John: son of Robert: born at Farley, Staffs. School: Dilhorn, under Mr Slade. Admitted pensioner under Mr Thomas 10 June 1745. Age 19.

B.A. $174\frac{8}{9}$. Ordained deacon, Ely, 1749 May: licensed to Hatley St George. He does not appear in Study-rents later than Mich. 1749. But in Jan. 1757 there is a College Order to pay Mr Bill £8 in consideration of the "income" of his room.

Hingeston, Charles: son of Peter: born at Ipswich. Educated at Monk Soham by Mr Ray. Admitted sizar 29 June 1745. Age 18.

B.A. (12th jun. opt.) $174\frac{8}{9}$; M.A. 1752. Admitted scholar 4 Mar. $174\frac{5}{6}$. See under Alex. James (p. 245): he petitioned in 1749 with another scholar (Woodgate) against James' election, the reply was that he had lived an "idle loose and disorderly life." The retort was that at least the Fellows had elected him scholar: the reply was that they didn't know him then. Ordained deacon, Norwich, 1750 May; licensed to Great Bealings, Norfolk: priest, Ely (lit. dim. from Norwich) 1752 Dec. Rector of Trimley St Martin, Suffolk 1778–87, patron, Geo. Nassau, Esq.: of Rishanger, Suff. 1770–87, patron, Lord Orwell. Died 1787, aged 60. Buried at Capel.

Craske, John: [father not given]: born in Suffolk. School: [Wyverstone], under Mr Steggall. Admitted sizar under Mr Hankinson 11 Oct. 1745. Born 22 Nov. 1726.

Admitted scholar 4 Mar. $174\frac{5}{6}$. Son of John and Eliz. Craske of Drinkstone, Suffolk. Died at Christ's 3 Mar. $174\frac{8}{9}$, aged 22, and buried at Drinkstone. (Information from C. S. Partridge, M.A.)

Killinghall, John: son of Robert, armiger: born at Low Midleton, Durham. School: Darlington, under Mr Addison. Admitted fellow-commoner under Mr Chapman 2 Nov. 1745. Age 18.

Great grandson of Will. (1656). Resided till Dec. 1746: whether he went (like Hartley) to Magdalene with Mr Chapman, I do not know. Baptised 27 Feb. $172\frac{9}{7}$, son of Rob. Killinghall of Middleton St George (Surtees, 3. 223) by his wife Sarah Thornton of Askrigg. Died unmarried 20 June 1762, aged 35, the last heir male of an old family: left property to Will. Pemberton, grandson of his father's sister, Eliz. Killinghall (ib.). A curiously minute memorandum of directions for his funeral—containing arrangement of "mutes," provision of men to give to the mourners "a glass of white wine first: then a glass of red"—will be found in Arch. Æliana, N.S. 2. 101.

French, Robert: son of John: born at Bury St Edmunds. School: Bury, under Mr Kinnesman. Admitted sizar under Mr Wigley 1 Jan. $174\frac{5}{6}$. Age 18.

B.A. 1749, Mids.; M.A. 1753. Admitted scholar 4 Mar. $174\frac{5}{6}$. Son of John French ($170\frac{8}{9}$). Reader at St Mary's, Bury, and rector of Great Saxham. Brother of George (1738). Elected Fellow (K. Edw. VI), succeeding R. Wilding, 12 Dec. 1750. Ordained deacon, Ely, 1750 Dec. (? curate of Caxton, in 1751): priest 1752 Sept. Custos cistae 1755. Bunting, Walkhampton and Knapwell Preacher 1757—but does not hold the usual concomitant offices which imply residence; nor any office at any later time. Dr Rooke, the Master, declined in 1752 to pay him his dividend (£16. 7*s.* $7\frac{3}{4}$d.), on the ground of insufficient residence. French appealed: see book at Registry, 92 (1), 50 for the pleadings on both sides: the sympathy of the Fellows was (naturally) with French. He argued that part of the time during which he was absent belonged to one year and part to another, i.e. that the College year began Jan. 1. The Visitor "recommended" Rooke to pay the money, (1) because French had not been summoned to reside, (2) because the Statute was not clear: but he fixed the beginning of the year as henceforward to date from Mich. It is noteworthy that Adam Wall (Univ. Lib. Mm. v. 48) speaks of a paper handed by the Master to the V.C., in which he urged a liberal consideration of the case on the ground that the Fellows live under great restraint, from which the Master has no power to dispense them. French was curate of Cockfield,

Suffolk 1754–71: and seems to have been absent from College 1754–61: then he signs regularly till 1766—rarely later: he does not seem to have been disturbed by Dean Thomas, an easy-going Master. He died at Cockfield, aged 42, unmarried 30 June 1771 and was buried at Gt Saxham. His Fellowship was declared vacant 11 July 1771. (See Hist. of Cockfield in Journal of Suffolk Inst. of Archaeology, 1880: and letter from H. H. French of Sutton.)

Horsfall, Midgely: [father not given]: born at Haworth, Yorks. School: Rishworth, under Mr Wadsworth. Admitted sizar under Mr Hankinson 19 Mar. 174$\frac{5}{6}$. Age 21.

"The Master, this day, did in the presence of the Fellows, declare Horsfall expelled for divers notorious offences" (College Order 16 Apr. 1747).

"Gilman Wall, apothecary" died 1760 aged 36 (so Cooper and Le Keux, 3. 209): another died 15 March 1790, aged 67 (ib. 210): neither of these if the figures are right can be Adam's father. Admitted scholar 3 Feb. 174$\frac{6}{7}$. Ordained deacon, Lincoln, 1751 June; licensed to Tempsford, Beds.: priest, 1753 June, still at Tempsford. Elected Fellow, Finch and Baines (succeeding Mr Porteus) 28 Jan. 1756: K. Edw. VI 22 Jan. 1759: Lady Margt. (succeeding Mr Willey) 1 Nov. 1762. His brother, Gilman, was admitted 1764, and John 1778.

He supported Joshua Wigley in 1772 (the Fellowship election), agreeing with John Barker.

He edited the University Statutes and also the Ceremonies of the University 1798, which Henry Gunning of Christ's re-edited in 1828. He left several MSS. volumes of Collections relating to the College and to the University: these were presented to the University Library by Charles Sutton D.D., vicar of Aldborough, who died 1846: they are marked Mm. v. 40–52 (incl.). Two similar volumes (53 and 54) were purchased by the University. All these are written carelessly and have little order or method: but they contain much useful matter, especially as concerns the College. He also carefully sorted and arranged all the College documents in the Muniment Room, and made an excellent Catalogue of them. The obligation which he has laid thereby on successive Masters (in their Bursarial capacity) is beyond words to tell. I have found his work most valuable for my History.

On 27 April 1786, when the printing of the Statutes was finished, the Senate passed a Grace ("ne ingrata esse videatur Alma Mater erga filium tam praeclare de se meritum") to present him with £50, wherewith to purchase a silver vase.

In 1776 he published an Exhortation to more solemn observance of Good Friday. Bishop of Chester 1777–87: of London 1787–1808, where he carried on a campaign against immorality and profaneness, not ignoring the Prince of Wales, in the matter of Sunday recreation. He supported the relief of Roman Catholics from penal laws, but opposed Catholic emancipation in 1805. He was an early patron both of the Church Missionary Society and of the British and Foreign Bible Society. His sense of the importance of the proper performance of the Church Service was shown by his gift in 1807 of £1200 to provide three Medals in this College—one for the best reader in chapel, two for a Latin and an English Essay, to be read aloud in chapel: the delivery of these was to count in the award. He was one of the most open-minded and energetic bishops of his time. Hudson, Thomas: son of Thomas: born at Otley, Yorks. School: Bingley, under his father. Admitted sizar under Mr Wigley 1 July 1752. Age 19.

B.A. (1st jun. opt.) 1756; M.A. 1759. Admitted scholar 22 Nov. 1752. Elected Fellow, Finch and Baines (succeeding L. Bailey) 5 Oct. 1761; K. Edw. (suc. Wall) 6 Nov. 1762; L. Marg. (suc. B. Porteus) 10 June 1763. Ordained deacon, Norwich, 1756 Mar.; licensed to Holme, Norfolk: priest, Peterborough, (for York) 1757 Sept. I gather from a pamphlet of Dr Fisher's that in 1761 (or ?1763) Hudson was P.C. of Idle, near Bingley, Yorks. (extended value £30 a year): that in consequence the Master Mr Thomas regarded him as ineligible as a candidate: that he resigned the curacy before he was elected: that the Archbishop kept the curacy open till after the election, and then offered it again to him: and that it was accepted, no one raising any objection. It would seem from the Admission Book that he was, not only curate of Idle, but also Master of Bingley School, succeeding his father, who died, I believe 1765. A Mr Hudson was there in 1761, in 1771, in 1782 (specified as "former Fellow") and in 1783: and the fact is definitely stated in Whitaker-Morant, Craven, but not the dates. How this was compatible with his tenure of Toft (see below) which is equally certain, does not appear. He was Bunting, Walkhampton and Knapwell Preacher 1763: had no other office and did not reside: he signs once (July 1769): and again once shortly after his presentation by the College to Bourn (succeeding J. Barker) 5 Feb. 1773. He was presented to Toft (on the death of Tho. Metcalfe at the age of 91 after holding Toft for 62 years, and Hardwick for 54) 4 July 1777: and 19 July 1777 he was instituted to Hardwick of which the Bishop of Ely was patron. He was Chaplain to Lord Willoughby of Parham: but there seems to have been a difficulty in the way of his holding Toft also: for on 14 July 1778 there is an Order that "Mr Hudson have another presentation to the rectory of Toft, whenever he desires it, if he think it necessary to procure a dispensation": and opposite the signatures (including on this occasion his own) is written "I do now resign my Fellowship, T. Hudson." He was instituted to Toft 23 June 1779. He died July 1785, aged 51.

He married twice, each time a Grace: by the second wife who was sister of Chris. Hodge (adm. 1757) he had four sons and two daughters.

till March 1772, when Paley and Law became joint tutors: Ri. Haighton had started to take pupils in Oct. 1771 and the two friends doubtless desired an equally independent status, as well as a proper share of the tuition-money. Taxor 1770–1. Published first in 1785 Principles of Morals and Political Philosophy, which went through many editions: Horae Paulinae, 1790, his most original work: Reasons for Contentment, 1792: Evidences of Christianity, 1794: Natural Theology, 1802 (20th edition 1820); also many works of minor importance, sermons, etc. "Nobody has surpassed Paley as a writer of text-books. He is an unrivalled expositor of plain arguments, though he neither shared nor claimed originality. His morality is one of the best statements of the utilitarianism of the eighteenth century.... Whether his peculiar compromise between orthodoxy and rationalism can be accepted is a different question. His books, as he says in his preface to the Natural Theology, form a system, containing the evidences of natural and of revealed religion, and of the duties which result from both. The system has gone out of fashion, but the Evidences still hold their place as a text-book..., and the Natural Theology is still mentioned with respect by many who dissent from its conclusions and hold that it requires modification." (D.N.B.) His Life by G. W. Meadley published in 1809.

B.A. (6th sen. opt. and 2nd Chancellor's Medallist) 1764; M.A. 1767. Admitted scholar 26 May 1761. His father, Morley Unwin, was B.A. (Queens') 1725 and Fellow; held the College living of Grimston, and afterwards lived at Huntingdon. His mother was Mary Cawthorne—Cowper's "Mary." Young Unwin made Cowper's acquaintance and introduced him to his family, with whom he afterwards lived. Cowper described him in a letter to Lady Hesketh 14 Sept. 1765 as "one of the most unreserved and amiable young men I ever conversed with:...having nothing in his heart which makes it necessary for him to keep it barred and bolted, he opens it to the perusal of even a stranger." Many of Cowper's letters, from 1780 onward are addressed to him. He was ordained deacon, London, 1767 Dec.: priest 1769 Mar. He was curate of Comberton, near Cambridge. Till Mich. 1769 he seems to have lived in College. He was decidedly Evangelical, and according to Meadley his admirers followed him to Comberton, including the cook; which made Paley (who was very friendly with him) declare that "Unwin was unduly favoured, since he (Paley) never got such suppers elsewhere." He was instituted to the rectory of Stock, in Essex (?1778) on the presentation of Lord Chancellor Thurlow. He was Chaplain to Lord Bolingbroke, and 16 June 1780 he had a dispensation to hold the contiguous rectory of Ramsden Crays. Paley occasionally visited him and sent him pupils: Unwin though very dissimilar in every way was "never ruffled by the raillery of his lively friend, who frequently joked with him on his grave demeanour and serious turn of mind." In 1784 Cowper corresponded with Unwin on the education of Unwin's son: he strongly preferred private to public school education. Unwin died 29 Nov. 1786, aged 41. He had taken a tour with a friend, and when at Winchester he was seized with a "putrid fever" of which he died in a few days. He was buried there. He was author of The right use of the law: The sinfulness of buying run goods: Friendly reproof to those who seldom attend Public worship, 1774.

Admitted scholar (I think L. Margt.) as of Midds. 25 May 1764. He seems to have resided from Mich. 1763 to Mich. 1765, charged 3*s.* 0*d.* till Dec. 1768. Admitted at the Inner Temple 30 Jan. 1769 as "of Christ's College," and no more. I cannot connect him with the Nottingham Finches—Hen. Finch (1712) is said to have died unmarried.

B.A. 1767; M.A. 1770. Admitted scholar 25 May 1764. Elected Fellow, succeeding Caesar Morgan, 29 June 1776. Ordained deacon, Durham, 1 Sept. 1776: priest, Sept. 22. Under-usher of Newcastle Grammar School 15 Dec. 1766 (according to Brand, Newcastle, 1. 98): as he was not then B.A. perhaps an error for 1776; he is charged £1. 10*s.* for rooms up to Lady Day 1767: but it would account for some of the vacant ten years of his life. Resigned his mastership 1778. But he seems not to have resided, for he very rarely signs any College Order and holds no statutory office whatever till 1800, when he suddenly appears as Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Steward, and Bunting, Walkhampton and Knapwell Preacher. On 14 Oct. 1801 he was presented to Brisley with Gateley, succeeding Cha. Dix, receiving on the same day a lease of the Manor and Rectory of Gateley and of the quit-rents and court profits of the manors of Bintry and Foulsham. Fellowship vacant 13 Nov. 1802. Died 2 Jan. 1814, aged 67.

B.A. 1767; M.A. 1770. Admitted scholar 25 May 1764. Esquire Bedell 1770–1827. For his conduct see Gunning's Reminiscences, passim: especially 1. 146–154, 2. 296–301. Gunning was his colleague and suffered much. He was elected by the influence of Lord Sandwich, who afterwards obtained him a commissionership at Greenwich Hospital, and later in life a small place at the Admiralty "of about £100 per annum, he being a good performer on the violin" (Cole). He married a Miss Thornhill who was "improvident and proud," while Beverley was extravagant: they had several children and he was always in difficulties. One of Gunning's best stories about him is that which tells how the Bishop of Bristol offered a notorious rascal, one Jemmy Gordon, half-a-crown (in reply to a request for a shilling) if he Gordon could find him a greater scoundrel than himself. Gordon went out and met Beverley and said to him "Have you seen a messenger from the Bishop of Bristol who is seeking you everywhere as his Lordship wishes to see you on particular business?" Beverley thanked him for the information and hastened to Trinity, Jemmy following him at no great distance. "I understand you are wishing to see me, my Lord" said Beverley addressing the Bishop: to which the latter replied, "You have been misinformed, Mr Beverley." At that moment Jemmy joined them, and taking off his hat most respectfully said "I think, my Lord, I am entitled to the half-crown." Beverley died in London 25 March 1827. In 1821 the Heads had agreed to the appointment of a deputy for him, provided that he resided wholly away from Cambridge. He published the Ceremonies of the University 1788, and two pamphlets on the proceedings at the trial of William Frend (of Christ's and Jesus), 1793.

Probably he is the Tho. Slade B.A. (I can find no other) who was undermaster of Appleby School, Leics. 1792–99. (Nichols, Leics. 4. 442.)

Said to have supported himself at Cambridge, as his father disapproved of his going there. Ordained deacon, London, 1769 May. Elected Fellow, Finch and Baines (in place of Ri. Haighton) 19 July 1771: Lady Margt., succeeding his namesake Ri. Parkinson, 20 Apr. 1773. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Steward, 1773, 1782, 1789. Custos cistae 1774–1780. Bunting, Walkhampton and Knapwell Preacher 1776. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1776–8, 1784–6. Junior Dean and Catechist 1779. Senior Dean 1782, 1784, 1788. Senior Proctor 1786–7. Elected F.R.S. 23 Feb. 1786. He succeeded John Law as Tutor (together with Shepherd and Paley) 1774; with Shepherd and Seale 1776; with Seale only 1777—till 1789; with Metcalfe and Lane, till he left Cambridge. Gunning, who was admitted under him and Seale in 1784, has much to say of him, of his kindness, in spite of occasional irritability, and interest in his pupils. He lent Gunning the MSS. of his System of Mechanics and Hydrostatics, 1789, "which was never popular and is now almost forgotten" (H.G.). He was engaged at the time to a Miss Charlotte Bridge of Harston, who then lived at Kennet, beyond Newmarket; he used to ride over to visit her after a perfunctory lecture in the early morning, delivered in boots and spurs under his gown. He had hoped to succeed to the Mastership (and then to marry) in 1780 when Barker was elected. Cole mentions the lady as "one of the prettiest and best behaved women I have met with: she might have had two Baronetts, but stuck to her first choice": and says that Parkinson was "a person of the Foppish Order, as I am told": in 1780 he called him "an ingenious Coxcombe, too young to be a Master of a College." He would certainly have done it more credit than John Barker. Miss Bridge at last forsook Parkinson, whose prospects were poor; "he has no Preferment" said Cole. According to Thomas Moore, who was a friend of Parkinson (Diary, 2. 279) she married a Mr W., who had a seat near Bath; deserted him, and sank into the depths, but received an annuity from Parkinson who (Moore says) had educated her for the purpose of marrying her. He was vicar of Meldreth 29 June 1775: on 4 Nov. 1789 he was presented to the rectory of Kegworth on the death of Mr Willey: his fellowship was declared vacant 19 March 1791. He improved the parsonage-house, raising (with the sanction of the College) 8 May 1790 £1107 on the living of Kegworth, according to Gilbert's Act. On 15 Dec. 1790 he was allowed the cost of 120,000 bricks "for repairs." The College on 17 Feb. 1801 gave also 120 guineas towards the cost of a farm-house and offices on the glebe. He became Archdeacon of Huntingdon 16 Apr. 1794: of Leicester 31 March 1812. Prebendary of St Paul's (Chiswick) 16 Jan. 1798. Chancellor of Chester, 1804. (Ormerod, 1. 87.) He died 13 Nov. 1830, aged 86, "beloved and respected by all who knew him" (Gunning, 1. 162). Published two sermons, and one Archdeacon's charge (1822).

Died 14 June 1798. His son Digby was M.P. for Sudbury: one of his daughters married Archdeacon Wrangham.

Salter, Philip: son of Samuel, D.D.: born at Burton [Coggles], Lincs. School: Charterhouse, under Dr Crusius. Admitted (after half a year at Corpus) pensioner under Messrs Shepherd and Backhouse 21 Dec. 1764. Age 18.

B.A. (last wrangler) 1768; M.A. 1771. Admitted scholar 15 Mar. 1766. The father Dr Samuel Salter, of Corpus, was Head Master of the Charterhouse, and rector of Burton Coggles 1740: he married Eliz. Secker, a relative of the Archbishop. Philip came to Christ's as a Tancred student, on the death of Rob. Young. He was ordained deacon, London, 1769 May: priest 1771 May. In 1772 he was presented by the Earl of Hardwick to the rectory of Shenfield, Essex: and held it for fifty-seven years. Subscribed to Jebb's Works. He was "as noisy and with as much impudence, I think, as the father" (Cole). His M.I. says that "he lived and died in charity with all men." He died 1829, aged 83.

B.A. (10th wrangler) 1769. Probably admitted through Will. Cawthorne Unwin (1760) son of Morley Unwin of Huntingdon. Born there 1745, in which year his father was Mayor. A banker at Huntingdon. Married Margaret, daughter of Lancelot Brown, the well-known landscape-gardener ("Capability Brown"). Lived at Cromwell House where the Protector was born. Died 1827. (Information from G. J. R., grandson.)

Resided till Lady Day 1768. Gave two silver candlesticks. Admitted at the Middle Temple 13 June 1767. Married a sister of Col. Thornton of Thornville Royal, Yorks. (Davy).

Greenaway, Stephen:

M.A. 1772. The only man of these names in Al. Ox. is the son of William, of St Edmonds, Salisbury; matriculated at Magd. Hall 19 July 1729, aged 16: but no degree is given.

One of these names was rector of Nether Broughton, Leics. 1778 (Nichols, Topogr. 8. 436). Probably also vicar of Cropwell Bishop, Notts., where his name occurs in the register in 1771: also vicar of Great Dalby, Leics. Died 1795 (Godfrey, Bingham Hundred, 128).

Mathews, Marmaduke:

M.A. 1772. Son of Thomas Mathews of Gloucester. Matriculated at Magd. Hall, Oxford 19 Mar. 1755, aged 17. B.A. (Oxford) 1758. Incorporated, and M.A. (Christ's) 1772. Baines, Robert: son of John: born at Layam [Layham], Suffolk. School: Charterhouse, under Dr Crusius. At Ch. Ch., Oxford: then admitted pensioner under Messrs Shepherd and Backhouse 5 May 1766. Age 17.

Ox.* 49, he was admitted at Christ Church 13 May 1765, aged 18, which is right, as he was baptised (as Rob. Edmund) at Layham 20 Apr. 1747. He had a younger brother Edm. Lewin: which accounts for his second name being disused. Ordained deacon, Norwich, 1769 May; licensed to Little Cornard, Suffolk: priest 1771 July. Curate of Santon-Downham, Suffolk, near Brandon. Chaplain to the Bishop of Chester. Rector of Upton on Severn 1772. Had dispensation 22 Dec. 1774 to hold also the rectory of Halford, Warw., distant 26 miles. Died 1825, aged 78 (Davy).

Fisher, John: son of John: born in Cambridge. School: Ashford [prob. in Kent], under Mr Hodgson. Admitted sizar under Messrs Shepherd and Backhouse 30 May 1766. Age 17.

B.A. (11th wrangler) 1770; M.A. 1773; LL.D. 1780. Son of John Fisher, draper, of Cambridge. Admitted scholar 5 Dec. 1767. Admitted at Gray's Inn 19 Jan. 1771. Elected Fellow, Finch and Baines (succeeding Tho. Brand) 27 Mar. 1775: K. Edw. VI (succeeding Ri. Haighton) 29 May 1779. Praelector, Catechist and Steward 1777. On 18 Dec. 1775 he was appointed by College Order "Steward of the Courts" in room of Mr Case, deceased. He wrote a very able and exhaustive "Appeal and Complaint" to Dr Beadon, V.C. 1781–3, in the matter of Dr Shepherd's fellowship, which he urged should be declared vacant: giving therein a very useful account of the divers Decrees and Interpretations of past Vice-Chancellors. He had an odd habit of writing notes in the Order Book, I suppose without Dr Barker's knowledge—perhaps after his death—when he differed from the resolution of the Society: the notes have been useful to me. On 8 Nov. 1786 he petitioned to be admitted Advocate in the Arches Court of Canterbury: which was granted (Lambeth Register). He lived in London, in order to practise there, coming up at rare intervals, as appears from Gunning's acknowledgment of his kindness in allowing him the use of his rooms without charge in 1788, on condition that he should quit them at short notice whenever Fisher had occasion to reside: Gunning was disturbed only for one week in four years. In 1790 he was appointed Commissary of the University and Deputy High Steward: a little before he had been elected Assessor to the Vice-Chancellor after a contest with Edw. Christian, Fellow of St John's; receiving 129 votes against 121 for Christian. (Gunning, 1. 210.) In 1800 he lent the College £1600 at 5 per cent. for the purchase from St John's College of the lease of Bourn. He was not always in such good circumstances: John (afterwards Lord) Campbell tells how on a visit to Cambridge he supped with Fisher who was then in prison for debt: he had made himself responsible for a man who then defaulted. He died, a Fellow, in 1814.

Wegg, George Samuel: son of Samuel: born in London. Educated by Mr Liptrott. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Shepherd and Backhouse 26 June 1766. Age 16.

Junior Dean, Bunting and Knapwell Preacher 1777. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1778. From Mich. 1779 to Mich. 1784 he was absent, except twice, from College meetings: and later, still oftener absent. He was presented to Croxton 1 Dec. 1784, in the room of Edw. Mapletoft: held it till 1796. Presented to Brisley (succeeding the Master) 7 Apr. 1788: his Fellowship was declared vacant 9 May 1789. He held Brisley, like Croxton till 1796: in 1795 he became rector of Maulden, Beds. On 13 June 1789 he had been collated to a prebend (Ketton) at Lincoln. In 1808 March 12 he became Chancellor of Lincoln. He died 26 Apr. 1814 at Rodborough on his way to Bath: so the obituary in Gent. Mag. which calls him "a man of genuine taste and extensive literature [sic] who had travelled and observed much."

Stanley, George Edward: son of Edward: born at Ponsonby, Cumberland. School: Eton, under Dr Barnard. Admitted fellow-commoner under Messrs Shepherd and Backhouse 25 Oct. 1766. Age 17.

Matriculated 1768 March: resided till Lady Day 1769: paid 3*s.* 0*d.* a quarter till Mids. 1771. Admitted at the Middle Temple 29 Apr. 1771. Probably great-grandson of the Professor of Medicine: but not son of Christopher, admitted 1738 (whom see), if it be correct that he died childless.

Maule, John:

Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist 1782: the same, and Steward and Preacher (Bunting, Knapwell and Walkhampton)

1783. Senior Dean 1785, 1789 (and Bunting, Knapwell and Walkhampton Preacher). Hebrew Lecturer 1790. Tutor with Parkinson and Lane 1789–90: with Lane to Xmas 1791. Presented to Fen Drayton 6 Apr. 1786; he signed the register there four times in four years: to Clipston, on the death of Joshua Wigley 15 Dec. 1790: and again 27 Feb. 1805 to have the Seal for presentation "if desired by him." He was twice instituted, 11 Apr. 1791 and 10 April 1805. Fellowship declared vacant 26 May 1792. Frequently mentioned by Gunning: once as "a particular friend of Milner" (of Queens')—of whom Gunning had a low opinion. A scene in the Combination Room about 1786—characteristic of the disorderly habits of the time, for which Metcalfe was partly responsible, is given by Gunning (1. 45). Metcalfe may have had some preferment in the North: at all events he died away from Clipston. In the Clipston Register there is a curious note. "N.B. July 3 1812, Mr Metcalf rector of Clipston more than 20 years, dyed 15 June 1812 in his own county, and left behind him an excellent character there [But at Clipston the poor do not boast of his charities]: he was a very excellent landlord and very affable to his parishioners high and low." The words within brackets have been imperfectly obliterated.

When I saw Dr Seale in Town a few days ago we had some conversation on the subject of Mr Kaye. It would be much to be lamented if so deserving a young man, who has already conferred so much credit on our College, and whose abilities must be considered a source of real advantage to it, should be precluded from all Chance of receiving the Reward, which his Pretensions would otherwise give him a fair Title to expect. To enable him, at least to offer himself to the College as a Candidate for their favour, I beg leave to notify to you my wish to resign my Fellowship. Whatever may be the Determination of the College on this Subject, which it would not become to anticipate, I flatter myself they will consider the Step which I am taking as dictated by a sincere regard for their Welfare, for which on many Considerations I shall always feel the liveliest Interest. Probably migrated from Emmanuel for a Fellowship as a Derbyshire man: elected (in place of John Law) 2 June 1774. Ordained deacon, Lambeth, 1774 Sept.: priest, Ely, Nov. 19, and instituted to P.C. of Quy with Stow. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, and Steward 1776. Custos cistae 1777. Walkhampton Preacher 1778, 1784. Bunting and Knapwell Preacher, 1779, 1784. Praelector and Junior Dean 1781, 1784. Senior Greek Lecturer, Hebrew Lecturer, and Mildmay Preacher 1781–3. Steward 1784. Senior Dean 1786, 1802. Whitehall Preacher 1783. F.R.S. Tutor with T. Parkinson 1777–88. Gunning says that he lectured in Classics, Moral Philosophy and Logic: published his Greek Metres (1785) and Analysis of Greek Metres (which went through eleven editions) 1789: Gunning found him very interesting except when he lectured on his special subject: partly perhaps because he illustrated his lectures by reference to persons whom he disliked, including the Master: but Gunning mentions his kindness to all his pupils, especially those who wished to learn. Porteus, who became Bishop of London in 1787, did not appoint Seale as his chaplain, to Seale's disappointment: but Archbishop Cornwallis took him soon after. At Lambeth he did not succeed owing to "an unfortunate peculiarity of temper"—viz. quarrelling with the servants of any friend with whom he lived. The Archbishop speedily presented him to the vicarage of Stisted (12 June 1792) worth £500 a year. Hence arose Dr Milner's famous interpretation. Seale who was on very friendly terms with Milner (according to Gunning because he supported Milner warmly in the Frend affair: see page 303: but that was later). Their connexion dates back to the Grace prohibiting private tutors. A pamphlet called the Triumph of Dulness (1781) attacks the Grace, which it calls "an abortion dropped from the brain of Mr C— [Carr of St John's] and licked into shape by the gigantic bear of Queens' [Isaac Milner]...Unfortunately neither of them understanding any language but his mother tongue they turned it over to Mr S— [Seale] to put it into a Roman garb. I need not add a comment on this gentleman: he has been famous in the annals of literature from the time he preached a certain funeral sermon to the display of his classical medal at D— [Derby] assembly." (I owe this to Mr G. Chawner of King's.) Did Seale wear his medal about his neck? He applied to Milner (as V.C.) to state whether as one of the five Senior Preachers he might not retain his Fellowship, with Stisted, as being "intra viginti milliaria." Stisted, by any then available road, must be nearly 40 miles. Milner declared, reasonably, that by miles English, not Roman, must be understood: though this seems not to have been the previous view: that, as in Lambeth dispensations 30 miles were supposed to mean 45, so here 20 meant 30. Lastly that the distance must be computed in a straight line from 1½ miles beyond the nearest parish in Cambridge, to the nearest point in Stisted. By these means the distance was reduced to just 30 miles: and Seale held it till his death; though two years later Tho. Browne appealed to the V.C. Dr Cory, who confirmed Milner's decision (see papers in Muniment Room, "Misc." drawer, Ae.: Gunning, 1. 273): Browne probably regarded Seale as a dangerous rival for the Mastership, after Dr Barker's death. However on 16 Oct. 1805, Seale accepted a presentation by the College to Anstye, vacant by the death of Edm. Mapletoft: it was worth £400 a year. Seale chose to reside there rather than at Stisted: and he did so for 33 years, dying 11 August 1838, at the age of 85. Gunning (1. 20) gives a melancholy picture of his latter years as passed chiefly "in inferior society," instead of that of the neighbouring clergy and gentry. "He had filled with great credit the situation of Tutor, and of Deputy Professor of Divinity, and might (had he been a man of sound discretion) have risen to the highest offices in the Church." While at Christ's he occupied the first floor rooms at the S. corner of the first court (afterwards occupied by C. S. Calverley) and now absorbed in the Library.

(Gunning says that there was a dispute as to who should be senior Tutor, Hopkins, who (he says) came into residence to be Tutor and was six years elder to Lane, or Lane who was already acting as Tutor: and that Mr Oldershaw of Emm., as arbitrator, decided in favour of Lane.) The record of the admission of the pupils of Hopkins and Lane is scandalously bad: Browne, who had pupils of his own during the time, entered these himself, quite properly. On 29 May 1805 by College Order, Hopkins received the so-called "Bourne pension" of £200 a year. The object of this curious arrangement, due to Tho. Browne (whom see, page 314) was (so far as I understand it) a "rapid succession" to a College Living, i.e. to a Fellow's pension: the holder of the pension was to vacate his fellowship with the right of institution to the vicarage of Bourn, when vacant: he was never to hold both. The money was to come—and did in Hopkins' case (there was no other holder of it)—from the improved value of the impropriate rectory of Bourn. Hopkins bound himself by a statement on the same page of the Order Book, that he would resign his fellowship within a year. His fellowship was declared vacant 14 Jan. 1806. In May 1807, the vicarage of Bourn was vacant by the death of Edm. Trant, who held it with Toft. Hopkins was not presented to it—and he received the pension—for no service whatever—till Lady Day 1831—a curious bit of history. In 1809–10 he acted as curate at Lubenham near Market Harborough: but he seems to have held no benefice, and I cannot trace him further. Subscribed, March 1806, to the statue of Will. Pitt for the Senate House.

B.A. (2nd wrangler, 2nd Smith's Prize) 1780 ; M.A. (Jesus) 1783. Admitted scholar 25 May 1776. Fellow and Tutor of Jesus 1781. Born 22 Nov. 1757 at Canterbury, son of Geo. Frend, tradesman and twice Mayor : "Reformer and Scientific Writer" (D.N.B.). Vicar of Long Stanton All Saints 22 Dec. 1783. Became a Unitarian 1787 : was removed from his tutorship. Published an Address to the Inhabitants of Cambridge, 1787 in support of Unitarianism. Engaged, 1790, on a new translation of the Old Testament (historical books) as part of a translation of the Bible devised by Priestley. Published, 1793, Peace and Union recommended to the Associated bodies of Republicans and anti-republicans—an attack on the liturgy and some of the abuses of the Church of England: for this he was prosecuted in the Vice-Chancellor's (Is. Milner's) court. An account of the proceedings is given by Gunning, 1. 280. Gunning was sympathetic towards Frend and hostile to Milner: he maintains that Milner was from the first resolved to condemn Frend, and declares that the prosecution was on political grounds, Milner desiring to distinguish himself as the opponent of Jacobinism, which (according to Gunning) was practically non-existent at Cambridge. Frend was ordered to confess his errors—and declining to do so was banished from the University. He was also excluded from his College: but nevertheless he remained a member of it all his life and a Fellow till his marriage: and he was even a member of the senate: the sentence of expulsion was of doubtful validity. He settled in London, and promoted the formation of the Rock Life Assurance Company, of which he was actuary. He married in 1808 a daughter of Archdeacon Fra. Blackburne. The rest of his life was filled with the writing of books of the most varied character; on taxation in general and the income-tax, of which he advocated a graduated system; on the slave trade; on mathematics; and on universal education. He had always the courage of his opinion: and some of the indiscretion which often goes therewith. "As a unitarian and a whig he gloried in the spread of the opinions which he advocated. All reformers, such as Burdett and Horne Tooke, were numbered among his friends, and he maintained an active correspondence with the chief supporters of radicalism" (D.N.B.). He was attacked by paralysis in 1840—and died at his house, Tavistock Square, 21 Feb. 1841, aged 83.

But he died "unexpectedly" (ib.) at Bath in June 1796, aged 35. His death was a great loss to the Society, which was then unusually weak: Wall, the senior, was old and infirm: Seale and N. C. Lane "had little weight": and the rest except Browne were undistinguished and largely non-resident.

M.B. 1785; M.D. (Emm.) 1790: F.S.A. 1783; F.R.S. 1784. Second son of John Harwood of Newmarket. Professor of Anatomy 1785–1814. Downing Professor of Medicine 1800–1814. Married 1798 the daughter of Sir John Peschell who lived near Oxford—for the marriage see Gunning, 2. 95–7, but had no children. Knighted 1806. Had theories on transfusion of the blood, which he illustrated by experiments on animals at his lectures. He published nothing. Died at Downing 10 Nov. 1814.

According to Gunning he was on good terms with the Society of Christ's—a fact which does not increase the credit of the Society, if Gunning's account (1. 49) of a scene in the Combination room in 1788 is not exaggerated—who were surprised at his migration to Emmanuel: the ostensible reason was that he got very good rooms there, with the large garden: Gunning believed that he wished to increase his chance of promotion by joining a noted Tory college, as Emmanuel was then under Dr Farmer: he had previously been known as a Whig: now he commonly spent his evenings in Emmanuel parlour: but he still dined in vacation time at Christ's. He had a curious habit of having dinner laid each day in term for half a dozen guests whom he collected in his morning walk: they dined at 2, and the guests generally went with the Professor to his lecture-room at 4.

Son of John Lane, of King's Bromley, Staffs. by his wife Sarah Fowler of Penford. Elected Fellow, succeeding Edm. Mapletoft, 7 Dec. 1785.

Ordained deacon, Ely, 1785 Dec.: priest, Peterborough, 1787 June. Vicar of Alveston, Warw. 1789, probably the "small family living" mentioned by Gunning (Davy). Praelector (always absolutely bad) Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting, Knapwell and Walkhampton Preacher, and Steward 1786. Hebrew Lecturer 1786–8. Custos cistae 1788. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist 1790, 1792, 1793. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1791–3. Bunting, Knapwell and Walkhampton Preacher 1796. Never Senior Dean. He was Tutor 1790 with Parkinson and Metcalfe: 1790–2 with Metcalfe: 1792–9 with Hopkins: but for the greater part of these times the record is scandalously bad, even the names of the Tutors being omitted: and he is largely responsible. On 6 June 1810 he was presented to Ingoldsby: his fellowship was declared vacant 28 May 1811. The College had difficulty with him after his departure. On 27 Oct. 1813 there is a College Order "that Mr Lane be made to account for the sum paid him for dilapidations": on 5 November it was agreed that if Mr Lane consent to repay the £500 received by him and agree to pay £25 annually to be added to the £500 to form a fund for the building of a Rectory house, further proceedings against him be suspended. Nothing more occurs. Browne, then Master, had always been on bad terms with Lane. Gunning (2. 235) says of Lane that "his address was pleasing and his manner gentlemanly but his acquaintance was chiefly with men of dissipated habits and sporting propensities: he occasionally ran a horse himself"—one named "Cribbage." Local tradition at Ingoldsby says that he bred horses there. A college was not fortunate which had at the same time for three of its resident Fellows, Seale, Lane and Browne. He died at Ingoldsby 6 Mar. 1846, aged 83.

Matthew, the son, was ordained deacon, Norwich, 1784 Dec.; licensed to Scoulton: priest, 1786 Oct.

A nephew of Dr Shepherd. Gunning gives a very evil character of him: "Had his industry and his conduct borne any proportion to his talents, he would have been one of the most distinguished men in the University: but he was the idlest of the idle, and so low a profligate that even in those days when the standard of morals was not very high, he was shunned by all the men of his own standing" (1. 33). Gunning goes on to describe the way in which Tunstal made money out of those who were younger and did not know him. He stood unsuccessfully for a Fellowship—probably in Jan. 1787: was obliged to leave College, and went to America, where he became assistant in a school (ib.).

degree or college) ordained deacon, Chester, 2 Jan. 1779; priest 6 Jan. and licensed P.C. of Ingleton Fell, Yorks. Appointed 1787 chaplain to Bishop Porteus—much to the disgust of his tutor, J. B. Seale, who had looked for the post: he nicknamed Ormerod "the Queen's Bishop's pawn" (Gunning, 1. 20): this preferment, when he was only just M.A., implies that his age was above the average. Prebendary of St Paul's (Neasden) 30 Nov. 1789–92, when he resigned. Rector of Great Birch, Essex: had dispensation 12 Dec. 1791 to hold also the vicarage of Keldon [? 1791. He was curate of Great St Andrew's 1792–6: on 5 March 1794 he was appointed by the Senate P.C. of Seaton Ross, Yorks. after a contest with Nic. Bourne, Fellow of St John's: but he certainly never left Cambridge. In 1796 he held for a year the rectory of Beerferris for his pupil Hen. L. Hobart, who was under the necessary age. Praelector—the only fairly good one in the space of nine years—Junior Dean and Catechist 1791 3, 1794–6, 1797, 1802. Bunting, Knapwell and Walkhampton Preacher 1793, 1797. Steward 1795, 1797, 1802. Hebrew Lecturer 1797–9. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1798–1800. Senior Dean 1801, 1804, 1805, 1806, 1807. Hebrew Lecturer again 1805—the last time when this appointment, which implied the smallest—if any—acquaintance with Hebrew, appears in the Order Book. Elected Master, on the death of the octogenarian Dr Barker, 1 March 1808: he had been virtually Master and managed the College business for ten years before. Our knowledge of Browne's career at Cambridge is drawn mainly from Gunning, who assigns him a long chapter (vol. 2. 226–64): Gunning regards himself as having been deceived by Browne, but I see no reason to doubt the general fairness of his story: his personal grievances may be omitted here. He describes Browne when a young man as "very prepossessing, and his manners particularly agreeable"; but given to practical jokes (specimens at 227–230): he was popular with the Society (except Seale and Lane): but in the Senate he had some strong enemies: in 1793 he was nominated (by an irregularity for which he was not to blame) as Taxor: Lane took formal objection, and after great excitement Lane was elected against Browne, who was certainly a better man of business (ib. 232–5). He took pupils, generally men of good position, at first alone: then with J. Hopkins 1798–1806: then for two years with J. Maul. The feeling against him in the University was again manifested in 1809, after he became Master, when he was nominated for the Vice-Chancellorship: Isaac Milner was put up against him and elected after a sharp contest: see my History of Christ's, 271; the story is not told by Gunning: the reason given for the opposition would hardly have sufficed, though Browne had behaved disingenuously: he then brought (and dropped) an action for slander, against G. C. Renouard of Sidney. In 1811 he was elected without opposition. In finance Browne was before his time: he first urged that beneficial leases should be abolished. In 1797 he has probably the credit of the non-renewal of the Bourn fine (see under John Hopkins, 1774) with a view to the "Bourn pension": and again, in 1809, he got the Society to agree to run out the great Diseworth lease: after his death, the Society reverted to the old easier and uneconomic system: and the Diseworth beneficial lease survived for seventy years. Browne believed, no doubt sincerely, in the possibility of greatly raising the income from Bourn by better management. He lived there largely and occupied himself in the enclosure of the parish. His influence over the Society was supreme, and no enquiry was made into his procedure. They became suspicious when no rents were received from Bourn: and in 1813 they appealed to the Visitor. Enquiries made to support the appeal showed that Browne had led an immoral life at Bourn. The Society, led by the two tutors, J. Maul and J. Kaye, moved the Visitor to declare the Mastership vacant: which was done August 1814. It was decided that Dr Browne owed the Society £1200, or more: but they remitted the payment, probably on condition that Browne should depart peaceably. Browne retired to Gorleston, to which he had been presented by Mrs Catharine Astley, widow 3 Aug. 1808 and again 24 Feb. 1813. He died vicar April 1832, aged 65. For the rest of his acts, see Gunning (ut supra).

Had dispensation 29 Dec. 1802 to hold also the rectory of Sylattin (now Selattyn), Salop, worth £380; distant seven miles. Richard, the father (who was B.A. (Trin.) 1737, and vicar of Bingley 1740–83) married Ann, daughter of John Perkins, M.D., of Netherton, Wakefield. Gunning mentions the son, who was a little his senior, as having saved him from entire idleness, and as "an excellent classic, a hard reading man, and of irreproachable character." Ordained deacon, Rochester, 1789 Apr. Head-master of the grammar school, Bingley 1791–1836: a very successful teacher. Vicar of Bingley 1795. Copley Medallist of the Royal Society 1804. Farmed successfully land in Somerset. Professor of Chemistry at Cambridge 1813. Died, by an accident, near Boulogne 22 Feb. 1815. "A man of wide culture, and of severe taste in literature and arts... though his published work is small in volume it includes several [chemical] discoveries of capital importance." (D.N.B.) Gunning has a good story about him (2. 60). A friend who was to travel with him from Cambridge to France, knowing his unpunctuality, ordered a post-chaise, being sure that Tennant would not be in time for the London coach. When the chaise arrived, Tennant had neither breakfasted nor packed: he drank his tea, and proceeded to pack. Putting his tablecloth on the floor he emptied into it all his linen: taking a second tablecloth, he put therein clothes, boots and brushes: fastened them up as a laundress does, and was ready to start.

Gunning, Henry: son of Francis: born at Triplow, Cambs. School: Sleaford, under Mr Waterson. Admitted sizar under Messrs Parkinson and Seale 2 July 1784. Age 17 [?].

B.A. (5th wrangler) 1788; M.A. 1791. Admitted scholar 1 Dec. 1784. Born 13 Feb. 1768. His father was a Fellow of St John's; then vicar of Triplow, and of Newton and Hauxton (all contiguous). He mentions in his Reminiscences that he was first at school at Ely, under Jeffrey Bentham, a Minor Canon. His account of the education given in the College and of its general condition is very interesting, but should be read in his book. Elected Esquire Bedell 13 Oct. 1789: he held the office for 64 years with much credit: one of his early colleagues was John Beverley (1763) and his account of Beverley is not the least amusing of his reminiscences. He was a Whig of somewhat advanced views, which he thought hindered his advance in life: in the days of Isaac Milner's supremacy at Cambridge, a reputation, deserved or not, for Jacobinism had at least social penalties. He married a Miss Bertram at Lakenham 4 Aug. 1794: by whom he had several sons of whom only one survived him: his grandson [?] Hen. Will. Gunning admitted 1849 was drowned in the Cam in his first term. He died at Brighton 4 Jan. 1854, having almost completed his 86th year.

Gunning kept memoranda of University and College matters in his earlier years. These, he tells us, he destroyed while suffering from a dangerous illness in fear lest they were too personal. He dictated the contents of the two volumes, published 1854, from memory, when more than 80 years of age. Certainly, they are in the main personal—but most of the persons referred to—they end 1830—were long dead. If sometimes inaccurate (as was natural) they throw valuable light on University life at a curious period. Probably if he had kept his memoranda, the record would have been similar in character, though here and there more exact. He re-edited in 1828 Adam Wall's Ceremonies of the University. Portrait by Woodhouse in the Combination room.

Wallace, James: son of John: born in London. School: Harrow, under Dr Heath. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Parkinson and Seale 5 July 1784. Age 18.

The family was long settled at Theddingworth, Leics.: a pedigree in Nichols (II. ii. 832) in which are some Bernards, does not come down far enough.

Died rector of Tattingstone 1834, aged 67 (Davy): when a John Garwood Bull (B.A. (Pet.) 1814) was appointed: perhaps his son. Browne was with Astley at the Hague, from whence he visited Melton Constable—forming a friendship very useful to him in the future.

"Legal and miscellaneous writer and philanthropist" (ib.). Natural son of John, fourth Earl of Sandwich by Martha Ray: acknowledged by his father. "Unfortunately," says Gunning, "there were several persons in College who were most agreeable, companionable men, but all remarkably idle. Basil Montagu, Bob. Porteus (nephew of the Bishop of London), Geo. Leapingwell, Tom Bullen, and Joe Tayler were my chief associates." Montagu was remarkably able, and, if generally idle, had fits of hard-reading during which he never passed the College gates, as Gunning also states. Gunning tells several tales of his eccentricity (1. 157–161)—one how he came up to vote for Gunning as Esquire Bedell, and how "Montagu and his friend started off on foot, carrying a Stilton cheese, which they agreed to take in turn, to proceed to Huntingdon to meet the Lincoln coach." Montagu was intimate with Coleridge and Wordsworth, and shared their ideas in 1789. He was called to the Bar in 1798, went the Norfolk circuit, and got a good practice in London in chancery and bankruptcy. King's Counsel 1835, and soon after, accountant-general in bankruptcy. He married thrice (1) in 1790 Caroline M. Want of Brampton, Hunts., (2) in 1801 at Glasgow, Laura, daughter of Sir Will. B. Rush, (3) a Mrs Skepper, widow, of York, called by Edward Irving "the noble lady," and criticised by Carlyle. He died at Boulogne 27 Nov. 1851.

His legal and "miscellaneous" works are recorded in the D.N.B.: they are far too numerous to be given here. His Digest of the Bankruptcy Laws, 1805–7 is one of the most notable. He edited Bacon's Works in 16 volumes (1825–37) reviewed by Macaulay (Edinburgh Review, July 1837). He gave to the University a valuable collection of editions of Bacon's works.

After a Commencement Ball he entertained 200 [?] guests at breakfast in his rooms in the New Building and afterwards in the Fellows' Garden. Gunning speaks also of the strictness and regularity of his life after taking Orders. Ordained deacon, Gloucester (by lit. dim. from Canterbury), 2 Feb. 1796: priest, Feb. 24: licensed to cure of Ulcombe, Kent, with a stipend of £50. Vicar of Leigh, Lancs. (patron, the Hon. Tho. Maul, John: son of Richard: born at Reading, Berks. School: Reading, under Mr Valpy. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Parkinson, Metcalfe and Lane 11 June 1789. Age 19.

B.A. (16th wrangler) 1793; M.A. 1797. One John Maule (probably the same) licensed to Swilland, Suffolk 23 Sept. 1793 98. Admitted scholar (Finch and Baines) 17 Dec. 1789. Elected Fellow, on the death of Adam Wall, 11 July 1798. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting, Knapwell and Walkhampton Preacher, and Steward 1799, 1804, 1806, 1809. Hebrew Lecturer 1801–3. Steward 1808. Senior Dean 1808, 1810–15. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1808–10. The frequency of the appointment of Maul and of John Doncaster to the office of Dean, shows the lack of resident and perhaps of competent—Fellows at this time. Tutor (succeeding Hopkins) with Browne 1806–8, and with John Kaye 1808–14. Subscribed Mar. 1806 to the statue of Will. Pitt in the Senate House. On 6 June 1810 he received by College Order the tithes of Hapton for three years at a rent of £50 a year: I have not observed any similar order before, and I think that the lessee of Hapton in the earlier days had the tithes gratis, providing for the service. Senior Proctor 1809–10: Taxor 1810–11: Scrutator 1811–12. He was one of the few Fellows of much character in the first decade of the 19th century: and Gunning tells how he was the only one who ventured to call upon the Master, Dr Browne, for an account of his expenditure, though he had warmly supported Browne when he was rejected for the Vice-Chancellorship in 1808, and again in 1811. Supported by Kaye (who was 11 years his junior) he headed the revolt of the Fellows against Browne in 1813. He was presented to Brisley and Gateley (in place of Weaver Walter) 13 May 1814, three months before Browne's expulsion; the administration of the College property during the interregnum was entrusted to Maul, by Order of 26 Aug. 1814. He must have had some claim to the Mastership, but whether he waived it in favour of Kaye, and whether the Society was unanimous in taking Kaye, does not appear. He seems to have remained in College till his Fellowship was declared vacant, at the end of his year of grace 19 June 1815. He added some land to the glebe at Brisley, for which the College allowed him £100, on 28 Oct. 1818. Prebendary of Lincoln (Long Stow) 13 June 1828. Died at Brisley 13 May 1838, aged 67. Had sons, John Compton (1832) and Spencer Woodfield (1843).

Pearce, George: admitted 28 July 1789.

In Study-rents till Midsr. 1790. Probably migrated to Corpus, where a George Pearce was B.A. 1794.

Had special license 27 Nov. 1813 to hold also the vicarage of Cameringham, near Lincoln, worth £137 a year, distant not more than 30 miles. Both livings were vacant in 1842.

Dayrell, Marmaduke: admitted 31 Oct. 1789.

On the list in Study-rents, as fellow-commoner, till Mids^{r}. 1790. Readmitted 21 Oct. 1790—in neither case with any facts. Probably resided till Mids^{r}. 1792. Born 1770, son of Marmaduke (1740) of Shudy Camps: succeeded his father 1790. Married 1797 Rebecca, daughter of Sir Rob. Langley, bar^{t}., sister to Lord Wenlock, by whom he had three sons and one daughter. Died August 1821: succeeded by his son the Rev. Tho. Dayrell. He was the last of the five members of the family entered at this College. Portrait (miniature) in the Combination Room.

Harrison, Thomas:

Paley, grandson of Charles (1726), great-grandson of Charles (1690—a hundred years before). Ordained deacon, Lambeth, 1796 Oct.; licensed to Newchurch, Kent—to receive £26. 5*s.* a year from his father, the vicar. Rector of Shadoxhurst, Kent 26 June 1801. Vicar of North Shoebury, Essex 24 Feb. 1806. Died 1829 (Davy). I do not know whether Will. Stoddart, son of John, clerk, of Northampton and admitted 1819, was a member of this family, whose record at this College was so remarkable.

Ogle, Henry Bertram: son of Newton, Dean of Winchester: born at Winchester. School: Winchester, under Mr Wharton. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Parkinson, Metcalfe and Lane 22 May 1790. Age 15 [?].

B.A. (4th jun. opt.) 1794; M.A. 1797. Admitted scholar 6 Dec. 1792. Broke his leg by a fall from his horse, and died in consequence, 12 Sept. 1808, aged 38. Father of W. W. Fisher, M.D., Downing Professor of Medicine 1841–74 (Canon Raine in Yorks. Arch. Journal, 6. 194).

Gilpin, Bernard: son of William: born at Whitehaven, Cumberland. School: Cheam, Surrey, under Mr Gilpin. Admitted sizar under Messrs Parkinson, Metcalfe and Lane 3 July 1790. Age not given.

B.A. 1794; M.A. 1797. Admitted scholar 16 Dec. 1790. Son of Will. Gilpin by his wife Eliz., daughter of Rob. Hodgson of Whitehaven (Hunter, F.M.G. 1101): born 20 Oct. 1772. Ordained deacon, Ely, 1795 May: priest, Sept. He was curate of Boxworth, Cambs. 1795–1800. Elected Fellow, succeeding Joh. Grisdale, 18 June 1806. Custos cistae 1809, 1814, 1828–9. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1812–14. Senior Dean 1815, 1817–1827. He must have been senior of the resident Fellows from about 1815, for Peter Fraser did not reside much. Rector of Newton-le-Wold, Lincs. 24 Mar. 1807—but did not reside. Rector of Hertford St Andrew 15 Jan. 1829: apparently both of these were tenable with a Fellowship. Presented 18 Jan. 1832 to the rectory of Burnham Westgate, on the death of Mr Glasse (not of Christ's). Fellowship declared vacant 18 Mar. 1833. Died 26 Dec. 1848, aged 76. Author: (with W. H. Valpy) Anthologia Sacra or select Theological extracts, 1832: also of some poems.

Fraser, Peter [Lovett]: son of Peter: born at Richmond. School: Richmond, under Mr Temple. Admitted sizar under Messrs Parkinson, Metcalfe and Lane 16 Sept. 1790. Age 17.

B.A. (13th sen. opt.) 1795; M.A. 1798. Admitted scholar (P. Lovett Fraser) 8 Dec. 1791. Ordained deacon, Norwich, 1795 Sept.; licensed to Haverhill: priest, London, 1797 Dec. He was elected a Finch and Baines Fellow (in place of T. Toke) 15 Dec. 1802: Lady Marg. Fellow, succeeding John Hanley, 1 Nov. 1813—the time of the Browne episode: and his name appears at the meetings till past Kaye's election: afterwards very rarely, and I doubt whether he ever resided as a Fellow: he never held any College office. On 27 Feb. 1824 he was instituted to the vicarage of Bromley St Leonards, Midds. on the presentation of J. Walter, proprietor of the Times: he resigned it 1849. He was chaplain to H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge. On 7 Jan. 1831 he was presented by the College absolutely (Lord Berkeley having neglected to exercise his right) to the rectory of Kegworth (on the death of Tho. Parkinson): and a fortnight later Bishop Kaye appointed him to the prebend of Stow in Lindsay, Lincoln. He held both till his death 12 Oct. 1852. The Camb. Chron. 23 Oct. 1852 records his amiability and "the unfailing charm of his society": also that "the inhabitants of Kegworth have lost a most liberal and kind benefactor and friend."

It was as a writer for the Times that he made his mark. In Crabb Robinson's Diary (1. 292, the year 1809) there appears: "the writer of the great leaders—the flash articles which made a noise—was Peter Fraser....He used to sit in Walter's parlour and write his articles after dinner. He was never made known as editor or writer, and would probably have thought it a degradation: but he was prime adviser and friend, and continued to write long after I had ceased to do so. He was a man of general ability and when engaged for the Times was a powerful writer." In 1842 Robinson says that T.R. (to whom he is writing) will alone understand the soubriquet of Ben. Cork which H.C.R gave Fraser: we cannot.

lection of chronicles, histories and memoirs in English, French and Italian: also a bust of himself. Portrait (engraving) in the Combination-room.

Author: four sermons, published separately, 1816–40: a volume of sermons, London, 1829 (under the pseudonym Aristogeiton); an Address to the Baptists on the tenets of their religion: by Aristogeiton, Loughborough, 1835: an Address to the inhabitants of Loughborough...on the erection of a Roman Catholic chapel in that town, by Aristogeiton (advertisement signed P.F.), Loughborough, 3rd ed^{n}. 1835, new ed^{n}. London 1839: Farewell to the Pope! or motives of separation from the Church of Rome, translated by P.F., London, 1846 (from the French of J. J. Maurette). After his death, was published Bromley, St Leonard, Parish church: Psalms and Hymns: portions of the Psalms of David, selected by P.F., 1857, 12mo. (Information from G. Chawner, M.A., King's College.)

Smith, George: [no facts: Praelector (as well as Tutor) N. C. Lane, who must bear the chief blame for the scandalous deficiences of our Admission Book, by setting an example which others followed]. Admitted 27 Oct. 1790.

B.A. 1795 (when he also matriculated as pensioner).

Jenkins, Henry: admitted 30 Oct. 1790.

Appears (3*s.* 0*d.* a quarter) in Study-rents till Lady Day 1802. Perhaps a ten-year-man who never reached his B.D. degree. One Hen. Jenkins, but called D.D. by Le Neve (3. 36)—not found at either University—perhaps he had a Lambeth degree—was Prebendary of Winchester 5 Feb. 1810–1818, when he died.

Coupland, Peter: admitted 4 Nov. 1790.

B.A. 1795; M.A. 1798. Admitted scholar (Lancs.) 16 Dec. 1790. A pensioner under Messrs Parkinson, Metcalfe and Lane. Baptised 16 Aug. 1772: son of Richard Coupland, gent., of Ormskirk, who died 1791. Educated at Manchester grammar school (Chetham Soc^{y}. lxxiii). Married and had at least four sons. Took Orders comparatively late. Ordained deacon, Chester, 1813 Sept.; licensed to Northenden, Cheshire. Died at Manchester 1815. His brother, Thomas, LL.B. (Trin. Hall) 1797 died at Lisbon where he had gone for his health in 1809.

Doncaster, John: admitted 16 Feb. 1791.

B.A. (13th wrangler, 1st Chancellor's Medallist) 1794; M.A. 1797; D.D. 1816. Matriculated sizar at Trinity 17 Dec. 1790, aged 16, son of John of Nottingham: educated at Oakham, under Dr Orme, where in Sept. 1788 he delivered as his speech part of Pericles' funeral oration "before a very numerous and elegant audience." (Camb. Chron. 13 Sept. 1788.) Admitted scholar (Notts.) 23 Mar. 1791. Browne's Medallist 1795. Ordained deacon, Lambeth, 1794 Dec. Elected Fellow (succeeding Geo. Hunter) 6 July 1796. Custos cistae 1797. Praelector (one of the very worst then and always). Junior Dean and Catechist, Bunting, Walkhampton and Knapwell Preacher, and Steward 1797, 1803, 1805. Hebrew Lecturer 1799–1801. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1800–2, 1807. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist 1807. Lecturer at Great St Andrew's July 1798–1804: curate of Fen Drayton 1802–8. Subscribed to the statue of Will. Pitt in Senate House, Mar. 1806. Master of Oakham School August 1808 (stipend £80 and a house), but allowed to retain his Fellowship under the old statute "De Dei cultu," &c., which permitted a Fellow "egredi ad docendam grammaticam in aliqua parte Angliae." Presented by the College to Navenby (on the death of David Potts) 19 Feb. 1814: this cost him his Fellowship 20 May 1815. On 29 May 1816 he married

Eliz., daughter of William Wright, Esq. of Spalding, Lincs. Many years later, on 26 Jan. 1843, he took as a second wife a Miss Nettleship of Culland, Derby. He remained Master of Oakham till 1846. The school prospered under him: he found a house with no boarders. In 1836 there were 43. Among his pupils were Bishops Atlay and Ellicott, and Percival Frost (2nd wrangler 1848). He was chaplain of the gaol and always gave the school a half-holiday for an execution: Bp. Ellicott remembered that he was taken on the scaffold, and pushed forward to see the drop, by Dr D. himself. (W. L. Sargant, Headmaster 1905.) He retained his vigour to a great age: he was in the College in 1857, walking firmly. He died 5 Oct. 1858, aged 86. (Information from G. Chawner, M.A., of King's College.)

Burford, William John: admitted 12 March 1791.

Frank Penny) son of John Pinney (originally Pretor) who was a merchant of Bristol, and changed his name on inheriting the estates at Bettiscombe of Joh. Fre. Pinney; was High Sheriff of Dorset and died 1818. Joh. Fre. Pinney, of Bettiscombe (died 1762) was originally of the Isle of Nevis, and grandson of Azariah Pinney (see under John Pinney 1673); came to England on succeeding to Bettiscombe, and was M.P. for Bridport. Azariah, of Christ's, is not given in Burke, L.G. but is probably the "Azariah Pinney, 2nd son of John Pinney, Esq. of Somerton, co. Somerset" who died 1803. (Gent. Mag.) A Will. Pinney (admitted 1846) was grandson of Joh. Azariah of Blackdown, Dorset.

Watkins, Henry: admitted 26 March 1794.

B.A. 1798. Admitted scholar (as of Yorkshire) 26 Mar. 1795. Born 1775, perhaps son of Henry Watkins (1760), who lived till 1829. I cannot ascertain which of the two was rector of Barmbrough, Yorks. 1815–29 (or–30). Ordained priest, York, 1801 July. Vicar of Beckingham, Notts. 1802 (according to Clergy List): and vicar of Silkstone, Yorks. 1835, probably held both till his death 13 Dec. 1844. Married in March 1803 Frances M. Bower of Killerby Hall, Yorks., by whom he had three sons and three daughters.

At the Clergy Orphan school 26 Feb. 1784. Ordained deacon, Ely, 1799 June; licensed to Hardwick: priest, 1800 Dec. Elected Fellow, succeeding Hen. Hasted, 2 May 1804. He held no office: signs regularly in 1804–7 and 1809–10: and may have resided then. Fellowship declared vacant 24 Oct. 1811 probably because of his marriage with Eliz. Lucas: he had a son William, born 6 July 1813. Minister of Walcot chapel Bath, as appears in the entry of his son Feb. 1821 at his old school. He died at Sidmouth, aged 39, 29 Oct. 1815 and was buried there. His son was an artist of some merit, illustrated Shuckburgh's British Coleoptera, and died unmarried at Northampton about 1840.

Walmsley, John: admitted 11 Oct. 1794. [For this and for the next year Thomas Browne was praelector and followed the example of N. C. Lane: the two were hostile; Lane (whose pupils the men were) probably gave Browne no information: they must share the blame.]

B.A. 1798, having matriculated only 8 Apr. 1797. School: Eton. Kept two terms at Sidney. Fellow-commoner under Messrs Hopkins and Lane. Son of John Walmsley of the Hall of Ince, Lancs., High Sheriff for Lancs., and of Mary, daughter of Will. Shaw of Singleton: born 28 Dec. 1775. Married (1) Hannah, daughter of Chris. Conron of co. Cork, by whom he had three sons and one daughter: (2) in 1812 Ellen, daughter of Ri. G. Long of Rood Ashton, Wilts., by whom he had two sons and one daughter (Burke, L.G.). Died 1860.

hold also the rectory of East Horsley, Surrey, 25 May 1820 (worth £250), distant 26 miles. Held both till his death 4 July 1824. According to the Lambeth Register he was ordained at Oxford, deacon, 1775 June: priest, London, 1776 Dec. These dates suit another Oxonian, John Owen, of Jesus, son of Lewis, of Bodwink, Anglesey, B.A. 1775. Either Foster, or the Lambeth Register (so far as the ordination is concerned) would seem to be wrong.

Storie, George Henry: admitted 26 Feb. 1795.

Fellow-commoner under Messrs Hopkins and Lane: appears in Study-rents (3*s.* 0*d.* a quarter) till Mids. 1796. Probably the Geo. Hen. Storie, clerk, of Camberwell who had a son Joh. Geo. admitted (aged 17) at Ch. Ch., Oxford, May 1815 (Al. Ox. 1361). Eldest son of Tho. Storie, merchant, of London: born 19 Jan. 1766: of Springfield Lodge, Surrey. Pasheller, John: admitted 26 Mar. 1795.

Fellow-commoner under Messrs Hopkins and Lane. Gave two silver candlesticks. Resided till Mich. 1800: name in Study-rents till Mids^r^. 1802. Probably a Pasheller of Fen Drayton: one of them held the College farm there. Gunning (2. 237 et seqq.) speaks of a Charles Pasheller, an intimate of Tho. Browne, by whose favour he obtained the lease of the College estate at Croxton in Norfolk—the remainder of Sir John Seabright's lease in 1799 and a new one 22 Oct. 1806: but the name in the College Order of that date is John Pasheller: Gunning's memory was at fault: the bad character which he gives to Charles (ib.) must be transferred to John. The fine for Croxton was £665. 19*s.* 3*d.* Pasheller ultimately became bankrupt.

Barwell, Richard: admitted 5 June 1795.

Previously admitted at St John's 8 Dec. 1794, where he kept one term. Resided as a fellow-commoner till Mich^s^. 1797. Perhaps a son (or kinsman) of Ri. Chaplain to Lord Arden. Had dispensation 21 Oct. 1803 to hold also the rectory of Inwardleigh, distant 12 miles: there till 1845, when he became rector of Hittisleigh, near Crediton. Sir Henry, the ninth baronet married 22 Dec. 1798 Penelope, daughter of Sir John Parker Mosley of Rolleston, by whom he had four sons: she died 1812. He died 28 Dec. 1855, and was succeeded by his grandson Henry Flower Every. He was the last of the seven Everys who were at this college.

Appears in Study-rents first as a pupil of Mr Browne, then of Messrs Hopkins and Browne till Mids^r. 1798; always paid 3*s.* 0*d.* a quarter: he may have resided part of the time. One Cha. Collyer [no degree] was ordained at Norwich, deacon 1796 Dec.; licensed to Bale and Gunthorpe, Norfolk. Rector of Thornage with Brinton, Norfolk from 1803: probably the Rev. Charles Collyer of Gunthorpe Hall who married Sarah Pratt of Ryston Hall. His father Daniel Collyer of Wroxham, formerly sheriff of London, who married Ann "his deserving wife" (see M.I.), dated his will 19 Apr. 1773: Charles, his second son, being then "under age." Moore, Richmond: admitted 11 May 1796.

Son of Peter Moore of Hadley, Midds. (probably the same described in Burke (L.G. under "Moore of Stockwell,") as "Peter, lord of the manor of Hadleigh, co. Midds., M.P. for Coventry"): brother of Edward (below). Admitted at Lincoln's Inn 22 Feb. 1794. Resided as fellow-commoner under Messrs Hopkins and Lane till Mids^r. 1797, having migrated from Trinity. Died in India. Perhaps brother also of Geo. Peter and Henry, admitted 1798.

Vicar of Burwell, Cambs. 29 May 1808, selected by Lord Guildford from two nominated by the University. Died vicar 1854. His son Cha. Tho. Johnson Baines, adm. 1831.

There is a curious note by John Fisher in the Order Book 3 Dec. 1804—immediately after the election of John Kaye (1 Dec.)—that he made in the name of Mr Baines on 3 Dec. "to keep the claim of the Family of Mr J. J. Baines open to future Investigation, if not to a clear and certain Decision of it, one way or the other." Apparently Baines had claimed the Fellowship as of kin to Sir Tho. Baines—which Fisher believed but could not prove. He adds that J. J. Baines was born in Suffolk, "not in Cornwall as wrongly supposed."

Moore, Henry: admitted 30 June 1798.

Resided as pensioner till Midsummer 1800. Admitted scholar (as of Middlesex) 6 Dec. 1798. See Geo. Peter (above). I believe given as brother of George Peter Moore, but cannot find that he had a brother Henry. Dr Grisdale of Carlisle. Elected Fellow, succeeding David Potts, 25 May 1805. For the scene at his election dinner see the Life of Lord Campbell—who accompanied him to Cambridge. In the course of the same year the Master, Dr Barker, seems to have removed him from the list of Fellows, as not being in Orders within the statutable time. (Nothing appears in the Order Book.) Grisdale appealed to the V.C., who on 14 Jan. 1806 reinstated him: giving at the same time an interpretation of the Statute "De Sociorum qualitate" (on an interpretation of which in 1743, Barker had proceeded) to the effect that "every Fellow being of the age of 24 years or upwards and not a Priest when admitted to his Fellowship shall enter into Priest's orders within the space of one year from the time of such Admission or shall be removed from his Fellowship." Grisdale had therefore but a year to hold his Fellowship, which was declared vacant 14 June 1806. He did not long survive. "J. Grisdale, Fellow of Christ's, of Lincoln's Inn, died at his chambers in the Temple [sic] 29 Jan. 1812" (Gent. Mag.).

His writings were chiefly educational and adapted to village use—he had considerable experience in that way—called Village Conversations, on the Liturgy (1820), on the principal offices of the Church (1824), on the Catechism (1836). Later in life he wrote short histories of Rome and of England, in the form of letters from a father to a son. (D.N.B.)

Admitted at St John's, 27 June 1799, as son of the Rev. Ri. Dodsley Flamstead of Little Hallam, Derbs. Removed here, and admitted scholar (as of Derbs.) 4 Dec. 1799—a pensioner under Mr Doncaster. married on 25 March 1801 Miss Georgina Greaves, at Gretna Green, and afterwards at Forenark, Derbs. on 22 August 1801. He was head of the Flamstead family of Little Hallam, Ilkeston (fl. 1470–1858) a member of which was John Flamstead the first Astronomer Royal (temp. Charles II). Alive at Nottingham 1843 and date of death uncertain.

*Kaye, John: son of Abraham: born at Hammersmith. School: Greenwich, under Dr Cha. Burney. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Hopkins and Browne 6 Feb. 1800. Age 16.

B.A. (sen. wrangler, 2nd Smith's prizeman, 1st Chancellor's Medallist) 1804, M.A. 1807; B.D. 1814; D.D. (per lit. reg.) 1815. Born 27 Dec. 1783. Admitted scholar 17 Dec. 1800. Tancred student 1800. Elected Fellow (Finch and Baines) succeeding E. Finch Hatton (who resigned in Kaye's favour, see page 295) 5 Dec. 1804: Lady Margaret, succeeding N. C. Lane 1 June 1811. There is no sign that he resided till 1809, when he was appointed Senior Dean: but on 20 Dec. Mr Shaw took his place "Mr Kaye having left the kingdom" (Coll. Order). He was Junior Dean and Catechist, Praelector and Steward, 1810. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1810–12. [The appointments to the Bunting, Walkhampton and Knapwell Preacherships cease to be recorded, if made, after 1805.] Custos cistae 1812–14. From 1808–14 he was Tutor with John Maul: and the entries in the Admission Book during that time are generally very good. Reference has been made under Tho. Browne (page 314) and John Maul (page 327) to the last year of Dr Browne's Mastership. Maul and Doncaster had been presented each to a College living earlier in the year, and were in their "year of grace": Fraser, who like them was senior to Kaye, did not wish to leave London. Probably Kaye's character and tutorship for six years marked him out as above other competitors—if there were any: and he became Master 5 Sept. 1814 at the age of 30. The Order dated 26 Aug. to place the custody of the College property during the vacancy in Maul's hands is written by Kaye though only third in seniority: with a note also in his hand: "on account of the peculiar circumstances under which the Vacancy of the Mastership took place, it was thought proper to make the above Agreement, and as the Agreement Book was still in the hands of Dr Browne, it was entered on a loose sheet of Paper which was afterwards pasted in the Book." The order was signed by Maul, Greenall, Kaye, Gilpin, Shaw, Atkinson, Buck and Haggitt.

Kaye was V.C. in 1815 and in the same year married Eliza, daughter of John Mortlock, banker, of Cambridge. As Regius Professor of Divinity, 1816–27, he lectured, which none of his predecessors had done for a hundred years, and published his lectures—on the ecclesiastical history of the Second and Third Centuries, with reference to Tertullian, on Justin Martyr, on Clement of Alexandria, &c. He has the great credit of reviving patristic learning at Cambridge. He was nominated Bishop of Bristol by Lord Liverpool 1 July 1820, who urged him to retain his position at Cambridge, especially as Divinity Professor. The diocese was very small, viz. the city of Bristol and the county of Dorset. Kaye resided there in the Long Vacations and at other times occasionally; after the first year he resided at Clifton owing to the unhealthiness of the precincts. On 12 Feb. 1827 he was nominated to the see of Lincoln: the vicinity of Buckden Palace to Cambridge made it possible for him to retain the Mastership but he resigned the Professorship: and he ceased to be Master in 1830. In 1837 when Hunts. was made over to the See of Ely, he left Buckden for Riseholm near Lincoln. He was very energetic in the extension of church work in his large diocese—the income of which was then uncertain and far from adequate. His son, Archdeacon Kaye, writes to me: "in the last year of his life, as I was walking with him one afternoon, he suddenly said to me 'The world will think that I have been fortunate in holding the see of Lincoln for 26 years: but I have never laid by a single sixpence out of the income.'" In 1835 he gave £210 to the University Library Fund. Politically he was not very active: but he voted for the repeal of the Test Acts 1828, and against the relief of Roman Catholics. He was a liberal evangelical. His charges—which have been printed—show sound judgment. He died at Riseholme 18 Feb. 1853 in his 70th year, and was buried there. His Works (patristic, and also his charges and sermons) were republished in eight volumes in 1888 by Archdeacon Kaye. Portrait (in oils) in the College Hall. His grandson, John Kaye, was admitted 1887. (D.N.B.)

B.A. (5th wrangler) 1805; M.A. 1808. Admitted scholar (Staffs.) 17 Dec. 1801. Resided, a pensioner, under Messrs Hopkins and Browne till Midsr. 1805: name in Study-rents till Midsr. 1808. Although born in Staffs., the Society petitioned that they might elect him to the Northern Fellowship vacant by the resignation of N. R. Clarke (Derbs.): this was allowed by the King, 29 May 1810: and he was elected 6 June. In 1814 when Kaye became Master, he was associated with Maul and Shaw in the tutorship: but only one pupil was admitted under the trio: and in less than a month another was entered under Maul and Shaw only. Custos cistae 1816: held no other office: signs occasionally down to Feb. 1822. Held no living till 2 May 1827 when he was presented to Toft and Caldecote. On 23 May 1828 his Fellowship was declared vacant. He appealed to the Visitor, on the score of old practice. Dr Anislie, V.C., however found that never since the time of Elizabeth had the Society acted on the license to the five Senior Preachers to hold, with a Fellowship, preferment of a certain value, if that preferment were in the gift of the College: this may be doubted, but since Paley's time the practice had been clearly as the Visitor laid down: the appeal was dismissed 4 Feb. 1829 and Bradburne's Fellowship was finally declared vacant 14 Feb. 1829. He never resided at Toft, the duty being performed by curates. His living was sequestrated by the Bishop for non-residence in July 1840 and in October a new rector (T. Walker) was presented. But on 20 June 1841 an Order recites that in the opinion of Counsel the living was not vacant and Mr Walker was recouped by the College for his expenses. On 19 Oct. 1842 the Bishop advertised the Master that Bradburne had disobeyed his monition to him to reside: and that the College may now present whom it will. Bradburne had refused (for some unexplained cause) to receive his fines and dividends from Lady Day 1827 to Mich. 1829: but in 1833 agreed to do so. The whole, amounting to £556. 12*s.* 6*d.* was paid off in 1846. I do not find where he lived; nor when he died.

Seems to have kept the Lent Term 1802 as a fellow-commoner: and his name is on the list till Mich. 1806 paying 10*s.* 6*d.* a quarter. Ordained deacon, Norwich, 1807 Sept.: licensed to Congham (near Lynn): priest, 1808 Dec. Rector of Congham St Mary and St Andrew, 8 Nov. 1811 [so Foster]. Died at Lincoln 1839, aged 55 (*Gent. *Shaw, Joseph: son of Edward, clerk: born at Barbon, Westmoreland. School: Loughborough, under his father. Admitted sizar under Messrs Hopkins and Browne 1 Feb. 1803. Age 17.

B.A. (3rd sen. opt.) 1807; M.A. 1810; B.D. 1840. Admitted scholar 14 Dec. 1803. Tancred Divinity Student 1804. Fellow (succeeding J. B. Seale) 18 Apr. 1807. Ordained deacon, Peterborough, 1808 Apr. Curate of Fen Drayton 22 Dec. 1808–1816 (succeeding J. Doncaster). Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist 1808, 1811 (and also Steward), 1813. Senior Greek Lecturer and Mildmay Preacher 1814–16. Senior Dean 1816, 1829–40. Junior Proctor 1814. Senior Proctor 1815. Scrutator 1817. Tutor with Maul 1814 (when Kaye became Master) and sole Tutor Mich. 1814, being then 28, to Mids. 1828 when Graham succeeded. The College increased very considerably. The average number of men entered each year under him was 30: and he was a popular tutor who hunted and sometimes took his pupils with him—a fact which may have appealed to those who flocked to the University ("castris relictis") after the great war. Noblemen and fellow-commoners became numerous, especially about 1820: nearly five (on an average) were admitted in each of Shaw's years. On the other hand less than three sizars, on an average, were admitted: and the number was falling toward the end of his time, approximating to the four (in all) of later days. In the whole time only 49 of those entered under him took Honours, of whom 12 belong to the three years when he had ceased to be Tutor. Only three sat for the Classical Tripos. The Admission Book was indifferently kept: for this the several Praelectors were directly responsible: but the influence of an active Tutor was generally felt in this respect. If somewhat easy-going he was a gentleman, and did his duty according to his lights. He was supposed to be "an insatiable devourer of the novels in the University Library, and to have a very quick and true ear for music." (E.T.V. in College Magazine, Mich. 1893.) He was a Liberal in University and College politics, and supported Dr Graham, the Master, in 1838, in an attempt to obtain new statutes for the College. But, like Graham, he was perhaps hardly energetic enough for such a work. He made some money. In 1835 he gave £50 to the University Library Fund: he also gave lands at Willingham to Addenbrooke's Hospital. In 1833 when the College was in difficulties he lent it £1000 at 4 %, repaid 1851. He left it by will £3000: and gave £200 to the buildings in the Second Court in 1823. When he had long retired from any College work save that of Senior Dean, in 1849, the Mastership became vacant by the preferment of Dr Graham. The choice seemed to lie between Ja. Cartmell and Ja. Hildyard, unless Ed. Mortlock were brought back from Moulton. The only person on whom the Society, much divided in politics, could agree was Shaw. On Jan. 12 he was elected Master. On Feb. 2 he resigned and returned to the Combination-room which had been his home for 42 years, becoming again (as with the consent of the Society he could by statute) Senior Fellow. More strangely in 1852, when he was 66 years old, he accepted the living of Kegworth, vacant by the death of Peter Fraser, to which he was presented 9 Nov. and was duly instituted and inducted. On 1 Feb. 1853 he resigned it and became again by the consent of the Society Senior Fellow, but with no right to claim any other living. During the next six years he was a viligant guardian of the grass in the College garden. He died 1 June 1859, aged 73, in his rooms (Staircase B, first floor, S.E. end of the building), and was buried in the ante-chapel. Daguerreotype portrait in the Combination-room.

Mortlock, Edmund Davy: son of John: born in Cambridge. School: Bury, under Mich. Becher. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Hopkins and Browne 12 Oct. 1803. Age 17.

B.A. (14th wrangler) 1808; M.A. 1811; B.D. 1840. Admitted scholar 1804. Licensed to Pampisford 1810 Dec.: and ordained priest, Ely, 1811 Sept. Elected Fellow (Finch and Baines), succeeding J. Kaye, 5 June 1811; Lady Margt., succeeding W. Spry, 28 Oct. 1812. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, and Steward 1812. Resided till 1814: then, or a little later, became tutor to the Hon. Dudley Coutts Stuart, son of the Marquis of Bute, who was admitted here 1820 when Mortlock also returned. Mildmay Preacher 1820–2. He held no other office: and signs rarely at meetings—never (I think) between Oct. 1826 and 1832 when he reappears and again signs occasionally. On 30 Jan. 1835 he became vicar of Great Abington. In 1835 he gave £50 to the University Library Fund. In 1839 he was Steward—a post which implies residence: but that would not interfere with his parish duties: from that date he signs regularly. Senior Dean 1840, 1843. Scrutator 1845. For his opposition to all change in the statutes and government of the College see under John Graham p. 369. Presented to Moulton on the death of Mr Greenall 22 Oct. 1845: five College Orders on the same day, with five sets of (varying) signatures, relate to the presentation to a lease of the College Farm and to matters connected with farm-buildings, Messrs Hildyard and Bates declining to sign the third and fifth. On 27 Nov. 1846 his Fellowship was declared vacant. He was 59 when he took Moulton—but he had 28 years of work still before him. He did much for the village, building a school, and rebuilding the rectory house, and laying out the garden with great skill. He died at Moulton 30 May 1873, aged 86. He was a man of high principle and character, and respected even by his opponents in College.

B.A. (8th jun. opt.) 1807; M.A. 1818. Admitted scholar (K. Edw. VI) 14 Dec. 1803. He was curate of Eckington, Derbs. in 1841 (Clergy List)—a large parish with a wealthy rector. P.C. of Ridgeway near Eckington 1845, patron, the rector: remained there till 1868 [?]. Was living at Newbold near Chesterfield in 1870.

Hempsted [or Hemsted], John: admitted sizar 27 Jan. 1804.

Matriculated 1806 May. Apparently a pensioner after Mich. 1805. Admitted scholar (Cambs.) 22 May 1806. Disappears after Mich. 1807. A Joh. Hemsted was B.A. (St John's) 1810; M.A. 1814.

Leathes, John Francis: son of George [in a different hand]. Admitted sizar 20 March 1804 [but pays Study-rent as a pensioner].

B.A. (John Leathes) (5th jun. opt.) 1808; M.A. (John Francis Leathes) 1811. Second son of Geo. Leathes of Bury St Edmunds (a major of dragoons who served in the German war 1760–3), by his wife Mary Moore (Burke, L.G.). Of Herringfleet Hall and Needham, by the death of his elder brother in 1808. Died without issue 8 Sept. 1848, aged 60. Brother of Edward (1815).

Buck, John: son of Charles: born at North Walsham. Educated by the Rev. Ja. Buck, uncle [probably, Fellow of Caius, then rector of Lavenham]. Admitted sizar under Messrs Hopkins and Browne 27 June 1804. Age 17.

B.A. (8th sen. opt.) 1808; M.A. 1811. Tancred Student June 1804. Admitted scholar 5 Dec. 1804. Elected Fellow (Finch and Baines) 31 Oct. 1812, succeeding Edm. Mortlock: Lady Marg., succeeding T. Toke 3 Aug. 1814: the facts of this election are curious and recorded in John Kaye's handwriting: "The names of Mr Buck Mr Philpot and Mr Skeeles were delivered to Dr Browne by Messrs Kaye and Mortlock. On the day of Election Dr Browne enquired of Mr Buck whether he had withdrawn his Petition to the Visitor, and on his replying in the negative said that he could not consider him a suitable Candidate and tore his name from the Paper. The Fellows elected Mr Buck: Dr Browne declared that no Election had taken place; whereupon Mr Maul, the Senior Scrutineer, declared Mr Buck duly elected. Dr Browne wrote a statement of the circumstances to the Visitor [Dr Chafy] who decided that Mr Buck, having never been otherwise than a Finch Fellow, was statutably nominated, and authorised his admission in pursuance of the Election of Aug. 3." On Aug. 25 Dr Browne was ejected from the Mastership, and Mr Buck was admitted by Dr Kaye on Sept. 5. He had been previously elected on Feb. 15 in place of Geo. Davys. Dr Browne refused to admit him. He petitioned—this is the petition referred to above—but the V.C. dismissed the petition. See under Jos. Cook, p. 367.

Ordained deacon, Norwich, 1809 May: curate of Chelsworth, Suff. 1809 Dec.: priest, 1811 June. Mildmay Preacher 1823—one year only: as he had no other office, and this one did not imply residence, it may be assumed that he did not reside, though he signs occasionally. He held no benefice. He was at Ipswich in 1829. Foster (Index Eccl.) gives one John Buck chaplain of Liverpool gaol 2 Mar. 1838. But our man died at Ipswich in that year. Having left his house to take his usual walk he was found two days later, drowned in a pond (Gent. Mag. 1838 (2), 104).

Thurlow was rector of Lound, Suffolk 20 Dec. 1816–59: of Haskeby (or Ashby) 5 July 1817–59: of Langham 7 Oct. 1824–52 [?], patron, the Crown.

B.A. 1810. Admitted scholar 22 May 1806. Of a Somerset family by the father's side: his mother was a Miss Edsaw of Fittleworth, Sussex (Burke, L.G. 2. 1412): but his uncle, Dr Tripp, was rector of Spofforth, Yorks. Rector of Up Waltham, near Petworth, 25 Sept. 1813–1838 or later, patron, the Earl of Egremont. Rector of Kirkby Overblow, near Spofforth, 1 Aug. 1840. Rector of Spofforth 1847. Of Handsworth, Staffs.: serjeant-at-law 1843. Judge under Small Debts Act for Dudley and Wolverhampton 1847. J.P. and D.L. for Stafford, Derby and Warwick. Recorder of Lincoln, Northampton, Newark and Walsall. Married 1814 Mary Garnett of Nantwich, and had issue six sons and two daughters (Burke, L.G.).

The motive for this election from outside does not appear: unless it were to keep a place for a northern candidate: see under Tho. Bradburne (page 349). It was followed in three months by the election of another outsider, W. J. Atkinson, to whom the new Master had grounds for doing a service.

Biedermann, George Augustus: son of Henry Augustus: born at Woodbastwick, Norfolk. School: Doughton, near Tetbury, Glos., under the Rev. Mr Everett. Admitted (after keeping 15 terms at Univ. Coll., Oxford) a fellow-commoner under Messrs Hopkins and Browne 12 March 1805. Age 22.

Rice, Henry:

Appears as a fellow-commoner under Messrs Hopkins and Browne from Mich. 1805 to Mich. 1807, always charged 3*s.* 0*d.* a quarter. He is not the Hen. Rice admitted 1796—who appears beside him in Study-rents. Though neither of the two is found in the Graduati, I think one must be the Hen. Rice who changed from B.A. to M.A. in 1803–5, see under first Hen. Rice (1796) at page 342.

Crosse, Richard: admitted pensioner 18 Oct. 1805.

His second wife Beatrice died 12 June 1855, aged 65. The rebuilding of the nave and chancel of Castle Church was completed in the year of his death—architect, Sir G. Gilbert Scott. Tradition states that, the pulpit being lighted with candles, he would say: "Now, brethren, you may meditate while I snuff the candles." A man of great stature and bulk—said to have been able to eat a leg of mutton at a sitting. (Rev. M. Scott, of Christ's College, vicar of Castle Church.)

Forrester, Richard Forrester French: M.B. of Trin. Hall, admitted pensioner under Messrs Browne and Maul 12 June 1806.

Ri. Forrester French was M.B. (Trin. Hall) 1792. Born 1771, son of Ri. French, Captn. of the Horse Guards, by his wife Millicent Mundy of Markeaton, Derby. Captn. French took the name of Forrester under the will of a relative. He was of Abbots Hill, Derby and of Broadfield Hall, Herts.; D.L. for Derbs. Perhaps the son put his name on the Boards of the College to take the M.D. degree, but for some cause did not do so. He had the credit of such a degree if he be the Ri. Forrester Forrester M.D. a trustee and consulting physician of the General Infirmary, Derby in 1833. (Glover, Derbs. 2. 508.) He was never married.

Courtenay, Kenneth: LL.B. of Trinity Hall. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Browne and Maul 12 June 1806.

One of these names rector of Newtimber, Sussex 11 July 1833–46. One (B.A.) —perhaps the same—rector of Spaxton, Somerset 18 Oct. 1820: gone in or before 1833.

Robinson, John: admitted sizar under Messrs Browne and Maul 1 Jan. 1807.

Born at Temple Sowerby, Westmoreland, 4 Jan. 1774. School: Penrith. Master of the Grammar school, Ravenstonedale, 1795–1818. Probably he placed his name on the boards with the intention of taking a B.D. as a ten year man: his name appears from Lady Day 1807 to Lady Day 1812 only. P.C. of Ravenstonedale 25 June 1813–33. Rector of Clifton, Westmd. 31 July 1818; and of Cliburn 12 Aug. 1833—both of which he held till his death 4 Dec. 1840. Jos. Shaw used to tell a story of the time of "the captivity," how Dr Browne, the Master, endeavoured to eject Philpot from his Fellowship by calling a College meeting suddenly when Philpot was absent in Suffolk and so could not be present: how a friend sent him a warning, and how he rode all through the night to Cambridge, arriving in time, to the Master's discomfiture. But, unhappily, he was elected a Fellow under Dr Kaye.

Armstrong, Matthew: admitted pensioner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 18 May 1808. Age not given. Came into residence Mich. 1808: resided one term, and probably migrated to Queens' where one of these names was B.A. 1813; M.A. 1817. Possibly the Matt. Armstrong ordained (no degree or College given) priest, Lambeth, 1811 March: licensed to the cure of Waldershare and Whitfield, Kent 18 Nov. 1818, to receive £50 for each and surplice fees. It is difficult to keep this Matthew clear from another, also beneficed in Kent, B.A. of Wadham 1779, and ordained deacon, Oxford, 1780: who became curate of St James', Dover, and of Hougham 12 May 1811 (*Lambeth Reg*r.).

Finch-Hatton, George William: eldest son of George: born at Kirkby, Northants. School: Westminster, under Dr Carey. Admitted fellow-commoner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 1 July 1808. Age 17.

B.A. 1812. Born 22 May 1791. Eldest son of Geo. Finch-Hatton (1764) of Eastwell Park, Kent, by his wife Eliz., daughter of David, second Earl of Mansfield: and grandson of Edward Finch, afterwards Finch-Hatton, Fellow 1728–46, fifth son of Dan., Earl of Nottingham. Married 1814 Georgiana, daughter of James, Duke of Montrose. D.L. for Kent, 1820. On 2 Aug. 1826 by the death of his cousin, Geo. Finch, he became 10th Earl of Winchelsea and sixth Earl of Nottingham. A rabid Protestant: opposed the Catholic Relief Bill of 1829, and charged the Duke of Wellington, in a letter, with the intention of "introducing popery into every department of the state": the result was a duel 21 March, in which the Duke fired and missed, and Lord Winchelsea fired in the air and apologised for his language. His intemperate language prevented him from becoming a leader in evangelical politics. Strongly opposed the Reform Bill and most liberal measures: for which Oxford made him a D.C.L. 1834. Died at Haverholme Priory, near Sleaford, 8 Jan. 1858—where his first wife died in 1835. (Gent. Mag. 1858, 211. D.N.B.)

Betty, William Henry West: son of William Henry: born at Shrewsbury. Admitted "post permagnam famam in scenicis partam," fellow-commoner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 5 July 1808. Age 17.

Generally called West-Betty. Born 13 Sept. 1791, son of Will. Hen. of Shrewsbury: his mother was a daughter of James Staunton of Hopton Court, by whom he was trained from infancy. First appeared on the stage in Belfast (his father had become a farmer in co. Down) 19 Aug. 1803: then at Dublin: in 1804 at Glasgow, Edinburgh, Birmingham and finally in London. During the next four years he appeared at London and in the provinces, everywhere received with unbounded enthusiasm. Numerous verses on the "Young Roscius" appear in the Gent. Magazine. On 26 April 1808 he retired from the stage having already acquired a considerable fortune. He was then prepared for the University by Mr Wollaston of the Charterhouse, and probably came to Christ's, together with Wollaston's son, John Ramsden Wollaston (see above). Resided till Xmas 1810, when he left Cambridge: not (D.N.B.) owing to his father's death in June 1811. Reappeared on the stage 1812 and acted with much less acceptance than before till 9 Aug. 1824, when he finally retired at the age of less than 33 to enjoy the ample fortune which he had made. After 50 uneventful years he died 24 Aug. 1874, aged 82. Portrait (engraved) in the Combination-room.

The following is a fair specimen of the poetic outbursts in the Gentleman's Magazine. Roscius (the ancient) speaks:

A youth by name West Henry Betty called
My peaceful rest has in the grave appalled—
His action elegant, his diction fine,
His manners easy, and his form benign.
O dangerous rival, why my spirit haunt?
Gods! shall a Briton thus my name supplant?

and much more of the same sort.

Proctor, Thomas Beauchamp: son of Sir Thomas Beauchamp: born at Langley, Norfolk. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 6 July 1808. Age not given.

B.A. 1813; M.A. 1820. This must be Tho. Will. Hen. Beauchamp Proctor, born 1790: fourth son of Sir Thomas (1773): but he (and others of his family) must have dropped the name Proctor which his grandfather, Will. Beauchamp of Langley, assumed. Tho. Will. Hen. Beauchamp was ordained deacon, Norwich, 1813 June. In 1813 and up to May 1814 Tho. Beauchamp signed the register as curate of Fen Drayton. On 11 Nov. 1814 he became rector of Buckenham, and held it till his death 9 May 1863, aged 72. His merits are set forth on a M.I. in Buckenham Church, where he is called T.W. H. Beauchamp Proctor. According to Foster he was also rector of Chedgrave (contiguous) 13 Jan. 1817 (which he must have resigned in favour of his nephew Will. Hen. Beauchamp, admitted 1836), and also 6 March 1838 rector of Carleton St Peter, contiguous to Langley. But the history is not clear, owing to the variation of names.

Jenkinson, William: clerk: M.A. of St Catharine's Hall. Admitted under Messrs Maul and Kaye 18 July 1808. B.A. (Cath.) 1798; M.A. 1801. Fellow of Cath. Hall.

B.A. (8th jun. opt.) 1813; M.A. 1816. Came into residence Mich. 1809. Admitted scholar 6 June 1810. Licensed to cure of Great and Little Abington 1815 May, stipend £60: ordained priest, Ely, 1817 Sept. Probably rector of Otton Belchamp, near Clare, 26 May 1820: where he signed last 8 Jan. 1834: from 1827 he was also curate of Poslingford, near Clare: to which he was instituted vicar 23 Aug. 1833 on the presentation of Col. Tho. Weston and wife: he had a curate there, and was probably non-resident. Probably he is the man who was instituted to the rectory of Fairsted near Witham 13 Jan. 1837 (in which year his last signature at Poslingford occurs): held it till 1863.

Thompson, John: M.A. of Sidney. Admitted under Messrs Maul and Kaye 1 Nov. 1808.

B.A. (Sidney) 1802; M.A. 1806. He was second son of Francis Thomson (so in Sidney Admission-book) of Stanwick, Yorks., born 28 May 1779: educated for eight years at Harforth under Matt. Raine: admitted sizar at Sidney 23 Dec. 1797. One Joh. Thompson ordained deacon, Wells, 1803 May: priest, Rochester, 1804 Dec.: vicar of Meopham (a peculiar of the Archbishop) 25 May 1816, probably till 1854.

Born 13 Aug. 1793, son of John Lord Mountstuart (1767–94)—himself the eldest son of John, fourth earl and first Marquis of Bute (1744–1814). Lord Mountstuart married Eliz., daughter and heiress of Patrick Crichton fifth Earl of Dumfries, who died 1803: when his grandson John Crichton Stuart succeeded to the title, his father being dead. On 16 Nov. 1814 by the death of his other grandfather he became second Marquis of Bute. Married (1) in 1818 Maria, daughter of the Earl of Guildford: and, on her death in 1841, (2) in 1845 Sophia, daughter of the Marquis of Hastings, by whom he had a son John Patrick Crichton Stuart. Died 18 March 1848. Brother of Pat. Ja. Herbert (1812): cousin of Cha. Villiers (1826): half-nephew of Dudley Coutts (1820), son of his grandfather by a second marriage, and 36 years younger than his father, Lord Mountstuart.

Lawrence, Alfred: son of Richard: born at Camberwell, Surrey. School: Harrow, under Dr Butler. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 9 Dec. 1808. Age 18.

Will., Earl of Winchelsea (see p. 361): father of Edw. Dan. (1848). Died about 1867 (Harrow Reg^r^.).

Atkinson, William:

B.A. (Cath.) (8th wrangler) 1781; M.A. 1784; B.D. 1792. Elected Fellow at Christ's (in place of J. Preston) on 2 July 1808. This election is due to a piece of old history which may be found in pamphlets relating to Dr Browne (Univ. Lib. Z. 23. 7). Browne induced Mr Atkinson, then Tutor of Cath. Hall, to admit a friend, one Astley a member of Pembroke, who on leaving the college could obtain only a "liceat migrare," not a "bene discessit." Dr Proctor, Master of Cath. Hall, refused to keep Astley. Browne's good faith in the matter was doubtful. It would seem that as soon as he became Master, he induced the Society to elect Atkinson, who may have been on bad terms with his own Master. He was Mildmay Preacher 1816–18, and held no other office:

which implies non-residence: but he never missed a College meeting till June 1825, after which he appears no more. His Fellowship however was not declared vacant till 5 June 1830. A letter of June 7 from his executrix, written at Stapleford, announced that he left his Chambers' Dictionary to the College Library and also a MS. essay on short-hand. He seems to have held no benefice. On 1 Mar. 1807 he was curate at Sawston (J. Langhorne).

Walker, George: son of Edward: born at Gestingthorpe, Essex. Kept terms at Trinity. Admitted here pensioner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 28 Jan. 1809. Age not given.

B.A. (7th wrangler) 1812; M.A. 1816. Admitted scholar 30 Nov. 1809. Admitted at Lincoln's Inn 25 Nov. 1812, aged 23. Not the head master of Leeds Grammar School, June 1818, who was B.A. of Trin. 1814 and Fellow. Perhaps the Geo. Walker, M.A., (no college given) licensed 21 Sept. 1817 to curacy of Stouting and of Postling, Kent, to receive £50 for each and surplice fees, with use of the rectory house (furnished) and garden at Stouting (Lambeth Reg^r^.).

Haughton, John: B.A. of Trin. Coll., Dublin. Admitted under Messrs Maul and Kaye 14 Feb. 1809.

M.A. (Christ's) 1809. One of these names, and M.A., was rector of Middleton, Lancs. 16 Mar. 1818, and died there 5 Dec. 1828: he was born 21 Feb. 1774 according to M.I. in chancel where he was buried. A John Haughton, perhaps a son, and perhaps B.A. (Pemb.) 1826 became P.C. of Cockey (to which the rector of Middleton presents) in 1828.

Andrews, William: B.A. of Oxford. Admitted under Messrs Maul and Kaye 29 March 1809.

One of these names rector of Lillingstone Dayrell, Bucks. 21 Dec. 1832: one was vicar of Stowe, Bucks. on the same day (the name is spelt Andrewes). Lillingstone was vacant in 1848, and the rector became rector of Maids Moreton, Bucks., and afterwards took the name of W. Andrews Uthwatt: and this man was B.A. (St John's) 1816: the vicar of Stowe also appears as W. Uthwatt. Stowe was vacant 1876, and Maids Moreton (to which Mr W. A. Uthwatt presented) in 1878.

Fitzgerald, John Fraunceis: Knight of Glin: son of John: born at Taunton. School: Winchester, under Dr Goddard. Admitted fellow-commoner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 22 March 1809. Age 18.

M.A. 1812. Resided till Mich. 1812. Born 28 June 1791, son of John Fitzgerald of Glin Castle, Limerick, Knight of Glin, by his wife Margaretta Maria, daughter of John Fraunceis Gwynn of Ford Abbey, Devon. Harness, William: son of John, M.D.: born at Wickham, Hants. School: Harrow, under (1) Dr Drury, (2) Dr Butler. Admitted fellow-commoner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 24 Dec. 1809, after keeping some terms at St John's. Age 19.

B.A. 1812; M.A. 1816. Friend of Byron at Harrow: both were lame through accident: they corresponded in after life (see Moore's Life of Byron). Ordained deacon, Salisbury, 1813 June: priest, Ely, 1814 Mar. Curate of Kelmerton, Hants. 1812: of Dorking 1814: moved to London 1816 where he was preacher at Trinity Chapel, Conduit Street, and Minister of St Anne's, Soho. Curate of Hampstead 1823–6. Thomas, the younger (patron as well as vicar), was "a strong stoutly-built man, fond of shooting and boxing." Ordained deacon, London, 1815 June: priest, 1816 May. Parish tradition tells how when returning once from Stansted Fair he was attacked and robbed by gypsies, one of whom was afterwards captured "wearing the Canon's [sic] hat," and was transported. B.A. (1st sen. opt.) 1813; M.A. 1816. Admitted scholar 5 June 1811. Third son of the Rev. Joseph Cook, of Newton Hall, Northumberland, by his wife Sarah Browne, niece of the last male survivor of the Widdrington family, so well represented here (Burke, L.G. 1511, ed^n. 1871). Elected Fellow (in place of Geo. Davys), by appointment of the Visitor, 6 Sept. 1814. The circumstances are entered by John Kaye in the Order Book, between the Orders of Feb. 15 and Feb. 19. "On Feb. 15 Mr Maul delivered in the single name of Mr Buck, Finch Fellow (see page 354), after the usual practice. Dr Browne said that although Mr Davys was a native of Leicestershire [i.e. Southern] he considered the present vacancy that of a Northern Fellowship, inasmuch as it was necessary to restore the statutable proportion of Northern to Southern Fellows, which had been broken through by Mr Bradburne's dispensation. In consequence of this remark Mr Kaye delivered in the name of Mr Cook. On the day of Election Mr Buck was elected and pronounced to be elected by the Master, who refused however to admit him. Mr Buck petitioned the Visitor, who on Aug. 25 dismissed his Petition, and on September 5 sent an Order to the Master [now Kaye] for the admission of Mr Cook." Dr Browne seems to have been right as to the balance of Fellowships: but the temper of the Society in 1814 was not judicial: whether the Visitor (Dr Chafy) was right in setting aside the election is less clear. Mr Cook was ordained deacon, Norwich, 1814 Dec., and was Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, and Steward 1815 and 1817—in which year he made a new arrangement in columns of the various items of the several persons admitted—an innovation which was not followed. In the summer of 1820 he seems to have gone out of residence: in 1824 he was elected to the non-resident post of Mildmay Preacher, with the usual (sinecure) accompaniment of Senior Greek Lecturer. Davy says that he was British Chaplain at Rome. In 1825 he was travelling in the East—including Sinai: and died 3 Mar. 1825 near the springs of Elim, where he was buried. His Fellowship was declared vacant 18 July. A stone in his memory was put up in the Chapel.

*Graham, John: son of John: born at Durham. School: Durham. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 26 Dec. 1811. Age 17.

B.A. (4th wrangler; bracketed as Chancellor's Medallist) 1816; M.A. 1819 B.D. 1829; D.D. (per lit. reg.) 1831. Born 23 Feb. 1794. Admitted scholar: 3 Nov. 1813. Elected Fellow 5 Apr. 1816, in succession to Tho. Jackson (see page 337) who had been elected in the preceding year in order to keep a place for Graham: his fellowship was declared vacant 1 Apr. 1816, as he had never been admitted. Graham resided continuously, as appears from the Order Book —but was for ten years appointed to no College office, nor to the Tutorship which he might have held with Shaw. He was Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, Steward, and Mildmay Preacher 1826. He examined for the Classical Tripos 1825–8, but at no time on the nomination of Christ's College. In July 1828 he became Tutor on the resignation of Shaw and he held the office for two years. There was a tradition that he was even a better lecturer in mathematics than in classics. He became prebendary of Lincoln 6 Dec. 1828. On 8 Nov. 1830 he was appointed Master (on Kaye's resignation) without any contest. Shaw was probably indifferent: and he and Graham were always on good terms. Mortlock, who in later years consistently opposed Graham's reforms, had not been much in residence: Hildyard, another opponent of them, was still an undergraduate. The Society was reputed in the University to be ultra-Liberal, and Graham was doubtless judged to be a man competent to carry out those changes which were already being debated throughout the Colleges. But more than seven years elapsed before any record of attempted changes appears. A draft of a new set of statutes was then drawn up, probably by the Master: and on 24 Feb. 1838 the following Orders were made by the Master and nine Fellows:

"Agreed that, the Statutes of the Foundress having through the great change of circumstances which has taken place since they were framed become in many particulars inapplicable or unsuitable to the present times, it is expedient that the said Statutes should, if it be practicable, be reformed in such manner as will remedy this inconvenience, and promote the general usefulness and efficiency of the College:

"That the draft of a reformed set of Statutes, which has been produced and deliberately examined, is in our judgment well adapted for these purposes:

"That a petition be presented to the Queen's most excellent Majesty, praying her Majesty's gracious permission that instead of the Statutes of the Foundress this reformed set of Statutes may be substituted for the future government of the College."

The Master, Mr Shaw and Mr Croft were authorised to take the necessary steps for presenting this petition.

The Order was signed by John Graham, Jos. Shaw, John Buck, John Croft, Edward John Ash, Edw. Baines, C. Lesingham Smith, Edm. H. Hopper, Charles Davidson, and James Cartmell. Six did not sign—among them Mortlock, and three residents and officials, John Baldwin, Tho. Walker, and James Hildyard.

This draft of statutes has not been preserved. The attempt failed, and there is no record other than the Order given above. But Mortlock, the chief opponent, consulted with Dr Corrie, who made notes which were shewn me by the authoress of the Memoir of the late Master of Jesus. From his account it seems that in addition to the removal of obsolete provisions and the substitution of others, the new Statutes proposed to allow the marriage of Fellows, the admission [sic] of Dissenters: also a service in the Hall, on week-days only, instead of in the Chapel, of prayers in which persons of any religious creed could join. The recalcitrant Fellows took the ground that the Visitor should first have been consulted, and Mortlock appealed to the V.C., Dr Worsley of Downing, who seems to have been reluctant to interfere. Legal opinions were obtained—among them one of Sir W. Follett. In May the majority seems to have been willing to withdraw those proposals which were especially distasteful to the minority. The V.C. held that the proposed statutes were practically withdrawn, and that nothing need be done by himself and his assessors: one of them (Dr Thackeray) held that the Society ought to be convicted of a breach of Statutes. After much contention on 5 Nov. 1838 they agreed on a decree enjoining the Master and Fellows to abstain from seeking any alteration of Statutes without first consulting the Visitor. It is difficult to suppose that Graham had overlooked this obvious objection of Mortlock and the other opponents. Possibly he relied on the well-known liberalism of the Visitor.

Dr Graham was V.C. 1831 and 1840—the year in which Lord Lyndhurst was elected High Steward of the University against Lord Lyttelton, whom Graham naturally favoured: the address which as V.C. he made to Lyndhurst on his election (see Cooper's Annals, 4. 629) shews the dexterity in speech for which he was famous. He shewed it again when the British Association visited Cambridge a second time, and he was judged to hold his own as a speaker by the side of Emerson and Sam. Wilberforce. He was chaplain to the Prince Consort from 1841, and chairman of his committee at the election to the Chancellorship in 1847. Throughout the rest of his life he stood high in the favour of the Queen: he became Clerk of the Closet 1849. On 14 May 1848 he was consecrated Bishop of Chester. He signs last as Master 7 Dec. 1848: and he resigned before 18 Jan. 1849. His administration of his diocese was conciliatory. He lived to see the changes which he desired, both in the College, and in the University, carried out by the University Commission (of which he was a member) in 1860: he sometimes visited Cambridge, and preached at the installation of the Duke of Devonshire in 1862.

He married Mary, daughter of the Rev. Rob. Porteus (1786) and had eight children, two of whom were at Christ's, John (1853) and Albert (1864). In 1835 he gave £105 to the University Library Fund.

An estimate of him, written by one who knew and loved him (E. T. Vaughan in Coll. Mag. of Mich. 1893) tells of his oddities of manner, unusual in a Head of a House; of his "real kindness, large knowledge, clearness of thought and felicity of expression, sound and independent judgment": but also of impatience of opposition to his proposals for change in the College during the troubled years of his Mastership; and of the "constitutional indolence and dilatoriness" which prevented him from ever taking the leading position which his ability fitted him to hold.

He died 15 June 1865 at the Palace, and was buried at Chester.

Millett, George:

B.A. (Trin.) (as 15th wrangler and 1st Chancellor's Medallist) 1814; M.A. (Christ's) 1817. Elected Fellow (Finch and Baines) in place of Geo. J. Haggitt, 12 Oct. 1814: Lady Margaret, in place of J. Maul, 23 June 1815. Ordained deacon, London, 1817 June: priest, Dec.: in Sept. 1820 he took a marriage service at Leyton, Essex. He signs at most meetings and may have resided: but he was never elected to any College office: and his Fellowship was declared vacant 27 Mar. 1819. In 1829 he was living at Bovingdon near Hemel Hempstead: a little later he was at Hove, Brighton as a private tutor: he had as pupils Sir W. F. Pollock (see his Personal Reminiscences, 1. 37) and Edmund and Henry Lushington. In 1845 he became vicar of Silkstone, Yorks. till 1850 (when he died), and chaplain to the Bishop of Ripon.

Croft, John: previously admitted at Trinity.

B.A. (Trin.) (11th wrangler) 1814; M.A. (Christ's) 1817. Elected Fellow (Finch and Baines) in place of G. C. Leicester, 7 Nov. 1816: K. Edw. VI, in place of G. J. Haggitt, 18 Nov. 1818: Lady Marg., succeeding P. L. Fraser 18 Jan. 1832. Ordained priest, Norwich, 1819 June. Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, and Steward 1819, 1827, and 1829. Mildmay Preacher 1827–9. Custos cistae 1832–9. Senior Proctor 1820. A good man of business: and often appointed by Order to act in place of Bishop Kaye, who was commonly absent from the College. He supported reforms—in the University and in the College. On 21 March 1834 he, Edw. Baines, and H. Gunning of Christ's, joined in the petition of 62 resident members of the Senate to Parliament for the abolition of every religious test required before proceeding to any degree (except in Divinity): see Cooper, Annals, 4. 581. He supported Dr Graham in his attempt to obtain new Statutes for the College (see above). He held the curacy of Fen Drayton, where he signs the register from 24 Feb. 1828, till Oct. 1835 when he resigned. In October 1838 he was presented to the rectory of Eaton Bishop, Herefordshire, and on 28 June 1839 his Fellowship was declared vacant. While he was in his year of grace, the rectory of Little Canfield fell vacant: and he desired to have the choice of taking it. E. Mortlock and Ja. Hildyard appealed to the Visitor, Dr Hodgson, who decided that Mr Croft had not the right to claim the option. There are about 15 documents bearing on this case in the Registry (19. 1)—chiefly letters from Graham to the V.C. and from Mortlock and Hildyard on the other side. It appears that Croft in the course of the discussion withdrew any claim to Canfield. Dr Graham thereupon said that he would not send his case to the V.C. Mortlock and Hildyard however pressed for a decision: and Graham was constrained, when he received it, to enter it with his own hand in the Master's book of Statutes. The College was not in a happy state!

Croft held Eaton Bishop a short time. In 1840 he was appointed to the important vicarage of Catterick, Yorks.: and also became Chaplain to the Archbishop. He died at Catterick in January 1869.

Leicester, Charles George Frederick: [signs Fred. Leicester: described in Admn. Book as Fre. Cha. Leicester].

B.A. (Trin.) 1815 (sen. Wrangler and Smith's Prizeman); M.A. (Christ's) 1818 (as Geo. Cha. Fre. Leicester). No facts in Trinity Admn. book save that he was admitted 21 Dec. 1813. Elected Fellow (Finch and Baines) in place of Geo. Millett, 28 June 1815: L. Margaret, in place of Ben. Philpot, 16 Oct. 1816. Curate of Hatfield Broad Oak under (1) Will. Dealtry, (2) John Carr, from March 1816–April 1827. Appointed Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, and Steward Oct. 1816—and apparently intended to reside: but on 7 Nov. he resigned these offices and on 2 March 1818 his Fellowship was declared vacant. He married (date and place not known) Margaret Maria, daughter of John Ferard, vinegar merchant, of Huguenot extraction: his eldest child (Catherine) was born at Hatfield 2 July 1818: six children were born there between 1818 and 1825, of whom the fourth, Will. Henry, was admitted at Christ's 1841. Possibly he is the Fred. Leicester who was vicar of Condover, Salop 9 Oct. 1826: and ceased before 1829. He reappears at Hatfield June 1832–May 1833. Died after a long illness at Brighton 8 Nov. 1833 (Gent. Mag. 1834 (1), page 115)—described there as of Hatfield Broad Oak. "He established a school for poor children near Hatfield, still called the Leicester School, though now rebuilt and forming an elementary school for Bushend, an ecclesiastical subdivision of the parish." (Rev. F. W. Galpin, vicar.) He lived in the old vicarage house (neither of his vicars being resident) and is described by an old parishioner as "looking very old and worn out": his little daughter was unable to walk, and always rode on a donkey.

Admitted scholar (Lancs.) 15 Dec. 1814. His name appears in Study-rents, with a charge of 7*s.* 6*d.* a quarter, till Mids^r^. 1817. But it seems from an old Butler's book, which commences in 1813, that he kept only six terms: and there is a note "dead, May 1817." Perhaps he was son of Stephen Hartley who was vicar of Hope, Derbs. from 1805 to 1814: Richard Hartley of Christ's (1782) was settled in Yorkshire from 1791.

Thackeray, Charles: admitted 19 June 1813.

His name appears in the Study-rents for two quarters: never resided.

Earle, Edward Robert: son of James: born in London. School: Harrow, under Dr Butler. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 1 July 1813. Age 18.

Rector of Great Massingham, Norfolk (patron, the Marquis of Cholmondeley) 1 March 1816, till his death in 1871 (Harrow Register, p. 6).

Hallewell, John: son of John, clerk: born at Boroughbridge, Yorks. School: Thorp Arch, under Rev. John Peers. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 29 Oct. 1813. Age 18.

B.A. (27th wrangler) 1818; M.A. 1821. Admitted scholar 26 Oct. 1815. Elected Fellow (Finch and Baines) succeeding John Croft, 16 Dec. 1818. There is a memorandum in the Order Book after the record of the election that Dan. Finch-Hatton (p. 377) understanding that the Society desired to elect Mr Hallewell, did not press the claim which he supposed himself to have on the ground of relationship to Sir John Finch. Ordained priest, Lincoln, (Buckden) 1820 May. Licensed to the curacy of Gt St Andrew's, Cambridge 1821 Nov.: resigned before Dec. 1822. He was Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist, and Steward 1821. He was never transferred to the Foundation, and held his Finch and Baines fellowship till 12 Mar. 1825: consequently he signs at elections only; and there is nothing to shew whether he resided. He seems to have held no benefice: in 1841 he was living at Stroud, Glos.: perhaps he is the Joh. Hallewell, M.A., rector of Chillenden near Wingham, Kent, 1844–58 [?]. If so he returned to Stroud. His name was removed from the Boards—probably through death—26 June 1871.

Farrer, William Dent: of Trinity College: admitted here fellow-commoner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 4 Nov. 1813. Age not given.

His name appears in Study-rents till Lady Day 1815—charged 3*s.* 0*d.* each quarter: I infer that he never resided.

Ball, Francis Leeson: admitted fellow-commoner 9 Nov. 1813. [Praelector, Jos. Shaw.]

B.A. 1818. An almost illegible note in the Butler's book seems to say that he kept three terms at Trin. Coll. Dublin, and then six at Cambridge. Was first Attaché to H.M. Legation at Mexico until 1839: Secretary of Legation at Buenos Ayres 3 May 1839–18—[?].

Dawson, Hon. William Mackenzie: admitted nobleman under Messrs Maul and Kaye 1 Feb. 1814.

Bailey, Thomas: son of Roger: born at Alvechurch, Worcs. Educated at Rock, Worcs., by Rev. D. Davies. Admitted sizar under Messrs Maul and Kaye 29 March 1814. Age 22.

Admitted scholar 26 Oct. 1815. From an obscure entry in the Butler's book he seems to have kept seven terms—possibly nine; and to have died before taking his degree.

Howell, Thomas: admitted 23 April 1814.

Matriculated as a pensioner 30 May 1814, and resided till Mich. 1814. Possibly Tho. James Howell of Prinknash Park, Glos., born 24 Dec. 1793: married 1817 Susanna M. McLeod.

Smith, Cowperthwaite: admitted sizar 8 June 1814.

B.D. 1824. Ordained deacon, Chester, 1807 May; licensed to Goodshaw, Lancs. Head Master of Stafford School 1813: and therefore desired a University degree. Kept three terms till Lady Day 1815, had his name on the Boards, and became fellow-commoner, 15 Jan. 1823: but kept no more terms.

Finch-Hatton, Daniel [Heneage]: son of George. School: Westminster. Admitted pensioner under Messrs Maul and Kaye 17 June 1814. Age not given.

B.A. (Dan. Heneage Finch-Hatton) 1818; M.A. 1821. Admitted scholar (Finch and Baines) 26 Oct. 1815. Younger son of Geo. Finch-Hatton of Eastwell Park: brother of George (Earl of Winchilsea and Nottingham, admitted 1808). See under John Hallewell (page 375). Rector of Great Weldon, Northants. 19 June 1819, presented by his cousin, the then Earl of Winchilsea. Chaplain to the Queen. Married Lady Louisa Greville. Died 3 Jan. 1866. Dimsdale, M.D., in 1762, by the Empress Catherine, for having inoculated herself and her son; travelling specially to St Petersburg for the purpose), by his wife Finetta, daughter of Charles Pye of Wadley House, Berks. Fourth Baron Dimsdale 25 Sept. 1825. Married 23 Dec. 1819 Lucinda, daughter of Henry Manning of Wonford House, Devon, by whom he had two sons (who died before him) and four daughters. D.L. for Herts. Curate of St Mary, Colchester; where he signs first as "officiating minister" 28 Nov. 1847, but as curate 6 Feb. 1848: for the last time 26 June 1855. He was alive in 1860. (Clergy List: no address.)

Married 27 Dec. 1827, at Wigan, Ellen Thompson, daughter of a wealthy Roman Catholic. Recorder of Wigan 1828: held that office till a short time before his death 5 April 1837. His widow died 1873. (Mrs Fitz Adam, niece.)

Pritchard, Charles Arthur: admitted sizar 15 Nov. 1814.

Appears in Study-rents till Xmas 1815: not found in the Butler's book. Probably the Charles Arthur Prichard who was matriculated from Merton Coll., Oxford 14 Oct. 1815, as son of Charles, armiger, of London. Postmaster 1815–18: but no degree. He was at Harrow School, where his father is described as of Tyllwyd, Cardiganshire. Of Tyllwyd. J.P. and D.L. for Cardigan: J.P. for Carmarthen. Captain of Cardigan Militia. Took a prominent part in suppressing the Rebecca riots. Died 17 Nov. 1862 (Harrow Register[2], 47).

B.A. (15th wrangler) 1819; M.A. 1822. Tancred Student Dec. 1814. Admitted scholar 10 May 1816. Elected Fellow (Lady Marg.) in place of G. Millett, 31 Mar. 1819, aged, apparently, 20. Ordained deacon by the Bp. of Bristol (Kaye) in Christ's Chapel 1821 Dec.: also priest 1822 May. Held no office till 1828 when he was Praelector, Junior Dean and Catechist: again in 1830. Mildmay Preacher in 1832. Junior Proctor 1829. Scrutator 1831. When Graham resigned his brief tenure of the Tutorship in 1830, Ash succeeded him and held it till July 1839: under him the numbers were never so large as in the easy days of Shaw: and Ash, together with something of the ability, had also something of the indolence of the Master, whom he supported in his attempts at College reform. "He cared for his men, and willingly took a good deal of trouble for them, in everything but the preparation of his lectures" (E.T.V. in Coll. Mag. Mich. 1893). Luckily he had able assistants in the tuition of the College, C. Lesingham Smith in mathematics, and Edw. Baines in classics. But the record in the schools from 1833 to 1842 is still very poor—15 wranglers, the highest being 14th, and two men in the first class of the other Triposes. On 24 Oct. 1838, on the death of John Maul, Ash was presented to the rectory of Brisley and the vicarage of Gateley in Norfolk: and next year he retired to his livings, being then little over 40. He died 4 March 1851, aged 52.

Ordained priest, Norwich, 1820 June: in the previous January he had been licensed to the curacy of Bawdsey, Suffolk: and again 2 Aug. 1825, perhaps till 1830: but perhaps vicar of Skenfrith, co. Monmouth, 5 July 1827–30. Rector of Eyke, Suffolk 5 March 1830, patron, the Earl of Stradbroke: also rector of Alderton, distant about 10 miles from Eyke, and near Bawdsey 30 March 1835. Both livings were vacant in 1856.

Starkie, Legendre Pierce [Piers]: admitted fellow-commoner 10 Feb. 1815.

(High Sheriff 1806) by his wife Charlotte, daughter of Benjamin Preedy, D.D., rector of Brington, Northants. His elder brother, Legendre, who was Sheriff 1815, died in 1818: and as he was succeeded at Huntroyd by the third brother, Legendre Nicholas, it follows that Legendre Piers was already dead—possibly in 1817, when his name was removed from the Boards.

His name is in Study-rents for two terms—but he did not reside.

As a young man at Cambridge a member of the "Apostles"—with F. Maurice, John Sterling, Edw. Romilly, &c. His activity in all parish work is described by Bishop Barry: and his "strong business-like power of work and of organisation." In theological opinions "in early years he had perhaps a leaning to the Evangelical party: in the middle and latter parts of his life he was drawn more closely to the views of doctrine and church-government held by the late Archbishop Tait. But at all times he belonged most properly, both in political and ecclesiastical opinion, to the old Liberal school at Cambridge—the school of Thirlwall, Peacock and Sedgwick—which had never identified itself with Evangelical theology and practice, and had begun to exercise influence before the first appearance of the great High Church movement. Suffered through life from weak health: but impressed others greatly. Distinguished by a great charm of manner and a strong sense of humour. Had "the same playfulness [as Charles Lamb] the same lightness of touch, the same tenderness. I remember his being called a universal solvent. He contributed to intercourse the influence that combines dissimilar elements" (Julia Wedgwood, letter to Spectator). "We came to that simply furnished, somewhat ascetic, London drawing-room looking out on the bare street, knowing that he was weary and ill, and had been alone and would be alone again, and yet went away with a glow reflected from his atmosphere, a sense that the world was better for his presence" (Mrs R. B. Litchfield—niece). "Men said he lived a dilettante life. They reproached him with the selflessness that made him somewhat languid. Others, they seemed to aver, were amateurs of this art or that: he was an amateur at living" (Alice Meynell). He died 26 August 1881 after four days' illness. "He was weary of life, which was a struggle with continual ill-health."

Darwin, Charles [Robert]: admitted pensioner under Mr Shaw 15 Oct. 1827. B.A. 1832; M.A. 1837; Hon. LL.D. 1878. Born at Shrewsbury 12 Feb. 1809, younger son of Robert Waring, M.D. and of Susannah, daughter of Josiah Wedgwood: grandson of Erasmus Darwin: brother of Erasmus Alvey (1822). Educated at Shrewsbury: at Edinburgh University from October 1825 until 1827. Came into residence at Cambridge Jan. 1828: had rooms, first in Sidney Street, then in College (those occupied, according to tradition, by Paley) in the middle staircase of the first court, right hand side: there is a medallion of him in the room. Intended to take Holy Orders: and of the books which he studied at Cambridge, he considered Paley's Evidences and Moral Philosophy the most educative. A popular man among his friends, with whom he rode, shot and collected beetles; E. T. Vaughan, who came into residence in 1830, bears witness to the respect for his knowledge and character felt by undergraduates. (Coll. Mag. Mich. Term 1893.) He never went to Sedgwick's lectures on Geology (always well attended) having been disgusted with the teaching of this subject at Edinburgh. Attended Henslow on Botany and went with him on his field excursions, also to his Friday evenings, and so became intimate with him, frequenting his house and walking with him: he also met there and came to know other older men, as Whewell. Admitted to the title of B.A. 26 Apr. 1831 as soon as he had kept the requisite ten terms: he passed the examination in January: in June he left Cambridge. Naturalist on board H.M.S. Beagle Dec. 1831–Oct. 1836: "by far the most important event in my life...determined my whole career"—enabling him to make observations of many kinds in the south part of America and the South Sea islands: the value of his work was recognised in England even before his return: "he will have a great name among the naturalists of England" (Sedgwick, 7 Nov. 1835). Settled in Cambridge, 10 Dec. 1836, to put in order his geological collections: lived in Fitzwilliam Street, but seems to have been treated as a fellow-commoner (informally) in College: remained there till March 1837, commencing his Journal of Researches (known in later editions as A Naturalist's Voyages): then he settled in London, where he published the Journal and for several years he took part in preparing for publication the geological and zoological results of the voyage—ending with the book on Coral Reefs, 1842. On 29 Jan. 1839 married his cousin, Emma Wedgwood. His work was hindered by ill-health, partly caused by his voyage and its hardships, which affected him through life. In Sept. 1842 he settled at Down, Kent mainly to avoid meetings of learned societies and general social duties: there for his remaining 40 years he lived a life of incessant study and observation during the few hours of each day in which his health allowed him to work. Successive books were "the milestones in my life." Some of these (for the full list see the end of Vol. III. of his Life by his son, Francis Darwin) were his monographs on Cirripedia (barnacles)—at which he worked between Oct. 1846 and 1854: as to which he doubted whether "the work was worth the consumption of so much time"—a judgment with which Huxley disagreed. From 1854 to 1859 he was preparing to publish on Evolution, The Origin of Species being a condensation of a larger book which exists in MS. The Origin of Species ("no doubt, the chief work of my life"), was published Nov. 1859. It brought him fame at once. In 1862 appeared the Fertilisation of Orchids—ten months' work on facts previously accumulated: in 1868 the Variation of Animals and Plants under Domestication at which he had worked for eight years: in 1871 the Descent of Man, which took three years to write: in 1872 the Expression of the Emotions: in 1875 Insectivorous Plants, sixteen years after his first observations: in 1876 Effects of cross-and self fertilisation: in 1880 the Power of Movement in Plants in which his son, F. Darwin assisted him, and in 1881 the fascinating book on the action of Earthworms on which he had read a paper forty years before. The record of prolonged reflection on these subjects ending in slow and careful statement of the results, is most remarkable. "During the last 30 years (he said in May 1881) I am not conscious of any change in my mind, excepting in one point": viz. that up to 30 he enjoyed English poets: "now (1881) for many years I cannot endure a line of poetry." He had novels read to him and enjoyed them "if moderately good, and if they do not end unhappily." His mind, he said, "had become a sort of machine for grinding general laws out of large collections of facts." His estimate of himself was that, "with such moderate abilities as I possess, it is truly surprising that I should have influenced to a considerable extent the belief of scientific men on some important points." At his death, and now, more than a quarter of a century later, the estimate of the world has been that he was the greatest English naturalist of the nineteenth century.

The Senate House was crowded on 17 Nov. 1877 when he was admitted to the Hon. LL.D. degree. It is said that he was persuaded to come to receive the degree only by the assurance that at ordinary congregations almost no one was present. The undergraduates, who filled the galleries and cheered heartily, suspended (in place of the wooden spoon on the day of admission of Honour candidates) a monkey—quite to Darwin's satisfaction.

He had six sons and four daughters: two of whom died in infancy, the eldest son Will. Erasmus was admitted at Christ's in 1858, and the third son Francis (B.A. (Trin.) 1870) was Fellow of Christ's 1887–1904, afterwards Honorary Fellow. He would have been himself elected Hon. Fellow, had the Statutes of 1882 been passed in time. He died at Down 19 Apr. 1882, aged 73—and was buried in Westminster Abbey, April 26. Portrait (by Ouless) in the College Hall.

Hildyard, rector of Winestead, near Patrington, Yorks., by his wife Catherine Grant: eight of the ten were educated at Cambridge, five were Fellows of various colleges, and another was Commissary of the University. Elected Fellow (L. Marg.) in place of B. Gilpin, 22 March 1833. Steward 1833, 1837, 1840. Catechist 1834. Praelector 1839. Ordained priest, Lincoln, 1834 Feb. Hebrew Lecturer 1840. Examiner for the Classical Tripos, 1838, 1839, 1844; in 1844 he altered a bracket in the list, already agreed to by the examiners, so that Wratislaw was placed in the bracket above Keary. This caused great excitement in the University: and next year the College nominated as its Examiner W. S. Wood of St John's in place of Hildyard, who would naturally have examined again. He travelled in Greece, Turkey and Asia Minor. Edited two plays of Plautus—the Menaechmi (1836): Aulularia (1839). In College he was generally in opposition to Dr Graham: in 1838, with Baldwin and Walker, he supported Mortlock in the battle against Graham's proposed new Statutes. But he was not by character an obstructive. He was one of the assailants of private tuition in the University—a matter which caused strong feeling for many years. As tutor he introduced into this College, a compromise (which has in later times been occasionally adopted without much success): viz. additional assistance given within the College for a small fee. He also devoted himself, here and at his country living, to liturgical reform:

he urged the abridgment of the Morning Service and other changes. Numerous letters on this subject were collected and published by him in 1858 in two volumes which bore the title of Ingoldsby letters, which went through three editions in five years. But so important a matter required a more cautious advocate: he was contentious and always sure that he was right. On 4 June 1846 he was presented to the rectory of Ingoldsby, vacant by the death of N. C. Lane. He resided till the end of the year 1846–7, when he went to his living, and married a daughter of Geo. Kinderley of Lincoln's Inn. His fellowship was declared vacant 31 Aug. 1847. It is supposed that he had hopes of preferment; which came to nothing. In Jan. 1849, when the Mastership was vacant, at least five of the older Fellows wished to elect him, and he would probably have accepted the office. But the others mistrusted his judgment and his temper: and the contest ended with the election of Jos. Shaw, as a compromise. At Ingoldsby he restored the church well: and built a new and much too large rectory-house, after the fashion of those days. The College agreed (1846) to give £400 if Hildyard spent £1000: he must have spent much more. He died 27 Aug. 1887, leaving two daughters. For a list of his publications see D.N.B.

*Cartmell, James:

B.A. (Emm. as 7th wrangler) 1833; M.A. (Christ's) 1836; B.D. 1846; D.D. (per lit. reg.) 1849. Born at Carlisle, son of James Cartmell and Jane Monkhouse, 13 Nov. 1810.

Elected Fellow, in place of Cha. Otter, 21 May 1833. Steward 1834, 1841. Ordained deacon, Ely, 1835 June. Junior Dean and Catechist 1835, 1838. Praelector 1836. Senior Dean 1842, 1845. Mildmay Preacher 1843–5. Tutor (with E. Baines) Oct. 1839; with C. Hildyard Oct. 1841; with C. A. Swainson and A. H. Wratislaw Oct. 1847–49. A popular tutor, who took a sincere interest in his pupils: their position in the Tripos lists for these 10 years was better than it had been under Shaw or Ash. Elected Master (when Jos. Shaw resigned the office) 13 Feb. 1849–23 Jan. 1881. Married Frances, daughter of the Rev. J. T. Austen (senior wrangler 1817), by whom he had one son, James, afterwards Austen-Cartmell (1881) and three daughters. Mrs Cartmell died in 1864.

His Mastership was very important in the history of the College. It covered the last 10 years in which the Statutes of the Foundress were still operative; almost the whole period of the transitional Statutes of 1860; and the preparation for the Statutes of 1882. He was selected to give evidence to the Commission of 1850: and his recommendations are interesting (see Report, p. 215 &c.): he suggested the connexion of College Fellowships with University Professorships; the establishment in each college of a teaching staff free from the condition of celibacy; and the creation of small temporary Fellowships free from College duties. These changes were only to a small extent carried out in 1860; and so far, he may be said to have been in advance of his time. But, in general, while he had a sincere desire for reform, he was cautious, and anxious not to move before public opinion was mature. From the experiment of 1838 he had doubtless learnt the need of unanimity in reform. Between 1852 and 1858 he thought out, and induced the College to accept, as large a reconstruction of its internal economy as was possible under the old Statutes: this was doubtless facilitated by the prospect of a new order of things. He was also a good financier and man of business. He had a thorough knowledge of the College estates and relied on his own judgment (which was generally justified) in their management. He carried out by degrees the conversion (almost complete) of beneficial leases into leases at rack rent, whereby the revenue of the College was for a time materially increased. His policy would have paved the way to permanent prosperity, but for the unforeseen fall in agricultural rents, which at the end of 20 years reduced the income of the College almost to what it was at the beginning of that time. He saw only the first clouds of coming trouble: when he died "felix opportunitate mortis," he might fairly have claimed the credit of having reconstituted the College within and without. He had a free hand in doing so: for the Statutes of 1860 left the Master almost as powerful at College meetings as he was before: without having the "vox negativa" of old days, he was under no obligation to submit to a vote the proposal of any Fellow. His far superior knowledge and experience in College affairs enabled him almost always to get his own way. He successfully opposed a proposal for the entire amalgamation of Christ's with Emmanuel—a proposal which found warm support in both Colleges. He took a considerable share in University matters: especially in the management of the Press: he was for many years Chairman of the Press Syndicate. He was also much interested in the relation of the University to the Town: and while jealously supporting the privileges of the University and the Colleges, he always strove for a better understanding between the two bodies. He died very suddenly 23 Jan. 1881 and was buried in the ante-chapel at the entrance to the inner chapel. Portrait in the Combination Room.

*Swainson, Charles Anthony:

B.A. (Trin., 6th wrangler) 1841; M.A. 1844; D.D. 1864. Born 29 May 1820, son of Anthony Swainson, merchant, of Liverpool, and of Margaret, daughter of Tho. Clay. Married in 1852 Eliz., daughter of Cha. Inman of Liverpool. Fellowship declared vacant 22 Nov. 1852. Principal of the Theological College, Chichester, 1854–64. Prebendary of Chichester 1856–81. Hulsean Lecturer 1857 and 1858. Warden of St Mary's Hospital, Chichester, 1864. Norrisian Professor of Divinity, 1864–79. L. Margaret Professor, 1879–87. Elected Master in succession to Dr Cartmell, 9 Feb. 1881. Vice-Chancellor 1885–6. As Master he was called on to reorganise the whole accounts of the College in order to make the returns to the University required by the new Statutes of 1882. He had also much anxious work in providing out of reduced revenues for the obligations incurred by the College in earlier days when prosperity seemed to be at the door: in doing this he showed sound financial ability and knowledge gained by long experience at Chichester. In all College matters he displayed great tact and courtesy: indeed throughout life he was (in the words of his memorial in the ante-chapel) "amabilis, amatus." He overtaxed his strength by his work as Vice-Chancellor, though he held the office but for one year: and after some months of failing strength he died 15 Sept. 1887, aged 67. Buried at Grantchester. M.I. in ante-chapel.

His literary work, which was very considerable, was chiefly on the Creeds and Liturgies: for a good account see D.N.B. The works on the Creeds commenced with his Hulsean Lectures of 1857; he made the history of the Creeds his own by a work of permanent value in 1875. He thought the Athanasian Creed unsuitable for public worship—and published thereon a Letter to the Dean of Chichester (1870) and A Plea for Time in dealing with the Athanasian Creed (1873). His last important work was The Greek Liturgies chiefly from the original sources (1884)—a work which involved much labour and expense in the collation of MSS., and has been commended by Harnack as the foundation of all further critical enquiry into this subject. In 1848 he published while still Tutor a small volume of "commonplaces" delivered in the College Chapel by himself and his fellow tutor Wratislaw.

Cartmell 7 May 1849. Praelector 1850, 1853. Steward 1854, 1859, 1860, 1866. Senior Dean 1868. Tutor (with Joh. Hays till 1864) 1851–70. He was a man of strong will, and great power of work: he had a kind heart under a rough exterior: in money matters he was very generous: and none knew of his generosity but the recipient. His Tutorship was memorable in the history of the College. Many tutors who preceded him had cared as much for their pupils and had dealt with them in some respects perhaps more wisely and sympathetically. But no one for many decades of the College had shewn the same power of getting work out of his men, by steady pressure on the industrious, and by stronger measures with the idle: the position of Christ's men in the Tripos lists—especially the Classical Tripos—began under him to be very different from what it had been for many generations. He took pains with his lectures: and if he never entered on the many problems connected with the study of Plato, Aristotle and Cicero, he had and could impart to his class a good understanding of what those writers meant. He resigned the tutorship in 1870 on a difference with the Master, of little importance in itself which brought to a head an estrangement which had been for some time growing: each desired his own way, but the Master was substantially in the right. Attempts to bring about a reconciliation were fruitless: and though he lived in College for eleven years afterwards he took no further part in its management except by attending meetings. But he worked assiduously for the University: he had been a very active member of the Council of the Senate from 1868: he served on several special Syndicates and on the Syndicate of the University Press: he examined for the Classical Tripos 1853, 1854, 1861–3 (inclusive), 1872–9 (inclusive). In 1881 his health began to break down: at Easter he left Cambridge for the last time and lived a solitary life on the property which he inherited from his father a Cumberland "statesman." The end came very sadly—on 30 Sept. 1881. His services to the College were commemorated by many old pupils and friends in a fitting memorial: the south oriel window in the Hall was filled with excellent stained glass (the work of Messrs Burlison and Grylls) representing the founders, benefactors and worthies of the College. Portrait in the Combination Room.

Lived till 1884, engaged on various kinds of literary work. Died 17 Feb. and was buried at Folkestone.

For his character and work see Leslie Stephen (in D.N.B.) and (better) the Memoir prefaced to a volume of Literary Remains published (1885) by his brother-in-law Sir Walter Sendall: especially the notice by Sir John Seeley. His Verses and Translations (1862) and his Fly-leaves (1872) made him very popular both with those who love refined classical scholarship and with those who love Society-verse in the style of W. M. Praed. His English verses are still well known at Cambridge—none the less because of the (mostly mythical) stories of his habit of breaking College rules, and of his remarkable bodily strength and agility. He had (it is true) a great impatience of any rule of which he did not see the reason, and a great contempt for any mental or moral pretence. He had a strong sense of all the absurdity in the world: and this made him a humorist—of a peculiar type: not a sayer of specially humorous or witty sayings—but a humorist in essence: and this quality underlies all his writings: see Sir John Seeley's excellent account in the Memoir (especially pp. 104–110). But he was a perfectly lovable, simple-minded—and humble-minded—gentleman: and a most loyal friend.

Professor of Latin at University College 1863: when he set to work at an edition of Livy 1–10: book 1 (only) appeared in 1871. In 1865 he published Ecce Homo anonymously, but the authorship was soon known, though not avowed: the book called out wide attention and much controversy. On 17 Aug. 1869 he married Mary Agnes Phillott: and thereby vacated his Fellowship. A few weeks later he was appointed Regius Professor of History: this office would have enabled him to retain his Fellowship: he was elected Professorial Fellow of Caius 31 Oct. 1882: and Hon. Fellow of Christ's 12 Jan. 1883—at the earliest opportunity. He was appointed K.C.M.G. 1894. In his last years he suffered much from ill-health—all his life he was hampered by insomnia: and he died 13 Jan. 1895, aged 60. In early life his power of work was marvellous. While a young Fellow of Christ's he often read from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m. For many weeks he devoted this time to a systematic study of geography—as essential for a historian. His power of conversation—with one or two people at a time—was also wonderful: it was "marked by dialectical subtlety and terseness: and though not combative, he never shrank from thorough discussion." As a teacher of history he held strongly that "history was a school of statesmanship," it was to be a practical study: the problems which he set himself to solve generally arose out of present difficulties. "Historical narrative, without generalisation, had no value for him." This partly accounts for the fact that his largest work—The Life of Stein (1878)—was his least popular work: it was very hard to read: whereas his Expansion of England (1883) and his Growth of British Policy (1895) (posthumous) were singularly influential in forming public opinion upon the relation between England and the Colonies. "He became a warm supporter of Federation—not of any specific form of Federal union—but of the Federal idea." Among his other works was Natural Religion 1882—not the promised sequel to Ecce Homo: in it "the religion advocated is as devoid of the supernatural as the science from which it is distinguished." But he guarded himself from the assumption that the supernatural has no existence. The remarkably clear and pungent style which marked all his productions is unquestionably due to his love and wide knowledge (acquired while yet a boy) of the best English literature: his favourite poet was Milton: and he preferred Paradise Regained to Paradise Lost.

(D.N.B. (a very just and appreciative notice by Dr G. W. Prothero): also a memoir by the same writer prefixed to Growth of British Policy.)

literature. Returned to England on furlough June 1867; wrote a book on Early French poetry (1868): and in the same year was appointed Secretary of the Palestine Exploration Fund, 1868–85: Hon. Secretary till his death. Wrote for newspapers and magazines: published in 1871 (with E. H. Palmer) The History of Jerusalem: and in 1873 The French Humorists. Wrote "Middles" for the Saturday Review from 1873. Wrote on Rabelais about 1875. From 1881 edited a series of miscellaneous biographies, of which he wrote Coligny and Whittington –the latter a study of medieval London: later he wrote a life of E. H. Palmer, and of Richard Jefferies—for both of whom he had an enthusiastic regard. Having tried his hand on short stories in Christmas magazines he commenced about 1872 novels in collaboration with James Rice: of these twelve appeared up to 1882 when Rice died: the best known being Ready Money Mortiboy, By Celia's Arbour, The Golden Butterfly, My Little Girl, and The Chaplain of the Fleet. From 1882 he wrote alone, quickly and steadily, eighteen novels and several shorter stories, in eighteen years: one being historical—Dorothy Forster (1883)—which he deemed (probably rightly) the best: others had a historical setting—For Faith and Freedom, The World went very well then, St Katharine's by the Tower and The Orange Girl. Others deal with modern life, often in the East End—as All Sorts and Conditions of Men, and The Children of Gibeon: All in a Garden Fair (partly autobiographical); Herr Paulus, Amorel of Lyonnesse, The Master Craftsman, Beyond the Dreams of Avarice, The Fourth Generation, novels with a "purpose." While studying the East End for materials for novels, he grew convinced that its greatest need was a centre of organised recreation, and artistic culture: such a centre was drawn by him in All Sorts and Conditions of Men, and the People's Palace was actually built as the result, and opened in 1887: and the originator of the idea became Sir Walter Besant (1895). The Palace was taken over at last by the Drapers' Company and run on lines not exactly those of its creator. Besant was also the originator of a very different scheme—the Society of Authors; which had for its object the maintenance, definition, and defence of literary property; and the consolidation and amendment of the Laws of Copyright: he was the first Chairman of the Society (1884) and throughout his life he was its most steady and active supporter.

Another large work was the preparation of a new Survey of London (founded on Stow and Strype), which Adam Black and Co. undertook to publish. His knowledge of London, and his curious love of it, fitted him admirably for the work. Four volumes, of a popular kind, subsidiary to the Survey, appeared—viz. London (1892), Westminster (1895), South London (1898), East London (1901).

Besant married in 1874 the daughter of Eustace Foster Barham of Bridgwater, by whom he had two sons and two daughters. He lived in his later years at Hampstead, where after a long period of failing health, caused partly by too unremitting work, he died 9 June 1901.

[Peile was a distinguished classical scholar and teacher. He studied comparative philology under Benfey at Göttingen, and did much to introduce the study in England. When the Chair of Sanskrit was founded in 1867, he refused to be a candidate for it, in order that another learned student of the subject might be brought to Cambridge. His lectures on classical authors and on philology attracted large classes for many years. His Introduction to Greek and Latin Etymology (1869, 3rd ed. 1875) first presented to English readers the results of recent research; his Primer of Philology had a very large circulation; he wrote Notes on the Tale of Nala (1881), and articles on the alphabet and on each letter in the Encyclopaedia Britannica, 9th ed.; and also contributed many papers to the Athenaeum. After giving up the Readership he turned to researches in College history, wrote a History of Christ's College, 1900, and began this Biographical Register, which he lived to complete down to 1871.

As Tutor and as Master Peile was remarkably successful. He exercised a strong influence over his pupils; and guided the affairs of the College with great knowledge and wisdom, though he never permanently resumed the management of its estates, which had been delegated to a Bursar by his predecessor. Under him the College greatly increased its numbers and improved and enlarged its buildings. In University business he took a leading part, and did much to shape the reconstructions of the latter part of the 19th century. He promoted the widening of studies, of teaching and of research, and various measures for bringing more students to Cambridge and for extending the influence of the University outside. (See College Magazine vol. XXIV. p. 143.)

Dr Peile had bad health during the last few years of his life, but was able to assist at the quatercentenary celebration of the foundation of the College in 1905, at the tercentenary of John Milton in 1908, and at the centenary of Charles Darwin in 1909. He died at the Master's lodge on Oct. 9, 1910, fifty-four years all but a day from the day on which he came up as a freshman. He was buried at Trumpington, where he had resided since his marriage until he became Master. Father of Joh. After some litigation, Mr Cox, who remained "contumacious" was imprisoned in Walton jail 5 May 1887. Not long afterwards he was released: and nothing more happened. Mr Cox's position was stated by himself in an article "Why I was imprisoned" in Murray's Magazine, July 1887.
